New England Kiwanians Honor Jas. P. Gallagher, Internat'l Vice President

Nearly 600 At Testimonial Banquet At Norumbega Park On Wednesday

A gathering of nearly six hundred Kiwanians on Wednesday evening at Norumbega Park, Auburndale, paid tribute to James P. Gallagher of Newton. Mr. Gallagher was recently elected vice-president for the United States of Kiwanis International. Following a banquet many tributes were paid to Mr. Gallagher. The testimonial affair was observed as New England night by the Kiwanians from many parts of New England, together with their wives, friends and invited guests. Mr. Gallagher, who is clerk of the Newton Court, is a past president of the Newton Kiwanis Club, a former district governor, former New England governor and a former international trustee.

The meeting was presided over by John A. Janse, president of the Newton Kiwanis Club and the toastmaster was Fred Mitchell of Lynn, New England governor. Thomas E. Babb, Jr., second governor of the New England district and first international trustee of the section gave the principal address. Among the invited guests present were Mayor Paul M. Goddard of Newton who extended the city's welcome to the visiting Kiwanians, John M. Cahill, president of the Newton Rotary Club who brought greetings from the brother service club of the city, Ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs who offered a personal tribute to the guest of honor. The invocation was offered by Rev. John A. Sheridan of Our Lady's Church of Newton. Telegrams of greeting and expressions of regret at their absence from Governor Leverett Saltonstall, an honorary member of Newton Kiwanis, and Mark Smith of Thomaston, Ga., international president, were read by President Janse.

Among those seated at the head table and introduced by the presiding officer were Mrs. Gallagher, Mrs. Fred Mitchell, and Mrs. Janse.

Toastmaster Mitchell in opening the after-dinner speaking program told of the interest that "Jim" had shown in Kiwanis and of his personal pleasure in placing the name of Gallagher in nomination at the international convention held at Minneapolis last month. He complimented the committee in charge of the evening for the success of the affair. This committee was comprised of William Chagnon, chairman, Pres. Janse, Archibald Bellinger, John O'Donnell and Austin Shea, secretary.

The speaker of the evening, Mr. Babb, was introduced. He gave an inspiring and well-delivered address to his audience, offering a solution to the troubles of the world was facing. He deplored the lack of realization of the American people to the responsibility which faced them and called for a unity under Christ as the only solution. He expressed confidence that the American people would respond by adherence to faith in the fundamental principles of life.

John V. Jewett, secretary of the Brookline Kiwanis Club read an original poem in tribute to the guest of honor. Edward J. Pease, second vice-president of the Newton Kiwanians, presented bouquets to Mrs. Gallagher, Mrs. Mitchell, and Mrs. Janse and a traveling kit to Mr. Gallagher.

In acknowledging the tribute paid to him the guest of honor stated that each Kiwanian had played a part in his Kiwanis career and that he had no choice but to "pledge nolo" to the "charges" against him. He urged a greater individual participation in the work of Kiwanis that the objects of the service be more fully realized.

Among the large gathering were four past governors and seven former lieutenant governors of the New England district. Toastmaster Mitchell also introduced Roy Cooke of Orange, Mass., immediate past district governor; Nathaniel D. Browne of Providence, R. I., treasurer; Past Governor Arnold and Mayor Arthur A. Hansen of Waltham. Past Governor Wesley Inman of Roxbury led the gathering in a song.

Following the meeting which was closed with a pledge of allegiance to the flag dancing was enjoyed in the ballroom.

Teachers Dropped From Playgrounds Fight For Jobs

Four of the seventeen school teachers who were recently ordered dropped from employment by the Newton Recreation Department upon instructions from Ulysses Lupien, director of Massachusetts Civil Service Department, have petitioned the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to compel Lupien to confirm their appointments by the Newton Recreation Department. The four are John J. Lane, John Proctor, Guy S. Baker and Thomas Hughes. The other thirteen teachers are involved in the proceedings.

Lane has been associated with Newton playgrounds for many years. He is a teacher in the Natick Junior High School and resides in that town. He was formerly assistant to Ernest Hermann, ex-superintendent of Newton playgrounds, and the past few years has been director of the Twilight Baseball League. Proctor teaches at Weston High School and resides at Newton Upper Falls. He was director of the Upper Falls playground. Baker and Hughes both teach at Bigelow Junior high school, Newton and reside in this city. Baker came to Newton from East Bridgewater 15 years ago. The school salary he was to receive here was less than what he had been getting at East Bridgewater, and he accepted the school position with the understanding that a position also offered him in the Playground Department would make up the difference in salary. He has been very popular with children attending the Burr Park playground, where he and Hughes have been directors.

Some Increase In Employment Here

Fourteen industrial establishments in Newton which report to the State Department of Labor showed a slight increase in employment for June over the preceding month. They reported an average of 2477 employees as compared with 2378 in May, payrolls weekly of $48,261 as compared with $44,787; and average weekly earnings of $19.48 for June as against $18.83 in May.

Centre Playgrounds Will Present "The Mikado"

The comic opera, "The Mikado," will be presented at the Newton Centre Playground on August 20 under the auspices of the Newton Recreation Department. The proceeds will be given to the Red Cross. Mrs. Florence Russell is in charge of the production and the committee in charge includes Mrs. James Sweeney, John Leary and Edward Learned.

Welfare Heads To Take Qualifying Examinations

The controversy over placing Newton welfare executives under civil service has reached a compromise with the announcement from Mayor Goddard that he has granted permission to James P. Reynolds, Director of Welfare and Miss Florence Fitzgerald, Director of the Old Age Assistance Division, to take qualifying examinations within the next few months. The Mayor, however, has reserved the city's rights in this matter. The controversy started several months ago when Arthur G. Rotch, State Director of Public Welfare ruled that the Newton Welfare positions must come under civil service on the contention that the Federal Government would withhold aid from old age assistance and dependent children unless all welfare department employees were placed under civil service. At that time Mayor Goddard and City Solicitor Bartlett asserted that Mr. Reynolds and Miss Fitzgerald hold executive offices, and so are exempt from civil service provisions. The State Civil Service Department has ruled that the two Newton officials may take qualifying, non-competitive examinations.

Watertown Abates Dump Nuisance

A journey made to Watertown a couple of months ago by a number of Newtonville residents to protest against a dump nuisance across the Charles River in the Bemis section has brought results. Recently Bernard McHugh, chairman of the Watertown Board of Selectmen, who presided at the hearing attended by the Newtonville delegation, directed Town Clerk George Wellman to send the following letter to William R. Mattson, chairman of the committee of Newtonville residents:

Dear Mr. Mattson: For your information the Board of Selectmen have been endeavoring to remedy conditions at the Bemis dump, Watertown.

As suggested by you and your committee at the hearing granted by the selectmen some time ago, improvements at the Bemis dump have taken place. The selectmen have arranged to cancel or refuse dumping permits for all combustible materials, and, as a matter of fact, have canceled all outside permits. The dumping of rubberized fabrics has been discontinued altogether. The selectmen have also discontinued dumping opposite houses in Newton and are now dumping opposite the golf grounds. The approaches to the dump have been securely closed and no dumping takes place except when a watchman is on duty.

The selectmen have arranged not to extend the limits of the dump on the river side beyond the present location. Dumping now takes place only in one section and what good topping material is found in the town has been used to level off the grounds.

I am directed by the chairman, Bernard S. McHugh, to inform you and your committee that the selectmen are endeavoring to extend full co-operation and alleviate conditions as soon as possible.

This letter is forwarded to you to inform you of the progress which has been made since the hearing.

In reply, Mr. Mattson sent the following letter to Town Clerk Wellman:

Dear Mr. Wellman: On behalf of the Newton-Watertown citizens' committee I thank you for your letter concerning the Bemis dump in Watertown.

Please extend our appreciation to Chairman Bernard S. McHugh and other members of the board. We met with them and presented our report in a spirit of friendly co-operation. It is most gratifying that we have received a comparable response from the selectmen.

Because of your statement, "The selectmen have arranged to cancel or refuse dumping permits for all combustible materials," we anticipate there will be no fires from now on. We also understand the selectmen are planning to level off the surface and beautify this location as an improvement project.

The betterments you list in your letter will certainly go a long way to remedy the former unsatisfactory conditions at the Bemis dump.

Can Continue To Use Old Boilers At High School

No new heating and power plant is needed at Newton High School according to a report made to Mayor Goddard by E. A. Daniels, boiler inspector for the Hartford Company which has insurance on the boilers. Mr. Daniels reported, after inspecting the four boilers, that they are in good condition, on the whole, and that no reduction of pressure carried by them will have to be made. He said that the linings in the fire boxes require some renewals and Mayor Goddard has instructed Buildings Commissioner Campbell to have these repairs made.

Last year when an inspection was made of these boilers, the School Department was informed that three of them should be replaced, or the pressure in them reduced. The School Committee recommended that a survey of the heating and power equipment at the high school be made and the Board of Aldermen appropriate $1000 to pay for a survey by a Boston consulting engineer. As a result of the report he made following that survey, the School Committee recommended that a new heating plant be installed at the high school, and the cost of this project was estimated at $100,000. Mayor Childs then recommended that an appropriation be made to pay for plans of the new heating plant, but the 1939 Board of Aldermen did not make the appropriation.

After Mayor Goddard assumed office early this year, he considered the plan of using the present boilers for heating purposes, with reduced pressure, and the installation of a Diesel engine to provide power at the high school. This alternative was considered as a means of saving considerable money.

Although the report made recently by Inspector Daniels permits the continuance of use of the boilers and the saving of the large sum necessary to replace them, Mayor Goddard states that it is only a question of time when the boilers must be replaced or the pressure in them reduced. Three of the four boilers in use at the high school were installed in 1908. The fourth boiler was installed in 1925.

Reggie Brown Gets N.Y.A. Position

Reginald W. Brown of Walnut st., Newtonville, has been appointed Massachusetts director of physical activities for the National Defence Program of the National Youth Administration. Mr. Brown, a lifelong resident of Newton, was a star athlete at Newton High and Harvard and was for many years on the coaching staff of Harvard football teams, and also coached at West Point, Brown and Boston University. Last year he served several months as acting Director of Recreation for the City of Newton.

Newton Woman Aids Red Cross By Making Bandages

Articles Sent To Soldiers and Refugees In Europe

In ten sections of the city of Newton, groups of women are making the garments and surgical dressings so needed by war-refugees and soldiers in the areas of Europe assisted by the American Red Cross. They are making women's and children's dresses, fashioning operating gowns and convalescent robes, layettes, and surgical dressings for use in hospitals; and they are knitting sweaters and shawls, "beanies," mittens, and socks. This work is known as the Production Division of the Newton Chapter of American Red Cross, and Mrs. Carl H. Hanson is the general chairman of this division, taking specific charge of the Sewing Groups; Mrs. David Galloway is chairman of Knitting; and Mrs. William Le Roy Young is chairman of Surgical Dressings. Serving under them in each section of the city there are chairmen in charge of each of these branches of Red Cross work.

Eleven groups, composed of about 1100 women, are knitting. Twelve groups, composed of about 350 women, are sewing; and eight groups, of approximately 30 each, are making surgical dressings.

Two Women's Clubs, proud possessors of the Club Houses, have offered the facilities of these Houses as meeting places: Newtonville and Newton Centre, where large groups of women are meeting weekly to make the dresses. In Newtonville, about 150 women are busy knitting; and about 50 are sewing. In Newton Centre, which includes the Oak Hill section, about 350 women are knitting; and about 55 women are sewing.

At least six churches of the city have opened their Parish Houses to these groups of Red Cross workers, where large groups, too, are meeting one day a week—Wednesday being the most popular day, it would seem—to sew and knit and fashion the dressings: at the Union Church and the Church of the Good Shepherd in Waban, about 75 women are sewing; and about the same number are knitting. Mrs. Wellington Kinde again is assuming charge of Sewing here August 1st. At the Second Church in West Newton, about 50 women are sewing; and about 225 women are

Local Man Drowns In Charles River

Thomas A. Clancy of 38 Williams st., Newton, was drowned about 10 o'clock Tuesday night while swimming in the Charles River near his home. Accompanied by his wife he went to the bank of the river near the foot of Maple st. and entered the water. Shortly after Mrs. Clancy heard a shout from her husband, but in the darkness she could not see him. She rushed for aid and Metropolitan policemen and Watertown firemen started dragging the river. The body was recovered at 1:30 a. m. Wednesday by Patrolmen Cook and Lightizer of the Metropolitan police. The dead man was employed in the furniture moving business.

Thomas Clancy was born in Watertown, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Clancy. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Dorothy (Crossman) Clancy; his parents; five sisters, Sister Mary Alphonsa of the Dominican Order, stationed at Lowell; Mrs. Mary Boyle of Newton, Misses Elizabeth, Frances and Theresa Clancy, of Watertown; and three brothers, James, William and Joseph Clancy of Watertown. His funeral service was held on Friday morning at St. Patrick's Church, Watertown.

Lightning Hits Newton Houses

During the storm on Tuesday evening bolts of lightning hit three places in this city. One hit the house at 103 Newtonville ave., Newton, occupied by Mrs. John Case. The bolt entered the house by a radio antenna, scorched wallpaper in one room, blew out fuses and cracked cement blocks in the garage. A telephone alarm brought Engines 1 and 3 and Ladder 3, but no fire had occurred.

Another bolt hit a structure in the coal yard on Newtonville ave., but little damage resulted. The third bolt hit the home of Carl Gunter at 125 Country Club rd., Oak Hill, and blew out fuses.

Clyde G. Hess, Popular "Y" Secretary, Resigns; Will Go To Burlington

Newton Boys' Worker and Camp Director For 18 Years, Will Be General Secretary At New "Y" Building in Vermont City

Mr. Clyde G. Hess, for the past 18 years boys' work secretary of the Newton Y. M. C. A. and director of Camp Frank A. Day, has accepted the general secretaryship of the Y. M. C. A. in Burlington, Vt., where he will begin his new duties on Oct. 1st. In announcing the resignation of Mr. Hess, President Frank A. Day, Jr., of the Newton Y. M. C. A., issued the following statement:

"The resignation of Clyde Hess as secretary of boys' work and as director of our Y. M. C. A.'s camp at Brookfield brings mixed feelings of a distinct loss to the association yet a happiness for Mr. Hess in the wider field he will have as general secretary of the Burlington Y. M. C. A. He closes 18 years of loyal and devoted service to our association, during which he has developed the character of hundreds of representatives who have come under the influence of his own high ideals of manhood. With him go our hearty wishes for the success we feel sure he will make in Burlington."

The Chief, as he has been popularly known to the thousands of boys who have been under his tutelage at Camp Frank A. Day in the summers that have followed his entrance to the campus in August, 1921, leaves behind him a heritage that has few equals in the realms of camping either private or institutional. His personality and abilities have contributed mightily to the growth of the camp from a mere handful of boys to one of the largest of camps in the East, numbering over one hundred and seventy boys.

Camp Day in 1921 consisted of four tents of senior boys and four tents of junior boys located on a small site overlooking Lake Quannawadum. In the current year there are twenty-four tents dividing the camp into four divisions; rangers for older boys, and decreasing ages for seniors, juniors, and midgets. Equipment in the camp has been increased to sizable proportions rivaling the most expensive of camps.

Waterfront additions are made each year and include twenty canoes, fourteen rowboats, nine sailboats, one motorboat, and two rafts with diving boards and slides. New buildings have been erected in principal locations of the camp. A large building housing the craft shop, music room, dramatic room, cooks' sleeping quarters, and storage house was constructed in 1939 to replace a building damaged by the hurricane. The kitchen has been rebuilt to take its place as a fine example of modern camp kitchens. A beautiful house, called the lodge, is located at the southern boundary and is the home of the director and his wife as well as serving as a guest house. A combination bathhouse and library, a building which is the headquarters for the directors of the Junior midget, and ranger camps, and a home for the family of the director of the senior camp are three other buildings constructed during the directorship of Mr. Hess.

The hurricane of 1938 felled more than one thousand trees on camp property and seemed to sound the death knell of the present site as a good camp location. However, with enthusiasm the Chief tackled the problem with his camp committee, and they brought order out of the wreckage. Today the camp site planted with fast-growing grass is even more beautiful than former years.

The boys who have gone from Camp Day have taken their places in the community life of several states of the Union and even in foreign nations. A list of such men who have rendered capable service to their fellowmen would be lengthy, but a few are an indication of the many. Heading such a list is the Reverend Waitstill H. Sharpe, now pastor of the Wesleyan Unitarian Church and lately returned from Czechoslovakia where he assisted in the relief of victims of the Nazi invasion. Newsmen are represented by the well-known writer and illustrator Dwight Shepler of the Boston Herald. Lloyd Osborne, co-pilot of the China "Clipper," is another who has kept alive the Camp Day spirit of adventure.

Medical men who have fitted themselves physically at the camp under the Chief are Dr. Ed Warren, former captain of the Yale baseball team and now a member of the New Haven Board of Health, and Dr. Egon Kattwinkel of West Newton. The legal profession has had an outstanding representative in Mr. Ed Lombard, Assistant District Attorney of Brooklyn. A large number of former campers have entered business and such names as the following are familiar: Ken Lane of Richmond, Virginia; Milton Edgar of the Rutland Vermont Railroad; Alan T. Shaw of Bird & Son, manufacturers in East Walpole, and Nathan Hawkes of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Athletes of recent years well known to Newtonites are Frankie Spain of Dartmouth; Prescott Coan, 1940 captain of Amherst track forces; Dick Hapgood, football player at Brown; Warren Wittens, captain of Pennsylvania track team; Jack Retz, football player at University of Maine, and William Brooks of the University of Pennsylvania, now factory manager of the J. B. Pearson Company at Thomaston, Maine.

In the boys' work at the Newton Y. M. C. A., Mr. Hess has developed H-Y clubs for older boys and Tri-Hi clubs for older girls. These groups form one of the most important projects of the association's boys' work program. In co-operation with local churches, Boy Scout troops, and other organized groups, Mr. Hess's policy has always been most liberal. No action has been taken yet in regard to the choosing of a successor for Mr. Hess, but in announcing the matter to the boys at Camp Frank A. Day, General Secretary Kenneth S. Dale of the Newton Y. M. C. A., in paying tribute to Mr. Hess's cordial spirit of co-operation and organizing ability, pledged that careful selection on a nationwide basis would be made in order that the very best man possible could be secured to carry on the work thus far so splendidly advanced. As Mr. Hess's resignation at Newton does not take effect until September 15th, he will complete his work at Camp Day and remain through the fall conferences and closing period of the camp year.

REMOTE CONTROL OF LOCAL AFFAIRS

Faced with the possible withdrawal of Federal funds for old age assistance and aid to dependent children the city has been forced to accept a ruling of the Civil Service Commission that all welfare department employees be placed under civil service. As a result, Chairman James P. Reynolds and Director Florence Fitzgerald will be subject to qualifying examinations. The city meanwhile will reserve its legal rights in the matter.

The issue is one which transcends the personalities involved. It is not a question of the ability of those administering the affairs of the welfare department—neither is it a question of the continuance of their term of office in an administrative position. The civil service method is of proven merit—it should when properly directed be the protection of all classified employees in government service of practically every description. The extension of civil service to persons in administrative positions as the heads of departments, however, is a matter of grave concern. No business or industry could be efficiently operated if the executives of that business were powerless to remove a department manager or a divisional foreman. We trust that the city will maintain its efforts to retain local direction over its own affairs and will resist with all legal means this added instance of Federal interference or control from Washington headquarters. The issue is another instance where the growth of bureaucracy is reaching out like the tentacles of an octopus to slowly strangle democratic government and substitute for it a centralized administration.

A HERITAGE TO NEWTON YOUTHS

The resignation of Clyde G. Hess from the position of boy's secretary of the Newton Y.M.C.A. and director of Camp Frank A. Day leaves his many local friends with mixed feelings. Through eighteen years of service in the development of the character of hundreds of lads who have come under his influence, Mr. Hess has endeared himself to all of those with whom he has come in contact. The knowledge that he is leaving Newton fills one with a distinct feeling of loss of an intangible something of tremendous value.

Mr. Hess leaves to accept the general secretaryship of an association in a wider field. His many friends rejoice with him over the opportunity which has been offered. Their best wishes go with him to give him added confidence in meeting the new challenges which he will face. We in Newton know his talents. In behalf of all Newton citizens he has employed those talents that our sons may become useful citizens—that they may become men. Mr. Hess will leave behind him a heritage that hundreds of young men will respect and cherish through the years.

BUILDING A BETTER AMERICA

The distinction of serving in the second highest office that a service club in the United States can bestow upon an American has come to James P. Gallagher in his selection as vice-president of Kiwanis International. Mr. Gallagher was tendered a testimonial dinner this week which reflected the esteem in which he is held by his fellow workers and fellow citizens. Kiwanis has taken Jim Gallagher as a builder—and Jim Gallagher has taken Kiwanis as a means of service to others. May both continue to build towards a better America.

Powers' Paragraphs

As a result of the greatly reduced number of automobile accidents and fatalities in Providence and other parts of Rhode Island in recent years because of speed limits enforced in that city and state, during the past two years many Massachusetts cities and towns have placed signs along their highways limiting speed to 25 miles in some places and 30 miles in others. Several months ago Newton adopted the latter speed limit and results have been very appreciable. With few exceptions the many thousands of Newton residents who operate automobiles have been co-operating laudably in this effort to reduce automobile fatalities and accidents.

Recently the Selectmen of an adjoining town considered the adoption of a speed limit, but the Chief of Police of that town and an employee of the State Department of Public Works who attended the meeting argued against it. The latter contended that officials of cities and towns have no legal right to establish speed limits, but that he expected the Legislature will take measures to authorize such speed restriction at its next session.

The Massachusetts Legislature did authorize such speed restriction some years ago. The Act of 1923, Chapter 271, Paragraph 4, specifically states: "No person operating a motor vehicle on any way shall run it at a rate of speed greater than is reasonable and proper, having regard to traffic and the use of the way and the safety of the public. It shall be prima facie evidence of a rate of speed greater than is reasonable and proper as aforesaid, if a motor vehicle is operated on any way outside of a thickly settled or business district at a rate of speed exceeding 30 miles an hour for the distance of a quarter of a mile, or inside a thickly settled or business district at a rate of speed exceeding 20 miles an hour for the distance of one-eighth of a mile, or in any place where the operator's view of the road traffic is obstructed either upon approaching an intersecting way or in traversing a crossing or intersection of ways, or in going around a corner or a curve in a way at a rate of speed exceeding 15 miles an hour."

That law still stands, and most judges recognize it, as they should, the opinion of some traffic "expert" or "engineer" to the contrary. And most judges are co-operating with the efforts of local officials who are attempting to enforce the speed limits in the campaign to reduce the unnecessary, terrific carnage caused by too much speed, rather than deferring to the pleas or arguments of some selfish or would-be pampered individual who wants to be accorded special privileges, and who displays an unwillingness to co-operate with the great majority in the campaign for highway safety.

Day by day the world awaits the start of the full attack on Britain by the combined forces of Hitler and Mussolini. And although the hopes of the great majority of people in the U. S. A. are that the valiant British will be able to successfully withstand the terrific onslaught which will be hurled against them by the highly efficient Nazi forces, well-informed persons here fear that the preponderance of Germany's mechanized might, plus the training and fanatical zeal of their millions of fighting men, will be victorious over Britain. Despite this ominous outlook we have Congressmen and others endeavoring to prevent the proposed compulsory military training act. These fatuous persons blind themselves to the experiences of France and England, to the defeats suffered because of lack of foresight, and because of apathy and unpreparedness.

It is only within recent weeks that most of our politicians, publicists and financiers have given evidence that they realize that many of the South American countries have stronger economic ties with Germany than with the U. S. A., and that even though the Nazis might not attempt military conquest of parts of that continent in the immediate future, should England be overcome, an economic conquest is quite probable.

Whether Germany conquers Britain or fails to do so, it is rapidly becoming realized here that the era of inefficiency in government and in our economic structure in the U. S. A. will have to end. There will be a drastic reduction in the hundreds of thousands of soft jobs in this lush land. There will be changes not only in our political structure, but also in our economic life. The efficiency of totalitarian countries, our wise men now tell us, will necessitate the ending of paid loafing in this nation.

And despite the denunciation of isolationists by the President and lesser lights, we may be forced to choose between a threatened reduction in our standard of living because of loss of foreign markets, or a much greater reduction in our standard of living if we seek to compete in foreign markets with Germany, Japan and the countries they may dominate, where wages are and will be a small fraction of what workers in the U. S. A. receive.

presented to the city a strip of land sufficient to widen the street line in front of his property to the regular width of the street. If the small house adjoining were now moved back, the appearance of that part of Watertown st. would be greatly improved. The city might well stand the cost of moving the small structure.

Newton's oldest school structure, the Lincoln School at the corner of Thornton and Pearl sts., was razed this week. It was built in 1854, Thornton st. was known for many years as School st. But, about 50 years ago a few of the people residing on that part of it nearer Washington st. got a "high-toned" complex and had the name of the street changed to Thornton st. About the same time a woman resident of Nonantum st. who had social aspirations became disturbed because her street bore the same name as the working class district which had its name changed from North Village to Nonantum. So, she had the name Nonantum st. changed to Charlesbank rd. She and the persons who had School st. changed to Thornton st. have been dead these many years. Centuries ago someone conceived the idea that there are several heavens; seven we believe. Probably folks with superior complexes on this earth believe they will be assigned to the most exclusive heaven where they will not have to rub elbows (or wings) with ordinary angels. Incidentally, there are still people in Newton with superiority complexes. Otherwise, one of the new telephone exchanges might have borne the designation "Nonantum," which was the Indian name of this area, and which is on the seal of the city.

A Newtonville resident who takes a commendable interest in civic affairs informs us that the campaign against ragweed in this city is not receiving the co-operation from citizens in general. He states that a large percentage of Newton's residents do not even know ragweed when they see it, despite the publicity which it has been given the past few years.

The expected big increase in the number of marriages because of the impending draft of young men in this country has occurred and will continue for the next month. There will be fewer war brides if the pre-draft grooms escape conscription. But, the sad thing may be—that the young men who get married this month and next may not be exempted from the draft.

After reading about the cult "I Am," and one of its principal tenets, it seemed to us that its name could more properly have been—"I Ain't."

THE NEWTON HOSPITAL AID BENEFIT SHOP

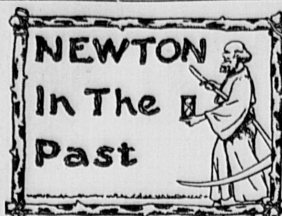

On Wednesday noon, the last day of July, the Hospital Aid Benefit Shop, located at 795 Washington st., Newtonville, closed its doors for the usual five weeks' rest for the employees. As all of the workers except the manager, give their time, it is most difficult to find workers during the summer months, and the shop had found this cessation of sales has proved to the public how much they had depended upon it for their many needs during the rest of the year.

When the shop opens again on Monday afternoon, Sept. 9th, the management hope to be able to offer new goods to the public, and to this end Newton residents are requested to keep this organization in mind, and goods will be called for during the coming month, and held for the fall sales. For this service, call N. N. 1774-J, and collections will be made on Wednesday mornings as usual.

SALE IN NEWTON

A transfer of unusual interest in the Farlow Hill section of Newton is the sale of the property at No. 40 Shore-cliff rd. This property formerly owned by Mrs. Edith B. Russell has been sold to Evelyn B. Morrissey of Cambridge, who has bought for a permanent home and plans to move in in the near future. This property consists of a substantial older-type home of 10 rooms and is situated on a lot of about 9500 square feet of land. The assessment on this property is $3300 of which $2300 is on the land. Situated as it is, this property commands an excellent view of much of the adjoining area in this part of Newton. Both parties to the above transaction were represented by Howe Associates.

UNSAFE at HOME

55 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, July 18, 1885
Dr. O'Donnell, a graduate of Harvard Medical School and recently in practice at Marlboro, has opened an office in Newton, in the house of John Flood at Pearl and Centre sts.

A patent has been issued to W. H. Stearns, Jr., of Newton for artificial stone or marble.

The warm weather of the past two weeks has created quite a pilgrimage to Mr. Allen's pond at West Newton. The facilities for bathing and swimming at this place are excellent.

A meeting of the ladies interested in the completion of the Newton Cottage Hospital was held in the parlors of the Eliot Church last Friday. The following resolution was unanimously adopted: That the ladies of the Board of Trustees of Newton Cottage Hospital be requested to associate with themselves other ladies, so that the body will consist of seven from each Ward in the city to be called the "Ladies' Aid Association." That they be requested to organize for practical work in aid of the hospital. A committee of seven, one from each ward, was appointed to draw up a list of by-laws. Exact details of what is required cannot be given at this time, but after completion of the organization, full particulars will be furnished to all interested in this noble charity.

From small beginnings Francis Jennison has built up a large soap manufacturing business on Pearl st., Newton. Time was when there were few dwellings in the immediate vicinity of the soap factory, but now it is surrounded by dwellings and the land has become valuable. Like most soap factories, the odor from it is not pleasant. The son who has succeeded to the father's business, proposes to move the factory to the banks of the Charles River where land is less valuable and unsuitable for residence. The Newton Board of Health has inspected Mr. Jennison's new method of manufacture and granted him a permit for the new location.

The present price of the abundant crop of currants is from 10 to 15 cents a quart. Albert Ward of Ward st. has harvested over 75 bushels.

We trust that the pastors of this city, who number a score or more, will not all leave their flocks alone to their joys and sorrows during the month of August. We hope that they may arrange their furloughs so that the post will not be entirely deserted by those who are looked to for heaven sent sympathy by the rank and file.

No reliable figures of the population of Newton have yet been obtained from the census officials, but it ought to be 25,000 at least.

They tell of a party of Newton people who drove up to one of the swell hotels in the White Mountains. One of the ladies expressed a desire for lemonade and it was ordered for the party of seven. The lemonade was good and so was the bill, which amounted to $2.50 for the seven glasses of lemonade, and not one had a stick in it.

John Philpot, aged 10 years, and Thomas Murphy, aged 7 years, were drowned in the Charles River at Nonantum about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. The two boys had gone in bathing near the gravel bank off California st. The Murphy boy waded out to the middle of the river where he went over his head in about 8 feet of water, and not being able to swim, sank. Philpot went to his assistance, and being only able to swim a little, did not know how to grasp the Murphy boy. He was clasped by the other boy and both were drowned. James Galway, an employee of the Nonantum Starch Company, went in and recovered the bodies after they had been under water a half hour.

Camp F. A. Day

Circus Writs in Heat

The intense heat which has enveloped the New England area almost scored a severe knockout for the annual Camp Day circus held on last Saturday afternoon on the Camp grounds. The attendance was kept down to the lowest point ever reached in the last five years, but the show went on in spite of the difficulties encountered.

At three o'clock in the afternoon the enlarged band, led by Billy Hansen, drum major, swung out in martial rhythm followed by the entire personnel of the Circus. Clowns under the guidance of Warren Kelley took first place after the band, and at times seemed to vie with the band for first place in the parade. Then came the animals, prodded by Professor Day; tumblers and pyramid-builders, formed by Duncan Whitehill; pageant group supervised by Everett Bauman; and bringing up the rear were the always-present Indians.

The Midway was conducted under tents, and the number of customers was seriously curtailed as a result, but the boys did perform to top ability. Listed among the performers were the following: Strong Man, William Magee; Fat Woman, Tom Coleman; Mamee Twins, Edward and Sherman Hawkins; Tall Man, Ted Simpson; Midget, Wallace Simmons; Wild Man, Richard Morse; Glass Eater, Malcolm Morse; Fire-Eater, Prescott Coulter; Barkers, Counsellors, Bob Hayton and George Alcott. In the Chamber of Horrors ghastly scenes were conducted under the benign influence of Counsellor Arthur Wright, who brought to the public such scenes as "The Torture of Man," featuring Robert Ives; "The Hanging," with Jack Ierardi as the victim; "The Crippled Man," Dave Seaver; Tattooed Man, Dick Burns; Headless Man, Robert Saul.

In the Main Ring Show which concluded the afternoon's fun Gardner Hess, stentor-voiced Ring Master, introduced many surprising acts which received meritorious applause from the spectators. Clowns and tumblers vied for the plaudits of the attendants, and each was sufficiently rewarded for their efforts. Professor Day's animal show was outstanding, and showed painstaking work in preparation by Ed Frye and Sid Roberts.

Concessions, conducted by the boys, competed with one another to a successful extent and prizes were awarded to boys of tent groups on the basis of money returns. First place was won by Ned Fowler, Dick Simmons and the remainder of their Tent Eleven. Second prize went to the boys of Tent Seven, headed by Traf Malton and George Schweitzer. Tent One with a ball-throwing game succeeded in capturing third prize.

Operetta Concludes Day

Under the capable coaching of Everett Bauman, Dramatic Leader, and Robert Myers, teacher of music, a splendid operetta titled "The Pirates and the Lady," concluded the Saturday show. Presented in the evening on the outdoor stage, the show set a high standard for a camp production. Leading roles were assigned to the regular members of the Dramatic Society, and consisted of the following boys: Loring Kidder as the Captain; Traf Malton, the First Mate; Carmen Petrillo, second mate; Arthur Kolsti, as Jim the Boatwain; George Roope as the captain's daughter; and Richard Morse as the Pirate Chief.

Outstanding as pirates were Doug Hibbard, Richard Williamson, Godfrey Chaffer, and Don Cashin. Contributing their bits as sailors were Robert Gordon, LaMeyer, Ray Hudson and Doug Burns. Tom Coleman was the Governor who brought many laughable incidents to the audience. Assisting behind the scenes as Property Man was Francis Kirby, and the Sound Effects were in the capable hands of John Rooney.

Program Curtailed by Heat

Due to the intense heat wave the Camp Directors have greatly curtailed the athletic program which taxes the strength of the camper in the current weather. Substituting for the usual program are so-called quiet games which are held in the shady parts of Camp, or in the protected tents under the direction of the counsellors. More emphasis is placed on late-evening sports in the lake, and the boys are recommended to such a program with pleasure. Until the weather is better suited the athletics at Camp will be secondary, and a lazy existence will be the chief concern.

Camper Wins Second Flight in South Shore Junior Golf Tournament

Honor came to the Camp last week when news that Charles "Chuck" Johnson, who spent the first part of the season as a Ranger was successful in capturing first place in his division of the South Shore Junior Golf Tournament. After qualifying on Monday Chuck went into the semifinals by winning two matches on Tuesday, and on Wednesday morning defeated the well-known player, John Sides. Wednesday afternoon he in short order by Officer Purcell a few nights ago.

Some 300 to 900 people were taken aboard an excursion train at Upper Falls on Wednesday for a picnic at Highland Lake Grove, Medway. It is estimated that there were 1200 to 1500 people at the picnic grounds and the proceeds will be used to build a new Catholic church at Newton Centre.

An alarm from Box 9 at 2:55 yesterday afternoon was for a fire in the barn of M. A. Mick on Dedham st., Oak Hill. The building was burned to the ground with its contents, which included 12 cows, a horse, 6 pigs, 30 tons of hay and several farm wagons. Two of Mr. Mick's young children were playing in the barn and were rescued by their 13-year-old sister.

was the victor in a difficult match to fulfill a three year campaign. Phil Johnson, his brother, brought further honors by winning first place in the Amateur Hour conducted at the Camp. Phil is a remarkable performer on the trap drums, and contributes many splendid performances at the Saturday night shows.

Waterfront Show a Feature for Saturday, Aug. 10th

An outstanding program has been planned for Saturday afternoon, August 10th on the Camp Day Waterfront. Starting directly after the Rest Hour has been concluded the second swimming meet of the season will be conducted. Events to be contested will follow closely these of past years with the freestyle dashes the highlights.

However, an added note of interest will be the second annual Follies on the Waterfront, to be conducted this year by Gardner Hess. Contrary to last year's show the performers this year are selected from the campers, and not the counsellors. Practices in formations are held daily with Mr. Hess, Al Chapalis and Jim Martin coaches. Some of the best camper swimmers have been gathered together to swim the intricate patterns. Names familiar to the swim-minded Newtonites are: Jack Callahan, Carl Needy, Dick Wright, Ross Humphrey, Francis Masterson, George Roope, Trafalder, Malton, Raymond Brewer, William Tiedel, William Harvey, Dick Drisko, Robert and Gilbert Tibolt, Richard Coon, Mason Hartman, Newton Burnett, Bill Hansen, Jack Clark, Don Cashin and Dick Minard.

The counsellors will have an opportunity to show their wares as singers and comics in the evening show. Fashioned after a current Broadway hit which features much robust fun, and some music the effort bears the strange title of "Nutcrackers Sweet."

More Than Twenty-Five Beginners Complete Tests

Since the opening of Camp classes have been held daily, except Sunday to teach boys who cannot swim the elements of the sport. Each boy's name is placed on a Sink Easy List, and is erased only after the boy completes satisfactorily the Beginners Swim Test under the direction of the Swim Committee. To last Saturday more than twenty-five boys were successful in meeting these requirements, and a class of only five boys are left. The following boys have received buttons signifying their achievements:

Richard Daly, West Roxbury; John Flood, Needham; Donald Rawlings, Newton; John Whelan, Newton; Edgar Hubbard, Weston; Dudley Boston, Newtonville; Richard Burton, Brighton; Thornton Gilchrist, Cambridge; Allen Goode and Lincoln Goode of Newton Centre; George Graham, Belmont; Robert Harris, Boston; Stephen Hemphill of Watertown; Wayne Holland, Cambridge; Ray Hudson, Newton; Stanley Kimball, Newtonville; Alan Karb, Framingham; Gordon J. Meyers, Newton; Donald MacFaden, Newtonville; Preston Maron, Belmont; Robert Ostreicher, Newton Highlands; Jerome Reed, Newton; John Rule, Watertown; Linwood Loiselle, Newton; Winslow Coons, Newton.

Exhibition of Paintings At Newtonville Library

There will be an exhibition of water colors by Malcolm Robb of Newtonville at the Newtonville Branch Library from July 29 to August 19th. Mr. Robb made the paintings while traveling on the Rotch Scholarship 1938-1939.

The Library is open daily 1-6 and 7-9. Closed all day Wednesday and Friday evening at 6.

NEWTON CENTRE HOME SOLD

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., report that final papers have gone to record in the transfer of the property located at 82 Halcyon rd., Newton Centre.

This single brick and frame residence containing 7 rooms and sun-room has with it a two-car garage and 7832 square feet of land and is valued for tax purposes for $7500.

Eva L. Rogers was the grantor and E. Frank Maguire, the buyer, has purchased for occupancy.

Sunbeam Chats

The District Nurse was in to see me the other day and asked Mother to be sure and take me to the Well Baby Conference for a "physical check-up." I couldn't imagine what that was, but I soon found out. It just meant the doctor would examine me again to see if everything about me was O. K. Guess everything was "hunky dory," 'cause he said, "Good for you, old fellow," when he saw all my teeth. He told Mother it showed I had intelligent care. Then he said he hoped I would always have a "physical check-up" all my life at least once a year. He said a lot about our bodies being like a machine which needs checking once in awhile.

(Sunbeam Chats are sponsored by the Newton District Nursing Association.)

Recent WeddingsGLEASON—ROWSE

In the First Parish Unitarian Church, West Roxbury, Saturday afternoon, July 27th, Miss Madeline Elwell Rowse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward James Rowse, of West Roxbury, became the bride of Sidney Gleason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bemis Gleason, of 45 Waterston rd., Newton. The Rev. Harold Greene Arnold officiated at the 4 o'clock ceremony and the church was decorated with white gladioli and Madonna lilies. A reception was held in the garden at the home of the bride's parents. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown with a bodice and train of white embroidered Swiss organdy and a bouffant skirt of plain organdy and a long veil of illusion suspended from a wreath of white lilies of the valley and sweet peas. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Edward G. Adams, Jr., of Cape Porpoise, Maine, and Miss Alice Louise Warren, of West Roxbury, who attended the bride, wore gowns similar to the bride's with square necklines and full skirts, and carried sheaves of Picardy gladioli. Mrs. Adams' gown was of lettuce green Swiss organdy embroidered with tiny rosebuds and Miss Warren's was of pale orchid. The bride's mother wore a gown of forget-me-not blue embroidered Swiss voile, with a wide-brimmed navy blue hat trimmed with light blue and fuchsia velvet and carried a sweet pea bouquet. The bridegroom's mother wore powder blue flowered chiffon, with a white hat and a corsage of orchids.

Donald Gleason, of New York, was best man for his twin brother, and the ushers were John Gleason, of Concord, Roswell Angier, of Boston, George Larsen, of Newton, and Clifford Crother, of Newtonville.

The bride was graduated from Smith College in 1934 and received her master of arts degree from Radcliffe College the following year. Mr. Gleason was graduated from the Country Day School in Newton, and from Harvard College in 1936.

Following their return from a three weeks' trip through northern New England, Mr. and Mrs. Gleason will reside in Cambridge where they will be at home after October 1.

BRACKENRIDGE—SANDERSON

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Sanderson of Hartford st., Newton Highlands, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ruth Jennifer Sanderson to Alexander Brackenridge of Cleveland, Ohio.

Recent Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Gregg, of Concord, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Gregg, to Clifford Wallace Dow, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford W. Dow, of 56 Columbus st., Newton Highlands and Humarock.

Mr. Dow is a graduate of Deerfield Academy and attended Bates College. No immediate plans have been made for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Allen, of 90 Washburn ave., Auburndale, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth S. Allen, to Robert C. Hoffman, son of Mrs. Lavinia Hoffman, of 86 Charles st., Auburndale. The wedding will take place in September.

Increase Wood Durability
By Protective Treatment

Wood, always a durable building material if wisely used, has been gaining added durability as a result of recent research. At the forest products laboratory of the United States department of agriculture and elsewhere science has found ways of making wood last longer by impregnating the fibers with chemicals to insure the timber against decay and against insect attacks. Current experiments with some of the newer synthetic chemicals and particularly with some of the plastics promise still further extensions of service.

Advocates of wood as a building material point to such examples as the Fairbanks house in Dedham, Mass., built of wood in 1636 and still structurally intact; also to European houses of timbered construction dating well back into the Middle Ages, and to timbers in Indian pueblos in the Southwest that are hundreds of years old and still sound.

Given the protective treatments developed in recent years, timber is proving durable under conditions that would soon destroy untreated timber, and foresters are not inclined to set any outside limits on the durability of treated timbers when kept well protected and in favorable locations.

Recent Survey Reveals Men as Most Careless

Professional nurses are "tops" when it comes to leaving valuables in clothes sent to the laundry.

This is the conclusion of the American Institute of Laundering following a survey which disclosed that nurses' uniforms and aprons are veritable treasure mines with the pockets frequently disgorging wrist watches, fountain pens, pencils, thermometers, small pieces of jewelry, and other valuables when examined by sorters at commercial laundries.

All such goods, of course, are put into individual bags and returned promptly to their owners.

Close behind the nurses' clothes are men's sport togs, such as wash slacks and sport shirts. They frequently contain small change, rolls of bills, watches, fountain pens, pencils, tie clasps, cuff buttons, and other small pieces of masculine jewelry. A Chicago laundry recently found $85 in a pair of men's slacks, while the Institute laundry found $93 in similar garments.

Laundries which also operate dry cleaning plants reported that men are much more careless about leaving valuables in their clothes than are women.

Spider Silk

Imagine holding in the palm of your hand enough material to circumscribe completely the circumference of the world—yet material so fine that such a quantity of it would weigh but one pound!

Such a material is the spider silk employed by Dr. John Albright, associate professor of physics, to construct the cross hairs in optical instruments. Not only is Dr. Albright one of the few men in the United States who can mount cross hairs in optical instruments, but he is also his own provider of the delicate spider's web silk that goes into the eye pieces of the telescopes, microscopes, transits and such.

Professor Albright's start in this unique hobby and occupation was simple enough, for, as he puts it, "Many years ago I began putting cross hairs in the eyepieces of optical measuring instruments. Soon I found that I needed a supply of the spider's silk fiber that goes into the eyepiece of the instrument. So I got some spiders and obtained my own fiber."

'No Cheat' Log

"Tony Ivins—he no cheat." This indorsement of the square dealing of a Mormon pioneer who was one of the 12 apostles of the Church of Latter Day Saints was embroidered in beads on the back of a buckskin jacket. The jacket was presented to Ivins by his Indian friends. It has interest because it serves as an indirect proof that Ivins was worthy of the unusual honor recently paid to his memory.

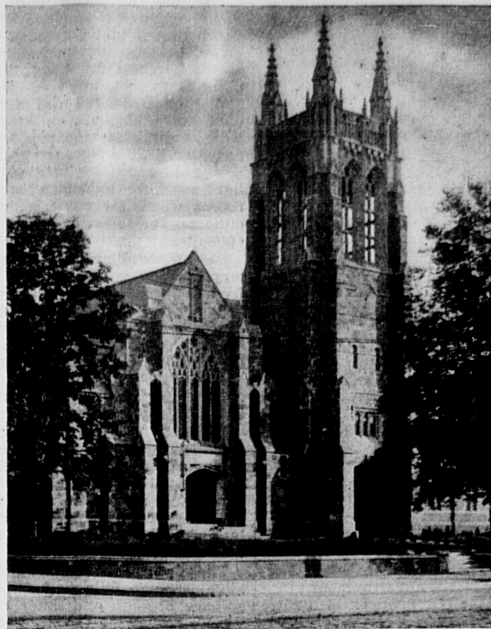

In his will he had requested that his last resting place be marked by a petrified log. Permission was obtained from a land company for Ivins' son to select and remove from the company's land, just west of the Petrified Forest National Monument boundary, a log suitable for a tombstone. The specimen selected weighed between six and seven tons. It was transported to Salt Lake City to mark the grave of the man who did not cheat.

Now It's 'Perching'

Here's a new term for those who speak collegiate "slanguage": If couples at Hiram, Ohio, college decide to go to a movie, ball game, dance, swim, etc., etc., it's "perching" instead of "dating." The term had its origin in the days when the popular diversion was to sit on the rail fence at the college.

Slack Business Booms

Sales of men's slacks have jumped 700 per cent since 1932, when 5,000,000 pairs were sold for $6,500,000, the volume in 1939 totaling 40,000,000 pairs valued at $65,000,000, according to a recent survey.

Union Services in W. Newton Unitarian Church

Beginning next Sunday, August 4, and continuing through the first Sunday in September, the popular Newton Summer Services held during July at the Church of the New Jerusalem will be held at the Unitarian Church in West Newton.

Dr. Joseph M. M. Gray will continue as guest preacher. Music will be under the direction of Mr. William Weston.

Dr. Gray, a preacher of unusual power, Chancellor of the American University at Washington, D. C., has been an exchange preacher in England. In constant demand all over the country as a lecturer, Dr. Gray is also a prolific writer. Among his books are "The Old Faith in the New Day," "The Contemporary Christ," "Sufficient Minister," "Concerning the Faith" and "Prophecy of the Soul."

The seven churches sponsoring the Union Services are: the Methodist Church, Central Church and the Church of the New Jerusalem in Newtonville; Second Church, the Unitarian Church, Lincoln Park Baptist Church in West Newton and the Congregational Church in Auburndale.

The services start at eleven o'clock and everyone is welcome.

VILLAGE HALL PLAYHOUSE

Started by a small group of young Framingham men a little more than a year ago the Village Hall Playhouse of Framingham Centre have steadily increased in popularity until they are today one of the most refreshing sources of summer dramatic entertainment to be found in this region. Their plays are presented in the beautiful and historic Village Hall just a stop from the Boston-Worcester Pike at Framingham Centre.

The company is composed of professional players, selected for their skill and charm, and is under the capable direction of Miss Alice Hazel Chandler. With no imported stars to steal the centre of attention this comparatively new company has made up for the outside touch of Hollywood glamor by hard work and inspired company team play. The net result has been pleasing to Playhouse patrons. They have already seen several plays well done.

The latest New York visitor, Maynard Morris, talent agent for Broadway productions, stayed the better part of two days interviewing and watching five members of the company with an eye to using them in production this fall.

The talented Ruth Gilman of Brookline who already has a Fox Contract for the winter came in for particular attention from Mr. Morris. She is to be considered for a part in the new Kaufman and Hart show to open in New York next season. Barbara Winslow and Edward Dillon are under consideration for parts in the road company of "The Man Who Came to Dinner" and Harriet Bruce in the Boston company of "Life with Father."

Mr. Morris was exceedingly generous in his praise of the work being done at the Playhouse. His exact word was "terrific." The management of this new company was of course concerned with the problem of becoming known in professional New York circles. Mr. Morris commented that to maintain the present high standard of production would do more to publicize the company in New York than "a mile of publicity."

The stage settings of the Playhouse production have received favorable attention both from patrons and critics. This department has been under the exclusive direction of L. Ivan Bruce whose talents have been recognized in other phases of design. He is also exclusive designer for telephon clocks and Gow restaurants.

Attend Social Agency Conference At Smith College

Miss Harriet L. Parsons and Miss Marian Ely of the Family Service Bureau of Newton are among sixty-one representatives of social agencies in the East, South and Middle West attending the 18th annual Supervisors' Conference of the Smith College School for Social Work being held today through Saturday, Aug. 3, at the Smith College campus.

Conducted annually during the height of the summer session of the S. C. S. W., the Conference is devoted to lectures and discussion designed to correlate the work of the school with that of the agencies represented, nearly all of which are co-operating with the school during its winter session.

The main speaker this week-end will be Richard L. Frank of New York City, whose subject has been announced as "Difficulties Which Occur in the Worker-Client Relationship."

Needed Court's Consent

Henry W. Walstrom, receiver for the Grand Rapids, Mich., Savings bank, wanted to sell 166/400ths of one share in the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company. The amount involved was five cents. The circuit judge gravely gave the required authority.

Newton Girls Active At Camp Quanset On Cape Cod

Miss Merrick Farrar recently won first place in the seventh race of the Commodore Cup Series at the Quanset Cape Cod Sailing Camps for Girls, South Orleans, where she is spending the summer. Miss Farrar is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charles O. Farrar of Columbus st., Newton Highlands.

Miss Ann Ward of Mountfort st., who spent the month of July at Camp Quanset, received a "Q" for her work in crafts. This is an award of merit given to campers for accomplishments of a superior nature. Miss Ward is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark H. Ward, also of Newton Highlands. Miss Carolyn Coleman, of Bowdoin st., passed her Sharpie Test on July 21 at Camp Quanset. This test requires a thorough knowledge of the handling of the small boat in which novices learn to sail. Miss Coleman is the daughter of Mrs. George A. Coleman and is spending the summer at Quanset Camps.

Miss Merrick Farrar won first place in the opening race of the Baybird Cup Series sponsored by the Quanset Yacht Club. The race took place on July 28 and will be followed by eight others during August.

Miss Elizabeth Martz of Rockledge rd., Newton Highlands, placed second in the same race. She also received third place in the final results of the Commodore Cup Races of July. Miss Martz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Martz.

Miss Constance Anne Gibbs and Miss Ann B. Ward have left Camp Quanset, where they spent the month of July. Miss Gibbs is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gibbs of Claremont st., Miss Ward is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark H. Ward of Mountfort rd., Newton Highlands.

Miss Maurine Helms arrived on Saturday, July 27, at the Quanset Cape Cod Sailing Camps for Girls in South Orleans where she will spend a month as a counselor in training.

Miss Helms is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Helms of Oldham rd., West Newton.

VILLAGE HALL PLAYHOUSE

With the sinister threats of "Double Door" leaving the stage after this Saturday's performance, the Village Hall Players will return to the field of light comedy next week when they present Noel Coward's well known success "Hay Fever." To determine upon the best of the Coward plays is a difficult task, but "Hay Fever" seems to be the one best suited for summer presentation.

The play deals with the erratic and ultra-Bohemian Bliss family, all of whom are self centered in the extreme. The complications that arise when each member of the family invites a week-end visitor and seeks to put his or her friend in the same room give the famous English playwright an opportunity to display his famous brand of humor.

Alma Downer and Harriet Bruce assume the leading roles in their usual efficient manner with the support of the regular company. Reservations may be made by phone or mail to the Village Hall Playhouse, Framingham Centre.

England's Mystery Benefactor
Because he "haunts" the Blackburn Royal Institute, in Blackburn, England, leaves a donation and disappears, a mysterious man has been named the "nice ghost of Blackburn." He refuses to give his name or the reason for his generosity, except that it is "for services rendered." Institute officials are at sea as to what help the institution has given to the mysterious subscriber. His donations have ranged, in United States currency terms, from $97.50 to $250.

"CASH AND CARRY"
Life insurance

Savings Bank Life Insurance must be bought "over-the-counter," at the savings bank. This "cash and carry" method eliminates certain selling expenses, which means lower costs to thrifty people willing to buy on their own initiative.

For example, here are the rates at various ages for Savings Bank Life Insurance "straight" or "whole life" policies:

PER $1000 POLICY

| Age Nearest Birthday | Annual Premium | Quarterly Installment | Monthly Installment |
|----------------------|----------------|-----------------------|---------------------|
| 1 | $11.41 | $2.97 | $1.01 |
| 10 | 12.15 | 3.16 | 1.07 |
| 20 | 14.85 | 3.86 | 1.31 |
| 25 | 16.72 | 4.35 | 1.48 |
| 30 | 19.11 | 4.97 | 1.69 |
| 35 | 22.19 | 5.77 | 1.96 |
| 40 | 26.23 | 6.82 | 2.31 |
| 45 | 31.64 | 8.23 | 2.79 |

Dividend payments may be used to reduce these premiums, if desired. Or, they may be used to buy additional paid-up insurance or to accumulate at interest. All Savings Bank Life Insurance policies have cash value after 6 months, and loan value after one year.

Persons from 6 months to 70 years living or working in Massachusetts are eligible to apply for Savings Bank Life Insurance. In addition to "straight life," other types of policies are available at correspondingly low rates.

Rotary Club

Taking as his subject "Your State in Private Enterprise," Carl R. Brownell, past president of the Worcester Rotary Club, addressed a joint meeting of the Newton and Waltham Rotary Clubs at the Hovey Memorial on Wednesday, July 31st. The speaker was introduced by Edmund Sanderson of the Waltham Club. Taking as his premise the well known fact that the roots of freedom are planted deeper in this country than anywhere else in the world today, he said that it is dependent on three things. First, representative democracy; second, freedom of speech, press and religion; and third, freedom of enterprise. The beginning of trouble is always hard times. Free enterprise has given our country the ability to withstand ten years of depression and still have standards of living far above any country of the world. We must maintain our democratic form of government if we are to progress. Politicians turn to business men to correct troubles. Above all, our democracy must be supported by public opinion. Democracy may not be efficient, but free will and free enterprise are far preferable to brute force. That our wealth is not concentrated is amply proved by reputable statistics. Labor and management have many common interests and are co-operating, contrary to the ideas of some. Advertising is not wasteful and misleading. Industry for profit is industry's reason for existing. Instead of restricting opportunities for youth, industry has limitless frontiers. Young men recognizing this are not over-flowing our trade schools. That business and management is war minded is not true. Looking forward to the future, if we are to have our share of world trade and maintain high standards of living, we must keep enterprise on its toes and initiative at a high pitch.

The meeting was presided over by George Hughes the president of the Waltham Club. John Cahill, president of the Newton Club, and District Governor Harry Starr were at the head table. Waltham is to join with Newton next week with an interclub meeting at the Brae Burn Country Club on August 5th, 1940, at the regular hour 12:15 p. m.

The 197th District Assembly is to be held on August 8th at the Marlboro Country Club. The principal speaker at the luncheon will be past district governor Charles Morris of New York.

Visitors were present from Beverly, Brookline, Belmont, Lexington and Lakewood, Ohio.

Newton Youths Granted
Northeastern Scholarships

Joseph Ahearn of 194 Lowell ave., Newtonville, and Joseph Piselli of 26 Lenglen rd., Newton, are among the 43 students who have been granted a Charles Hayden Scholarship at Northeastern University, according to the announcement just issued by President Charles S. Eli.

The Hayden Scholarships are made possible through a grant from the Charles Hayden Foundation established by the will of the late Charles Hayden. Awards are made to male graduates of Boston and certain Greater Boston High Schools who have proved their superior ability and demonstrated a likelihood of succeeding in their chosen field.

Both Mr. Ahearn and Mr. Piselli are expected to register in the Northeastern University College of Engineering on September 5.

Christian Endeavors Plan Beach Party

The Middlesex County Christian Endeavor Union will hold a Beach Party on Saturday at Crane's Beach, Ipswich. The outing will begin at 2:30. Those attending the beach party will bring their swimming togs, and lunch. Local Endeavors are urged to fill up several cars from their locality. There will be a small fee for parking privileges but otherwise no tickets are necessary. Edward Simpson of Cambridge is in charge of the outing.

Domestic Reports

Burglar Tried To Kidnap Her

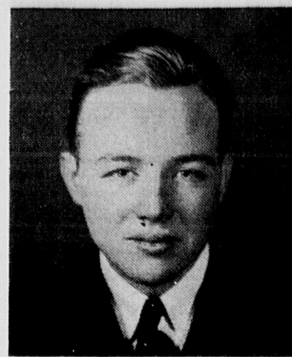

According to a report made by Hannah Richard, 29, employed as a domestic at the home of Earl Major, 25 Drumm rd., Newton Centre, a middle-aged, dark complexioned burglar forced his way into that house on Sunday afternoon while she was alone about 1:30. According to the story she told inspectors King, Lyons and Burke when they went to the Drumm rd. address after she had phoned police headquarters Sunday afternoon, the burglar beat her when she refused to tell him where valuables in the house were kept. Then the burglar, after holding her a prisoner for a couple of hours, went to her room and took $45 of her money from a bureau drawer.

The burglar, according to the Richards woman's report, then forced her to show him where the key of a station wagon was kept, compelled her to accompany him to the garage and enter the station wagon. He then drove the wagon along Drumm rd., lost control of the vehicle and crashed it into a tree. Then, the burglar jumped out of the wagon, ran to another automobile, which was parked nearby, and drove off.

Driverless Automobile Rolls Down Steep Grade

An automobile owned by Richard Warren of 79 Fountain st., West Newton, rolled down the steep grade on Chestnut st. on Wednesday night about 10:40, crashed through the railing along the Boston & Albany reservation, and continued on down the embankment. The car was not badly damaged. Warren told the police that he parked the car opposite 73 Chestnut st. and was about to enter a nearby house when the automobile started to coast down the hill.

Poor Electrical Wiring

Rated as Fire Hazard

The use of cheap and poorly made, exposed extension wiring in the home is to be avoided at all times, because it is considered one of the greatest fire hazards of today.

With several safe types of surface extension wiring now on the market which are both inexpensive and easy to install, there is no longer any excuse for the use of cheap light cord for extension wiring in rooms where there are insufficient outlets. The safest thing to do is to consult an expert electrician.

Before installing any exposed extension wiring, the electric outlet from which the extension wiring is to extend should be carefully inspected in order to make sure that all connections are tight and that the outlet and the house-wiring circuit to which it is connected are of sufficient capacity to carry the extra load of the extension wiring.

If all is in good order, then a selection of the type of extension wiring can be made. Several types are available in which wires are completely encased in a flat rubber or composition strip of good insulating quality which may be rigidly attached to the wall.

These strip-wiring systems all have special fittings for outlets: splices, crosses, and other connections. In order to be sure of their safety, it is advisable to purchase only materials having the inspection label of the Underwriters Laboratories and in no case to provide more than two outlets from any one extension from a built-in outlet.

Ancient Teaching Device

Was Helpful to Students

The ancient hornbook in form is not a book, though one in name. Strictly speaking it is simply a prayer, the alphabet and numbers to be learned.

It was made of a thin piece of board, shaped roughly like a butterfly, usually four or five inches long and two inches or so wide, with a sheet of paper or vellum on one side. Printed on the paper at the top was the alphabet in large and small letters. Then followed the Lord's Prayer. This is always found on the early examples. Over the whole printed page was a thin sheet of transparent yellowish horn to keep the paper clean. Both the paper and the horn were fastened to the board by a narrow strip of metal. The handle served for holding during study and also for attaching to the child's girdle.

Hornbooks were used to teach children their first lessons and gradually the name came to signify a child's primer. Another name sometimes given them was battle-due, due to the shape and to the fact that hornbooks were often used for playing shuttlecock.

Hornbooks came into use in the middle of the sixteenth century and were common until the end of the eighteenth. They were made by the thousands of wood, ivory, stone, leather, brass, copper, and other metals, and were so common they were not thought worth saving.

Chrysanthemum Held Sacred

In China the chrysanthemum is revered as a sacred thing, and pilgrimages are made yearly to the River Kai where natives drink of the petal-strewn waters in the hope of gaining long life. The type of chrysanthemum which grows there is a tiny plant or bush, with blossoms little larger than a "bachelor button." It is called chrysanthemum indicum and is a far cry from the giant ostrich feather types we grow in the United States. Wherever we wear our flowers and decorate our homes with them, the ancients worshipped them. In Japan a yearly festival is held in their honor, at which time a festive drink is made from the petals. The imperial emblem of Japan represents a 16-petaled chrysanthemum.

Midget Kitchen

Home builders are cautioned not to condense the kitchen so as to make it too small for use. A kitchen can be efficient even though it may not be as small as a Pullman car kitchen. Despite the fervor for "step-saving," a happy medium should be maintained between the Pullman kitchen and the old-fashioned kitchen. The kitchen does double duty. It serves as a cooking center, and at the same time it is a storage place for dishes, utensils, cleaning materials, and other household gadgets and equipment. Sufficient space for storage is of vital importance in the planning of a kitchen for a small modern home.

Extinct Dodo Bird

The dodo was a clumsy, defenseless bird, about the size of a swan, found living on Mauritius when the island was discovered in the sixteenth century. It had a stout, hooked beak, short, stocky legs and was covered with downy feathers. Its wings were small and incapable of flight. This helpless bird was soon exterminated and no specimens are preserved.

Case Dismissed

A Paris, Mo., judge discovered there had been a divorce case on the docket nine years. When he questioned the attorney for the plaintiff about it and the attorney admitted he didn't know what had become of his client or the defendant, the judge decided it was time the case was dismissed.

Fire-Fighting Chemical

Used in Killing Insects

Methyl bromide, sometimes used as a fire extinguisher, is proving even more useful as an insect "extinguisher" or fumigant, as it will in many cases kill insects without injuring the plants upon which the insects are feeding.

Entomologists of the United States department of agriculture are working with this fumigant to determine the time and temperature most effective for treatment to kill insects without injury to plants.

Methyl bromide is used—in control of the Japanese beetle—in the fumigation of fruits and vegetables from within quarantined areas. It also has been found particularly useful for treating potted plants and nursery stock which may be infested with the larvae of this insect. After treatment the plants can be shipped outside the quarantined area without danger of spreading the pest. A few species of plants are injured by this treatment; others may be stimulated to more rapid growth.

Methyl bromide is useful and economical in sterilizing soil, as 2½ ounces of the gas costing about a dime will kill all the larvae of certain species of insects in a cubic yard of soil.

Experience with sweetpotatoes infested with the sweetpotato weevil shows one of the peculiarities of the gas in its effect on living plants. When sweetpotatoes are treated directly from storage in the winter they may break down into watery, worthless masses. But if allowed to warm up gradually for a few days and then treated with gas at high temperatures the potatoes endure a fairly high concentration of gas, and when bedded to produce planting stock they yield more draws or sprouts for planting than the untreated roots.

Idaho Is Using Beaver In Building Small Dams

When it comes to building dams, man may rank himself first, but the beaver deserves a considerable share of the laurels too. The beaver doesn't pretend to build dams like Boulder and Grand Coulee across big rivers—but set him down on a small mountain stream at the headwaters of a river and he'll build a series of small dams just as sturdy and effective in their place as the big ones. At least this is what the U. S. forest service says from its long observations of beaver.

Just as an example of the confidence the forest service has in the beaver as a water conservationist, the foresters transplanted more than 500 beaver in Idaho last year from the lowlands, where their talents were not appreciated, to the high headwater streams on the Targhee, Challis, Boise, and several other of the southern Idaho national forests. The moving was done with the cooperation of the Idaho state game director and state conservation officers.

The transplanting program in Idaho is to be followed by close observations of beaver populations so that as the numbers increase and the streams become fully stocked, the surplus animals can be removed by regular trapping.

Buying Reflects Jobs

"Every time an unemployed man gets a job, every farmer in America ought to yell hallelujah! That's the real answer to many of his surplus problems," said Milo Perkins in summing up comment on the food stamp plan in a recent address before the National Farm Institute. Mr. Perkins administers this plan. "We look upon the stamp plan," he said, "as a necessary stop-gap measure during this difficult period when we are trying to find ways to put idle capital to work so that idle men can get jobs. There are three figures that I hope will stick in your minds. The man getting public assistance has to live on about five cents a meal. If he's lucky enough to live in a town where the stamp plan is operating, he lives on 7½ cents a meal. When it's possible for him to get off relief and get a good job at good wages he spends 12 cents a meal."

Pay Roll in Forests

A few towns and cities have had long and satisfactory experience with community forests. Others are starting forests, often to protect the water supply. A well-managed community forest serves as a demonstration of good forestry practice to owners of nearby woodland or of wasteland that might better be growing trees. "A community serving a thousand farms," says the United States department of agriculture pamphlet on community forests. "Would benefit to the extent of $50,000 annually, if each farmer's average income from woodlands were increased $50 a year through better forest management. This would have essentially the same effect on business as though an industry were started that would provide a pay roll of $50,000 a year."

Teaching Foreign Languages

Women are superior to men in teaching foreign languages to beginners, according to a study entitled "Fragments From Babel," issued by the Columbia University Press. Women generally speak much faster than men and if one can understand the average woman talking at her natural speed, it will be easy to understand any male speaker later on, it is pointed out.

Too many young couples plunge into matrimony without a sound financial plan. Mounting debts very often lead to discord and disaster.

The wise plan is to budget expenses carefully from the start, and to put something aside every pay day in an account here. This is a sensible form of "happiness insurance."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, August 4.

The Golden Text is: "O God, thou art my God. . . . Because thy loving kindness is better than life, my lips shall praise thee" (Psalms 63: 1, 3).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. . . . Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law" (Romans 13: 8, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Love one another" (1 John, iii. 23), is the most simple and profound counsel of the inspired writer. In Science we are children of God; but whatever is of material sense, or mortal, belongs not to His children, for materiality is the inverted image of spirituality." (p. 572).

RECENT DEATHS

GEORGE C. WARREN

George C. Warren of Kent st., Brookline, died at his summer home in Scituate on July 31. He was born in West Newton 76 years ago and was a graduate of Newton High School. He became associated with the Warren, Scharf Asphalt Paving Company of Utica, New York. In 1899 with his six brothers he organized the Warren Brothers Company which pioneered in modern highway construction and built thousands of miles of streets in this and foreign countries. He served as general manager and president of this company, and was also a director of the Warren Soap Mfg. Company of Cambridge. Mr. Warren was a life member of the Church of the New Jerusalem (Swedenborgian) and attended its national conventions for 50 years. He had been treasurer of Urbana (Ohio) University, sponsored by that church. Mr. Warren was also a member of the American Road Builders Association, Mass. Audubon Society, South Shore Nature Club, and Sons of the American Revolution. He is survived by two sons, Herbert M. of Atlanta, Georgia, and Lewis C. of Brookline, and two daughters, Mrs. Harold Wise of Beverly, and Mrs. Schuyler Dillon of Norwell; a brother, Ralph Warren of West Newton; and seven grandchildren. His funeral service will be held on Saturday at 10 a. m. in the Church of the New Jerusalem, Brookline. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, New York.

WILLIAM M. NOBLE

William M. Noble of 35 Bracebridge rd., Newton Centre, died on July 30. He was born at Springfield 75 years ago and graduated from Boston University Law School in 1887. His law office was for many years at 53 State st., Boston. Mr. Noble had been a resident of Newton Centre for about 45 years. He was formerly active in the Woodlawn Golf Club and was chairman of the greens committee. He is survived by his widow, the former Marion Rising of Newton Centre; two sons, W. Mark Noble, Jr., of Newton Centre, and Arthur D. Noble of Melrose, and a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Colburn of Hopkinton.

Mr. Noble's funeral service was held on Thursday afternoon at his late home. Rev. Herbert W. Gates officiated. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

MARCELLUS B. PITMAN

Marcellus B. Pitman, formerly of Newton, died on July 31 at St. Petersburg, Fla., in his 71st year. He had formerly been in the stationery business in Boston. He was a Spanish War veteran and a member of Fraternity Lodge of Masons of Newtonville. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Olive (Jewett) Pitman. His funeral service was held today.

CAROLINE BOUCHER

Miss Caroline Boucher of 29 Faxon st., Nonantum, died on July 26. She was born at Arichat, Nova Scotia, years ago, and had lived in this city for over 60 years. Her funeral service was held on Monday at St. Jean Evangeliste Church and burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

MARGARET JEFFORDS

Miss Margaret Jeffords of 580 California st., Newtonville, died on July 31. She was born at Ballinacree, Cork, Ireland, 38 years ago and had resided in this city 16 years. She is survived by three sisters and two brothers. Her funeral service will be held at Our Lady's Church on Saturday morning and burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Needham.

Former Newton Priest Dies

Rev. Simon Lobergan, pastor of St. Louis Church, Lowell, died on July 27. He was formerly a curate at St. Jean Evangeliste Church, Nonantum. Father Lobergan was born at St. Therese, Plainville, Quebec, and studied at Montreal Seminary. He was pastor at St. Anthony's Church, Shirley, from 1931 until 1933 and at St. Louis Church, Lowell, since 1933. His funeral service was held at the latter church on Tuesday. Rev. Henry Fillion of Amesbury was celebrant of the solemn requiem mass; Rev. Joseph Robichaud of St. Jean Evangeliste Church, deacon, and Rev. Raynie Naylor of Shirley, subdeacon.

ALFRED MCKENVEN

Mr. Alfred McKenven, husband of Mrs. Maud (Temperley) McKenven of 1208 Chestnut st., Newton Upper Falls, died on Tuesday, July 30, following a lingering illness. Mr. McKenven is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maud T. McKenven, two sons in New Hampshire, one son and daughter residing in Cambridge, and a step-son, Mrs. Harold Wise of Beverly, and Mrs. Schuyler Dillon of Norwell; a brother, Ralph Warren of West Newton; and seven grandchildren. His funeral service will be held on Thursday, August 1, at 2 p. m., Dr. Hobart F. Goewey of the First Methodist Church officiating.

Burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

EDWARD STEACIE

Edward Steacie died on July 29 at his home in Hotel Puritan, Boston. He was formerly a resident of Newtonville, having resided for about 20 years at 47 Central ave. Mr. Steacie was born 74 years ago in County Galway, Ireland, and was a certified public accountant by profession. He is survived by four sons, Clifford and Bertram of Framingham, Edward, Jr., of Newtonville, and Curtis of Wellesley. His funeral service was held yesterday at the Waterman chapel, Boston. Interment was in Cedar Grove Cemetery, Dorchester.

CAROLINE BOUCHER

Miss Caroline Boucher of 29 Faxon st., Nonantum, died on July 26 in her 92nd year. She was born at Arichat, Nova Scotia, and came to Nonantum, over 60 years ago, one of the first Arcadians to come to this city. Newton Woman Dies in 100th Year

Miss Charlotte Adams of 109 Vernon st., Newton, died on July 29 in her one-hundredth year. She was born on April 6, 1841 at Iowa City, Iowa, the daughter of Abraham and Annie (Harrington) Adams, both natives of Weston, Massachusetts, who had migrated to the West in a covered wagon. She returned to Massachusetts to reside with relatives when 14 years of age and during the Civil War worked at the Watertown Arsenal making cartridges.

Although she had but three years of formal education, she was appointed a teacher in the Union st. school at Brighton in 1861 at a salary of $200 per year. When she was retired on a pension she was master's assistant at the Winslow School in Brighton. She was the oldest pensioner of the City of Boston. Miss Adams was a direct descendant of Robert Harrington who settled in Watertown in 1634. Her uncle, Abel Harrington, conducted the old Nonantum House at Newton Corner about 80 years ago. She formerly resided for many years at the home of the late F. M. Boutwell Harrington, Church st., Newton. Her funeral service was held on Tuesday at the First Parish Church, Brighton; Rev. Dr. Sanderson officiated. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery, Brighton.

CLIFFORD M. BREWER

Clifford M. Brewer of 155 Valentine st., West Newton, died on August 1. He was born in Portland 65 years ago and for 46 years was associated with Kidder, Peabody Company of Boston. He resided in Medford for many years and was Mayor of that city from 1906 until 1910. He had served as a director of the Medford Savings Bank, and director of the Medford Trust Company. He was a 32nd degree Mason, a member of the Men's Club of the Second Congregational Church, West Newton, and the Belmont Country Club. His funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Second Congregational Church, West Newton. Burial will be in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

Mr. Brewer is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gertrude Brewer; a son, A. Douglas Brewer of New York; and a daughter, Mrs. Mary McCandless of Los Angeles.

THERESA HARNEY

Mrs. Theresa A. (Mulligan) Harney of 42 Charlesbank rd., Newton died on July 31. She was born in Brighton 56 years ago and had resided in Newton all her life. She is survived by her husband, Thomas H. Harney; two daughters, Misses Margaret and Mary Harney; a son, Joseph Harney; two brothers, John and Thomas Mulligan of Waban; and a sister, Miss Mary Mulligan of Waban. Mrs. Harney's funeral service will be held at Our Lady's Church on Saturday at 9 a. m.; burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Bowker Files Nomination Papers For Congress

Sybil Holmes To Run For Congress

Miss Sybil H. Holmes of Brookline has announced her candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress from the 9th District. She served one term in the Massachusetts Senate (1937-1938) and was defeated for reelection two years ago after having received the Republican nomination. She has taken a prominent part in political affairs for many years, served three years as an assistant to the Attorney General and also on the Minimum Wage Commission. She is a former president of the Women's Republican Club.

Eliot Announces For Congress

Resigning as Regional Director of the Wage and Hour Division, Thomas H. Eliot of Cambridge yesterday announced his candidacy for Congress from the 9th District. He seeks the Democratic nomination which he won in 1938.

Eliot submitted his resignation in Washington to Colonel Philip B. Fleming, Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division. He had held the position at a salary of $6400 a year, since January, 1939.

"I am glad to have the chance to be one of the first examples, around here, of the operation of the Hatch Law, which was signed by President Roosevelt," Eliot said. "As a matter of fact, I would have resigned regardless of legal technicalities because the principle of the law is so obviously correct. I am leaving the Wage and Hour post because I want to serve in Congress, am equipped to serve in Congress, and can promise vigorous, independent and effective service."

American Hogs

Studies show that about one-half of America's hogs are raised west of the Mississippi, while about three-fourths of the pork is eaten east of the Mississippi.

Newton Man Spending 37th Summer in Colorado

Francis O. Stanley of Waverley ave., Newton, is spending his 37th summer in the Rocky Mountain region of Colorado at Estes Park. He first went there many years ago when he became a victim of pulmonary trouble, and was largely responsible for the development of that district as a health and vacation resort. He drove the first automobile, a Stanley Steam Carriage, into the Estes Park section, erected the first power plant there, and also constructed a road 20 miles in length to provide travel facility.

Newton Youths Qualify In Fort Ethan Allen Tests

Among the students at the C. M. T. C. at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, who have qualified in small arms tests are the following Newton youths: Paul Campbell, 3 Pond ave., Newton; Harold Marshall, Jr., 63 Clark st., Newton Centre; Walter Pearson 46 Columbus st., Newton Highlands; John W. Weeks, 2nd, 99 Valentine st., West Newton. The camp commenced its final week with the field artillery battery moving out to the range at Underhill, Vermont. The students in the cavalry course have just returned from a long hike. On Saturday the students will start for their homes throughout New England.

CAMP WAMPATUCK NEWS

The fourth week of camp started off with a truly beautiful evening. Mister Nettle, the father of one of the campers, entertained with the melodious blending of his violin, and lastly played waltzes for dancing.

Sunday the camp had charge of the service at the North Weymouth Congregational Church. At the evening campfire, the theme of the week was the Spirit of Inspiration. Last on the program was a lovely Indian Worship Service.

Tuesday the ETH girls went on a boat trip through the Cape Cod canal, while the rest of the camp visited the Myrtle Standish Reservation and Webster Beach.

Wednesday a baseball game came directly after supper. The Circle Meeting was a special one as many of the officers of the Mass. Branch of King's Daughters attended, including Mrs. Trull, the president of the Mass. branch of King's Daughters.

Thursday there was the dedication of a new flag at Gordon Rest and in the evening a Ceremonial. The honor awards given out are as follows: Honorable Mention, Mary Ross and Diane Love; Junior Spirit Badges, Betty Murdoch, Frances Brainard, Joan Malhot, Joan Peterson, Patricia Haslett, Nancy Shulze, Marjorie Delano and Jean Murdoch; Junior Spirit Badge, Stripe Two, Donna Love and Janice Little; Senior Spirit Badges, Ruth Bears, Adeline Drinkwine, Charlotte Crosier, Marjorie Young, Charlotte Monahan, Barbara Hoyt and Fern Graham. Senior Spirit Badge Stripe Three, Emily Jean McKenzie. ETH Stripe One, Carol Croke, Johanna Johnson, Phyllis Berry, Nancy Ladd and Joan Hanson; second ETH Stripe, Barbara Little; C. W.'s Carol Mills and Sally Fletcher; Junior Counselors, Hazel Harlow, Barbara Dean and Peggy Wright; Senior Counselors, Janet Higginbotham, Elizabeth Lindh and Frances Browne.

Luce To Remain In Washington

Congressman Luce announces that in response to public demand he will stay at his post in Washington during the present emergency, devoting his energy and attention to important national defense legislation. This will make it impossible for him to devote much attention to his own political fortunes in conducting his campaign for renomination. The importance of preparations for an adequate defense seem to him to overshadow any necessity for personal political activity.

Small Boy Injured In Fall Off Truck

One of two children who were stealing a ride on a truck on Crafts st., Newtonville, last Saturday afternoon received a fractured right arm and other injuries when one of the rear wheels of the bottling company truck passed over him. The truck driven by William Eldredge of Wellesley had stopped in front of a store at Crafts st. when Stephen Collela, 5½, of 11 Maguire court, and Albert Newcomb, 6, of 58 Crafts st., climbed onto a step at the side of the truck without the driver's knowledge. After the truck was started up, the Collela child dropped off and stumbled. Eldredge was unaware of the accident until he was informed by police at another store on Crafts st. The injured boy was taken to the Newton Hospital in a police car.

Newton Residents Bitten By Dogs

A dog owned by Philip Cox of 121 Cypress st., Newton Centre, was ordered restrained last Saturday after it had bitten Kenneth King of 38 Stearns st., Newton Centre. On the same day a dog owned by Mrs. Ryan of 44 Faxon st., Nonantum, was ordered restrained after it had bitten John Lydman of 38 Faxon st.

Newton Man Killed In Airplane Crash

William Hinden, Jr., 30, of 1218 Chestnut st., Newton Upper Falls, was killed last Friday evening when an airplane in which he was a passenger crashed from an altitude of about 700 feet near the Framingham-Sherborn line. The airplane had just taken off from the nearby Framingham airport with its owner, Patrolman Joseph Kelly of the Natick police at the controls. It was a 12 year old biplane and had been purchased by Kelly only a few days before. Hinden was pinned in the wreckage of the cockpit and was freed about 10 minutes after the plane crashed. He was taken to the Irving Hospital where he died about an hour later. He received fractures of the skull, jaw, right hip and right leg. Kelly was critically injured.

Hinden was born in Switzerland and came to Massachusetts when 11 years of age. He was employed as a machinist at the New England Spun Silk Company in Brighton. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Edith (Ackroyd) Hinden; a daughter, 4 years old; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hinden of Needham; and three sisters, Mrs. Martha Girosio of Needham, Mrs. Rosa Finnegan of Wellesley and Miss Hannah Hinden of Needham. Mrs. Hinden's funeral service was held on Monday at the Eaton funeral chapel, in Needham; Rev. Hubert Goewey of Upper Falls Methodist Church officiated. Burial was in Needham Cemetery.

Upper Falls Fights Against Ragweed

About 50 boys and girls of the boy and girl scouts also of the Upper Falls playground participated in a ragweed drive under the direction of Mrs. Raymond Capobianco of 93 Thurston rd., Newton Upper Falls, chairman of the conservation committee of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club. Over 3200 lbs. of ragweed was gathered within a half mile of the Cottage Hill section.

Girls: First prize, Violet Sharpe; 2nd prize, Dorothy Sheridan; stamp albums; boys, Scout knives, first prize, Jack Braceland; second prize to Billy Braceland. Among the workers deserving honorary mention were girls, Josephine Aukstolis, Margaret McLellan, Joanne Wallace, Alice Foley, June Foley, Rose Foley, Jean McLeod, Cecile Mills and Michele Mary McDonald and of the boys, Thomas DiCicco, Philip Vano, Richard McLellan, Arthur Muldoon.

Refreshments were served to the group by Mrs. Capobianco assisted by the Misses Anna Garafalo and Florence Capobianco.

The children arrived with burlap bags, wheelbarrows, flour bags, bushel baskets and boxes ready for work at 1 p. m. working hard in the cottage and Elliot Hill sections of Upper Falls for two hours. Many weeds were fully 3 feet tall.

Annual Field Day At Waltham Field Station

Everyone interested in horticulture is invited to the Waltham Field Station of the Massachusetts State College for the 22nd Annual Field Day on Wednesday, August 7. Attendance has become a habit with growers and hundreds of them plan to be present each year to look over the experiments and demonstrations in progress, as well as to meet and talk with their neighbor growers whom they seldom see during the busy growing season.

Market gardeners, florists, fruit growers, nurserymen, arborists, professional gardeners, amateur gardeners, staff members of horticultural institutions and New England Experiment Stations—your friends and acquaintances—reserve this day for the grand reunion.

The great increase in the number of visitors and requests for help are evidence that the Field Station and its staff are filling a definite place in the horticultural life of New England. If you are not yet acquainted with this public institution and its work, you will want to visit the Waltham Field Station on August 7.

The variety trials of vegetables and flowers will be at their best at this time. The experimental demonstration plots are plainly labeled. Conducted tours of the Station grounds will be made during the day.

Manufacturers and salesmen who have anything of interest to show to gardeners are invited to display and demonstrate their wares. The large collection of Field Station equipment will also be on display and available for actual trial.

The flower gardens at the Field Station have never been so beautiful as they are this summer. New varieties are on trial and only in the Waltham plots can they be observed before they become commonly planted. The perennial gardens will prove especially attractive to the ladies; all plants are plainly labeled and it is much more satisfactory to make up a list of desirable plants from living specimens than to select them from catalogues.

A caterer will be present with plenty to eat at a reasonable cost. Or, you may prefer to bring a picnic lunch; there are plenty of shady spots on the Field Station grounds.

The Waltham Field Station is at 240 Beaver st., Waltham, on Route 60, between Waverley and Waltham. The hours are from 10 o'clock to 4 o'clock. Acres of land are available for parking.

Nine-Mile Belt

A conveyor belt 9½ miles long, said to be the longest in the world, is under manufacture for use in building Shasta dam in California. Intended principally to carry gravel to the dam, the belt will pass over five streams, five roads, and a railroad.

Many Speeders In Newton Court

In the Newton court last Friday Judge Delay fined Walter Peterson of Louise Park, Roxbury, $25 for speeding. It was Peterson's second conviction within a year. Others fined $5 each for speeding included: Robert Brewer, Quincy; Joseph Defina, Charlestown; Allan Robertson, Waltham; George Uman, Dorchester; Willard Gustafson, Boston; Isadore Freedman, Chelsea. Speeders whose cases were filed included: Doris Webster, Beverly rd., Newton Highlands; Palmieri Scarsella, 391 Dedham st., Newton Centre; Edward Cooper, Sessions st., Wellesley; Russell Whittemore, Alexander rd., Needham; Daniel Cheever, Washington st., Wellesley; Elizabeth Bode, Sherborn Reformatory; Wilbert MacRae of Myrtle st., Waltham, was fined $5 for not stopping before entering a through street.

In the Newton court on Monday Judge Delay fined H. Arnold Wagner of 1081 Boylston st., Boston $25 for speeding. It was the defendant's second conviction within a year. Others fined for speeding were: Frank Amado, Jr., Boston, $10; Edward Sulisman, Hartford; William Webster, 3rd, Brighton; Samuel Anzaldi, Dorchester; 45 each. Speeding charges against Marion Hudson of Natick and Gertrude Rhodes of Wellesley st., Weston, were filed. Daniel Ferguson of 60 Westchester rd., Newton, pleaded guilty to a charge of disregarding a traffic signal and was ordered to pay $5 for court costs.

In the Newton court on Wednesday Michael Lakusta of Allen st., Boston was fined $25 for speeding. It was his second conviction within a year. Charles Arra of Hillsdale ave., Needham was fined $5. Patrolman Cummings testified that he pursued Arra along Needham st. and Highland ave. for 2 miles before catching him, the speed reaching 70 miles.

Others fined $5 included Banny Capadonna, Central st., Waltham; John McDonald, Boston and Clement McIver, Waltham. Selwyn Barron of Brookline and Lawrence St. Paul of Somerville, each was fined $10.

Form New National Guard Unit Here

A new unit of the 101st Quartermaster Regiment was organized on Monday night at the State Armory, West Newton, where the headquarters company of this regiment has been located for several years. The new company, to be known as Company S, was organized by order of Col. Edward T. Ryan of the regiment. First Lieutenant Paul Jones of 87 Newton st., Waltham, was appointed commanding officer of the company and 35 men enlisted. They were inspected by Major H. S. Noyes, U. S. Army. Lieut. Jones has been at the armory each night the past week accepting applications for enrollment. Those who enlisted will leave the armory on Sunday morning for the maneuvers with the First Army in the area between Watertown and Plattsburg, New York.

New Officers In Company C, 101st

Several changes have been made in the list of officers and non-coms in Company C, 101st Infantry. First Lieut. Lawrence Kirk has been promoted to the rank of Captain and assigned to the regimental staff. Second Lieutenant James A. Dorsey, Jr., has been advanced to First Lieutenant. He has been with Company C since 1936 and was formerly with the headquarters company. Sergeant Alden Dinsmore has been commissioned Second Lieutenant. He enlisted in Company C in 1929 and has held the ranks of corporal and sergeant. Corporal William Edmunds has been promoted to sergeant and Privates Avillard Brouillette and Joseph Hennebery have been made corporals.

Shower For Fiance Of Newton Man

Miss Ruth Norwood of 74 Hobson st., Brighton, was the guest of honor at a shower given on Wednesday by Mrs. Mary Salvucci, 89 Gardner st., Newton. The room was beautifully decorated and had a shower umbrella in the centre. The bride-to-be received a great many useful and beautiful gifts. Ninety friends attended the shower and a buffet lunch was served. Guests were from Newton, Brighton, Waltham, Hopkinton, Sudbury, Woburn and South Boston.

Miss Norwood is a graduate of Brighton High School and Boston Clerical School. The groom-to-be, Mr. Peter J. Patuto is a graduate of Newton High School. The wedding will take place August 25th at Presentation Church, Brighton. The couple will reside in Brighton.

German Hot Dogs

Visitors to Germany, especially Americans whose only knowledge of sausage is limited to "hot dogs," report that part of the gastronomic delight of travel there is tasting other varieties, such as the "Halberstaedter" in central Germany, the "Weisswuestchen" of Bavaria, and the "Bratwueste" in Thuringia.

Motorcycle Route At Oak Hill Causes Police Shifts

Last Saturday Chief of Police Hughes issued an order making a number of changes in assignments of Newton policemen. Several of the changes resulted from the establishing of a new motorcycle route at Oak Hill. Protests from residents of that district because of speeding resulted in the purchase of an additional motorcycle and the assigning of a day and night traffic officer to that section. Patrolman James McHugh will cover the route days, and Manley Killey nights. Three officers have been shifted to the motorcycle squad. They are William Whelan, John FitzSimmons and Raymond Sullivan. Whelan, who has been on the force 16 years, will be on day duty. FitzSimmons and Sullivan will be on the night shift.

Other changes in assignments are: Patrolman George O'Neill from relief work to Nonantum nights; Geraldin from Nonantum to Farlow Hill nights; Bagley from Waban to West Newton car nights; Goddard from relief work to Newton Corner car nights; White from relief work to Waban nights; Condrin from Nonantum days to relief work nights.

Chief Hughes started on his vacation on Sunday and is spending it at York Beach, Maine. Captain Vadducio is in command of the department during his absence.

Obscene Pictures Cause Arrest

John Ottenheimer, 51, of 365 South Huntington ave., Roxbury, was arrested on the night of July 25th by Patrolman Albert Smith on charges of having a firearm in his possession without a permit, and also of having obscene pictures in his possession with intent to sell. Ottenheimer, who has been employed as a signman at the B & A tower near Washington and Crafts sts., Newtonville, had been under observation by Smith for the past three months. When halted by Smith on Crafts st., as he was on his way to the signal tower, a bag carried by Ottenheimer was found to contain the pictures and the pistol. He was arraigned in the Newton court last Friday and his case continued until July 30. He told Judge Delay that he carried the pistol because of working alone in the signal tower nights.

In the Newton court on Tuesday Ottenheimer pleaded guilty on both charges. Attorney Dennis Cronin, who defended him, presented several witnesses who testified to Ottenheimer's previous good record. Judge Mayberry fined Ottenheimer $150 for having in his possession, with intent to sell, the obscene pictures. For carrying a firearm without a permit, the judge imposed a suspended sentence of 6 months at Billerica prison.

Second Complaint At Sharkey's Pet

The second complaint within a couple of weeks was made on Wednesday against a chow dog owned by Jack Sharkey of 10 Stone ave., Chestnut Hill. The first complaint was made by a person whom the dog had bitten. The complaint on Wednesday was made by Charles Lawrence of Boston who reported to Newton police that the dog had attempted to bite him. The dog had been ordered restrained after the first complaint was made. Other complaints about dogs owned by Sharkey have been received by Newton police in recent years.

Committee For Defence Training

A committee of Newton citizens has been formed to serve in an advisory capacity in connection with the defense training course at the Newton Trade School. A course in machine operation is now being conducted at the school in conjunction with the National Defense Program. The committee will consider a plan to have other courses added. At a meeting held on Monday night Kenneth Dale, secretary of Newton Y. M. C. A., was elected chairman and Lester Tarr of the United Company, secretary. Other members of the committee include Angus MacLean, representing the A. F. of L., John Schubert, representing the C. I. O., Charles Milliken of the Milliken Machine Company, Joseph Wagon of the Newton School Committee and United Machinery Company, and Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs.

Number 1

With the approach of the biennial state primary, which this year will be held on Sept. 17th, we publish the first of a series of articles on candidates to be balloted upon by the voters of Newton. This series of articles is intended to convey factual information, interesting sidelights, trends of the campaigns, and is an effort to enable our readers to follow politics with greater interest and closer attention. As in former years each article in the series will discuss an office, or a group of offices which are more or less related. In an instance where one office is of special interest the contest for that office will be discussed in greater detail. The subjects in the series will be: (1) the state-wide primary situation; (2) the state-wide primary situation; (3) the 9th Congressional District and the 2nd Governor's Council District; (4) the Middlesex-Suffolk Senatorial District and the 4th and 5th Middlesex Representative Districts; (5) the Middlesex County offices; (6) a final summary of late campaign developments. Following the primaries the series will be resumed at an early date dealing with the Republican and Democratic campaigns, national and state, for various offices.

Unopposed Republicans

There are the usual six state-wide offices to be filled at the November election and in addition there will be an extremely interesting contest for United States Senator from Massachusetts. In the primary election six of seven Republican aspirants are unopposed for the nomination. Accordingly interest in the so-called head of the ticket is automatically reduced considerably and the size of the vote on Sept. 17th will depend largely upon the vote that is aroused by local contests for minor offices. Governor Leverett Saltonstall of Chestnut Hill, a candidate for re-election, will be the party nominee in November. As the titular leader of the party in the state and upon his excellent record as Chief Executive, the G. O. P. will rely upon Newton's first citizen for another two-year term of administration of state affairs and a continued effort in reducing governmental costs, as well as the further re-establishment of efficiency in the numerous departments of our state government. Following eight years of Governor Ely, Curley and Hurley, and his subsequent waste and extravagance, huge bond issues, misuse of the pardon and parole system, and the use of power for political gain, the State in the past two years has made much headway in the restoration of good government.

The McManis candidacy as an independent has no bearing upon the Sept. 17th primaries, although it is causing considerable thought among party leaders as to the effect of the pension advocate's vote in November, if his name is ruled to be on the ballot legally.

Lieutenant Governor Horace T. Cahill, Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook, State Treasurer William Hurley and State Auditor Russell A.

Wood were, like Governor Saltonstall, assured of renomination when no candidate filed against them. Henry Parkman, former State Senator and Corporation Counsel for the City of Boston under Mayor Tobin, is likewise unopposed for the nomination for United States Senator. He will oppose the veteran Senators, David I. Walsh, who is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

The only contest among Republicans in the state-wide picture at the primaries is that for the nomination as attorney-general. In this contest are seven candidates: Clarence R. Barnes of Mansfield, Robert T. Bushnell of Newton, William C. Crossley of Fall River, Edmund R. Dewing of Woburn, Michael A. Frodo of Arlington, George W. Roberts of Boston and Samuel A. Sampson of Winchester. The second article in this series will deal with the situation in this field.

Many Democratic Candidates

Indicating the lack of unity among aspirants in the Democratic party are the numerous contests having anywhere up to nine candidates among the so-called "big six" to be voted on throughout the state.

Attorney General Paul A. Dever and former Lieutenant Governor Francis Kelly will stage an interesting and vigorous battle for the chance to oppose Governor Saltonstall in November. Kelly has been campaigning for some months by radio and is basing his candidacy on his record as Lieutenant Governor plus the fact that he is the only person to defeat Saltonstall at the polls in the latter's career. It will be remembered that Kelly topped the present Governor in the 1936 campaign when they opposed each other for the Lieutenant-Governorship, with Kelly winning in a state-wide recount by a few thousand votes.

Dever, in his early campaign speeches is ignoring Kelly and concentrating his fire on the "wealth" of the Republican party as being eighty per cent contributed by the three communities of which Newton is one. Dever further stated that the issue was between his record as a public servant compared to that of the present Governor and that the latter represented one philosophy of government while he (Dever) represented the conception of emphasis on human needs and the solution of human problems. As the campaign develops there is little question but what other issues will be injected which will serve to clarify or belound the campaign.

Inasmuch as Dever's strength in previous campaigns has been advanced by the support of many independent voters there are many who believe that Kelly will run a close race with the Attorney General in the primaries, if he does not upset him. The absence of former Governor James M. Curley as a candidate will unquestionably increase the Kelly strength in the primaries. The outcome will be interesting to watch.

There are seven candidates for the Democratic nomination as Lieutenant Governor. The foremost of these are Mayor John C. Carr of Medford, former State Senator Owen A. Gallagher of Boston and Alexander F. Sullivan of East Boston, a former defeated candidate for this nomination.

There are four candidates for the 1940 "opportunity" to oppose the popular Republican Fred Cook for Secretary of State. Rep. Albert M. Morris of Everett, Democratic floor leader the past session and former Representative Katherine A. Foley of Lawrence, 1938 Democratic nominee, are the chief contenders.

Among five candidates for State Treasurer are John J. McGrath of Boston, a 22-year-old contender, Ernest J. Brown of Medford, and City Treasurer and Representative John J. Donahue of Somerville.

Drug Stores, Beer Parlors, Must Wash Drinking Glasses

Health Dept. Finds Bacteria On Glasses

Drinking places in Newton, whether they are drug stores and other places where soda and soft drinks are sold, restaurants where coffee and tea are served, or beer dispensaries where alcoholic beverages are quaffed, must conform in the future more to sanitary precautions than they have in the past. In recent months the Newton Health Department inspected conditions at 140 places in the Newtons and found that a large majority of them were not properly washing glasses in which liquids are served. Only 9 out of 68 soda fountains were washing glasses sufficiently for health precautions; 12 out of 33 restaurants and tea rooms, and 4 out of 39 beer rooms. An inspector of the health department took cultures from the rims of drinking glasses and in most cases found bacteria showing over 100 colonies.

As a result of this investigation and its findings, Chief Sanitary Inspector Robertson of the Newton Health Department has sent the following letter of instruction to the 140 places in this city serving liquid refreshments:

"During the past few months, this department has been checking the efficiency of the cleansing and sterilization of drinking utensils in some 140 establishments in Newton. The results of this check indicate that the methods in general use are far from satisfactory. In many establishments, utensils are only superficially washed and disinfected between patrons as only 25 per cent of the establishments could be rated as satisfactory. The results of the examination of utensils from your establishments are given in the enclosed report. If the results are not satisfactory immediate steps must be taken to correct your methods.

Recreation Dept. "Mikado" Aug. 20

While affairs of state may be moving toward some curtailment of trade with the heads of the Mikado's "Flower Kingdom," the Japanese-style music of Gilbert and Sullivan's beloved opera always retains its appeal and charm for music lovers all over the world. Written by two staunch Britishers, the clever dialogue and tuneful choruses and solos possess immortal drawing power. Newton people are to have a rare opportunity to hear and see this work on Tuesday evening, August 20th, when the Beacon Light Opera Club of Greater Boston, assisted by a number of singers from the famous Highland Glee Club, will present it in the stadium in Newtonville, for the benefit of the Red Cross.

The presentation will be sponsored by the Recreation Department of the city of Newton. Ewing Wilson, Commissioner, assisted by a specially selected committee. It will be the fourth sponsored performance by the club of this particular opera, which never fails to delight all hearers. Among particularly fine soloists to be heard will be Miss Ethel Watson, soprano, as Yum Yum, Howard Davee as Poo Bah, and Edwin Hansen as Nanki Poo.

Newton Center Man Shoots Self

Harry W. Anderson, 75, of 158 Hobart rd., Newton Centre a retired banker, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head at about 5:45 Thursday morning. He had been in ill health and had financial reverses. His nurse, Mrs. Edith Anderson (not related) heard the shot and discovered what had happened upon entering her employer's room. She summoned Dr. Louis Placher of Parker st., and he notified Medical Examiner Gallagher. Mr. Anderson's wife died several years ago. He is survived by a brother who lives in Boston. Mr. Anderson's funeral service will be held at his late home on Saturday at 3 o'clock.

Newton Boys Continue To Enjoy Camp Life At Brookfield

Last Contingent Now At Camp Frank A. Day

The end of the 1940 Camp Frank A. Day season looms close at hand with the final three-week period now under way. On Wednesday 49 boys left camp for their homes, and more than 50 boys came to camp for the first time this season. Parents of boys were welcomed by the Director, Clyde G. Hess, and the boys were assigned to their tents under the direction of the Chief and Associate Director, C. Evan Johnson. The Ranger Division, led by Mr. Prescott Coan, was busy in transferring trunks and luggage from camp trucks to tents.

As the final period opened the new boys were interested in finding the league teams to which they were assigned by the coaches, and to note the standing of their team in the league. In the Senior Division the Red Sox, coached by Lew McKinney and Bill McLellan, was in a tie with the Tigers, coached by Warren Kelley and Duncan Whitehill. The Junior Division race for league leadership finds almost a three-way tie with but two games separating the top team from the third team. The final period will decide the championship, and all boys now have an opportunity to lift their team into the first-place spot.

General Secretary at Chapel Mr. Kenneth Dale, General Secretary of the Newton Y. M. C. A., was the speaker at the Chapel-in-the-Woods services on last Sunday. Mr. Dale based his talk on an enumeration and explanation of the difficult steps faced by the boys in this life. He emphasized that a happy life was one wherein the boys and men would have a strong belief and understanding in God, and cultivate personal relations with his fellowman that would be harmonious and sincere.

The largest number of emblems of the year was awarded at this chapel, and additional awards were made at the morning meal of Wednesday for those boys who were going home at the close of the second period. The 17 boys who received the emblems on Sunday were as follows: Roger Curtis, Arthur Kolsti, Malcolm Morse—Craftsman; David Haseltine, Arthur Kolsti, Trafford Malton—Camp Emblem; Carl Needy, Robert Moore, Frank Pope, Edward Hawkins—Naturalist Emblem; John Cortwell, Richard Minard, William Larkin—Sailor's Emblem; John Cortwell—Expert Canoeist; Francis Kirby—Woodman; Robert Moore, Malcolm Morse—Horsemanship Emblem.

On Wednesday 9 boys received the following emblems: Donald Rowlings—Craftsman; Norman Seaver, Gordon LaMeyer, Robert Coulter—Woodman; Graham Joy—Horsemanship Emblem; Rodney Fisher, John Magee—Sailor's Emblem; John Magee, Robert McCarrick—Expert Canoeist; Walter Steiner—Naturalist.

Chapel exercises featured the voices of the campers as well in group singing under the tutelage of Mr. Robert Meyers.

Newton Post, A.L. Gives Resuscitator To Hospital

A portable resuscitator was presented to the Newton Hospital on Tuesday evening by Newton Post, American Legion. A committee which included Commander Arthur A. Hunt of Newton Post; Past Commander John B. Foley and Department Vice-Commander James P. McManus made the presentation, and the gift was accepted for the hospital by Frank L. Richardson, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the hospital. Also present were Mayor Paul M. Goddard, Dr. Henry Godfrey of the hospital staff, and Miss Esther Story, assistant superintendent.

The resuscitator is of the latest type and cost $450. It can be used in accident cases and on infants, or for any purpose where such an instrument is required, and can be operated in positions where many resuscitators would not be usable.

In accepting the gift, Mr. Richardson read the following letter to Newton Post, A. L.:

"Gentlemen:

"In accepting from you through Commander Hunt the McKesson resuscitator and four oxygen tanks which you are giving, I thank you in the name and behalf of the trustees of the Newton Hospital and all the people of Newton and Wellesley. Your gift is greatly appreciated by the medical and nursing staffs, as well as the trustees, not only because of its usefulness in safeguarding of human life, but because in making it, through the personal efforts of your members, you have again shown a high sense of responsibility for the public welfare.

"The safety and security of our country may well depend on the degree to which its people realize that service to others and to the state should come before gratification of personal desires and privileges.

"By your admirable example in voluntarily helping a public agency, devoted to the welfare of all, you have demonstrated a spirit which must be manifested broadly throughout the land if our democracy is to survive.

"I heartily congratulate you upon your fine organization and upon the high regard you enjoy in your city and the Commonwealth."

Drive On Speeders Brings Results

In connection with the enforcement of the 30 mile speed limit in Newton 285 automobile drivers were summoned into the Newton court during the month of July. During July of 1939 only 44 speeding cases were tried in the Newton court. During July, 1939 there were 33 automobile accidents in Newton, and 44 persons were reported injured, including 15 pedestrians, 12 drivers and 16 passengers. During July of this year there were 24 accidents, and 35 were reported as having received injuries. These included 12 drivers, 19 passengers and 4 pedestrians. In July, 1939, six motorists were charged in the Newton court with driving a car while under the influence of liquor. During July of this year only two motorists were arraigned on drunken driving charges in the Newton court.

Puts Hand Through Window In Fight

Two men who became involved in a fight in Newton Corner on Monday night created considerable excitement in the business district there at that lunch period of the day. One of the combatants, Michael Henahan, 38, of Gardner st., Allston, received a severe injury to his left hand when he crashed it through a plate glass window in a vacant store at 289 Centre st., as he missed a wall-top at his antagonist, Patrick Gilboy of 105 Galen st., Watertown. The driver of a milk truck parked nearby by applied a tourniquet to Henahan's arm and stopped the flow of blood from a severed artery. He then took the injured man to the Newton Hospital. According to information given to the police the fight was caused because of rivalry over a young woman who had worked in a nearby lunchroom. Patrolman Timothy Riley obtained complaints against the two contestants and they are due to appear in the Newton court today on charges of assault and battery, and disturbing the peace.

City Wins Against Riley In Suit Over Police Pension

The suit brought against the City of Newton by Patrolman John L. Riley of the Newton police in an effort to obtain pension rights which would exempt him from the contributory system, was decided in favor of the city by Judge William Murray in the Newton court yesterday. In making his decision Judge Murray said:

"I find that because of his resignation in 1930, the plaintiff was not an employee of the city until his reinstatement on July 15, 1935, and that on that date he not only became an employee, but also came under the classification of an employee who rendered the service of the city on that date.

"By the express terms of the statute, therefore, he is included in the membership of the system and as such the defendant is entitled to make the disputed deduction.

"Section 46-D of Chapter 31, relied upon by the plaintiff as automatically restoring the employee to his status as of 1930, refers to his Civil Service rights and not to his status under the retirement system."

Riley first became a member of the police department in 1916 and entered war service the following year. He returned to his police duties in 1919 and resigned from the force in 1920, resuming his trade as a bricklayer. He was reinstated a member of the police department on July 15, 1935. When Riley resigned from the department a non-contributory pension system for policemen and other city employees was in effect. On June 22, 1928 a contributory pension system was adopted by Newton and persons becoming employees of the city thereafter were subject to it. Several months ago city officials decided that Riley came under the contributory pension system and began to deduct $16.88 weekly from his pay. He contended that inasmuch as he had been restored to duty with his prior rights, he was not subject to the contributory retirement system.

Playground Field Days To Be Held

On Monday, August 19, at 6 p. m. the Hawthorn Playground at Nonantum will have its field day. On Tuesday, August 20, at 2 p. m. Boyd and Victory Playgrounds will hold their field days. On Wednesday, August 21, at 2 p. m. the Newton Centre playground field day will be held, and at 2 p. m. on Thursday, August 22, the Auburndale playground will give its exhibition. On Friday, August 23, the Stearns Playground will have its gala event, and on Monday, August 26, at 2 o'clock the children at Burr and Cabot playgrounds will give their entertainments.

Tennis Tournament At Y.M.C.A. Starts Aug. 26th

The first annual city junior singles tennis tournament for Newton, Watertown and Waltham will be conducted under the auspices of the Newton Y. M. C. A. starting Monday, August 26th, at 10 a. m. The tourney will be limited to players who had not reached their 18th birthday on Jan. 1, 1940. Entries will close on Monday, Aug. 19th, with Albert Rogan, chairman, at 325 Washington st., Newton. Physical director Richard B. Simmons and Arthur M. Jacobs are other members of the committee.

Prizes will be awarded to the winner and runner-up.

Complaints Made About Misuse of Permits

Because of complaints which have been received in recent weeks relative to the use of public playgrounds in this city by organizations which have conducted fiestas on them, Recreation Commissioner Wilson is considering taking steps to end alleged abuses caused by the granting of permits for such use of playgrounds. He suggested that he might recommend the limit for the use of playgrounds be two instead of four days. It has been charged that organizations which received permits to use playgrounds negotiated with owners of travelling carnivals to use these playgrounds during the periods for which the permits were issued, and in return received considerable sums of money.

At a festa recently held on playground in Newton, a police official ordered a young man to stop hawking and selling an article on a Sunday. The youth refused to do so, arguing that he had paid money for space on the playground. Those who have made complaints against such use of Newton playgrounds contend that it is illegal for public properties to be so used for profit by private parties or organizations. They assert that playgrounds were purchased and are maintained by taxpayers of Newton, and should not be diverted or perverted to the uses against which the complaints have been made.

Several years ago the first permit for the use of the Hawthorn st. playground for festa purposes was granted for a three days' period, and later it has been extended to four days. The past few years permits have been issued for the use of the playground at Thompsonville for fiestas, and this year a permit was granted for the use of the Upper Falls playground. Objections have also been raised against the granting of temporary licenses for the sale of beer in connection with these fiestas.

Examination For Milk Inspector

At the request of the Newton Health Department the Civil Service Commission will hold an examination to fill the position of sanitary and milk inspector in that department. At present there is only one name on the list of eligibles—that of Oscar Margolin of Norwood ave., Newtonville. His name was on a list certified two years ago. He is a graduate of Massachusetts State College.

Recently Norman Whitney of Newton was appointed temporarily to this new position and he has been certified by the Civil Service Commission for a period of 90 days. Both Margolin and Whitney intend to take the proposed examination. Ordinarily three names must be certified for a civil service appointment.

OUR POLICY

Occasionally we are importuned to withhold publication of news relating to the arraignment or finding in court cases in which drunken driving is involved. In every case this request is denied despite, at times, the urgent request of personal friends, business acquaintances, subscribers and persons in all walks and callings of life. It has been, and will continue to be, the policy of this newspaper to treat each person so involved in the same manner as any other person. The time for such persons who drive cars to do their thinking is prior to their becoming involved in such situations. A drunken driver, or a driver with whom there is a question of proper operation of a motor vehicle, is a potential danger and menace upon the highways. And, we have learned through the years that we, as a newspaper, can build more confidence and respect with our readers, by maintaining this policy, regardless of personal considerations, than by making "flesh" of some and "fish" of others. Several months having elapsed since we have been importuned to withhold such news, we take this occasion to reiterate the duty which we believe is ours.

BROADENING THE HATCH ACT

Republican nominee Wendell Willkie has expressed his views regarding the extension of the Hatch Act to make it obligatory for the President of the United States and other high officials in public office to file a listing of their assets upon entering such office as well as upon leaving it. It is but one of the many ways in which persons in public office may well inspire confidence in the public. Too many persons seem to have the idea that public officials are prone to make use of their official position for their own financial gain. Unquestionably some do, although sooner or later it is almost certain that their public will learn. Any step which will build public confidence in the integrity and honesty of those in high office is of merit and should receive positive consideration.

— ADVERTISE IN THE NEWTON GRAPHIC —

Powers' Paragraphs

A Boston newspaper the other day featured an article telling about the rapidly spreading vogue of the use (especially by women and girls) of "patriotic jewelry," which includes enamelled or jewelled flags and emblems. This article mentioned that none of the proceeds go to charitable organizations. We hope this vogue dies a sudden and deserved death. Neither patriotism nor religion should be commercialized, and a real patriot does not advertise his patriotism. Following the last war some enterprising young men from New York invaded this territory, including Newton, and by giving a smaller part of their profits to veterans' organizations, used the names of such bodies to sell large flags and flag-sticks (at high prices) to business men in many cities and towns. These flags were set out along the curbs of sidewalks on public streets, to flap in the faces of persons passing by. This promiscuous method of displaying our flag did not favorably impress many who have a genuine respect for our national emblem.

Then, since the last war we have had those alleged disabled veterans who have made a business of selling small flags and emblems. These professional patriots wore uniforms quite like those of the Legion and the V. F. W. until those organizations had a law passed preventing this practice. Many of them have since worn an overseas cap. If anyone feels patriotic, instead of wasting money buying patriotic jewelry and emblems to give profits to others, donate such money to any of a number of organizations here, and it will be used for the relief of needy in this country or in Europe.

In the death of J. Ernest Gibson this city has lost one of its best citizens. A product of Nonantum, and an asset to that community, where he had conducted a market for 40 years, he was a successful business man who shared his prosperity with those less fortunate, and who did so unostentatiously. Ernest Gibson took a keen, but quiet interest in civic affairs. His sincere, friendly personality will be missed by his hundreds of friends.

In Vermont Governor Aiken has proposed that political candidates refrain from using billboards and posting placards along highways to further their campaigns. Roger D. Swain, chairman of the Billboard Committee of the Massachusetts Civic League urges political candidates in Massachusetts to enhance the scenic beauties of this State by doing likewise. We would like to see this request complied with, but we do not believe it will be.

Have you observed in past years placards advertising political candidates affixed to trees and poles along public streets, in violation of the law, at the same time that these candidates were proclaiming how interested they were in the observance of law and order. Have you ever figured out the cost of the billboard and other advertising, including radio and newspaper, in the interest of some candidate? A cost that is many times the amount that candidate would receive for a salary, if elected. Have you asked yourself—Why is this candidate spending so much money to get elected? How will he get it back? Or have you wondered, when you knew the candidate was not a wealthy man as to who was paying for his advertising, and why?

Secretary of War Stimson believes that Germany will defeat England in 30 days. If his prediction comes true, or even if it should take the Nazis somewhat longer to overcome Britain, our stupid, shortsighted, or vote-seeking Congressmen who are now obstructing the conscription bill, will be in an embarrassing predicament, and so will this country.

Secretary of War Stimson is not the only man prominent in public life in this country who believes that Germany will speedily overcome Britain. They base their belief on the fact that the Nazis are overwhelmingly superior to Britain not only in war equipment, but also in man-power, even without the addition of Italy's airplanes and soldiers. They also are influenced in their expectation of another successful German blitzkrieg by information they have undoubtedly received from abroad. If they are correct in their views, and a large percentage of people in the U. S. A. believe they are, 50 obsolete destroyers transferred from the United States navy to England, will not prevent a German victory. But, it will definitely involve this country in the war between Britain and Germany. This country is far less prepared to wage war now than was Britain.

General John Pershing read a speech over a nation-wide radio hook-up on Sunday night urging that this country at once send a minimum of 50 destroyers to Great Britain. The General is 80 years old. Twenty-one years ago last winter the writer listened to an address made by General Pershing to members of the 89th Division, A. E. F., at Trier in Germany. At that time Pershing was quite disgusted with the attitude of our allies in the World War, and told those of us listening to him this fact in no uncertain terms.

In their article in Monday's papers, those two brilliant young commentators, Alsop and Kintner (who are less than half General Pershing's age, and who have been accredited or accused of being President Roosevelt's publicists) urged that the U. S. A. send 50 destroyers to Britain. Alsop and Kintner stated that the U. S. A. navy "has over 300 destroyers, or more than all the other navies in the world, put together." The following day in his syndicated article Major George Fielding Elliot took issue with young Alsop and Kintner. Elliot stated that he has official information from the Navy Department which states that our navy has only 76 under-age destroyers, and 123 over-age destroyers, a total of 199, not 300. The total of destroyers owned by other navies (excluding the British navy) is 369. Britain has 180 now available. Both Major Elliot and General Hugh Johnson in their columns assert that for this country to turn over the 50 destroyers to Britain would be "an act of war." We are hearing and reading much about alleged "Fifth Columnists" in this country. What about the "Sixth Columnists" who are operating or insidiously trying to plunge this country into war now?

Dr. Frederick A. Cook who died on August 5, was branded as a fakir in 1909 after he had claimed that he had reached the North Pole in April of the preceding year. A few days after Cook made his claim in 1909, Robert E. Peary, the Arctic Explorer sent word from Labrador that he had reached the North Pole. There were many who did not believe Peary's claim any more than they did that of Cook. While still a considerable distance from the pole, Peary had ordered his companions, with the exception of one negro assistant, to remain at the position they had then reached, and he proceeded on unaccompanied except for the one man mentioned. Under these conditions, a large percentage of folks were quite sceptical of Peary's alleged accomplishment.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on next Monday night one of the matters to be discussed will be the appropriation of money to publish a bulletin by the Health Department. Several issues of this bulletin under the title "Your Health" were published and distributed the past couple of years. Like other activities of the Newton Health Department during the past several years, the cost of publishing this bulletin was paid by the Rockefeller Foundation, but this subsidy has been withdrawn.

Appropriating money to pay for publicity for a city department is a new venture in Newton. We do not oppose this new expense. It may be worth its cost. But why limit it to one department? Other city departments are just as important to Newton citizens and taxpayers as the Health Department. If judged on a basis of cost to Newton people, some of them are more important. The budget of the Health Department for this year was $75,233; the School Department, $1,515,532; Street Department, $943,676; Welfare Department, $598,665; Treasury Department, $765,917; Police Department, $327,533; Fire Department, $265,225; Library Department, $94,585; Recreation Department, $80,362.

It would seem that the School Department is much more important than the Health Department. Why not regularly publish and distribute information about our schools to the parents of the thousands of children attending them, and to the other taxpayers who pay for these schools? Why not give information to residents of Newton about our highways and parks, and the collection of rubbish which cost nearly $1,000,000 yearly? Information regarding the Treasury Department and the financing of this city would be quite interesting to our taxpayers. The Police Department could well publish information regarding highway safety, safeguards to be taken by persons whose homes are unoccupied during summer months, and other important subjects. The Fire Department might disseminate information regarding fire prevention, and advice to persons whose lives may be endangered by a fire (particularly at night) in their homes. The Library and Recreation Departments certainly have much interesting information they could publish. Even the Assessing Department with its modest budget of $25,793 could give information to taxpayers that might assuage many irate persons who have the idea that they are being over assessed.

If the Mayor and Aldermen decide to appropriate money to publicize the Health Department, why not be logical and give helpful publicity to the other departments? Don't publish only a bulletin for one department, and discriminate. Publish a city journal periodically. We know that the heads of most of the other departments have had little or no experience in this field. But, they have the ability to learn. They should not hide their light under a bushel. It pays to advertise. That's why so many hen's eggs are eaten and so few duck's eggs.

WARTIME CREW OF U.S.S. AMERICA TO HOLD REUNION
The world war crew of the U.S.S. America, troop transport, is to hold a reunion during the American Legion Convention in Boston in September. Headquarters for the crew during the convention will be the Coyne Engineering & Electrical School, 83 Haverhill st., Boston, right opposite the Elevated at the North Station. A preliminary meeting will be held Saturday night, August 10th, at 7:30 at the Clarendon Congregational Church, Collins st., off 870 Hyde Park ave., near Halden sq., Hyde Park. Former members are requested to send their names and addresses to F. E. Schuler, 40 West Foster st., Melrose.

Newton Graphic, July 25, 1885

A gentleman of this city while riding near the cemetery one day last week saw a partridge hopping along by the side of the fence, and taking wing as the vehicle approached. It is not often these birds are seen in this vicinity.

There has been a wonderful transformation in internal arrangements at Engine 1 house, Newton. This improvement has been effected principally by the efforts of Councilman James French. The firemen now have a house they may well be proud of, and such quarters will doubtless stimulate them to still greater efforts in the future. Among the principal improvements is the substitution of single folding doors to each stall (six in all) instead of two large ones as formerly. By this arrangement each horse is independent of the others. Engine 1 house is as neat and tidy to the eye as a lady's well kept parlor. We advise the ladies of Newton, especially those of Wards 1 and 7 to visit the premises. We hazard nothing in saying they will receive polite and cordial welcome and attention from the fire ladders.

The third open-air gospel meeting will be held on the grounds of Henry Breck at North st., Newtonville on next Sunday at 3:30. All are invited to attend.

The subject of gas company consolidation is exciting much interest in this community at the present time. The Boston Journal has the following report of an interview with Joseph N. Bacon, president of the Newton & Watertown Gas Company. Mr. Bacon felt confident regarding the course of the company in relation to this matter. He expressed himself as opposed not only to the consolidation of gas companies in and around Boston, but also as a firm opponent of water gas as it is made and in use today. He said Newton people want and are willing to pay for a good and safe coal gas. He believed that the consolidation with other companies might enhance the value of stock for awhile, but that eventually the effect of the necessarily increased capital would be to raise the cost of gas to the consumer. He sees no reason for the Newton company selling out to what he thinks will be an undesirable monopoly. The community would not be benefited by a consolidation as the price of gas would be cheaper only for a short time, then it would advance to more than is now being paid.

Newton Graphic, July 25, 1890

Henry E. Bothfield takes his first vacation in seven years this summer, and left this week for Casco Bay, Maine, to be gone about a month.

An artesian well is being bored on Maple st. for the Stanley Dry Plate Company, and work is being pushed day and night to complete it.

The boys from the GRAPHIC office now at work for the summer upon "Among the Clouds," printed on the top of Mount Washington, indulged in sliding on the snow at the mountain top last Saturday.

The first trip of the new electric car over the recently completed Newton Street Railway was made from West Newton on Wednesday morning. On Thursday the cars commenced running hourly trips. In a few days they will run each half hour.

A number of Newton gentlemen are considering the project of organizing an ice company. They claim that the now luxurious and high cost article can be made at much less cost by artificial process, and a profitable business will result.

The steamship which has been built by John Cassidy on the Water-shore of the Charles River will be launched next week Thursday and it will be quite an event. Hundreds of Newton people have daily watched from the B. & A. trains the progress of building this boat.

The Clark land lying between Boylston and Centre sts. is now being offered for sale. There are some fine old woods on these nine acres which we hope will not be disturbed.

Over 70 carriages with occupants arrived at Echo Bridge last Sunday between 3:30 and 6 p. m. This gives an idea how popular this place is with sightseers.

The question of a superintendent of schools is the most important one now before our school board, and one which largely involves the future prosperity of our schools. A superintendent has unlimited power, and it goes without saying that Newton should have the best. We could much better afford to do away with one or two ornamental teachers, if it were necessary to do so, to get the money to secure a first-class man. A man who would do in a back country town is not the one to call here. Few of even the larger cities spend more for their schools than does Newton, or have a more elaborate school system. It would probably be impossible to secure Mr. E. P. Seaver, although he has a great interest in Newton schools and would do much to benefit them. There is, however, a resident of Newton admirably qualified for the position if he could be persuaded to accept it, and who would

Broke Wage Law And Is Fined $150

Inspectors Katherine J. Payne of Newtonville and Agnes L. Powers, representing the State Department of Labor and Industry were successful yesterday in the Dedham court in prosecuting Richard Weinfield, president of Weinfield's Inc., cleaners and dyers, for failure to pay the minimum wage specified for the laundry industry. He was fined $150 and given two jail sentences of 10 days each. Weinfield took an appeal.

Automobile Accidents

A car driven by Alvin Litvin of Hemenway st., Boston, hit a tree at the junction of the turnpike and Dickerman rd., Newton Highlands, on Monday at 3:05 a. m. Litvin and Morton Salter, also of Hemenway st., received injuries and were taken to Newton Hospital in the police ambulance.

Saturday afternoon a car driven by Alice Joyce of 43 Gilbert st., West Newton, stopped at the traffic light at Walnut st. and Commonwealth ave. A car driven by Albert Penque of Medford hit the rear of the Joyce car. A friend of Penque's, George Chabot, also of Medford, was driving a third car closely behind, and his car crashed into that of Penque's. According to the report Penque's wife and his three children were injured. Also Chabot's wife and one child.

Charles Hebert of 326 Fuller st., West Newton, was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance on Tuesday afternoon to be treated for an injury to his right knee. On Saturday Hebert stepped on the foot lever of his motorcycle to start the vehicle. The motor backfired and the momentum of the lever against Hebert's foot caused the knee injury.

A car driven by Frank Tipping of Sheridan st., West Newton, and a bicycle ridden by Donald Lucas, 10, of 58 Falmouth rd., West Newton, collided on Tuesday at Parmenter rd., West Newton. The boy received a cut on his left leg.

Rotary Club Meeting

At the joint meeting of the Newton and Waltham Rotary Clubs held at Brae Burn on Monday, August the fifth, President John Kale introduced Harry Starr, the District Governor, who reminded the members of the 19th District Assembly at Marlboro on Thursday.

Charlie Meeker introduced Gardner Wilson, a delegate from Massachusetts to the Philadelphia Convention. In an "off the record" talk he enlightened and amused those present with stories about his experiences and the happenings at the Convention.

Newton Residents at Lenox

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Jump of Devonshire rd. spent last week end at "Tanglewood," Lenox, as guests of their daughters, the Misses Marcia and Dorothea Jump, both of whom are members of that division of the Berkshire Music Center known as "the Institute for Advanced Study," a selected group made up of young professional musicians who work daily for the six weeks' duration of the music center under the personal supervision of Dr. Koussevitzky, principals of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and other distinguished musicians.

The boys from the GRAPHIC office now at work for the summer upon "Among the Clouds," printed on the top of Mount Washington, indulged in sliding on the snow at the mountain top last Saturday.

Sale of Property

At West Newton Hill

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., report that final papers have gone to record in the transfer of the new house located at 125 Prospect st., West Newton.

This attractive home contains 8 rooms, 1st floor lavatory, two baths, basement recreation room, and has every modern appointment. With the house, which has not as yet been assessed, there are 6000 feet of land and a two-car garage.

Morely Brothers, builders and owners, were the grantors and Thomas F. Meagher, the purchaser.

VILLAGE HALL PLAYERS IN "AH, WILDERNESS!"

Next on the list of famous plays which are being produced at the Village Hall Playhouse in Framingham Centre this summer is the familiar comedy of Eugene O'Neill "Ah, Wilderness!" This intimate story of New England home life of forty years ago touches a responsive chord in the hearts of all who witness it as it reveals so many characters who may be recognized as having been in our own families.

The story centers about a young man in the family who, through his new-found reading rebels against the old order to the utter dismay of his parents. When his lover gives him up for no good reason, he breaks loose entirely, and provides the material for comedy that is at once both whimsical and hilarious.

The father in the family is the role that has been made famous by such distinguished figures as George Cohan and the late Will Rogers. Alan Dwyer will play this part with the support of Barbara Winslow as the mother. The young son will be portrayed by Brian Gilbert who has recently recovered from an illness that removed him from last week's cast. Other parts will be filled by the regular members of the Players including Ruth Gilman who has returned from a short vacation.

Reservations may be made by calling or writing the Village Hall Playhouse, Framingham Centre, telephone 5195.

Bee Stings Driver; Truck Hits Pole

A milk truck driven by Richard Bemis, 19, of 24 Pine st., West Newton, hit a pole on Melrose st., Auburn last Friday morning, breaking the pole and damaging the automobile. Bemis reported to the police that a bee stung him on the right leg, and when he made a swat at the bee, he lost control of the truck.

Upper Falls Children Enjoy Field Day

Four hundred and fifty seven children of Newton Upper Falls were entertained at the Playground on Saturday by a group of citizens, the expenses being furnished by the Twombly Fund donated to the children of Upper Falls.

Mr. Robert B. McLaughlin, secretary and treasurer of the Newton Upper Falls Improvement Society was assisted by Fred Farrington, president of the Improvement Society and John Kerrihan.

George Braceland was chairman of games and sports with John O'Shaunessy and the playground directors assisting. Mrs. Raymond Capobianco, chairman of refreshments with Mrs. Harold T. Sprague, president of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club assisted by a group of 9 ladies of the community, prepared and distributed 457 bags, containing two sandwiches and a banana at 1 p. m. followed by distribution of bars of candy at 3 p. m., with Hoodies at 4 p. m.

WHAT PRICE BEAR

Miss Nancy Jane Demmons, ten-year-old young lady of Portland, Me., was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Samuel LaRhette of Waban on her first visit to Boston. On Sunday Miss Nancy was taken to Norumbega Zoo and while there, discovered a cub, bear cub of his cage. The bear thought Miss Nancy was a good playmate and thereby started to romp with her. Finally with the aid of two ice cream cones and the assistance of one of the guards, the cub was persuaded to go back to his cage. No harm was done but much amusement given to Miss Nancy who thinks that Newton bears are very friendly.

Sunbeam Chats

Don't feel like doing much in hot weather, but that you might like to know my mother keeps the very comfortable with lots of cool water and fruit juices to drink—no clothes but the barest necessity—and plenty of rest 'specially during the hottest hours—meal times are fun but if it's too hot even to eat my mother's cool, 'travictive food she doesn't force me.

BURDETT COLLEGEY. M. C. A.

In spite of heat, humidity and vacation schedules, the conditioning classes for men at the Newton Y. M. C. A. opened as scheduled this week. They are being held daily, Monday through Friday, for men 18-30 at 7:15 in the evening and for men 30-45 at 5:45 in the afternoon. The class period is a snappy thirty-minute session including calisthenics and games, then adjournment to the large play field adjacent to the Y. M. C. A. building where exercise on the track completes the period.

As the class will operate during the months of August and September it is pointed out by Association officials that there is still time for men to enroll and gain great benefit from the conditioning process. Classes are under the direct personal supervision of Mr. Richard B. Simmons, physical director of the Newton Y. M. C. A. A physical examination for men over thirty is arranged through the kindness of Dr. Cecil W. Clark. It is believed by the Association that men who take this course will not only be better prepared for military duty should they be called, but also will be in much better condition to cope with business and civic problems as they arise next fall and winter.

Sell Newton Center House

Howe Associates report that final papers have gone to record in the transfer of a new brick colonial located at 23 Ashford rd., Newton Centre. It contains 9 rooms, 3 baths and attached garage. There is a pine-paneled den on the first floor and pine paneled game room with fireplace in the basement. The kitchen has tile walls and the heating is air conditioned with gas-fired boiler. The spacious lot containing 11,625 feet is assessed at $18,000 and the house being new, is not yet assessed. The grantor was Mary F. Regan who conveyed to Reuben Parritz, who will occupy in the near future. Howe Associates represented the seller and Charles J. Kinchla represented the purchaser.

Consider Child's Hobby When Choosing Curtains

Because the selection of curtains for a child's room should take into consideration the personality and hobbies of the youngster, most mothers find it more satisfactory to plan and make their own unusual window hangings.

Children live informally, therefore the theme of decoration in their rooms, with curtains playing a most important part, should be keyed to simplicity.

A visit to the yardage departments of any of our stores will show how inexpensively curtains, bedspreads, pillows, couch covers and dressing table skirts can be assembled for both boys and girls.

Curtain-making of this sort requires no great skill, though it is best to have a large flat surface for cutting and pressing; otherwise the job is nothing more than simple sewing.

Here are a few tip-top ideas that may help you give freshness and sparkle to children's rooms.

Gingham makes most attractive and practical curtains for the young girl's room. Choose a fine pink and white check. Make them straight, in full 36-inch width, hanging from the top of the window to the sill. With the handcraft guide attachment of your sewing machine, you can wind blue rick-rack into an unusual border of criss-cross scallops, and use it as a trim around the edges of the curtains. Dressing table skirt, chair and bedspread might be made to match.

When selecting curtains for a boy's room, consider his hobbies and use these interests as a basis for trimming simple unbleached muslin draperies. Fish, sailboats, airplanes, or animals can quickly be applied onto the curtains in gay colors, with the zigzag attachment of the sewing machine. Or try the staccato effect of stripes. Red and white seersucker applied with bright blue anchors is a grand idea.

There's a very simple method families can use to figure how much milk each person should drink every day. It's as easy to work out as two times two equals four, say nutrition specialists, University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Calcium, the body-building factor for which milk is the primary source, is required in the human body at the rate of from four to six milligrams for each pound of body weight. Six milligrams can be taken for good measure, say the nutritionists, and multiplied by the amount the person weighs. For instance, if he weighs 160 pounds, the resulting answer would be 6 times 160 or 960 milligrams. From this number is subtracted 300 milligrams since that is the amount of calcium usually received from other food sources. The figure remaining would equal the amount of calcium to be furnished by the milk the person drinks.

Each glass of milk contains approximately 240 milligrams of calcium. Therefore the 160-pound person demanding at least 360 milligrams of calcium from milk, should drink almost two standard size glasses of milk a day.

First Mother's Day

A picnic for mothers—at the end of the Civil War—when the hatred of men, who had once been friends, still existed—that was the first organized Mother's Day in history.

The mother who planned this picnic; who on that day saw these men become friends again and just be mothers' sons once more, died, but her daughter, who was not even born then, carried on the good work.

She was Anna Jarvis—inspired by the good work that her mother had laid down—spread the idea of Mother's day, both as a memorial to her mother and a flowering of her work. And so, on the second Sunday in May, 1908, the second organized Mother's day was organized.

And in 1914 she saw the passage of the bill making Mother's day a national flag holiday. President Wilson presented her with the pen with which he signed the bill.

Eats Whole Pig

When a child is born among the Marquesans, a Polynesian people in the central Pacific, a feast is given at which the household head is presented with a pig in recognition of his service in donating the child, says a study published by the Columbia University Press.

"He is supposed to eat the entire pig himself. The relatives closest to the child, that is, the father's sisters and the mother's brothers, have their hair cut at this time, the shorn locks being made into a set of ornaments, a shoulder cape or a kilt, decorations for knees, ankles, elbows, and wrists. The fully equipped male in full regalia looks somewhat like a poodle. The hair is handled by professional curlers, being wound in tubes, wrapped in fiber, and baked."

Panama Hats From Ecuador

Despite the name, the world's best Panama hats actually come from Ecuador, not from Panama, as the term might imply. Some of these hats are so fine that they can be passed through a man's ring. Warning: This is not a good stunt to try with your derby or even with an ordinary straw.

Recent WeddingsHOLBROOK—RENNARD

A wedding of interest to Newton people was solemnized Saturday, August 3, at four-thirty o'clock at the Methodist Church, Cape Elizabeth, Maine, when Dorothy Hammond Rennard, daughter of Mrs. Annie Dyer Rennard of Newtonville and Cape Elizabeth, was married to Donald Irving Holbrook of South Portland, Maine. The typical New England church was simply but effectively decorated with evergreens and ferns, while baskets of roses were in the tall old-fashioned windows.

The wedding march was played by Miss Constance Murray of Cape Elizabeth, and Mrs. Frederick Murray sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly."

The double ring service was read by the Rev. Arthur Moore, pastor of the Unitarian Church at Houlton, Maine, a friend and neighbor of the bride's family. Gowned in ivory satin with a long veil and carrying bridal roses and baby's breath, the bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Berley C. Bostwick of Newtonville.

Her sister, Miss Marcela Dyer Rennard, wearing turquoise blue marquisette, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Norman Woodruff of Newtonville, Miss Louise Holbrook, sister of the groom, and Miss Ruth Harvey of South Portland, wore yellow marquisette and carried bachelorette buttons and baby's breath. Miss Peggy Ann Bostwick in pink organdie and Wayne Brookings carried bouquets of old-fashioned flowers.

Kenneth V. Berry of Bangor, Me., was best man. The ushers were Richard N. Rennard, brother of the bride, Vernon S. Plummer, South Portland, and Norman E. Clarke of Fryeburg, Maine.

A reception followed the ceremony at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Bostwick, Two Lights, Cape Elizabeth.

Mrs. Holbrook is a graduate of Newton High School and the Boston Secretarial School. For the past four years she has been a member of the office staff of the United Fruit Co. in Boston.

Mr. Holbrook, a graduate of South Portland High School and Boston University, is assistant purchasing agent for Rustcraft, Boston.

After a wedding trip in Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Holbrook will reside at 81 Madison ave., Newtonville.

WADE—SCIPIONE

At Our Lady's Church on Tuesday morning at a nuptial mass Miss Rita Elizabeth Scipione, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scipione of 14 Walnut st., Newtonville, was given in marriage by her father and became the bride of Leonard Everett Wade, the son of D. William Wade of 164 Dean rd., Brookline. Rev. Daniel F. Riordan, assistant pastor of the church, read the single ring service.

Nuptial music was played by Mrs. Ellen L. Passananti who accompanied Miss Aida Pucciarelli, violinist, and Miss Barbara Ryan, vocal soloist. Joseph Mason Williams was the best man, Mrs. Joseph M. Williams of Newton Centre, and Mrs. Anthony Tranterello of West Roxbury were maids of honor and the matrons of honor was Mrs. Angelo Tranterello.

The bride wore ivory satin in quaint fashion with hoopskirt and train and an ivory tulle finger tip veil. She carried a prayer book with an orchid. The matron of honor wore shell pink taffeta with baby blue hat and accessories, and the other attendants wore pastel shades with contrasting hats and accessories. The altar was accented with palms, ferns and gladioli.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony when the bridal party was assisted in receiving by the parents of the bride and the father of the bridegroom. Mrs. Scipione wore orchid lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade will be at home at 108 Henderson st., Needham, after Sept. 5, when they return from a month's trip. The bride is a graduate of Newton High School and Boston University, and Mr. Wade is a graduate of Stone Prep School and Cornell University.

BISHOP—ALGER

Reginald M. Bishop of 11 Orchard st., Newton, and Miss August E. Alger of 100 Pleasant st., Watertown, were married on Monday evening by Rev. Otis R. Heath, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church at the parsonage, 91 Park st., Newton.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Alger, the bride was given in marriage by her father, the double ring ceremony being read by the minister. The best man was Frank Bishop, a brother of the bridegroom, and the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Pansy Alger of Auburn, Me.

A gown of white marquisette fashioned in long lines was chosen by the bride, whose veil was finger-tip length from a pearl coronet and her bouquet was of white roses. A hat of salmon pink with a periwinkle blue brooch worn by her attendant was accented by a bouquet of pink roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony. Assisting in receiving were the parents of the bride, whose mother chose blue lace with corsage of red roses, and the parents of the bridegroom whose mother wore a flowered print with corsage of white gardenias.

After a wedding trip to Westboro, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop will be at home at 44 Jefferson st., Newton, after Aug. 18. Mr. Bishop, a graduate of the Wilmington High School, is employed as a cabinet maker. Mrs. Bishop is a graduate of the Watertown High School. Her going-away outfit was of green with gold trim, a picture hat and white accessories.

ELLIS—ROCKETT

In the Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban, Miss Helen Mansfield Rockett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Rockett, of Wellesley Hills, was married to Seymour Ellis, son of Mrs. Howard Baker of Longwood Towers and the late Mr. Reuben Morris Ellis, on Saturday afternoon. The four o'clock ceremony was performed by the Rev. Stanley Warren Ellis.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory taffeta and an heirloom veil of rose point lace which fell from a Juliet cap fastened with orange blossoms. She carried an ivory prayer book trimmed with satin streamers and lilies of the valley. Miss Emily Dayton Rockett, her sister's maid of honor, was gowned in apricot taffeta and carried pale blue delphinium with Queen Mary roses. Mrs. John Albert Doyle and Miss Elaine MacNelly, cousins of the bride, Mrs. John Clifford King, a sister of the bridegroom, Miss Lois Alley, Miss Ruth Ross and Miss Shirley Anderson attended the bride. Their gowns were of Alice blue taffeta, and they wore leghorn hats trimmed with velvet ribbons, which matched their gowns, and carried bouquets of Queen Mary roses with blue delphinium.

Thomas C. Roberts of Scarsdale, New York, was best man for Mr. Ellis. The ushers were Albert J. Hawkes of Detroit, Dr. Lewis Thorne of New Haven, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Charles Donald Dumont of Ridgefield Park, N. J.; William Green, of Manchester, N. H.; Kimball McMullin and Robert Acorn both of Waban.

After a reception which was held at the Wellesley Country Club, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis left for a motor trip through the White Mountains and Canada.

Mrs. Ellis attended Sweet Briar College, and is a graduate of Pine Manor Junior College and the Prince School. Mr. Ellis is an alumnus of Culver Military Academy, Dartmouth College, and the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. His late father, Mr. Reuben Morris Ellis, was the former president of the Philip Morris Company.

PROVOST—LOWE

At an informal ceremony, Miss Constance Louise Lowe, daughter of Mrs. Muriel C. Lowe, of 285 Webster st., Auburndale, was married to Russell Towle Provost, son of Mrs. Warren Provost, of 209 Austin st., Newtonville.

Rev. Richard P. McClintock performed the double ring ceremony at eleven o'clock at the Messiah Episcopal Church, Auburndale, on Friday, August 2nd.

The bride was given in marriage by Daniel Martin Chandler and wore a pink lace afternoon dress, princess style, with orchid accessories and an orchid corsage. Her attendant, Miss Phyllis Cheyne, of Auburndale, wore a blue afternoon dress with a corsage of pink roses. Frederick Provost, of Newtonville, was the best man.

Mrs. Provost was graduated last June from Newton High School. Mr. Provost attended Newton High School and was graduated from Bentley's School of Accounting in 1939.

Mr. and Mrs. Provost left for a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and the World's Fair.

LYTHGOE—COOKE

The marriage of Miss Dorothea W. Cooke, daughter of Mrs. Ida Emery Cooke, of Cantonville, Maryland, to Albert H. Lythgoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hermann C. Lythgoe, of Fair Oaks ave., Newtonville, took place Saturday noon, August 3rd, in the St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville. Rev. R. E. Lang performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Lythgoe, former director in charge of the Occupational Therapy Department at Worcester State Hospital, is now assistant director of the Boston School of Occupational Therapy, where she will continue upon her return from an extended wedding trip on the Cape.

Mr. and Mrs. Lythgoe will be at home on Sewall ave., in Brookline, after October 1st.

SPERRY—KIMBALL

Miss Virginia Bartow Kimball, daughter of Mrs. Bartow Kimball, of 329 Ward st., Newton Centre, was married to Marcy Leavenworth Sperry, Jr., son of Marcy Leavenworth Sperry, of Washington, D. C. The wedding ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's mother, Thursday, August 1st.

Mrs. Sperry was graduated from the Netherwood School, Rotheray, New Brunswick, and from the Erskine School, in Boston. Mr. Sperry was graduated from Milton Academy, and from the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University, in 1938.

Speeders Fined In Newton Court

In the Newton court last Friday Judge Mayberry fined John Mayo of Framingham $10 for speeding. He imposed a like fine on Frank W. Knowlton, Jr., of Selkirk rd., Brighton, for speeding. Young Mr. Knowlton professed to know enough about law to assert that the local authorities have no right to set a 30 mile speed limit, and took an appeal. The 30 mile limit was not set by local authorities. It is a State law. Inspector Hammell testified that Knowlton was going at a rate of 46 miles along Commonwealth ave. Fines of $5 for speeding were imposed on Joseph Kalenowski of Needham, Oliver Andrews of Boston and Edwin Stone of Allston.

Others in court that day charged with speeding, but whose cases were filed because they were first offenders included Helen Derron, 138 Central st., Auburndale; Dorothy Sexsmith, Halcron rd., Newton Centre; Edith Swenson, 20 Stanford st., Auburndale; James Tuttle, 132 Albemarle rd., Newtonville; Louis Burgess, Conrad Beaudoin and Philip Brown, all of Waltham.

In the Newton court last Saturday Bernard Pepe of Brighton and Laverio Santoro of Watertown each were fined $5 for speeding. William Smith of Springfield was fined $5 for ignoring a red light at a traffic signal.

In the Newton court on Tuesday Albert LaReau of 22 Walnut place, Newtonville, was fined $25 for speeding, and Loring Nye of Needham was fined $10. Richard Small of 28 Sheffield rd., Newtonville, was fined $5 for not stopping before entering a through way. Charles Young of 40 Groveland st., Auburndale, was fined $5 for driving without a license.

In the Newton court on Monday Carl Pieritz of Newton Highlands was fined $25 for speeding. It was his second conviction within a year. John Foster of 492 Worcester st., Wellesley, was fined $10.

In the Newton court on Wednesday Morris Freidus of Mattapan was fined $25 by Judge Murray for speeding. It was his second conviction within a year. Others fined $5 each for speeding included: Julian Feinberg, Brookline; Howard Jerome, Mattapan; John King, Thackeray rd., Wellesley; Albert DeLosa, River st., Waltham; John Carder, Elliot ave., West Newton; Arthur Bon, 215 Cherry st., West Newton.

Red Cross Sponsors Of Radio Series "Listen and Live"

August is admittedly the most popular vacation month, a month associated with pleasurable anticipation of happy outings and as happy events. That those pleasurable anticipations may materialize into pleasurable realities and memories, there should be given thought to the unexpected mishaps which may occur when vacationists venture into new activities or those in which they are not especially skilled. Such ventures may end so easily in tragedy, unless one knows just what to do, and, even more important in some instances, just what not to do. One moment of hesitancy or mistake may cause a tragedy that will endure for a lifetime in vain regret.

Realizing this, having known of so many cases, the National organization of the American Red Cross is offering to the radio public timely opportunity to learn the fundamentals in First Aid, Water Safety, and Home and Farm Accident Prevention. This is a continuation of the weekly "Listen and Live" broadcasts, inaugurated June 2nd and completed July 22nd, which proved so successful that there has been request for an additional series.

These presentations are given over a coast-to-coast broadcast of the NBC Blue network, and may be heard each Sunday afternoon from 1 o'clock until 1:15, daylight saving time, over Station WBZ, through Sept. 1st.

Sunday, Aug. 11, the topic will be "Kitchen Accident—that of a child seriously cut by a can opener. How to prevent or care for this type of injury." The speaker will be Edna Van Horn, executive secretary, American Home Economics Association, Washington, D. C.

Knowledge of what to do in a mishap of this kind, for child or adult, would be worthwhile when at home, but of even greater value if away in a remote camp.

Sunday, Aug. 18, Commodore W. B. Longfellow, originator of Red Cross Life Saving Training, will present a speaker on the topic, "The Accident Menace of Children permitted to go into deep water, supported by inner tubes which frequently collapse." This is one of the greatest dangers reported by lifeguards throughout the country.

Sunday, Aug. 25, Louis J. Taber, of Cleveland, Master of the National Grange, will describe "Accidents at Harvest Time on the Farm, and Injuries Caused by Animals."

Sunday, Sept. 1, the topic will be "Warning against Labor Day Accidents. How to Stay Alive with the holiday-bound millions on the highways and in the water."

Another avenue offered by the American Red Cross to those who would like to become informed upon First Aid and Water Safety, and also on Red Cross Home and Farm Accident Prevention, is through the Fall National Aquatic Schools, which will be conducted at Chautauque Institute, Chautauque, N. Y., from Aug. 21 through Aug. 31; and at Camp Carolina, Brewster, N. C., from August 23 through Sept. 2.

Descriptive folders and application blanks for these schools may be secured from Headquarters of the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, 12 Austin st., Newtonville.

In Newton, classes in Swimming and Life Saving have been conducted at Crystal Lake since June 24th, with Mr. E. M. Westgate as Newton Chapter instructor. Those who have completed this Life Saving Course and passed the required tests are: Juniors, Peter Goethel, Donald Murphy, Stephen Kelly and Thomas Maguire; and Seniors, Seymour Silver and John Walsh.

A noteworthy item of local news, indicative of the keen interest the children of Newton are manifesting in conditions resulting from war invasions overseas is that the members of the Junior Chapter of the Newton Red Cross are taking under their care two refugee children, whom they are sending to Camp Mary Day, on Aug. 15th, for a two weeks' stay, paying their expenses.

Robbery Story Was Only Fiction

The apparently peculiar story of a robbery and attempted theft of a station wagon which was reported to Newton police last week by Hannah Richards, a domestic employed at 25 Drumlins rd., Oak Hill, was exploded last Friday by Sergeant King and Inspector Lyons of the Newton police. After persistent questioning of the girl, and pointing out obvious discrepancies in her story, she admitted that in the absence of the family by whom she is employed, she endeavored to learn to drive the station wagon, and wrecked it against a tree. She then concocted the story of the burglary in an attempt to conceal the real fact from her employer.

Students Taught Jewel Value With Real Gems

A veritable "treasure house" of precious and semi-precious gems has been assembled by the school of mineral industries of the Pennsylvania State college for use in teaching students how to evaluate and identify precious jewels—and to guard against misrepresentation.

Diamonds, sapphires, emeralds and rubies are among the best-known precious jewels in the collection, which includes both cut and uncut materials representing about 75 different species and varieties of gems. Semi-precious exhibits include opals, peridot, tourmalines, spinels, and various silica minerals. There are also glass replicas of the famous diamonds of the world.

Used in a new cultural course, the gems are examined from both an ornamental and an industrial viewpoint, and are compared in historical importance and relative value. Colors, cutting designs, and other features are demonstrated in the laboratory.

So that students may guard against deception in purchasing gems, they are required to perform tests on various gems to establish their true identity and value. Professors Arthur P. Honess and William M. Myers, who are in charge of the course, feel that students will be better able to judge the superficial appearance of stones if they know their physical background.

Men students have enrolled in the course in greater number than women students, but a growing enrollment of coeds is expected in view of the inherent feminine interest in jewelry.

Whistle on Engine Fixed Width of Train Tracks

Railroad tracks, at one time, were of different widths, and not like today all of the exact width. Many small railroads were narrow gauge while others were broad gauge. The broad gauge was adopted from the English railroads. A lot of trouble was caused in the early days of American railroading by the variations in the gauges. In some cases three rails were laid on the ties, these rails being so placed that cars of two gauges could run on the same line at the same time.

When railroads were first being constructed in Ohio, a locomotive was built in New York and this engine was made with the wheels set four feet ten inches apart. This engine was equipped with a whistle which was to be blown whenever cattle or people got on the track.

A member of the Ohio legislature happened to hear this whistle and he was so impressed by it that he introduced a bill which provided that all railroads of the state should be built of the same gauge as the engine with the whistle. It was in this way that that width came to be adopted as "standard gauge."

The Agave Americana is commonly called the Century plant, in the erroneous belief that it blooms only when 100 years old. As a matter of fact, it does not bloom until it is 10 or more years old, according to authorities. After blooming, it dies, but new plants develop from suckers at the base, Otto Lang, nurseryman, says.

The century plant has leaves sometimes six feet long and a flower stalk up to 40 feet high. The flowers are about 2½ inches across. These are white or greenish and they are borne on many horizontal branches at the top of the stalk.

These plants are often used as potted plants in the North, and there are many which grow in yards here which refute the popular belief that they are rare. They require little care since they are of the cactus family; however, severe winters will kill them. Many gardeners here store their plants during the winter in local greenhouses to keep from running the risk of losing them during the cold weather.

Novel Plane

A company to build a new type fighting plane, having two controlled wings, located at different ends of the plane, moved by steel tubing, and front and back propellers, operated by an engine in front and an engine behind, is being formed in Ketchikan.

C. E. Sparhawk is the inventor of the plane which is still in the model stage.

"Use of adjustable wings will give it maneuverability so that it can out-manuever any fighting plane so far built," he claims.

"If you tip the front wings up and the back wing down, it will loop the loop in half the distance of any present plane," he said.

Bulls Don't See Red

Another popular superstition has been knocked down by science. Bulls do not get any madder at red than they do at any other color, reports the Better Vision Institute, adding that experiments have demonstrated that bulls, like many other animals, are color-blind. Instead of seeing colors in the same way as do human beings, the objects in their visual world appear as shades of gray. Any moving object attracts a bull's attention, and it is just as effective to wave a blue cloth as a red cloth. But science notwithstanding, the matadors probably will stick to red. The crowds like the color, anyway.

Thomas Harland's Fame As Clockmaker Grows

A roll of the distinguished early clockmakers of this country, arranged in the order of the greatness of its members, would find the name of Thomas Harland (1735-1808) of Norwich, Conn., an immigrant from England in 1773, high upon the list, writes George P. Anderson in the Boston Transcript. Although heretofore his fame has not been widespread, recently it has been advanced by his inclusion in the now completed and highly authoritative work, the "Dictionary of American Biography" (Vol. VIII, page 275). To attempt to fix for him an exact place in a clockmakers' hall of fame would be to challenge controversy needlessly, but the consensus seems to be that he should be given a prominent position among early American clockmakers, probably among the first four or five.

He was a modest man and apparently never had his portrait painted. He did not seek inordinate wealth, but did everything in the day's work as well as he could and was helpful and kind to others. He was a sturdy Englishman transformed into a resourceful Connecticut Yankee. Whether we take as the yardstick his skill, his character or the artistic merit of his work he stands in the forefront. Regrettably he hid his light under a bushel, and search for its rays long after he passed from the scene of his activities presents many puzzling problems.

Although much of the life story of this pioneer is shrouded in mystery, there is information which demonstrates that Harland possessed unusual mechanical skill, was industrious, well read, a good citizen and modest as to his gifts and achievements. It is probable that he was born in Norwich, England, this information being conveyed in 1923 when Mrs. Irene Harland, wife of Thomas Harland, great-grandson of the original Thomas Harland, gave the clock which had long been in their family to the Wadsworth Atheneum, of Hartford, Conn.

Long Years of Schooling Not Necessary for Child

"Keep the child in school," is a slogan that has been increasingly popular in America for many years, and an immense amount of personal influence and school propaganda has been used to justify longer schooling, but according to Frank M. Rich, principal of a public school in Paterson, N. J., common sense would evidence that there is no necessity for it.

"Not preparation for life, but participation in life is the best part of education," the professor says. "Books are a wonderful source of information and inspiration when taken along with some of the concrete life experiences which they help to explain, but the notion that children and youth need unlimited abstract book learning to the exclusion of practically all world contacts, is one of the saddest of educational fallacies."

Professor Rich advocates pre-vocational contacts with the business world through part-time apprenticeship, quasi-vocational activities in the kitchen, workshop and garden at home, and alternation of a season of employment with a season of school attendance.

Busy Beavers Tricked

When beavers began cutting down valuable timber from a stand south of Allen's mills near Farmington, Maine, forest rangers found they had a fight on their hands. The busy little creatures had a dam nearly completed when the felled trees were found. The chief ranger called all hands and dynamited several places in the dam. The beavers filled them up over night.

Next a six-inch iron pipe was placed in the dam to drain it. This puzzled the beavers for a couple of days when they found and plugged both ends of the pipe. The water rose again.

Next a siphon of fire hose was tried. The beavers gnawed it through in short order. Finally, the dam was almost entirely removed and the material hauled away. Then the rangers rigged up a terribly looking scarecrow hoping to frighten the destructive little creatures away. Did it? Not a bit. They cut down the scarecrow, divided him into convenient pieces and used him for building a new dam. After that the beavers were trapped out. It was the only way to make them quit their building.

Baby Care in Hospitals

Too many mothers leave the hospital with their first baby without knowing how to take care of them, Dr. Julius H. Hess of Chicago asserts. Hospitals should be teaching centers, he said, where the mother can learn what her baby needs. To accomplish this aim he recommended a joint service of obstetrician and baby specialist in every hospital to prepare the mother for her task.

More babies should be breast-fed, the only way to convince the mother of this need and prepare her for it physically and psychologically is for the obstetrician and pediatrician to co-operate, he said.

Pointing out that 85 per cent of all babies are now delivered in hospitals, Dr. Hess said that most hospitals were ill-equipped for the task, and especially ill-equipped to take care of mother and baby after the birth.

Letters To The Editor

EXPLAINS WITHDRAWAL

To the Editor:

August 2, 1940.

On Tuesday last I wrote you that I had filed nomination papers for Representative in Congress from the Ninth Congressional District with the Secretary of the Commonwealth. Today I withdrew my name from nomination in order to give full time support to the election of Wendell Willkie.

Last spring the Republican National Committee asked me to hold myself in readiness for service anywhere in the United States in the presidential campaign. Yesterday the call came and I have responded.

I thank the numerous backers of my candidacy for Congress and urge them to work in the interest of clean politics and the election of the entire Republican ticket in November.

My resignation as a member of the Board of Review of the Massachusetts Division of Unemployment Compensation has been submitted to His Excellency, the Governor.

I shall be appreciative of your kindness if you will be good enough to publish this letter. With thanks, I am

Very truly yours,
SYBIL H. HOLMES.

Something for Nothing?

... NOT IN THIS DAY AND AGE!

Yes, you can get a higher rate of return on your money than we pay on deposits. But before succumbing to the lure of high returns, ask yourself these questions:

—Will my money be as SAFE?

—Will my money be as AVAILABLE?

You can't get "something for nothing" these days. High rates must be at the expense of either safety or availability. That's why a bank account is still the best bet for accumulating a cash reserve.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, August 11.

The Golden Text is: "Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God; thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness" (Psalms 143:10).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I am the Lord, and there is none else, there is no God beside me: I girded thee, though thou hast not known me: that they may know from the rising of the sun, and from the west, that there is none beside me. I am the Lord, and there is none else" (Isaiah 45: 5, 6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "As God Himself is good and is Spirit, goodness and spirituality must be immortal. Their opposites, evil and matter, are mortal error, and error has no creator. If goodness and spirituality are real, evil and materiality are unreal and cannot be the outcome of an infinite God, good" (p. 277).

Lion Is Favorite Emblem Of Royalty in Europe

Among the emblems of royalty in the old world the lion is the favorite beast, according to Harold Lamb, authority on Asia and author of "The March of the Barbarians." The unicorn is rare, but one of the great favorites is the eagle, use of which is by no means confined to the United States. The eagle flourished on the Roman standards, and has its Scandinavian traditions—which may have bestowed it on the German imperium in medieval times.

The crowned eagle of Poland is even older. As the two-headed eagle of the Russian czars, Harold Lamb learned last summer in Kiev that it does not, as supposed, derive from Poland. It was adapted from Byzantium at the time the early czars were proclaimed to be the successors in the line of Byzantine emperors. It did not, however, originate in Constantinople, but came from Asia in a still earlier age—from Persia, where it had been a heraldic device in the dawn of historical time.

In Persia Mr. Lamb was hospitably entertained by government officials and before departing he intimated that he would like to leave some small gift to be presented to the shah. It was suggested that copies of his two books, "Genghis Khan" and "Tamerlane," might be the most suitable gift for H. M. Reza Pahlavi Shah. The author pointed out that ordinary books would hardly do—they should be bound especially for H. M. by the publisher, Doubleday, Doran. The binding should undoubtedly have the imperial insignia of Persia upon it. "Yes, certainly," the author's hosts agreed, "but that would mean the insignia of the lion."

Something seemed to trouble the Persians. "Then it must be a Persian lion," they warned, "and not British."

Apparently the publisher was equal to the task of ornamenting the presentation copies with lions distinctively Persian, because next year the author learned that H. M. had received the books with pleasure and had examined them himself.

Use Care When Buying Bathing Suit for Summer

Don't buy a bathing suit without a fitting! Here's one garment in your summer wardrobe that needs to be selected with the greatest possible care. . . all because it dramatizes the best features of your figure and makes something of a comic valentine of your less attractive ones.

Gone are the days when bathing suit shoppers dashed up to the bathing suit counter and hurriedly demanded, "I want a white. . . size 36."

Smart shoppers now consider: Bra-and-shirt suits expose a bare midriff, so are for the lean-waisted only.

Dressmaker types, with full-flared skirts are excellent for larger figures.

All day swimmers find a rubber bathing suit practical because it can be wiped dry in a few minutes.

White wool needs spotless surroundings.

Backless suits need good straight backs. . . pointed shoulder blades beware.

Inside uplift bras are a must for the full-busted figure.

Marten Stages Come-Back
Once almost extinct in this section of the Rockies, the elusive martens, a pride of the early day trappers, is staging a strong come-back in the park. Naturalist Raymond Gregg has reported.

Under the protection of the national park service, the fur bearing animal has multiplied its numbers many times since the establishment in 1915, eliminating activities of trappers in the area.

While usually making forays on smaller animals at elevations from 8,000 to 10,000 feet, martens have been observed on the summit of Longs peak, 14,255 feet high, in search of coney, small rodent-like mammals making their homes in talus slopes above timberline.

Basic Idea of Mexican Tamale Is Ground Corn

When the Spaniards landed in Mexico centuries ago, weary and weak from dry and monotonous food aboard ship, their nostrils were assailed by an odor which even to this day rises in fragrant steam from almost every home in Mexico—tamales!

The average American has no idea of the complications inherent in and possible to a tamale. The basic idea is spiced, steamed, ground corn, with a meat center, boiled in a jacket of dried corn leaves. But just as tamales are the food of fiestas in Mexico, the making of them is like making a plum pudding—nothing to be taken lightly.

First you must think about tamales months ahead and begin saving corn husks, washing them, drying them in the sun, storing them. Something of their sweet odor will go into the taste of the finished article later.

Then one must decide what sort of tamale to make. Chicken, pork, beef, sweet, coconut, green corn, fish? Yes, all these fillings are possible. Sometimes a big batch of tamales is made of several fillings. It is common, when the household settles down to the two-day task of constructing tamales, to make them of chicken, pork, coconut, or other nuts and beans.

A real tamale feast includes chicken and pork tamales, sweet ones flavored with cinnamon and coconut, and hot chocolate or atole to drink. Atole is a thick beverage made of masa cooked with milk and flavored with cinnamon, or with chocolate.

In the South, tamales are sometimes cooked in banana leaves, and now at elegant dinners in Mexico City they are often seen with edible leaves, such as spinach.

A spring specialty in many sections is sweet-corn tamales, with the fresh sweet corn added to the meat mixture, and the tamales steamed in the fresh green husks.

Stamps From Ghost Towns Popular With Collectors

During the country's development, numerous towns mushroomed as various industries began. Some flared for a short time and were then deserted, others kept growing and are now our leading cities. The collection of stamps and covers postmarked in the former type of community, familiarly referred to as "ghost towns," is a popular philatelic specialty.

Pit Hole City, Pa., is one of these "ghost" towns. In 1865 oil was discovered by the side of Pit Hole creek. The town grew overnight into a community of about 16,000 inhabitants and handled more mail than any other city in the state, except Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. It was a town of rough shacks, barn-like hotels and gambling palaces. Whisky and oil flowed generously, and hundreds of fortunes were made from the Pit Hole petroleum wells and promptly lost in the gambling halls.

Philatelic covers are the only reminders of this once-flourishing city because a rickety church building is the only structure that now remains on the site. Pit Hole City became a "ghost town" in 1867 only two years after it sprang up.

Custom Renounced
Another ancient custom of the fast-changing East was under feminine fire recently at Tashkent, capital of the Soviet Union's central Asian republic of Uzbekistan.

Describing a feminist meeting there, at which a law against veils was urged, news stories told how Uzbek women, wearing the traditional head-enveloping, black horsehair veils, suddenly tore off the offending accessory in a dramatic gesture of renunciation.

Remote Uzbekistan, points out the National Geographic society, is the economic and cultural center of the six central Asian states. With an area of 146,000 square miles, it has about 6,000,000 inhabitants. Six hundred thousand live in Tashkent, the most important city of the region, now considerably modernized with paved streets, new buildings, trolley lines, a water supply system—even a traffic problem.

Skunk in Home

Patrolman Fred Spear of the Medfield police is a brave man, but he knows that discretion is the better part of valor.

He has an unwelcome guest in his home, but Patrolman Spear isn't doing a thing about it—except using discretion.

The guest is a handsome skunk which is hibernating in an over-stuffed chair in the Spear dining room. The young man of the family, 13-year-old "Stub," brought the animal home last May. Mr. Skunk liked it and returned at intervals. Came winter, he holed up in his favorite chair.

There have been no "incidents" yet, but the Spears are hoping for an early change.

War Earnings

How hostilities affect corporate income—at least in the last World War—is indicated in a study by Fuller, Rodney and Remond, which shows that aggregate net income of 63 industrial companies rose from $208,000,000 in 1914 to $375,000,000 in 1915, $503,000,000 in 1916 and then to $533,000,000 in 1918.

J. Ernest Gibson of 16 Fair Oaks ave., Newtonville, died suddenly of a heart attack while attending the Boston-Cincinnati baseball game on Sunday afternoon. He had been seriously ill last year, but had recovered and had resumed his business activities sometime ago.

Mr. Gibson was born in Newton 59 years ago, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gibson. He entered the market business in Nonantum about 40 years ago, and had since conducted the Nonantum Market Company in partnership with his brother, William J. Gibson. He was also president of the Highland Oil Company. Mr. Gibson was a Past President of the Newton Kiwanis Club, a director of the Newton Co-operative Bank, and vice-president of the Faith Hope Charity Association of West Townsend. He was also a member of the Newton Chamber of Commerce and the Round Table Club of the Newton Y.M.C.A. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ida (Kehoe) Gibson; a son, J. Ernest Gibson, Jr.; a daughter, Miss Maybeth Gibson; a brother, William J. Gibson of Newtonville; and a sister, Miss Laura Gibson of Newton. Mr. Gibson's funeral service was held on Wednesday at Our Lady's Church and burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

AUGUSTA KENNETH

Mrs. Augusta Kennett, widow of the late William Kennett of Conway, New Hampshire, passed away on Aug. 2nd after a lingering illness at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. George B. Cameron of 406 Wolcott Park in Auburndale, Massachusetts.

Mrs. Kennett was born in Madison, New Hampshire, on May 12th, 1852. She was one of the oldest, active members of the First Baptist Church of Newton Centre, and also of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. Funeral services were held on Sunday at the home of Mrs. Cameron with Rev. Charles N. Arbutnot, D.D., officiating. Mrs. Sidney Marston rendered two vocal selections. Interment took place in the family lot in Madison on Monday. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. George B. Cameron of Auburndale, Mrs. George E. Tufts of Newton Highlands, and Mrs. Frank L. Kendall of Rochester, New Hampshire, and two sons, Ernest E. Kennett of Madison, New Hampshire, and William Kennett of Conway, New Hampshire; also fifteen grandchildren and fourteen great-grandchildren.

ALICE M. EDMANDS

Mrs. Alice M. (Hatt) Edmands of 372 Winchester st., Newton Highlands, wife of J. Wiley Edmands, died on August 5. She was born at Beech Hill, Nova Scotia, 64 years ago and had resided in this city for 18 years. Her funeral service was held at Newton Cemetery chapel on Wednesday afternoon; Rev. Frank Grebe officiated. Mrs. Edmands is survived by her husband; and four brothers, Elkanah, John, Charles and Levi Hatt, all of Nova Scotia.

CATHERINE MEHIGAN

Mrs. Catherine L. Mehigan of 1298 Commonwealth ave., Waban, widow of John C. Mehigan, died on August 5. She was born in Newton 83 years ago, the daughter of Michael and Julia (Donovan) Corcoran. Mrs. Mehigan had lived for nearly 80 years in the house where she died. She is survived by a son, Cornelius J. Mehigan; and two daughters, Misses Catherine A. and Mary A. Mehigan, all of Waban. Her funeral service was held on Wednesday morning at St. Philip Neri Church and burial was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

JAMES S. NORRIS

James Sumner Norris of 218 Church st., Newton, died on August 5. He was born in Taunton 82 years ago and had resided in Newton for about 50 years. He conducted a painting business during most of that time. Mr. Norris' hobby was bowling at which he was an expert and he engaged in this sport until a few years ago. He was a member of the Newton Y.M.C.A. His funeral was held on Wednesday at Taunton and burial was in Mayflower Cemetery in that city.

ABBIE A. HORTON

Mrs. Abbie A. (Davis) Horton of 35 Westfield rd., West Newton, widow of George B. Horton, died on August 7. She was born in Edgemoor, Maine, 83 years ago. She was a Past Grand of Hawthorne Rebekah Lodge and for 40 years its chaplain. She is survived by one son, Carl Horton, with whom she resided. Her funeral service will be held this afternoon at Odd Fellows Hall, Waltham, and burial will be in Mount Feake Cemetery, Waltham.

CHARLOTTE F. WHELOCK

Miss Charlotte F. Wheelock of 75 Prairie ave., Auburndale, died on August 7. She was born in Boston 98 years ago and was for many years employed at the Registry of Deeds at East Cambridge, retiring in 1921. She had since made her home in Auburndale with Mrs. Mary E. Allen. Her funeral service will be held on Saturday at 2 in the Miller funeral chapel at Waltham. Burial will be in Cambridge Cemetery.

Babies Different

Harry Stiefel, Fort Worth, Texas, x-ray operator at a hospital, makes standard photographs of newly born babies in his spare time. "Every baby has a different personality," Stiefel said, "and some of the girls, no more than two or three days old, actually pose for the camera."

Fifty-Three Dam Workers
Discover Gold Out West

Fifty-three men working on the Ruck-a-Chucky dam are prospective millionaires. The structure is on the American river, about eight miles north of Auburn, Calif., and Robert Shiroda of Reno, who was on the ground, tells how Dame Fortune flirted with the workers.

"Several weeks ago one of the contractors was building a road across a hill in the vicinity with a tractor and shovel when he cut through a ledge without being conscious of it. A passerby soon after picked up a piece of quartz that contained about half its weight in gold. The act was witnessed by others and soon there was a scramble. To avoid complications, it was agreed to form an association including all the men working on the project.

"In a few hours gold to the value of about $5,000 was saved and in four days the men estimated that they were about $20,000 to the good. A miner named Prescott, who had formerly been in Goldfield, Gold Circle and other Nevada camps, was selected as superintendent and as they were being bothered by outsiders taking rich specimens of ore, Prescott ordered that the shovel be used to cover the apex and a tunnel was started on the vein further down the hill.

"Prescott went to the mint in San Francisco to sell some of the ore and he was immediately arrested as a highgrader and was not released until he had been fully identified. Further, it was ascertained that the discovery was on the dam reservation and the matter must be taken up with the interior department—and what will Mr. Ickes say?"

Butcher Bird Handsome
But Feared by Insects

About the size of the robin, with large head, sturdy neck and strong and somewhat hawk-shaped bill, the northern shrike, or butcher bird, is a handsome and bold fellow, but no favorite with lovers of song birds. It nests in the far north, moving south to our northern states in the fall and returning north in early spring.

The shrike gets its name as a butcher from the habit of spitting its prey upon thorns or the barbs of a wire fence, or wedging them in the crotches of limbs. Having the relatively weak feet of song birds, the shrike kills its prey with its efficient bill, says Nature magazine. Since the English sparrow is a favorite food, the shrike is often seen within the limits of cities. It kills shrews and small rodents, as well as grasshoppers and other large insects.

With a color scheme of light gray, and black and white wings, with a vermiculated breast and a black mask across the eyes, the shrike blends well with the surroundings. It is frequently seen around farms where the supply of rodents and English sparrows is likely to be large.

Basic Materials Imported

Basic materials still imported by the United States to a large degree are manganese, chromium, tungsten, antimony, vanadium, mercury, nickel, cobalt, and tin, according to the Nucleus, publication of the Northeastern Section of the American Chemical society.

"Nearly 500,000 tons of manganese were imported by the United States in 1933, the latest year for which figures are available, mainly from Russia, the African Gold Coast, and Cuba," it is pointed out. "In the United States, about one-tenth of that amount was produced."

"Nearly all of our needs in chromium, 350,000 tons, came from southern Rhodesia, Turkey, Cuba and New Caledonia. Less than 1,000 tons were produced in the United States. We are in a different position for tungsten in that we produce about half of our requirements. At present we import tungsten mainly from China, South Africa, British Malaya, and a smaller amount from Mexico. Large deposits of tungsten ore occur in Turkey."

Dance Around Corpses

Typical of certain dances in Celebes is the so-called mab'adong mab'adong, meaning literally to sing mourning songs for the dead. In this dance men form a circle and, while chanting in solemn chorus words of lament or praise for the deceased, slowly stretch and bend the knees, occasionally making a step sideways. One hand is laid on the shoulder of the next dancer and the other arm, bent at the elbow, is slowly brought forward and then extended sideways to the rhythm of the song.

This dance is usually executed in front of the house where the corpse is lying and, later, also at the place where the sacrificial bulls are being slaughtered, writes Claire Holt in Asia magazine, for slaughtering of bulls is one of the most important features of all big Toradja celebrations. The higher the rank of the person who died, the greater the number of slaughtered bulls.

Profitable Half Year

Profits of 365 important industrial corporations in the first half of 1939 totaled $397,000,000, or just double the earnings reported by the companies for first six months of 1938, according to the National City Bulletin.

Oldest Living Trees Are Found in Texas Region

The oldest living trees on the American continent, and perhaps in the world, are the cedars which are found in remote parts of the Trans-Pecos region of Texas, according to H. L. George, civil engineer and forester. These trees grow in semi-arid soil that is almost pure gypsum and are several thousand years older than the giant redwoods in California, Mr. George said.

"Some time ago I was retracing some of the surveying work done by Jacob Keuchler, an early surveyor who located lands west of the Pecos river, about 40 miles north of Kent, Texas," he said. "This work was done in 1879. He marked trees with a cross. These cedars were not grown sufficiently in 59 years to cover these marks. Several of the trees were on our survey line and had to be cut, and at that time we noticed that their rings were so close together that they could not be seen without the aid of a powerful magnifying glass.

"By examining several of the trees closely, we found there were approximately 70 rings to the quarter inch. At this rate of growth, one inch would cover a span of 280 years, and since some of these trees were 36 inches in diameter, they would be approximately 10,000 years old.

"The trees seem almost indestructible, and when they are cut down, the wood is so dry and hard that even a live tree has the appearance of a dead one," Mr. George added. Stakes cut from the trees and driven into the ground in 1879 are still in a perfect state of preservation, he said.

English Princess Breaks
Precedent With Marriage

It is difficult today to realize what an unorthodox thing Princess Louise did when she was married to the marquis of Lorne in 1870. Princess Louise, who died late in 1939, was a daughter of Queen Victoria.

No princess of an English reigning house had married out of the royal caste since 1515, when Henry VII's daughter became the wife of the duke of Suffolk. It is curious to read that the marriage to Lord Lorne, son and heir of the duke of Argyll, was strongly opposed by her brother, the prince of Wales, late King Edward VII, while Queen Victoria herself favored the match. One might have expected quite the opposite reactions. But perhaps Disraeli's courtly reassurance, "You will miss her, madam, like the stars: that return in their constant season, and with all their brightness," had its effect.

Two familiar legends are associated with the royal match, writes Observer in the London Sunday Observer. One is the tale of the Inveraray clansman (who counted no one higher than the duke of Argyll). "The queen will be a proud woman the day," he said. The other was the encouraging effect which the marriage is said to have had on "the sale of the novel 'Lorna Doone,'" published in the previous year.

Discovered River

Newfoundland, discovered by the Cabots in 1498, was already well known and frequented by French fishermen when Jacques Cartier headed there, early in the sixteenth century. He arrived early in the spring after trouble with icebergs. Sailing on, he mistook Magdalen and Prince Edward islands for the main coast and so traveled north, exploring every harbor and bay.

A mirage led Cartier to believe that one large river mouth to which he came was a bay and he wasted much time trying to map this supposed harbor.

Cartier made friends with some Huron-Iroquois Indians and kidnapped two to take back to France. These Indians told him he was in the "kingdom of Canada," though "Canada" was their word for "village."

The next year Cartier did his bit for history by discovering and naming the St. Lawrence bay and St. Lawrence river. He went up the river as far as the present city of Montreal.

New Element Created

The University of California's 250-ton cyclotron has "created" a new element—number 93—and may enable scientists to discover still another, it was announced today.

Dr. Edwin M. McMillan of the University of California and Dr. Philip Hauge Abelson of the Carnegie Institute, co-workers with Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence who built the atom smasher, "created" the new element by bombarding a minute bit of uranium with neutrons in the powerful magnetic field of the machine. The new element is the heaviest known.

Actually, the new element was created by the re-arrangement of uranium's atomic structure, since the cyclotron can build up, as well as tear down, atoms. The scientists said they had not determined the properties of the element.

All's Fairway in Bermuda

A golfer could cover quite a bit of ground in Bermuda without once setting foot off a fairway or green. Bermuda has no less than seven courses or enough to keep many a club swinger occupied every day in the week without retracing his steps.

Cookouts and overnight canoe trips continue in popularity as the season progresses to the final days of camp life. On Tuesday evening a so-called "steak bat" was the cookout feature. Under the direction of the counselors the boys prepared their fires and then the steaks and potatoes were cooked over the low-smoldering fires. No cookout would be complete without the accompaniment of rain, and the boys were not surprised to hear the rumble of thunder and then a downpour of rain. But shelter was close at hand, and the boys finished their meal under tent and buildings of the camp.

During the week two additional tents went on a canoe trip that was designed to show them the land beyond Lake Quabog, and furnish the boys with an idea of "sleeping-out." Tuesday night tents ten and one under their respective leaders, Everett Bauman and Sid Roberts, paddled ten miles to Lake Wickabog, camped on its shores for the night. The boys who made this trip were: George Roope, John Cortell, Curtis Fisher, Tex Chartier, Phil Johnson, Arthur Kolasi and Francis Beale, Bob Strandberg, Charles Mergendahl, Rodney Fisher, Walter Simon and Delwyn Smith.

Wednesday night movies are the center of the Camp life on that night, and they seem to be the center of the social life of the Lake community judging by the large number of guests. The trend of shows indicates that the boys still like their shows with plenty of shooting and horseriding, whether it be fictional cowboy picture or historical novel-style.

Red Cross Life-Saving Classes

The first returns on the examinations given the campers and counselors who have been practicing in classes since the first of July for their Senior and Junior Red Cross certificates were announced on Wednesday. Mr. V. A. Anderson of the Newton Y. M. C. A. gave the examinations to a class of sixteen, and twelve class members were fortunate in passing the rigorous tests. These award winners will be the recipients of emblems at a chapel on Sunday next.

Junior Red Cross emblem winners were: Thomas Coleman of Wellesley, Albert Feldman of Brookline, Paul Larkin of Newton Highlands, Jack Magee of Newton and Trafford Malton of Newton.

A new class of sixteen boys was started on Tuesday of this week and additional boys enrolled on Wednesday bringing the total to twenty-five. Classes will be conducted daily in the afternoon for the next two weeks, and again examinations will be given by Mr. Anderson. Awards will be made to the successful boys at the Newton Y. M. C. A. in the early Fall season.

Track Meet Held on Last Saturday

The Track Committee, composed of George Alcott, Algy Shapalis, Stan Thompson and John Andrews, conducted the second of the three track meets on last Saturday in which good performances were made by individual members of the league teams. The Tigers in the Senior League made a runaway race of it over the Indians and the Rex Sox, leading the former by a score of 39 points to 19 to 12. Ross Humphrey scored individual honors by capturing two firsts.

Summary—Senior Division:

50-yard dash—1, Jack Callahan; 2, Bob Mellor; 3, Billy Hansen.

150-yard dash—1, Bob Mellor; 2, John Cortell; 3, Jack Callahan.

One-quarter mile—1, Humphrey; 2, Billy Hansen; 3, George Schweitzer.

One-half mile—1, G. Tibolt; 2, Jack Magee; 3, Traf Malton.

High jump—1, John Cortell; 2, Bob Mellor; 3, Ted Simpson.

Harvey of Tent 9 in the Junior division was the high-scoring boy of that division with two firsts; one in the 150-yard dash and the other in the quarter-mile run. Bellefontaine tied Harvey in the late events for high-scoring by capturing the 600-yard run and the broad jump.

Events to Come

Tomorrow afternoon on the Waterfront the second swim meet of the season will be held with Novelty swimming exhibitions by a picked group of campers following its completion. The final swim meet of the season as a result of which prizes are awarded at the Final Banquet will be held on Saturday, Aug. 24. The final Canoe Regatta in the form of an exhibition will be conducted on Sunday, Aug. 18. The Final Track meet will be held on the Saturday preceding the regatta, Aug. 17.

Treasure Hunt and Minstrel Show will be the features of Wednesday, August 21st and Saturday night, August 24th. The climax of the season is the Final Banquet which this year will be held on Monday, August 26th, according to present plans.

Argentina is, despite its modern appearance and fine capital, still far from a completely explored country. The discovery of a previously unknown lake more than 125 miles long in Chaco territory of northern Argentina has just been announced.

Newtonville Youth Arrested After Wild Drive in Car

Frederick E. Hertel, Jr., 21, of 77 Greylock rd., Newtonville, was arrested at 12:45 a. m. Wednesday after he had aroused the neighborhood in the vicinity of Kirkstall, Upland and Pheasant rds., Newtonville, by alleged drunken and wild driving of an automobile. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday on charges of drunkenness and driving a car while under the influence of liquor. His case was continued until August 15 by Judge Murray. A complaint of driving to endanger will also be charged against Hertel.

According to complaints received at police headquarters the car allegedly driven by young Hertel was operated at least twice around the Kirkstall-Upland rd. loop. According to the complaints Hertel first hit a car owned by George Whitehead of 15 Otis st., Newtonville, which was parked opposite 148 Kirkstall rd. Then the car driven by the youth hit a tree on Upland rd. Next it hit a car owned by Frank Sharpe of 191 Upland rd. and parked opposite that address. Also during his tour Hertel's car is alleged to have grazed two trees near 164 Kirkstall rd. and knocked over several rubbish barrels.

Fine After Fine For Speeder Joyce

Francis E. Joyce, 25, of 219 Commonwealth ave., Chestnut Hill, was arraigned in the Newton court last Friday on a charge of driving an automobile after his license had been suspended. Patrolman McCormick was the complainant. Joyce contended that he had not received the notice of suspension and Judge Delay ordered that an investigation be made of the matter and continued this case until December 21. Another charge against Joyce was that he had failed to pay a $50 fine levied on him for a speeding conviction within a year. Judge Delay ordered Joyce committed to jail for the non-payment of this fine, but the defendant managed to obtain the money before he was sent to prison.

Joyce will have to raise another $50 on or before August 15 to pay a fine for a fourth speeding conviction. Incidentally, the Registry of Motor Vehicles has ordered the surrender of the registration plates issued to him.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS FOR THE WEST NEWTON UNITY CLUB

The election of officers for the West Newton Unity Club was held Monday evening at the Vestry of the Myrtle Church. Mr. Harry Gray, retiring president, declined the nomination for the presidency of a third term having held the office since the forming of the club.

Miss Bessie Hopkins, vice-president, was nominated and elected to the office of President, Mr. Edward Hutton, vice-president, Mrs. Gladys Moore, secretary, Mr. Ernest Houston, assistant secretary and Mrs. Isabelle Hutton, treasurer.

Installation will be held on Monday, Sept. 9, at which time Rev. Ford, pastor of Myrtle Church, will officiate.

Burglaries In The Newtons

An attempt to burglarize the home of Edward Miller at 250 Ward st., Newton Centre, was reported to the police last Friday. Marks on a rear door showed that someone had tried to force it open.

The Boston Herald office on Centre ave., Newton, was broken into on Monday night. A rear door was forced open and then the burglar broke open the door of a closet but found no money there. The break was apparently made by someone with knowledge of the premises.

The filing station of George McNair at 732 Beacon st., Newton Centre, was entered on Sunday night. A pin-ball machine was broken open and about $20 in cash stolen. A window was broken to obtain entrance. Several burglaries were discovered over the week-end. Four houses where the occupants had been away at summer homes were entered. At the home of Hyman Shapiro, 56 Cotton st., Newton, two watches, a fountain pen and $8.50 in cash was stolen. A rear window was broken to gain entrance. At the homes of George Mahoney, 4 Cotton st., Newton; and Leo Freedman, 17 Sunset rd., Newton, rear windows were also broken; and at the home of Ruth Mann, 47 Clements rd., Newton, a bulkhead was forced open. The families at these three houses were away.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mathers of 39 Varick rd., Waban, left their home at 7:30 Monday night to try out a new automobile. When they returned an hour later they found the house had been entered and jewelry valued at several hundreds of dollars had been stolen. They reported to the police. A pocketbook containing $5 was also taken.

Another burglary occurred on Cotton st. on Wednesday night when some thief entered the home of Morris Feldberg at 116 Cotton st. while Mrs. Feldberg and her two daughters were playing with a newly purchased cocker spaniel in the kitchen of their home. Mrs. Feldberg and her daughters arrived home about 11 that night with the dog, placed their pocketbooks on a table in the front hall and left the front door open while they were in the kitchen. About a half hour later they closed the front door, but did not notice that their pocketbooks had been taken until the next morning. About $25 was in the pocketbooks.

Three burglaries were discovered in the Cotton street neighborhood over the week-end, apparently the work of boys. The robbery at the Feldberg house seems to indicate that someone familiar with the neighborhood is responsible.

The fifth burglary in the Cotton st., Newton section, was discovered on Wednesday. The home of Charles Weinreb at 61 Clements rd. was found to have been entered and ransacked. As the family is away the extent of the loot is not known. Two windows and two screen doors were broken by the burglars.

A burglary was discovered on Wednesday at the home of George Sampson, 83 Pembroke st., Newton. The family had been away since August 2. The break was probably made by boys. A box of old coins and a bicycle headlight were stolen.

City Employees Ordered Laid Off By Civil Service

As a result of a complaint to the Civil Service Commission the Newton Street Department has been ordered to cease employing in laboring work Frank Brocklesby and Anthony Leone. These two men were put to work as pipe layers and caulkers for which they were specially certified. Later they were assigned to other duties. A few weeks ago 32 temporary employees of the Street Department, mostly in the sewer and forestry divisions, were laid off. Some of these men had the status of veterans. A complaint was made to the Civil Service Commission and the ruling was then received from Director Lupien of the Civil Service that city employees, certified for one class of work, cannot be transferred to other work.

Newton Man Appointed To Accounting Position

Mr. Herbert E. Tucker, President of the Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants, announced the appointment of Paul F. Swantee of 16 Winnetaska rd. as Associate Director of the Boston Chapter for the ensuing year.

Mr. Swantee is resident manager of the Boston Office of Arthur Andersen & Co. He is a graduate of Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, class of 1920; he studied two years at Northeastern Law School. He commenced his public accounting career with Storer and Bishop in 1920, and later joined the staff of Price, Waterhouse & Co. in Boston. Mr. Swantee has been with the firm of Arthur Andersen & Co. since 1925 with the exception of two years from 1930 to 1932, when he was treasurer of National Union Radio Corp. in New York. Prior to coming to Boston in July, 1939, he was resident manager of the Kansas City Office of Arthur Andersen & Co.

The N. A. C. A. is an organization devoted to the study of the problems of industrial accounting and of related phases of business management and comprises 55 chapters located in the United States and Honolulu with an enrollment of approximately 9000 members. Membership is open to any person interested in industrial accounting.

Newton Persons Aiding Plans For Refugee Children

Homes and sponsors for British Refugee children are needed at once! Will you not open your homes and purses to these little children who stand, visa in hand, awaiting an invitation from their American foster parents.

Out of a quota of 500 children, 205 are now assured a home (16 of them in Newton) and will sail during August, but the remaining 295 must be quickly placed.

Your help is urgently needed to:

1. Provide and finance a home for one or more British children.
2. Provide a home with outside financial aid.
3. Finance a child in another Newton home.
4. Contribute any amount to a fund for financial aid.

A list is also being compiled of people who are not able to help in any of the above ways, but who could help with sewing or mending, with entertaining the children, by contributing clothing, or by "sitting in" so that the foster parents can go out occasionally.

To secure money and homes and to compile a list of people who are anxious to help, a very active group of public spirited citizens in Newton are working in conjunction with the Boston Evening Transcript and the Harvard committee for the care of European children. Bridge-Carter Nuptials In White Mountains Aug. 31st

Jefferson, N. H., looking east toward the lofty Presidential peaks, will be the setting for the afternoon wedding of Miss Sylvia Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert L. Carter of Newtonville, on Saturday, August 31. In the little Church of the Holy Trinity, Miss Carter will become the bride of Mr. Robert Ware Bridge-Carter, son of Prof. and Mrs. Percy W. Bridge-Carter of Cambridge and Randolph, N. H.

Following the 3:30 p. m. ceremony, a reception will be held at the charming summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Carter in Jefferson Highlands. Mrs. William Rupert MacLaurin of Cambridge, sister of the bride, will be matron of honor, and Miss Jane Bridge-Carter, sister of the groom, maid of honor. Miss Carter's bridesmaids will be Miss Katherine Hall of Pasadena, California, a cousin of the bride; Mrs. John W. Nicholson, 3d, of Nantuxet, Pennsylvania; Miss Harriet Brigham of Chestnut Hill; Miss Ellen Rhodes of Brookline; and Miss Sallie Cochran Adams and Miss Jessie Ames Hershall of Jamaica Plain, both of whom are engaged. Miss Adams to Mr. Charles Lawrence of Brookline, and Miss Hershall to Mr. Ben Ames Williams, Jr. of Chestnut Hill. Five-year-old Anna Shaw Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Carter, 2d of Groton, and niece of Miss Carter, will be the flower girl.

Mr. Bridge-Carter's best man will be Mr. Adams Carter, brother of Miss Carter. Ushers for the wedding include Mr. Oliver Kenyon Brooks, son of Van Wyck Brooks of Westport, Connecticut; Mr. James R. Carter, 2d of Groton; Mr. Edward Allen Drew of Flushing, Long Island; Mr. Robert C. Holcombe and Mr. William Rupert MacLaurin of Cambridge; Mr. Richard Colin MacLaurin of Boston; Mr. George H. Wolfson of White Plains, N. Y., and Mr. David Emerson of Concord. Mr. Emerson will be married to Miss Mary Cochran on the following Saturday, September 7.

Miss Carter's engagement was announced at a tea at her home in Newtonville on May 11. A member of the Junior League, she made her debut in 1936, following her graduation from the Winsor School in 1935. She has studied at the Stuart School; in Munich, Germany, and at the Middlebury Summer School. In June she received her degree from Vassar College.

Mr. Bridge-Carter is a graduate of Harvard University, class of 1937, and prepared at the Loomis School. Following a wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Sparta, New Jersey.

Solder Stolen From Telephone Co. Trailers

Sixty pounds of solder valued at about $18 were stolen from two small trailers owned by the New England Telephone Company over the week-end. One of the trailers was parked at the corner of Tremont and Park sts., Newton, and the other on Walnut st., Newtonville, near the high school. The thieves forced the trailers open to steal the solder.

San Marino, situated in the Apennines in Italy, claims to be the oldest state in Europe. It was founded in the Fourth century.

Light From Man's Face Turned Into Electricity

One form of electron tube does for the eye what the telephone does for the ear. That phototube, as it is called, can take the light reflected from a man's face, change it into a current of electricity, send the current over a wire or through space, and change it back again into an image of a face.

Suppose the image were that of a germ, and that it were magnified millions of times. Wouldn't that give us the most powerful of microscopes? Dr. Vladimir K. Zworykin, the scientist who gave us television as we know it today, thinks so, and has built an experimental instrument which, when it is perfected, will enable science to penetrate still more deeply into the unknown of the infinitely small.

The potentialities of such an invention surpass prediction. For example, there are about 20 diseases caused by viruses—among them infantile paralysis, smallpox, chickenpox, the common cold, typhus, rabies, measles, mumps and encephalitis (the so-called sleeping sickness). What are these viruses? No body knows. If they are germ; that lie beyond the microscope, as some believe, the electron microscope should reveal them.

When the electron microscope is perfected—a matter of 10 years or so—prepare yourself for another Pasteur. In some university laboratory, in some hospital, he may be already at work, a youngster of 25, doing the best that he can with such magnifying lenses as the most skillful experts can produce. What a bound medicine will make when he studies the ultramicroscopic with electron tubes!

Parent-Youth Conflict

Due to Rapid Changes

Conflicts between parents and their children are an inevitable product of the rapid changes through which civilization is now passing, says Dr. Kingsley Davis, associate professor of sociology at the Pennsylvania State college. "In primitive society, there is little or no change of standards from one generation to another," he pointed out by way of contrast. "Hence there is rarely any parent-youth conflict."

One of the biggest sources of family conflict today is that youth is still gaining full powers at a time of technological change while parents are losing theirs and need security, said Dr. Davis. "Most societies assign different and complementary duties to each. Among us, however, there is inter-age competition since most positions are theoretically based on accomplishment rather than age. Arrogance and frustration appear in the young; fear and envy in the old."

In a general way, he added, larger families have a better chance of escaping conflict than small families, whose attachments are closer.

Fireproof Cotton

Fireproof cotton—that is what the department of agriculture promises, after experimenting with a burning match and an acetylene torch on a pile of cotton.

The burning match left a smudge but didn't burn the cotton and the torch burnt a hole through the cotton, but the cotton around the hole didn't even smudge.

W. J. Heenan, an inspector of the department, declared after the experiment in Charlotte, N. C., that in his opinion it was the greatest thing that has happened to the cotton industry.

He pointed out that the possibilities of fireproof cotton was unlimited. He said that the government has allotted 500,000 pounds of this cotton to a Charlotte manufacturing company.

Silence Is Life

Silence is not only golden, but is life itself to certain types of cicadas, or locusts, according to an article in the American Museum's magazine, Natural History, which describes the technique of the cicada-killer's annual "blitzkrieg" which begins in June.

This cicada-killer, a type of wasp, locates her prey by their singing, which is an unfortunate talent possessed only by the male cicada. Having located her prey, the wasp does not kill, but only paralyzes her victim by an injection of poison. The living but helpless cicada is then flown by the wasp to her underground brood chamber, and stored away as a future food supply for her young.

Cards for Room Numbers

The manager of the new Government Railway Tourist hotel at El Portillo in the Andes, not far from the city of Valparaiso, found himself with exactly 53 rooms for guests. Instead of numbering these rooms from 1 to 53, he has had an artist paint a large playing card on each door.

The manager claims that guests sometimes forget whether they belong in room 23 or 32, but nobody could possibly, even in the dark, mix up the three of hearts with the deuce of clubs. The rooms designated by the queens of all four suits are reserved for ladies, while the joker is found on the door of a large room used only when they have a full house. This large room is fitted with 16 bunks.

ter and then washed in water containing an effective cleansing agent. The temperature of this water should be maintained at not less than 140°F. After washing the utensils should be sterilized by one of the following methods:

- "1. Spraying or immersion in clean water of not less than 200°F. for a period of not less than 30 seconds.
- "2. Spraying or immersion in clean water of not less than 170°F. for a period of not less than 1 minute.
- "3. Exposure to live steam in an enclosed compartment for a period of not less than 5 minutes.

Ban Use of Towels

"The utensils should then be placed on a clean rack and allowed to drain. The use of towels for drying is not recommended as recontamination is likely to occur. The racks should be of such construction and placed in such a position that the utensils will not be recontaminated.

"Where hot water is not available, the following method is approved although it cannot be considered as satisfactory as any one of the three methods mentioned above:

"Immersion for a period of not less than 10 minutes in a solution of calcium or sodium hypochlorite which has been made up to a strength of 100 parts per million and which shall not be used after its strength has been reduced below 50 parts per million. Utensils should then be rinsed in clean water and allowed to drain as recommended above. Unless hot water is used for rinsing and sterilization this method will probably result in wet utensils, a condition which is not entirely satisfactory.

"While it is difficult to evaluate the extent to which improperly cleaned and sterilized utensils may transmit disease, it is very certain that clean sterile utensils do not.

Some years ago rules were issued to drug stores, beer places and restaurants in Newton relative to proper washing of drinking glasses, but these rules have not been followed. It has been conspicuously evident to patrons of these places that few of them properly disinfected glasses or cleaned them by washing in hot water and then rinsing the glasses, or even washing in water of sufficient temperature to kill germs or bacteria.

War Cost

The estimated money cost of the World war to the United States government to June 30, 1934, was $41,765,000,000, as shown by the annual report of the secretary of the treasury for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934. This does not include the cost of veterans' bonuses and other items which have developed as a result of the war.

Republican voters throughout the state will have an opportunity on September 17th to nominate an able candidate for the office of attorney-general. The primary contest for this G. O. P. nomination is a wide open race among able candidates and respected members of the bar. No one can predict which of the seven candidates in the field will be the choice of the electorate—each has strong support, not only in their respective sections of the state where they reside or practice their profession, but also in other parts of the state as well.

For the purposes of this article, and in an effort to present a non-partisan view we will take up the seven candidates in the alphabetical order in which their names will appear on the ballot.

The first name to catch the Republican voter on September 17th as he comes down to mark his choice for attorney general will be that of Clarence R. Barnes of Mansfield. Barnes will be remembered as the Republican nominee for the same office in 1938. In a three cornered contest Barnes won the nomination two years ago by a little more than 31,000 votes over Howe Coolidge Amee of Cambridge and a nearly two to one ratio over Frank Walters of Boston. Barnes vote for the nomination totalled 149,000 votes in the primary.

In the state election of 1938 Barnes was defeated by the present attorney general, Paul A. Dever, by approximately 150,000 votes in which election the Democratic incumbent led his ticket with over 900,000 votes. In that campaign Barnes entirely ignored his Democratic opponent and concentrated his efforts in helping the state ticket turn back the threat of the return of James M. Curley to the governorship. Barnes made many fiery and unanswerable attacks upon the former Chief Executive of the years 1935 and 1936 and unquestionably played a big part in assisting the ticket in general. Whether he weakened his own chances for upsetting Dever or whether Dever would have defeated Barnes had the latter concentrated the same vigor in his own behalf will always remain problematical. But in any event Barnes' gallant fight two years ago is still fresh in the minds of many voters who feel that he is entitled to a real chance in the attorney general's office with the decision of Dever to run for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Second among the seven candidates is Robert T. Bushnell of Newton. "Fighting Bob" he is sometimes called by his intimates—not because of any proclivity to mix things up just for the pleasure of resultant burns and smell of powder but for his ability to battle through the job at hand, pleasant or unpleasant, as it may be. This determination to accomplish efficient results was obvious during Bushnell's term as District Attorney of the so-called Northern district, or Middlesex County. The Bushnell regime was followed by that of the late Warren L. Bishop. Suffice it to say that Middlesex County has made rapid id strides towards the restoration of a high grade law enforcement policy similar to the Bushnell administration, in the last two years under the present District Attorney, Robert E. Bradford. Bushnell is also a former president of the Mass. Republican Club and has been active in G. O. P. politics for many years.

Newton people are particularly interested in the Bushnell campaign. It is only natural that Newton and other cities and towns in Middlesex County will lend every effort to the nomination of Bushnell. He has also received numerous endorsements from selectmen and other leading residents of many cities and towns in other counties of the state. Among numerous campaign arguments Bushnell, who makes an impressive speech over the air and on the platform is vigorously protesting the trend towards the surrender of the function of town government to state and federal forces. Centralization of government, such as has taken place in Europe, must not be permitted to grow here, Bushnell warns, if we are to preserve "home rule" as a bulwark against bureaucracy. Local governments are important, their strength must be built up.

In considering the primary political picture in the contest for the nomination as attorney general Bushnell cannot be counted out. He will run very strong in Middlesex county which, incidentally, casts a larger vote than any other two counties in the state together. The question is whether or not Bushnell can hold the lead he will pile up in his own county against the strong support of other leading candidates.

The third name on the ballot will be that of William C. Crossley of Wellesley, present district attorney of Norfolk-Plymouth district, known as the southeastern district, and an able law enforcement officer. Dewing has served several terms and has been re-elected to office by substantial pluralities, although in all fairness it should be said that his record has been of such calibre that no worthy opponent has recently attempted to defeat him. Dewing was in office during the Millen-Faber trials as well as in other cases of importance. Like Barnes and Bushnell, the Norfolk county official has many friends and supporters throughout the state, as well as in his home county, who will be with him until the last votes are counted.

Next on the ballot comes the name of William C. Crossley of Fall River. Crossley, like Dewing, has served several terms as District Attorney and is the present incumbent of that office in the southern district which comprises Bristol, Barnstable, Dukes, and Nantucket counties, including the entire Cape and island area. Comparatively speaking Crossley is to his district as Dewing is to Norfolk and Plymouth counties, a well informed, highly regarded and efficient law enforcement officer who has been returned to office by the voters who have looked favorably upon his acts as an official. Here again the candidate for the nomination for attorney general will start with a good build-up in his own county and his success will depend upon his ability to cut down the home-county lead his opponents each will receive.

Next on the list comes Michael A. Fredo of Arlington. Less prominent in law and political circles than the four others already named his strength as a state-wide vote-getter must remain in doubt. Another candidate, last on the ballot and in seventh place is Samuel A. Sampson of Winchester, another newcomer to political contests. Yet such candidacies cannot be discounted when it is taken into consideration that two years ago in the contest for the Republican nomination, which was won by Barnes, a newcomer and comparative unknown polled 80,000 votes. Thus it is quite possible that either of these two candidates, although they are fairly well down in the list, may surprise by (Continued on page 2)

As Adopted by the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce

BE IT RESOLVED by the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce that our position with reference to the present significant problems of national defense be stated as follows:

I. We believe in the preservation of the democratic form of government which assures to our citizens the liberties and freedom guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States. We believe that the latent dynamics of a Democracy, once aroused, are more powerful than the driven dynamics of dictatorships. To obtain that end, we realize that the young men of America have a special responsibility. Hence we pledge our efforts to ally hysteria and not to forget the need for the solution of important domestic problems which continue to be vital to our democratic form of life and to assist in welding together our people through mutual confidence and trust, recognizing that to achieve this end we must reduce unemployment, preserve industrial peace and the rights of labor, assure the fair treatment that encourages capital investment, assure fair treatment for agriculture and discourage unfair advantage wherever shown.

II. We consider that the most important problem of the day is the immediate establishment of an adequate national defense.

III. We believe that the following are necessary elements of an adequate national defense:

A. A clear definition of the necessary geographical area of defense. As a minimum, such an area must include the United States and its possessions in the Western Hemisphere.

B. Immediate organization of all resources, including industry and manpower, which includes:

1. Compulsory military training.

2. Training of individuals in skills and techniques necessary to the rapid and efficient production of materials and equipment required for defense.

3. Administrative coordination of all agencies involved directly or indirectly in the defense program; appointment by the President of one person charged with this administrative responsibility; and elimination of delays and unnecessary procedural technicalities.

4. Elimination of excessive profits to industry, agriculture and labor by reason of production incident to the defense program.

5. Development of our own resources with a view to national self-sufficiency through an immediate program of extensive research as to latent resources, chemical substances, mechanical devices and synthetic products.

C. Recognition and willingness to bear the increased costs of such a defense program. Insofar as possible these costs must be paid currently out of tax revenues. As young men, we will assume our share of this burden.

D. Loyalty to the United States of America. We declare our belief in the loyalty of the great majority of our citizens. However, adequate steps must immediately be taken to eliminate all acts of disloyalty to our democratic form of government. This involves, among other steps, strict enforcement of the immigration laws and mandatory registration of all aliens.

E. Elimination of the use of the cloak of diplomatic privilege as a device to conceal unfriendly propaganda and subversive activity.

F. Public knowledge of all pertinent facts relative to problems of national defense and our relationship to foreign conflicts. We insist that our governmental leaders are under an obligation to keep us promptly and fully informed on these matters. We recognize the reciprocal obligation on the part of every citizen to keep himself fully informed.

G. Also, as an element of defense the step may be justified of making available for purchase supplies and equipment to those nations important to our plan of national defense, provided that the requirements of our own defense shall in no event be prejudiced by such sale.

IV. We oppose sending an armed (Continued on page 8)

Burglaries In Homes Which Are Unoccupied

Shortly after midnight, early Tuesday morning, Patrolman George O'Neill caught four boys at Nonantum as they attempted to hide loot they had stolen shortly before at the clubhouse at the grounds of the Alhambra Golf Club. O'Neill observed the boys approaching, and as they saw him, they hastened toward a small park on Watertown st. and threw something into bushes there. O'Neill questioned them and they admitted having made the break at the golf club. The loot included $44.86 in cash, 247 golf balls, and cigarettes. After leaving the clubhouse the quartette went to a nearby dump and divided the loot, and then started toward their homes, when O'Neill intercepted them. The boys reside on Adams and Hawthorn sts. Three are 15 years of age and the other is 14. They admitted to the police having been involved in other burglaries which netted a small amount of loot, and in having stolen from parked automobiles. They will be arraigned in the juvenile session of the Newton court today.

They entered the clubhouse by breaking a cellar window, and then forcing open a trap door.

Another burglary occurred last Friday night at the luncheon in the mill building at 459 Watertown st., Newtonville, occupied by the United Carr Fastener Company. Several cartons of cigarettes, a small quantity of cigars and $128 in cash were stolen.

Lawyers Support Robert T. Bushnell

Richard Braybrook Walsh of Lowell, U. S. Commissioner and a member of the lawyers' committee sponsoring former District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell of Middlesex County for the Republican nomination for Attorney General, today announced that hundreds of lawyers throughout the State have joined the thousands of endorsers of Mr. Bushnell's candidacy.

Since a committee of prominent lawyers and bar association officials two weeks ago invited all members of the legal profession to join in support of the Bushnell drive, "the hearty response from the lawyers all over the State has been gratifying to the original committee of forty," he said.

The hundreds of lawyers added to the Bushnell Committee augment the original committee which consisted of leaders of the Massachusetts Bar, past and present officers of the various bar associations, district attorneys, and members of many of the oldest and most famous law firms in the State.

Mr. Walsh said that the original lawyers' committee consisted of 40 prominent attorneys, "the nucleus around which a committee of many hundreds of lawyers have established a group of civic leaders recognized to work for the nomination and election of Robert T. Bushnell as Attorney General."

43 Licensed Air Pilots in Newton

Announcing the result of a survey of Bay State pilots as part of the Commonwealth's preparedness canvass, State Aeronautics Director Crocker Snow today disclosed that there are 43 licensed flyers in Newton and a total of 719 in the Greater Boston area.

The survey was made by Director Snow to determine the number of civil aviators in Massachusetts who might be called on to bolster the country's air defense as combat or transport flyers or as aerial couriers in time of national emergency.

It revealed that there are 2121 pilots in the state, including students who have reached the solo stage, but not including an estimated 1200 additional students who still are taking dual instruction.

Although many of the pilots listed would not be qualified for actual combat flying because of age or other considerations, Director Snow points out that the vast majority of them could be used to ferry planes, fly officers and staff members, pilot freight carrying machines or as aerial messengers or observers.

The pilot distribution survey also will be considered in making plans for future airport development in the state.

Boston reported the largest number of flyers, 281, with Worcester and Springfield next in order.

Don't Advertise That Your Home Is Unoccupied

Advice to Householders To Prevent Burglaries

Whether you are planning to "lock up the house" and leave on your annual vacation or merely plan to be away for the evening, it isn't a good idea to advertise the fact.

A recent study involving burglaries reported in 47 principal American cities reveals that "family away for the evening" is the leading factor in making residence burglaries possible. Other factors which give the burglar his best opportunities are "family away overnight," and "family away on vacation."

The survey further shows that more burglaries, on the average, are committed between 8 p. m. and midnight than at any other time of day. During this period, more burglaries were reported as occurring around 9 P. M. than at any other specific hour, although nearly as many occurred at 8 P. M. and at 10 P. M., and a lesser number were reported from 11 P. M. until midnight.

Burglaries in cities and towns in the west seem to occur on the average at a slightly earlier hour, however. San Francisco, for example, reports more burglaries between 2 and 5 P. M., while Honolulu, Los Angeles, and other western centers report the majority as occurring between 6 and 8 P. M.

One fact borne out by reports received from the various cities, is that regardless of the time of the robbery, burglars make it their business to learn beforehand when their intended victim is likely to be away from home and the property left unguarded.

Following are the best samples of "Burglar Wanted" advertising:

1. House having the general appearance of abandonment, lawn uncut, etc. The burglar reads the signs and concludes that the family is away for the summer, or on vacation.

2. Mailbox stuffed with mail, a collection of newspapers on the veranda, or several bottles of milk on the doorstep fairly screech their message that the family has departed for several days. It is important to have all such deliveries stopped, even if the family plans to be gone less than a week.

3. Leaving the house dark and the shades up when the family is out for the evening is an invitation for the burglar to tarry and plunder. Whether you plan to go to the movies, to the Joneses for bridge, or merely out for a short ride, it is wise "extravagance" to leave at least one light burning. Burglars do not like to take a chance on entering a home where there is light showing.

Precautions should always be taken to see that every window and door is locked, including basement windows, and coal-chute or dumbwaiter doors. While locks do not ordinarily discourage the burglar who knows his business, at least they delay him in his work, and prove a good bulwark against the efforts of "amateur" vandals.

Last but not least, always notify the Police Department when you plan an absence that will leave your property unguarded.

Riley Appeals In Pension Case

Last Friday, Attorney Thomas Ryan filed an appeal from the decision of Judge William Murray of Milford, who had ruled for the City of Newton the previous day in the suit entered by Riley to recover money deducted from his salary as a policeman for a contributory pension. Mr. Ryan says he will carry the case to the Supreme Court, if necessary. Riley resigned from the police force in 1920 and was reinstated in 1935. Since then he received his regular salary as a policeman until March of this year, when deductions of $1.68 each week for the pension fund were made from it, and the demand also made for retroactive payments. When Riley resigned from the police department, policemen were under a non-contributory pension system. In 1928 the contributory pension plan was adopted, and all policemen since appointed have been subject to it. Riley contends that a State statute gave him prior rights when he was reinstated to the department. Attorney Ryan in his suit against the city brought out that Chief of Police Hughes wrote a letter to City Solicitor Bartlett after Riley had been reinstated, inquiring about the latter's pension status, and the letter was not answered. Riley then was placed under his former pension status until March of this year.

Arrested For Theft Of Friend's Watch

Wendell Meredith, 19, of Robinhood st., Auburndale, was arrested on Tuesday by Inspector Lyons on the charge of having stolen a watch owned by Mrs. Marie Holmes of Prospect st., West Newton. It is alleged that he pawned the $45 watch in Boston for $3. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday and his case was continued until today. Meredith was recently in the Newton and Waltham courts on charges of passing worthless checks.

Reorganization in Staff at Supt. of Schools Office

A reorganization of the Superintendent's Office will go into effect as of September 1 when Arthur Swanson will assume full responsibility as Superintendent of School Buildings and Supervising Engineer. Mr. Swanson has worked as supervising engineer in the School Department since March, 1929, under the direction of the late George Kellar, Assistant to the Superintendent and Secretary of the School Committee.

Harold Gores, who has served for the past year as Acting Administrative Assistant during the leave of absence of C. Elwood Drake from his position as Director of Research and Guidance, has been appointed as permanent Administrative Assistant and Secretary of the School Committee. Mr. Gores will continue the general direction of the Division of Research and Guidance and will in addition take over the general business management of the School Department under the direction of the Superintendent of Schools. In the guidance and testing field, Mr. Gores will be assisted by Mrs. Frances Forgie who has served as teacher of handicapped children in Newton since December 1, 1930. Mrs. Forgie will continue to organize and direct the home instruction work in addition to her new work in the Guidance Department.

C. Elwood Drake, who has been on leave of absence for the past school year studying for the doctorate in secondary education at Teachers College, Columbia University, has been appointed as Assistant Principal of the Newton High School under the direction of Raymond Green, newly elected Principal of the High School. Mr. Gores has been studying further in the field of school business management at Columbia University this summer, and Mrs. Forgie has been a member of the Workshop in Child Development at Vassar College.

Truck Driver Gave Police False Name

Lawrence Neskey of Riverside ave., Medford, was arraigned in the Newton court last Friday on charges of speeding and driving without a license. He was an innocent victim and was found not guilty. On July 19 Inspector Hammell stopped a big trailer truck for speeding on Watertown st., West Newton. The driver had no license, but identified himself as Neskey and gave Neskey's address. After the latter had proved to the satisfaction of Hammell and Judge Nagle that he was not the driver of the big vehicle stopped by the traffic officer, Hammell did some investigating and learned that the driver of the truck was actually John Bernat of Ship ave., Medford. He also learned that Bernat's license had expired before July 19 and was not renewed until August 2. The honorable Mr. Bernat at present is serving with the 28th Division in New York State. When he returns he will be served with a summons to appear in Newton court on charges of speeding, driving without a license, and giving a false name and address to a policeman.

Charged With Forging Checks

Michael Sheridan, 26, of Jackson rd., Newton, was arraigned in the Newton court on Tuesday on charges of passing two forged checks at Newtonville stores. He pleaded not guilty and Judge Weston continued the case until August 26. According to the police, the defendant stated he had cashed the checks because he was unemployed and needed money. He has no previous court record.

A WORTHY EXAMPLE

The donation of a resuscitator to the Newton Hospital by the Newton Post of the American Legion is setting an example which is worthy of duplication, not only by other organizations but by individuals as well. It is not always the gift or the donation that is the paramount importance of such an act, but it is the recognition of a high sense of responsibility of the public welfare. In accepting the gift of the veterans' organization President Richardson of the Newton Hospital pointed out this in similar words. He added "service to others and to the state should come before gratification of personal desires and privileges" . . . a spirit which must be increasingly manifested throughout the land if democracy is to survive. We repeat these views in the hope that others in Newton may at every opportunity give thought to the needs of others who are less fortunately situated than themselves.

CARNIVALS ON PLAYGROUNDS

As we understand the situation in regard to the granting of permits for carnivals upon Newton playgrounds the responsibility is not altogether a matter of the rights granted under a license. It is more a question of the terms under which that license is handled by other parties who are granted concessions by the organization to whom the permit is issued. It is most desirable that steps be taken to curb some of the tendencies which have been in vogue at these carnivals recently because such tendencies not only are objectionable to residents of the vicinity, but undesirable, illegal, and detrimental to the community as a whole. We trust that the new measures to be taken in this regard will prove effective in cleaning up a situation that might easily have gotten out of control.

Letters To The Editor

EXTEND ROUTE 128

To the Editor of the Graphic:

We have spoken about the need for the extension of Route 128 from the Boylston Street Turnpike in Wellesley near Newton Upper Falls to avoid passing through the congested section of Newton Highlands, Newtonville, past all the stores, churches and schools as well as many homes that are of the finest residential type. This traffic is ever increasing and probably will if the military emergency preparations continue. It looks now as if it would without much let up for the general trend is prepared for any eventuality of defence that may be needed.

We have noticed in Waltham upon one occasion several army trucks stalled waiting for the lights to change and then for the cars to get straightened out from the devious arrangement of traffic lights. By the extension of 128 as has been suggested, but no definite absolute plan has been adopted, it would be one of the most direct routes to Fort Devens, the large area devoted to the training and preparation for defensive action. The idea of by-passing the centers of towns was at one time looked upon as too altruistic and also as detrimental to business. Now it has been found by experience that the through vehicle does not stop and shop but is anxious to get to their destination.

So why not urge the authorities to begin a study and get ahead of the Legislature of the Government and have the route established. It takes time to survey and get the information necessary to make taking plans. It should be started right away.

Powers' Paragraphs

William H. McMasters, perennial candidate for high political office, and now quite in the limelight, has hitched his political star in recent years to such benevolent movements as government assistance for the aged. But, during the years when Federal or State aid for old folks was first agitated, few politicians, including Mr. McMasters, were conspicuous in advocating it. In those days the leading exponent of old aid assistance in Massachusetts was Wendell P. Thore of Quincy. It's the old story of some person or persons doing the hard pioneering, and then others coming in to endeavor to receive credit and acclaim.

At the next meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen there will be an application from a Brookline automobile concern for a permit to display and sell used automobiles at a lot of land at 360 Boylston st., Newton Centre. This locus is on the Worcester turnpike at Langley rd. The permit should not be granted. It would constitute unfair competition to the many Newton automobile dealers who own or pay high rents for garage buildings and showrooms in this city. These local dealers help to pay Newton taxes. They are entitled to reasonable protection.

The subject we shall discuss in this paragraph is not a delectable one, but it is one of great importance to residents of Newton because it concerns their health and comfort. It is about garbage. Garbage isn't anything to rave about at any season of the year, but in communities where much raving is done on this subject, summer is the season when such fuming is apt to occur. And it is caused by fumes emanating from uncollected garbage, or from filthy garbage pails. The reason we write about garbage this week is—that on Monday at City Hall, Street Commissioner Hughie opened several bids submitted for the collection of garbage in Newton for five years, starting Oct. 1 next. There were seven bids submitted, ranging from $37,548 yearly to $51,611. John Janse of Newton Centre, who has had the contracts for collecting garbage in this city for the past thirteen years, was next to the highest bidder, with a bid of $45,000. The lowest bidder, a South Boston contractor, who has collected garbage for the City of Boston, in the Dorchester section, submitted a figure of $37,548.

Ordinarily, we believe that a contract should be awarded to the lowest bidder provided he can be depended upon to perform it in a satisfactory manner, and that he pays fair wages and gives good working conditions to his employees. Reasonable allowance should be made in cases where a bidder on a city contract is a resident and taxpayer, or a non-resident and a non-taxpayer. If the difference in a bid is small, the contribution of a bidder in the form of taxes to the City Treasurer should receive consideration.

Unusual caution should be used in the awarding of a contract for the collection of garbage. Because, if decaying food is not regularly and promptly gathered, a stench arises in a neighborhood, and a chorus of howls are directed at the Street Department office, the Health Department office, the Mayor's office, and the home telephones of members of the Board of Aldermen. Also, if the trucks used for the collection of garbage are not kept reasonably clean, they can malpermeate a neighborhood for some minutes and disturb the olfactory nerve of any person whose sense of smell is normal. So, unless a city executive is quite certain that a low bidder on a garbage contract is qualified by character, experience and resources to efficiently and reliably fill such a contract, it is preferable to pay a higher price and have this public service performed in a satisfactory manner.

It will be generally conceded by residents of Newton that Mr. Janse, who has had the contracts for collecting garbage in Newton for many years, has done this difficult service in an efficient way. The only complaint the writer has heard against him, to any degree, was the too early activities of his employees' mornings in our neighborhood this practise was stopped when a complaint was made to Mr. Janse.

We do not know anything regarding the lower bidders for the garbage contract. But, before any decision will be made in awarding it, the Mayor and Street Commissioner should consider the reliability of the person whose bid will be accepted, the kind of equipment he possesses, where his trucks will be garaged, and their availability when road conditions in winter months retard traffic.

UNSAFE at HOME

Make no mistake

NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

Chief of Police Hughes has given an order to his subordinates to stop the practice of boys rummaging in rubbish barrels along Newton streets. Some of the youngsters, who use this method to collect junk and other articles which seem to have some value to them, scatter rubbish on sidewalks and streets. Residents of this city should also obey the city ordinance relative to the placing of rubbish barrels and containers on sidewalks. This ordinance specifies that such containers shall be placed on the sidewalk not later than 7 a. m. on the day when the collection is made. Although our city ordinances forbid the placing of barrels, boxes or like objects on sidewalks at night, except when properly lighted and by special permit, it has been the custom in Newton to permit the placing of rubbish containers on sidewalks the evening or night before collection day. Some people, however, put the rubbish containers out on the preceding afternoon, thus giving boys more time to rummage and upset the barrels. A few persons, with little consideration for their neighbors, even put rubbish barrels out on sidewalks on Sunday afternoons. Chief Hughes states he will order policemen to stop this practice.

Hell is raging in Britain with thousands of German planes dropping terrifically powerful bombs to destroy cities and towns and kill defenceless men, women and children, sparing neither infants, the aged nor the clergy. The Frankenstein created by a civilization which placed materialism before idealism is in full fury. It is a horrible situation, but not unexpected. A large percentage of informed men, including leaders of our government, fear that Britain will be speedily overcome by the greatly superior war equipment of the Nazis. The overwhelming numerical superiority of the Nazis in airplanes shows how ridiculous is the claim that 50 old destroyers from the U. S. Navy would turn the battle in favor of Britain. What Britain needs now from the U. S. A. is not 50 obsolete destroyers, but 5000 or more obsolete bombers and fighters. And this country hasn't got these planes.

While Germany's air force and army are functioning with devastating efficiency, her workmen and millions of men of the nations conquered by the Nazis, the past two years, are turning out thousands of airplanes, tanks and cannon, and huge stocks of munitions to carry on the war. In the meantime what is this country doing? We have huge quantities of war equipment provided for financially or "ON ORDER," but very little of it has been procured. Within the past week it was revealed at Washington that of 4000 war planes ordered some months ago by the U. S. A., only 33 had been delivered. The explanation was given that failure to come to a satisfactory agreement on excess profits has been holding up production. Years ago the people of this supposedly quite enlightened and progressive land were told that our political leaders had devised ways and means to conscript industry as well as men in case of war, or threat of war. And months after the threat of Nazi world domination, and the revelation of Germany's strength and efficiency, supposedly spurred this country to action, the explanation comes—that 33 out of 4000 warplanes (on order) have been delivered. Does the same sorry percentage obtain in the other war equipment which we were assured a couple of months ago was "On Order"?

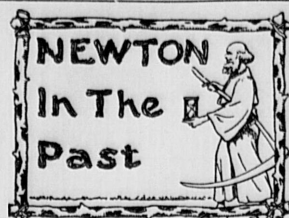

Mr. Knudsen, who is in charge of our defence preparations, stated last week that it will take four years for the U. S. A. to manufacture the arms, tanks and other equipment required. Senator Walsh, chairman of the Senate Naval Committee, says it will be 1946 before our twelve navy will be ready. An army of 100,000, composed mostly of little-trained national guardsmen, is engaged in maneuvers in Northern New York, trying to learn modern military methods with dummy guns, and old truck simulating "tanks." Meanwhile at Washington our Congressmen are still debating over compulsory military training. How these facts must awe the Nazis, the Fascists and the Japanese. It causes one to hink of those lines written many years ago by the Rev. S. F. Smith:

Long may our land be bright
With freedom's holy light,
Protect us by thy might,
Great God, our king.

Certainly with this country dallying in preparing armed might to resist such might now possessed by aggressor nations, God's might will have to be relied on. And Adolf Hitler has recently given thanks to the God of his present conception for the might Germany has evidenced. The deliberation being shown by the U. S. A. in making real (not vocal) preparations for defence, would seem to indicate that it is preparing for the next war, not for a possible extension of the present war to this hemisphere.

Warren Street Players Give Entertainment

The Warren Street Players of Newton Centre informally made their debut this week before a small gathering of friends, after three years work of careful preparation. One of the hits of the evening was a special dance known as "The Façade." This small group of actors works in Newton Centre and surrounding towns and will undertake to do relief work. Rosamond Spalding of 136 Warren st. is leader of the group.

The Central Congregational Church at Newtonville was well filled on Sunday evening at the union memorial service in honor of General Grant. The choir and pulpit were draped in black and at the right of the pulpit stood a large portrait of Grant over which were laid the stars and stripes. The front pews in the centre were occupied by members of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R. Rev. R. Z. White of the Universalist Church gave the invocation; prayer was by Rev. R. F. The popularity of Allen's pond at West Newton is so great that additional bath-houses and dressing rooms for ladies have been built. The leak that developed last week has been stopped and the bottom of the pond cleared of stones. The sheet of water falling over the dam, the flutter of fancy curtains before the dressing rooms, the waving of surrounding foliage, together with the groups of bathers and swimmers is a refreshing and pleasing sight, while the bath or swim is, of course, delightful.

On Tuesday afternoon a travelling German band visited Newton Centre and Newton Highlands.

A substantial raft, 10 feet square, has been built off Farnham's shore at Crystal Lake, Newton Highlands, by S. D. Garey for the young men to give off. It has two springboards, is about 40 feet from the shore in two fathoms of water. The lake is the home of a colony of the perch family, known as black bass, but it is seldom that even an expert angler can decoy one of them. The effort to stock Crystal Lake with this fish was begun in 1870 by the Newton Black Bass Club, which received a 20-year lease.

The Newton Mills at Newton Upper Falls which closed a year ago are still idle and it is not probable that they will be opened again for the manufacture of cottons. It is a severe blow to the village. The site of these mills at the falls has been used for various industries for 200 years, the first being a saw mill. For 100 years or more the water privilege was used for operation of grist mills, fulling mills, and minor enterprises. Simon Eliot then purchased the premises and conducted a tobacco and snuff mill there for 32 years, doing the largest business in New England. In 1821 the snuff mill was removed and a cotton mill erected there, sheetings being manufactured. In 1840 this mill was purchased by Otis Pette who ran a large machine shop at Upper Falls. He introduced valuable improvements, increased the production of the mill threefold and changed the production from sheeting to print goods. After his death in 1853 an incorporated company bought the mills and had run them since. The daily production of the mill for the 10 years preceding its closing had been 12,000 to 14,000 yards of print goods.

Newton Graphic, August 1, 1890

Last Sunday the electric cars were well patronized and during the day 815 passengers were carried between Newton and West Newton.

The Newton Street Railway Company very much regret that on dark days they have been obliged to disappoint their customers by not running the last afternoon trip. The Waltham Gas Company which furnishes the electricity at the present is obliged to use it to light the streets earlier on a dark day and therefore cannot give it to provide power for the cars on such days. When the large engine will be installed, there will be no trouble on this account.

With the advent of an electric railway in Newton the people now want the West End Street Railway to extend its Oak Square line to Newton Corner. The West End thinks favorably of this plan, especially as the cars can be run to Newton without crossing the Boston & Albany tracks. The route would be over Brighton Hill on Washington st. to Saint James st., and thence via Nonantum st. (now Charlesbank rd.), to Nonantum Square at Newton. (The tracks were later

Rotary Club

At the regular Monday meeting of the Rotary Club of Newton held at Brae Burn, Charlie Meeker asked Charlie Petersen of the Needham Club to introduce Samuel J. Tyach, a friend of his and a man in the same line of business. Mr. Tyach is one of the leading gemologists in the country, the 49th to be granted the title "Certified Gemologist." He is associated with Shreve, Crump, and Low Company.

He told how study of rare stones leads one into geology since nature has taken at least 10 million years for their formation. Ancient man used them as luck charms. Modern man prizes them for their beauty, durability and rarity.

The diamond is the most popular. Ninety per cent come from South Africa, where four tons of blue ground produce one stone. If the stone is not suitable for cutting, it is always useful for industry.

The Corundum stones are the sapphires and rubies. The Beryl stones are the emeralds and the aquamarines. Popular Chrysoberyls are the cat's eyes and the Alexandrites. The latter is an unusual stone, being green by day and red by night.

The American Gem Society has instruments now for testing these, their various varieties, and other jewels.

Regatta for Model Yachts At Charles River Lagoon

For many weeks now the Metropolitan District Commission has been engaged in reconstructing the Lagoon in the Charles River Basin and the engineers have now notified the officials that with favorable weather, the work will be completed this week. This will especially please youngsters of Greater Boston who are planning to take part in the Model Yacht Regatta of the season to be held Saturday, August 17th at 10 a. m. Entries are now being accepted by the Model Yacht Division of Community Recreation Service of Boston, Inc., 739 Boylston st., Boston, Mass.

This will be the third of a series of regattas being held this summer. The final regatta will be held in September when special prizes will be awarded to the boys who have accumulated the most points. The winner of the second regatta was James Nilson of Mowbride, South Dakota, who was visiting a cousin in the Back Bay.

Candidates To Talk At Women's Republican Club

All Republican candidates for Attorney-General of Massachusetts have been invited to speak at the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts, 46 Beacon st., Boston, on Thursday morning, August 22, at 11 o'clock. The program is sponsored by the club's Political Department, Mrs. Edward P. Furber, director who will preside at the meeting.

The candidates who are expected to attend include: Robert T. Bushnell, Clarence A. Barnes, William C. Crossley now District Attorney of the Southern District of Massachusetts, Edmund R. Dewing, Michael A. Fido, George W. Roberts, a member of the State Committee on Legal Affairs and Samuel A. Sampson.

The meeting is open to all interested to attend and club members are urged to bring their friends.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS GARDEN CLUB HOLDS AUGUST MEETING
The August meeting of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. Harold T. Sprague of 24 Indiana terrace, Newton Upper Falls, on Tuesday, August 13, at 6:30 p. m.

Dessert was served at small tables daintily decorated with bouquets of summer flowers while beautiful bouquets, the gift of a flower-loving friend were arranged throughout the room. Flower arrangements from the gardens of the members were awarded prizes. 1st prize, Mrs. A. W. Flint for baskets of garden flowers; 2nd prize, Mrs. Albert Proctor, Thistle. Three flower games were played at which small gifts were awarded. Miss A. Gertrude Osborne presided at a short business meeting. Various reports were given and a notice of the Flower Show to be held on September 19, at Emerson School. The next meeting will be held at Camp Mary Day, Natick, on Sept. 10.

laid over Tremont and Park sts., and stopped at the corner of Park and Washington sts. until the B. & A. tracks were depressed.—Ed.)

Newton was visited on Thursday evening by the most severe electrical storm in many years. About 6:30, C. H. Warren's barn on Newtonville ave. was hit by a bolt. Two alarms were sounded, but the barn was almost consumed by flames. Before this fire was out, another alarm came from Box 52 for a fire in the home of William Locke on Beacon st., Waban, near the almshouse. Damage was slight. At West Newton the houses of Mrs. Foley and Mrs. Welch, and that of C. T. Cutting on Webster st., were struck by lightning. Damage was slight in each case. A bolt entered the house of Mrs. Kimball on Melrose st., Auburndale, and shattered ceilings. The Methodist Church at Newton Centre was struck and singles and sheathing torn off. A number of trees were split by the lightning and numerous telephone wires knocked down.

polling enough votes to upset one or more of the leading contenders.

We have purposely left the sixth name on the ballot until last because in the candidacy of George W. Roberts of Boston lies the possible solution as to which of the seven candidates will wind up on top. Like the other leading contenders Roberts has as much chance of capturing the honors for himself yet his presence in the field may well swing the outcome to another. He has swung into a widespread and vigorous campaign. He has a wide circle of supporters—they reach into many communities. Already house rallies and organization meetings have been held here in Newton in his behalf. How far reaching they may be no one can know. Roberts is a former Republican member of the Boston City Council and has been a member of the House of Representatives for the past two terms. He has always led the field in his Representative District. He is a member of a law firm with Boston offices and is highly regarded by those who know him. Here again is a situation in which the candidate will poll a large vote in his own county.

In summarizing the contest for the G. O. P. nomination for attorney general we cannot help but give Bushnell the edge at this time—not only because of the lead he must be given in Middlesex county's large vote but because of the additional fact that he was a potential candidate for the nomination for higher office at the last pre-primary in Springfield in 1936. That will be remembered as the eventful session when numerous aspirants were looked upon as possible nominees but many were the hopes that were dashed, resulting in a situation whereby many Republicans spent sleepless nights in striving and succeeding in restoring party unity. Yet we cannot discount or underestimate the strength of the other able candidates. Unquestionably this battle will be one of the most interesting to watch as the campaign develops. Paraphrasing the words of the circus barker—"pay your money and take your choice"—it is a case of "take your ballot and mark your choice!"

The Democratic Contest

Like the Republican contest that on the Democratic ballot will be equally uncertain until the votes are counted. There are nine candidates as we noted last week. The decision of Attorney General Dever to run for higher office has opened the door to the aspirations of many others.

The outcome of the contest is likely to be decided in the city of Boston, even more so than in the G. O. P. situation. With the huge Democratic vote in Boston being largely divided between four candidates, more or less known to voters of that party, it is highly probable that the nominees will be one of that quartet. There probably will be in the neighborhood of 400,000 total votes cast in this contest. In an even battle a 40,000 vote would nominate and with 150,000 votes being cast in the Hub city a quarter of this amount would nearly provide the necessary margin for the nomination. The four Boston candidates are James H. Brennan, former Governor of Connecticut; Harold W. Sullivan, who is probably making the most of a well-organized publicity campaign; Senator Thomas M. Burke, who has served in the higher branch of the State legislature for three terms following two years in the Boston City Council; and former Senator Joseph Finnegan who sat in that body for eight years, interrupted by one term in 1931-32. John Backus of New Bedford, former director of the Securities division under Governor Curley is another well-known Democrat in the contest which also includes Mayor John Lyons of Cambridge, Joseph V. Carroll of Belmont, former Asst. District Attorney Jeanette Chisholm of Waltham, and Edward Ryan of Worcester.

N. PHILIP PATEY TO SPEAK AT FRANK A. DAY CAMP

The guest speaker at the chapel service at the Frank A. Day Camp at East Brookfield on Sunday, August 18, will be H. Philip Patey of Newtonville. His subject will be "The Power of Influence." Mr. Patey was prominent as an athlete at Dartmouth and is in demand as an inspirational speaker before Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, High School assemblies and Young Peoples' meetings.

Sunbeam Chats

All I've heard lately is "Dog Days," wonder what in the world folks mean? Wonder if it has anything to do with that other thing, "Every dog has its day?" Gee, I wish I was big so I'd know everything like my Daddy and Mummie. Well, anyhow, I'm glad Mummie knows I'm hot and lets me splash in the water so much these days. Guess I wouldn't last otherwise. She doesn't dress me at all any more. So long! I'm tired.

(Sunbeam Chats are sponsored by the Newton District Nursing Association.)

BURDETT COLLEGEWaltham Federal Savings Occupies Its New Home

Handsome Modern Building Open For Public Inspection Tomorrow

Announcing that official opening of the new home of the Waltham Federal Savings and Loan Association would take place next Saturday, August 17, Oscar F. Felling, Executive Vice President of the institution, stated that the handsome, modern building at 716 Main st., Waltham, would be open for public inspection from 3 p. m. to 8 p. m. on that date.

"Our new home is the result of sixty years of friendly service to home savers and home buyers," Mr. Felling observed. "The new building has been planned to provide the most efficient possible service to the steadily increasing number of thrifty people who have found our insured savings and home-financing plans exactly suited to their needs. Improvements for the convenience and comfort of customers include ample free parking facilities, air conditioning and the new ultra-modern fluorescent lighting.

"We extend a most cordial invitation to the people of Waltham and nearby communities to visit our new building on Saturday, the 17th, at any convenient time between 3 p. m. and 8 p. m.

Construction of the new building, for which ground was broken on October 31, 1939, has proceeded according to schedule. Some 83 tons of steel, 132 tons of granite and 124,000 bricks were used in the construction. For the first time in Waltham the partitions were built of steel studs, using a method which permits the plaster of wall, partitions and ceilings to be placed on metal lath secured to steel members.

The plans for the new building were prepared by Thomas M. James & Co., Boston Architectural firm and followed a style of conservative modernism. The attractive appearance of the main banking room is further enhanced by the use of the famous black and white Pyrenees marble, imported from France.

The Waltham Federal Savings and Loan Association was organized on September 19, 1880, as the Waltham Cooperative Bank. As the institution grew, it found it necessary to take larger space from time to time, until in 1921 it leased the quarters at 45 Moody st. from which it is now moving to occupy its own new building.

Growth has been particularly marked since the institution received its Federal Charter on March 1, 1937, enabling it to offer broader mortgage service and providing for insurance of savings, up to $5000 for each person, through a Federal agency with assets of over $120,000,000.

During the first six months of this year the total of shareholders' savings and investments increased to $7,137,927 on June 30, 1940 compared with $6,678,817 at the close of 1939. A total of 6,462 accounts were represented at the end of June, against 5,898 on December 31, 1939. Reserves over and above liabilities also showed a substantial gain during the first half of 1940 amounting to $433,600 on June 30, compared with $380,080 at the close of last year.

The principal assets of the institution are first mortgage loans on over 2,200 home and other properties in Waltham and vicinity, the majority of which are of the popular "direct reduction" type featured under Federal Savings and loan methods of home-financing.

Coffee, Rubber and Silk Are Strategic Imports

Although China is one of the chief producers of antimony, we import from several other countries as well. The list includes Mexico, Bolivia, Chile, and Peru. Peru furnishes us with all of our imported vanadium, about half of our requirements. The states of Oregon, Colorado, Nevada and Utah contain important sources of this metal.

We now produce nearly half of our total mercury requirements in California and Oregon and import the remainder from Spain and Italy. Nickel and cobalt come from Canada. Tin we procure principally from British Malaya, although some is received from Alaska, the East Indies, and Bolivia.

Coffee, rubber, hemp, silk, quinine, wool and bauxite are other imports described as strategic. That developments within our borders are going ahead in a vigorous fashion is attested by the claim that it may be possible to use our low-grade manganese ores by electro-deposition from sulfate solutions and by the fact that the bureau of mines is working on a process for concentrating the tin ore deposits in the Black Hills, it is stated. It can be recalled how negligible was our potash production 25 years ago. Today the picture has changed vastly for we are producing half our needs of this commodity.

While it is likely that newer home developments will yield many of the materials now imported, it is very important that our international trade be fostered and kept in a healthy condition.

Polished Safety GlassBest for Car Passengers

Much of the safety glass in automobiles is not so safe for the eyes of riders in the back seat, reports the Better Vision institute. Although virtually all windshields are made from plate safety glass, in which surface waviness is removed by polishing, in many cars the side and back windows are made from ordinary unpolished glass sheets cemented together. Such glass causes considerable distortion of vision and fatigues the eyes of passengers.

Experiments conducted by Dr. Andrew H. Ryan of Chicago indicate that polished safety glass gives 62 per cent greater clarity and 81 per cent greater depth to vision, as compared with sheet safety glass. The experiments also indicated that polished safety glass cuts eye fatigue in half and that it lowers the tendency towards drowsiness.

"Unpolished glass has surface waves which twist light rays, causing distortion and blurring of objects. The uneven surface causes optical astigmatism. A person with good eyes," says the institute, "will become fatigued needlessly when looking through such glass for several hours in a rapidly moving car. With poor eyes the task of seeing under such conditions is still more difficult and tiring. The tests of Dr. Ryan indicate that a passenger in the back seat, after riding for three or more hours, usually will have lessened ability as a driver if he takes a turn at the wheel."

Brain Controls Muscles

Smooth muscles, which operate the automatic organs of the body such as the stomach, appear to be controlled by the brain and spinal cord just like striated muscles, which execute conscious movements, according to a paper read by Dr. Othello R. Langworthy and prepared in collaboration with Dr. Frederick H. Hesser at Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore. The two doctors experimented with cats by cutting out the portion of the cat's brain which controls movements.

Cats so treated promptly developed ravenous appetites. A balloon was placed in the test cat's stomach and air pumped into it to measure the muscular reaction. Instead of relaxing to accommodate the extra volume, as happened in the case of the normal cat, the muscles of the test cat tensed, contracting the stomach. From this the doctors deduced that no other nerve center to direct the operation of the stomach muscles existed in the cat's body than the two which had been removed from the brain, and that the muscles were controlled by reflex pathways in the nervous system similar to those controlling striated muscles.

Cotton Thread Satisfactory

Regular cotton thread is a satisfactory material for the suturing or stitching of surgical wounds, William H. Meade, M. D., and Alton Ochsner, M. D., New Orleans, report in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

After sterilizing it by boiling or under steam pressure they used cotton thread in 196 operations. Uncomplicated healing of the wounds occurred in 191 instances.

In discussing the relative value and strength of cotton as compared to other sutures, Drs. Meade and Ochsner state: "When boiled for 20 minutes, cotton thread increases 10 per cent in tensile strength, whereas silk changes but little. When placed in tissue it loses only 10 per cent of its tensile or maximum stretching strength in 14 days, whereas catgut loses from 50 to 70 per cent and silk 35 per cent.

"Because of its availability and the ease with which it can be sterilized, cotton thread would be a very satisfactory suture in field hospitals in wartime."

Recent WeddingsCARGILL—GARRITY

At a 10 o'clock nuptial mass Saturday morning, August 10th, in the Church of St. John the Evangelist in Wellesley Hills, Miss Roberta L. Garrity, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garrity, of 19 St. Mary's st., Newton Lower Falls, was married to Mr. Thomas E. Cargill, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Of Course You Care

Of course you care what happens to your family when you are no longer here to take care of them. Perhaps you already have all the life insurance you need . . . but in too many cases the loss of the breadwinner means unnecessary hardship for his family.

It's foolish, of course, to buy more life insurance than you can afford. But it surely is worth while to get maximum family protection from the money you can afford to spend.

Before you decide how much life insurance you can afford, find out about Savings Bank Life Insurance—providing safe family protection at low cost for thrifty people who are willing to buy "over-the-counter" insurance at the savings bank.

Leniency For Man Who Drove Car Not Insured

Because he has been allegedly supporting the families of two of his brothers, leniency was accorded Clarence Randolph, 32, of 11 Marble st., Boston, when he was found guilty on two serious charges in the Newton court last Thursday. Patrolman FitzSimmons had stopped Randolph for speeding. That case was placed on file by Judge Creehan. FitzSimmons also charged Randolph with having violated a condition of probation on a previous conviction of driving an uninsured motor vehicle. Judge Creehan also placed that charge on file. The third charge on which Randolph was found guilty was that of driving after his license to do so had been revoked. For this offense a suspended jail sentence of 10 days was given Randolph.

Youth on Bicycle Knocks Woman Down

Mrs. Roy Stevens of 73 Davis ave., West Newton, was knocked down and injured last Friday afternoon at Chestnut and Margin sts., West Newton, by a bicycle ridden by Joseph Geagan, 21, of 20 Adams st., Newtonville. Patrolman Carroll was on traffic duty at the intersection at the time and had stopped traffic to allow persons coming from the B & A station to cross Chestnut st. when Geagan rode down that street and hit Mrs. Davis. She was taken to her home by a passing autoist.

PLAYHOUSE

Garden Club Show At Lower Falls

In a true colonial setting of the old Iris Garden House at 2339 Washington st., the Village Garden Club of Newton Lower Falls, is preparing for its third annual flower show. Special care has been taken to retain the charm of this lovely house so visitors may step from the world of today into an old fashioned atmosphere. Colonial costumes and furnishings will be part of the background for the flower display. Mrs. Carl Pescosolido, the general chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. F. A. Gilroy, president; Mrs. R. P. Bolster, treasurer; Mrs. E. L. Bedell, Mrs. N. H. Wright, Mrs. C. S. Casady, secretary; and Mrs. H. B. Buse. Mrs. A. D. Cook will be assisted by Mrs. H. W. Lewis, vice-president, in the tea room where refreshments will be served from 2 to 9 p. m.

The following classes will provide much variety and interest: 1. Candle-glow, Mrs. M. Ames, ch.; 2. Pinatofes, Mrs. C. Casady, ch.; 3. Pot-Pourri, Mrs. M. Hemon, Jr., ch.; 4. Minuet, Mrs. S. Higgins; 5. Declaration of Independence, for the men, Mrs. H. Lewis; 6. Nougats, Mrs. H. Wilson; 7. Crinoline Days, Mrs. J. Thompson; 8. Daguerotypes, Mrs. E. Bedell; 9. Boston Tea Party, Mrs. C. Lange; 10. American Lustre, Mrs. E. Brook; 11. Homespun, Mrs. N. Wright; 12. Southern Hospitality, for other Garden Clubs, Mrs. C. Pescosolido.

The date, Friday the 13th of September will be added incentive to make this the best flower show we have presented.

VILLAGE HALL PLAYERS

The rich old beams of the Village Hall Playhouse in Framingham Centre will shake on their foundations next week when the laughter aroused by George Kelly's hilarious laugh riot takes the stage on Wednesday evening. The second act for example of this comedy, "The Torchbearers," has been said by New York dramatic critics to be the funniest ever written by any American playwright.

The theme of the story is the efforts of a "little theatre" group to present a drama by inexperienced performers in a hall not adapted to that type of presentation. The author in fact brings the audience right to the theatre to witness their efforts from a point of vantage backstage. For all who have ever taken any part in such a production, or for the friends of all such, the action and lines threaten to set loose many a rib for the laughter it causes.

An all-time attendance record was set at the Village Hall theatre last week and patrons are again urged to make reservations early for this week's production of Eugene O'Neill's famous comedy, "Ah Wilderness!" The telephone number is Framingham 5195.

Called 'Long Tom'

Thomas Jefferson, in some of his political campaigns, was called "Long Tom."

Bowditch Runs for Commissioner

On the ballot of the Republican primaries on Sept. 17, the name of Chairman Nathaniel I. Bowditch of the Middlesex County Commissioners will lead the list of 18 candidates seeking the two nominations to this commission. Mr. Bowditch has been a member of the commission since 1926, chairman for nearly two years, and is the only candidate for reelection.

Chairman Bowditch, a resident of Framingham, has long been identified with county organizations, as president of the Extension Service, as patron of 4-H clubs and as a leader in agriculture. For 44 years he has been a trustee of the Massachusetts State College and in honor of this record he was recently given a dinner at the College at which Governor Leverett Saltonstall and a number of agricultural and educational leaders lauded his record as a lifetime civil servant.

He is the dean of state college trustees in the country, having served successively under 18 governors and having been appointed by eight chief executives of this commonwealth, namely Governors Wolcott, Crane, Guild, Walsh, Cox, Fuller, Curley and Saltonstall.

As County Commissioner Mr. Bowditch has devoted his time to improvement of the county property, which includes a variety of institutions—the hospital at Waltham, the correctional institutions, the court-houses, Lake Walden bathing beach at Concord. During his term of office, county institutions have been improved and enlarged, yet expenditures have been reduced and the present tax rate is lowest since 1928.

Bryant & Stratton School Opens Sept. 3

Day School opens at Bryant & Stratton Commercial School, Boston, on September 3, for its 76th season. In January, 1865, when the school was started, its curriculum consisted of three subjects: Bookkeeping, Mathematics, and Penmanship. Today the courses have grown to thirty. This goes to show how complex and technical business education has become during the past 75 years, because only the most practical courses are offered at Bryant & Stratton, those which have a "dollar and cent" value when it comes to seeking employment.

For instance, "Give us more men with shorthand" has been the increasing demand of business during the past few years. To answer this call, Bryant & Stratton a year ago began offering the Junior Executive Course for Men. Here are the subjects: Accounting, Correspondence, Income Tax Returns, Marketing, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting and Vocabulary-building. The Shorthand and Typewriting in this course will help the young man get a job, the other subjects will provide the necessary background for him to advance to a junior executive position. And it is a well-known fact that the junior executives of today are the business leaders of tomorrow.

Then again, Principal L. O. White of the school has long felt that there were splendid opportunities for young ladies, high school and college graduates, and nurses in the medical-secretarial field. In consequence, the school now offers Medical Shorthand. This new course will enable the graduate to do a doctor's letters, take his "case" dictation, and transcribe it correctly, keep his accounts, make appointments, and act as receptionist. This training is also in demand for hospitals and similar institutions, many times with living quarters furnished.

In addition, Bryant & Stratton offers expert instruction in Secretarial and Business Administration Courses. With its plan of individual progress and a great deal of individual instruction the student advances in the course he selects just as quickly as his ability, industry, and previous business education permit, thus saving both time and money. And graduation day comes the very day the young man or woman finishes the last examination. Then the graduate has the privilege of making use of the school's free employment service which has been supplying employers with secretaries, clerks and bookkeepers for over half a century.

Indian Battle Site Marked

Among the interesting features of the Lava Beds National monument in California are the battlefields of the Modoc war, fought in 1872-73. These include "the stronghold," where may be plainly seen numerous cracks, ridges and knobs utilized by Captain Jack and his band of Indians in defending their position against United States troops. Not more than 53 Modoc warriors are estimated to have represented the resources of the Indians. These fighting men of the tribe protected the remainder in the area against 530 soldiers. Although they escaped unharmed from the stronghold through a crevice left unguarded during the movement of the troops, the Indians were later brought to terms.

Co-operation

Relief workers at Columbia, S. C., found touching co-operation between a blind man and his invalid sister, who were attempting to earn a living by taking in sewing. The sister sewed on a machine which her brother pedaled because her paralytic legs were helpless.

Out of Season

Many poultrymen now practice out-of-season hatching of chicks in the fall, winter and spring.

Coffee, Rubber and Silk Are Strategic Imports

Although China is one of the chief producers of antimony, we import from several other countries as well. The list includes Mexico, Bolivia, Chile, and Peru. Peru furnishes us with all of our imported vanadium, about half of our requirements. The states of Oregon, Colorado, Nevada and Utah contain important sources of this metal.

We now produce nearly half of our total mercury requirements in California and Oregon and import the remainder from Spain and Italy. Nickel and cobalt come from Canada. Tin we procure principally from British Malaya, although some is received from Alaska, the East Indies, and Bolivia.

Coffee, rubber, hemp, silk, quinine, wool and bauxite are other imports described as strategic. That developments within our borders are going ahead in a vigorous fashion is attested by the claim that it may be possible to use our low-grade manganese ores by electro-deposition from sulfate solutions and by the fact that the bureau of mines is working on a process for concentrating the tin ore deposits in the Black Hills, it is stated. It can be recalled how negligible was our potash production 25 years ago. Today the picture has changed vastly for we are producing half our needs of this commodity.

While it is likely that newer home developments will yield many of the materials now imported, it is very important that our international trade be fostered and kept in a healthy condition.

Polished Safety Glass

Best for Car Passengers

Much of the safety glass in automobiles is not so safe for the eyes of riders in the back seat, reports the Better Vision institute. Although virtually all windshields are made from plate safety glass, in which surface waviness is removed by polishing, in many cars the side and back windows are made from ordinary unpolished glass sheets cemented together. Such glass causes considerable distortion of vision and fatigues the eyes of passengers.

Experiments conducted by Dr. Andrew H. Ryan of Chicago indicate that polished safety glass gives 62 per cent greater clarity and 81 per cent greater depth of vision, as compared with sheet safety glass. The experiments also indicated that polished safety glass cuts eye fatigue in half and that it lowers the tendency towards drowsiness.

"Unpolished glass has surface waves which twist light rays, causing distortion and blurring of objects. The uneven surface causes optical astigmatism. A person with good eyes," says the institute, "will become fatigued needlessly when looking through such glass for several hours in a rapidly moving car. With poor eyes the task of seeing under such conditions is still more difficult and tiring. The tests of Dr. Ryan indicate that a passenger in the back seat, after riding for three or more hours, usually will have lessened ability as a driver if he takes a turn at the wheel."

Brain Controls Muscles

Smooth muscles, which operate the automatic organs of the body such as the stomach, appear to be controlled by the brain and spinal cord just like striated muscles, which execute conscious movements, according to a paper read by Dr. Othello R. Langworthy and prepared in collaboration with Dr. Frederick H. Hesser at Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore. The two doctors experimented with cats by cutting out the portion of the cat's brain which controls movements.

Cats so treated promptly developed ravenous appetites. A balloon was placed in the test cat's stomach and air pumped into it to measure the muscular reaction. Instead of relaxing to accommodate the extra volume, as happened in the case of the normal cat, the muscles of the test cat tensed, contracting the stomach. From this the doctors deduced that no other nerve center to direct the operation of the stomach muscles existed in the cat's body than the two which had been removed from the brain, and that the muscles were controlled by reflex pathways in the nervous system similar to those controlling striated muscles.

Cotton Thread Satisfactory

Regular cotton thread is a satisfactory material for the suturing or stitching of surgical wounds, William H. Meade, M. D., and Alton Ochsner, M. D., New Orleans, report in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

After sterilizing it by boiling or under steam pressure they used cotton thread in 196 operations. Wound healing of the wounds occurred in 191 instances.

In discussing the relative value and strength of cotton as compared to other sutures, Drs. Meade and Ochsner state: "When boiled for 20 minutes, cotton thread increases 10 per cent in tensile strength, whereas silk changes but little. When placed in tissue it loses only 10 per cent of its tensile or maximum stretching strength in 14 days, whereas catgut loses from 50 to 70 per cent and silk 35 per cent.

"Because of its availability and the ease with which it can be sterilized, cotton thread would be a very satisfactory suture in field hospitals in wartime."

Two Boys Steal Truck From Yard at Newton

Two boys, one a 14-year-old Cambridge resident, the other a 13-year-old from Somerville, stole a truck from 21 Hovey st., Newton, about 1.30 a. m. last Friday and were arrested shortly afterward in Watertown by Patrolman McCarthy after the latter had been informed by a citizen who had observed the truck with its very youthful driver on Mount Auburn st. The truck, the property of the Star Market Company of Newtonville, which has a repair shop at the Hovey street address. The boys said they were hiking through Newton and were looking for some automobile in which to ride home. They found the truck unlocked and took it.

THIS NEW ENGLAND FARM IS NATURE LOVER'S PARADISE

Tucked away in the picturesque hills of New Hampshire, within a stone's throw of Nashua is located a veritable nature's paradise. To those familiar with it, it is called "The strangest farm on earth" and rightly so, for where, in a day's travels, can one find such a varied collection of rare flowers, acres of green grass, trees laden with ripening fruit and one of the finest collections of wild beasts in America and all living—mind you—in their natural environment. Such is Benson's Wild Animal Farm and it's fame has reached from New England to California. On a recent Sunday, automobiles from twelve different states were checked in the five thousand capacity parking space.

When one enters the gates he is surrounded with so many sights of the unusual that it is really astounding. From the East Indian exhibit of rare animals and native display of curios, to the "Theory of evolution" that houses the primitive savage collection, one finds a surprise in every direction. As for wild animals, they are to be seen in plenty and all undergoing a daily grooming for future appearances with American circuses and zoos. If one's taste does not run to wild animals, there is a huge pit containing a "happy family" collection of tiny shetlands, a donkey from Ceylon, goats, sheep, a lilliputian pig and five cunning bear cubs that are the life of the party.

From the beautiful maze near the main entrance, to the tall Colorado blue spruce trees that grace the front lawn of the typical old New England residence of Mr. Benson, one encounters beauty—not only of a floral, but animal nature—in every direction at this most unusual farm.

"DEFEATISM" is a word that's in the news a lot nowadays. It's a word that sums up our former attitude toward saving. We were licked before we started. But we tried it anyway during the past year. And boy, what a pleasant surprise! It's not hard, we found—all it takes is backbone."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, August 18. The Golden Text is: "Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my soul" (Psalms 66:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God" (1 Corinthians 2:9, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Soul has infinite resources with which to bless mankind, and happiness would be more readily attained and would be more secure in our keeping, if sought in Soul" (p. 60).

Modern Plumber's Education

The ability to bring the right tools and to cope with an emergency now and then is not sufficient to be a good plumber, according to the U. S. office of education, Washington, D. C. The day of the "handy man" plumber is past, the office reports, and today an efficient plumber must have "an elementary knowledge of bacteriology, chemistry, physics, mathematics and drawing as they apply to the plumbing trade." In addition to this knowledge the plumber should also "know something about the history and organization of the plumbing trade, plan reading, plumbing materials, fixtures and appliances, care and use of tools and equipment, safety and accident prevention, plumbing laws and the business aspects of plumbing." The office of education, which has made a study of the plumbing business, says that "the industry regrets the ease with which it has been possible in the past for an individual to 'break in' to the trade by working for a master plumber for a brief period and then going into the plumbing business for himself."

NEWTON GIRL PLACES THIRD IN ARCHERY

Letitia Doten, fifteen years old, of Page rd., Newtonville, placed third in the junior women's national archery tournament at Amherst, Mass., last week. She was the only Massachusetts girl to compete in the tournament which attracted entries from twenty-four different states. The event was won by a girl archer from Arizona with second place being taken by a New York representative.

Miss Doten has been shooting for a year. She also was a member of the women's team which placed third among all the United States teams entered. The Newtonville girl was second high archer on this team. She is the sister of Scott Doten who won the national boys junior title in 1939. The latter was unable to defend his title in this year's events.

Another Newton entry in the tournaments held at Amherst was Bob Goldich, former State and National junior champion. Goldich with a partner won an archery-gold match in which the pair of archers defeated a pair of golfers. The golfers played and shot for the hole on the green under golfing rules while the archers shot for a 5-inch ring placed vertically on the green.

Expert Advises Women

To Budget Their Time

Most health authorities tell us to figure out how much sleep we need per night, then to bend every effort to get that amount.

But here's an expert who says that the important thing is to figure out how many hours of activity—mental and physical—you can stand per day, then to organize your resting and sleeping hours accordingly.

She is Josephine L. Rathbone, Ph. D., assistant professor of health and physical education at Teachers' college, Columbia university.

"Make it your business to find out how much stimulation you can stand," says the dark-haired, attractive Miss Rathbone. "Study until you know definitely.

"It's a great mistake to continue to drive yourself. When you have done all that your body will do willingly, stop going at top speed and let down."

Miss Rathbone says that the obvious lack of poise among so many women today is the result of trying to do too much. They leave themselves no time at all for relaxation.

"The homemaker who finds herself physically tired and extremely nervous after a morning of getting the children off to school and putting the house in order ought not to force herself to play bridge that afternoon. It's a nap—not bridge—that she needs."

Miss Rathbone is even firmer in her convictions about what the career woman should and should not do.

"A day's work never hurt anyone," says the practical teacher. "But a day's work plus a speaking engagement at luncheon, a dinner date to discuss business and an evening of finishing a paper for the board of directors or an article for a magazine is too much for the average business woman."

Unmatched Eye Images Often Cause Headaches

Just as some persons have one foot larger than the other, there are persons who have one eye that sees a larger image than does the other eye, reports the Better Vision Institute. This condition is known as "anisokonia." Recent studies indicate that cases of unmatched visual images are not uncommon. The condition frequently may result in fatigue from reading, headaches, nervousness and train or sea-sickness.

An interesting case of unequal visual images is reported in a college student. He was found to have normal vision in each eye, but was subject to headaches, blurred vision after extensive use of his eyes in reading. He had taken for six months orthoptic eye exercises without relief. Investigation showed that the size of the image in the right eye was 3 per cent smaller than the image in his left eye. Spectacles to correct the anisokonia were provided. His headaches were reduced immediately, he can read longer without fatigue, and at the same time blurred, double vision was eliminated.

More Toys

Toy orders placed thus far this year are about 15 per cent ahead of comparative 1939 figures, H. E. Luhrs, president of the Toy Manufacturers of the U. S. A., Inc., announced recently. Mr. Luhrs also stated that the American toy industry was virtually independent of foreign sources of supply and regardless of war conditions this country's normal quota of $230,000,000 worth of toys would be available.

"If buyers will protect themselves by placing orders early enough to permit the manufacture of the merchandise, American toy makers are certain that they can fill all requirements as usual, no matter what happens abroad," he said.

The interest in national defense, he added, has been reflected in increased production of toy airplanes, toy soldiers and sailors in American uniforms, miniature submarines, destroyers, coast gun defenses, air rifles, marksmanship ranges and games based on battle strategy.

Plaster Cracks Unavoidable

There's nothing quite so disheartening to a homemaker as a freshly decorated room that has suddenly developed ugly plaster cracks.

Tragic though it may be, it's understandable. Plastering brings into the house between 200 and 300 gallons of water that must be evaporated. In the evaporation process the lumber framing of the house is subject to warping and twisting. The natural result is broken plaster.

A new and successful solution to this problem is the use of insulation board lath as a plaster base. The lath forms a moisture-resistant barrier between the plaster and framing which will not buckle as the plaster dries out.

The insulating lath is obtainable in thicknesses of one-half inch, three-quarter inch and one inch and furnishes valuable insulation protection in addition to providing a stronger plaster base.

No Elis

It was six years before anyone in Popular Bluffs, Mo., named a baby Eli, although Eli Sliger, Eli Martin, Eli Campbell and Eli Osborn offered $1 each to the child whose parents took that name for their child. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Macom now demand that the Elis hand over $4.

Sale of Waste Paper To Net City $30,000 Yearly

At a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Wednesday night it was voted to appropriate $4000 to buy a paper baling machine. Alderman McKay, chairman of the Finance Committee told the Aldermen that because the war has caused the price of paper to take a huge jump, the city can sell craft paper, cardboard and corrugated paper products at $30 the ton. He said that the Street Department collects about 40 tons of mixed papers daily and it is estimated that 25 per cent of this can be baled and sold. He explained that four men will be required to sort and bale the paper and that under present prices he estimated that the city will receive $30,000 yearly profits from the sale of it. Under normal prices the profits would be about $12,000. Street Commissioner Haughey recommended the purchase of the paper baler, and Mayor Goddard approved the recommendation. The Town of Brookline has for years sold waste paper. Alderman Jamieson said that there will be a sufficient quantity of unsalable paper to provide fuel for the incinerator at Newton Highlands.

The meeting was primarily called to draw jurors, and the names of ten Newton men were pulled from the box containing the jury lists. Those drawn to serve at the criminal business session of the Superior Court at Cambridge starting September 4 are: Henry Haynes, 15 Lindbergh ave., West Newton; George Linberg, 19 Kirkstall rd., Newtonville; William Seaver, 18 Under normal rd., Auburndale; Spencer Stewart, 75 Central st., Auburndale. Those drawn to serve at the civil business session are: William Egan, 29 Minot place, Newtonville; Charles Nason, 1875 Commonwealth ave., Auburndale; Edward Brown, 78 Walker st., Newtonville; Channing Waldron, 201 Highland ave., Newtonville; Earl Brackett, 420 Waltham st., West Newton; James Heffron, Jr., 10 Cherry place, West Newton.

A petition from Lasell Junior College asking that the Newton building code be amended so that the use of dormitories on third floors of wooden buildings will be permitted, was referred to the Claims and Rules Committee. Lasell College owns and uses several buildings with dormitories on third floors. When the building code was adopted a couple of years ago, a special provision permitted the use of dormitories on third floors only until July 1, 1940.

RECENT DEATHS

THOMAS F. BRENNAN

Thomas F. Brennan of 15 Ardmore rd., West Newton, was fatally injured in a fall at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, on August 9, dying at Portsmouth Hospital several hours after the accident. He was born at Proctor, Vermont, 55 years ago and had resided in this city for 20 years. He was New England manager for the F. E. Compton Company of Chicago and had been associated with them for 30 years.

Mr. Brennan is survived by his widow, Mrs. Julia T. Brennan; two daughters, Helen and Mary Brennan; two sisters, Miss Grace Brennan and Mrs. Katherine Horne, both of Proctor, Vermont; and five brothers, Messrs. P. C. Brennan of Burlington, Vermont; James of Pittsburgh, Robert of Chicago, William of Proctor, Vt.; and Walter of West Newton. His funeral service was held at St. Bernard's Church on Monday. The solemn requiem mass was sung by Monsignor Brennan; a nephew, Rev. Father Horne of Burlington, Vt., was deacon; and two cousins, Rev. Fr. Joyce of Northfield, Vt., and Rev. John Ready of Manchester, Vt., were sub-deacon and master of ceremonies. Rev. Thomas Connor of Rutland, Vt., and Rev. Fr. Sullivan of Burlington were in the sanctuary. Interment was in St. Dominic's Cemetery at Proctor, Vermont.

MARY F. BUCKLEY

Mrs. Mary (Ford) Buckley, widow of the late John Buckley, of 7 Hale st., Newton Upper Falls, died on Friday, August 9. She is survived by a daughter Mrs. Thomas H. Simpson of 336 Elliot st., Newton Upper Falls, 7 grandchildren, and three sisters, the Misses Margaret M., Ellen G., and Elizabeth L. Ford of 7 Hale st. Funeral services were held on Monday from her late home on Monday August 12 at 8 o'clock followed by a requiem high mass at the Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church at 9 o'clock. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Needham.

JOHN D. MCCARTHY

John D. McCarthy of 37 North st., Newton Centre, a resident of this city for 75 years, died on August 9. He was born in County Cork, Ireland, 93 years ago and was a retired employee of the Newton Street Department. Mr. McCarthy had also been engaged in the florist business. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Martin O'Connor of Homer st., and Mrs. Percy Keating of North st., and six grandchildren. His funeral service was held on Monday morning at Sacred Heart Church and burial was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

Bathers Ride the Waves On New Bags of Wind

Almost every year something new in the way of gadgets to make bathing more enjoyable pops up at the beaches that skirt the coast of California. The visitor to these sunny watering places will see, and ride on, bags of wind that probably were inspired by the familiar "water wings."

The light-weight sacks are made of material which is practically water-tight when it is wet, and are big enough to support a husky 200-pound swimmer. They can be filled with a pump, or by just blowing wind into them.

Some of the users of the new contraption to add to the fun of playing in the surf and the sunshine worked out a trick which makes a pump unnecessary and which calls for only a little lung work. They open the mouth of the bag, hold it shoulder-high and run with it. The breeze fills the balloon-like device which can be blown up tight with the addition of a little human breath.

The bags of wind are popular not only with youngsters, but with grown-ups, too. It is easy to push one of the things out beyond the surf line and ride in on the crests of restless waves. If the surf is strong the rider hits a snappy pace and bobs about like a cork stopper in a mill-race. In lively water it is something of a trick to stay on one of these overgrown pillows.

The bags are popular with vacationists who are not crack swimmers but who like to spend a lot of time in the water. With the co-operation of the sausage-like playthings, it is possible to float comfortably around for hours, basking in the well-known California sunshine.

Devotees of the sleek surf-board sometimes ride the new gadgets just for the fun of it, but they prefer the wooden slivers that this country adopted from Hawaii. A crack rider of the surf-board can slide along at 30 miles an hour when the surf is right and, of course, no such speed is possible on a blimp-like contraption fashioned of cloth.

Rare 'Streamlined' Fish Caught Near California

The American Museum of Natural History has acquired a rare streamlined fish, called Acrotus Willoughbyi, which has neither scales nor ventral nor balancing fins, and is believed to be an aquatic speed champion. Dr. John T. Nichols, curator of fishes, has reported. The fifth of its kind known to have been caught, the fish was taken by L. A. Yecny of Salinas, Calif., at Monterey, Calif.

The fish is of great interest to science, Dr. Nichols said. It has no known near relatives, but the shape of its tail suggests a relationship to the mackerel. It was purchased with the object of making a study to determine where it belongs in the scale of fish evolution. A cast will be placed on exhibition.

The specimen measures 5 feet 4 inches in length and weighs 70 pounds. The lack of ventral fins accounts for the name Acrotus, which is derived from the Greek and means "without oars." The latter part of the name comes from Charles A. Willoughby, an Indian agent who caught the first specimen in 1887 on the Pacific coast.

Aids Lumbering
Development of dry kilns with automatic control of temperature, humidity and air circulation has radically changed lumber seasoning practices, according to the forest products laboratories of the department of mines and resources, Ottawa.

Certain species of wood can now be dried in kilns and put to exacting uses a few days after being sawed, while other species, more difficult to dry, may be made ready for fabrication in a matter of weeks. Formerly timber was piled in a yard for several months and sometimes for years. If it was required for exacting uses such as for furniture it was held in a building for a further long period before being finally used.

The use of these highly efficient dry kilns also eliminates to a large extent losses through checking, cupping, staining and other seasoning defects which formerly were sometimes responsible for reducing the value of wood by as much as 25 per cent.

Diet Hinders Conservation
Netherlands authorities in Java, trying to carry out an admirably planned conservation program, have their troubles because of many native beliefs and habits.

The Malays believe that children can acquire the characteristics of birds by eating them. So they feed kingbirds and shrikes to infants, to make them lively and communicative. Dull, lazy children are compelled to eat fantailed flycatchers, which are very active, industrious birds.

A great deal of destruction of bird life is wrought through the Malay fondness for pets. Children are given young storks, bulbuls, pigeons and starlings to play with—naturally, with ultimately fatal results to the birds.

Some birds are not given even nominal protection simply because enforcement of regulations would be impossible. Fish owls, which really are valuable birds, are killed for food even by native policemen.

Thousand Jets Poison Gas Contained in Smoke

Here is a little primer of facts about smoke:

Wood smoke—That's the kind the person who has read this far is probably thinking about right now. It's the friendly smoke of fireplaces and of burning brush on brittle autumn days. Yet this smoke contains carbon monoxide and acetic acid, as well as other gases. Remember how it makes your eyes sting? That's the acetic acid in it, and in a closed place this smoke is highly poisonous.

Coal smoke—Sooty but relatively innocuous, most people would estimate. Men who've fought fires in mines know differently. When a grimy fighter is carried out, dead or unconscious, they say he's been "sulphured." He inhaled a lungful of sulphur dioxide, the gas in this smoke which is something like sulphuric acid. (That's the gas that smelled so badly of rotten eggs when you were studying high school chemistry.)

House or building smoke—This is real smoke. A man doesn't know much about smoke until he's groped through this pitchy but formless nothingness, his mouth agape while he gasps for oxygen that can't enter because his throat or his lungs are locked tight.

This smoke is a conglomerate of gases from furniture, clothing, leather, paint, and all the other innumerable materials that might be contained in a house or factory. Imagine a thousand jets of poison gas, blown into a fine spray, that you must breathe continuously, every time your lungs open for air.

Some of the gases in this smoke—the hydrocarbons—are not fatal in themselves. They act like an anesthetic, making a person groggy so that he just curls up asleep in a corner, until the flames roar over him and burn him alive.

But there are other gases that actually suffocate their victims, and each has its own diabolic technique.

Ancient Directions for Grinding Oil Colors

Quaint directions for grinding oil colors as prepared in England two centuries ago are given in an interesting old book the title of which has become lost. "Take about two spoonfuls of the Colour you intend to Grind and put to it a little Linseed Oyl, (but see you put not too much) mix them together, and grind them well upon your stone with a Muller: add Oyl by degrees, till it comes to the thickness of an Ointment, for so it grinds much better than when it is so thin as to run about the stone: oftentimes as you grind, bring the matter together with a piece of Lanthorn horn, and to the mackerel. It was purchased with the object of making a study to determine where it belongs in the scale of fish evolution. A cast will be placed on exhibition.

The specimen measures 5 feet 4 inches in length and weighs 70 pounds. The lack of ventral fins accounts for the name Acrotus, which is derived from the Greek and means "without oars." The latter part of the name comes from Charles A. Willoughby, an Indian agent who caught the first specimen in 1887 on the Pacific coast.

Game Hunter for Government

Henry J. Helgeson of Montana comes by his picturesque nickname, "Buffalo Hank," through 14 years of buffalo and other game hunting for the government—a job of thinning out old and decrepit animals from the herds at Yellowstone National park and on the Moiese National Bison reserve in Montana.

During that period, "Buffalo Hank" claims 1,487 buffalo, in addition to 453 of 178 deer and 16 bears, have fallen before his trusty high-powered rifle, making him an ace buffalo hunter of modern times. Helgeson has had many narrow escapes as a professional buffalo hunter, with his closest call, he said, being when an enraged animal gored him. Only his clear thinking and quick action in cutting the animal's throat while hanging onto one of the horns saved him from death.

Helgeson is a buffalo hunter for the government in the winter, and a butcher during the summer at Missoula, where he has been a resident 32 years.

Examine Eyes Periodically

Greater safety on the highways would result if the eyes of automobile drivers were examined periodically, according to the Better Vision Institute.

Laws of many states now provide for periodic checks on brakes, lights and other equipment on the car in the interest of greater safety, all of which is discounted greatly in value if the driver does not see well, says the Institute, which believes that the number of persons who would be forced to give up driving would be negligible. Only a very small percentage of visual defects cannot be corrected by optical science, says the Institute, adding that one of the important results of such checks would be to call attention of many drivers to unsuspected visual shortcomings.

Bump Detector

A car which detects and records all discomforts known to rail travelers has been invented by an Indian railway official in Bombay. The coach, which is designed to run on railway lines, registers any bumps or jolts by electricity.

Camp F. A. Day

The final canoe regatta of the 1940 Camp Frank A. Day season will be conducted on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Trials for the entries will be held this afternoon (Friday), and those who are successful will be in the finals on Sunday. The Sunday afternoon regatta will be in the form of an exhibition to which parents and friends of the Camp are cordially invited. The events to be contested are the following: Single Blade, Doubles, In and Out, in which the best pair of boys to get out of the canoe and then get back in on command of the counselor's whistle will be the winners, the Run, Swim and Paddle and the Gunwhales. An additional event added for the benefit of the Midgets is the Rowboat Race.

On tomorrow afternoon the final track meet of the season will be conducted, and like the Regatta, the winners will be awarded ribbons at the Camp Banquet on Monday night, August 26th. All three divisions of the Camp will be included in the meet. Such races as the 50 yard dash, 100 yard dash, as well as further distances, discus throw and shot-put are on the program.

Beginning on Monday of next week the Camp will be busily engaged in the events that always herald the last full week of the Camp season. The deciding games of the League schedule start on that day and will be completed by Wednesday. The tennis tournament will also get under way Monday and will culminate on Saturday morning in finals for the Senior and Junior camps. Wednesday and Thursday are the days of the long awaited days for the Treasure Hunt. Each year the boys, armed with pencil and paper search out the many clues hidden in the neighborhood, decipher them, and then race on to the next clue. The winners find their reward in the acclaim of fellow-campers on Banquet night.

Committees appointed by Associate Director Johnson are as follows: Treasurer—Hunt; Senior Division: Walter Ward, Duncan Whitehill, Gardner Hess; Junior Division: Arthur Wright, Ed Keenan, Ben Alexander; Midget Division—Robert Myers, Arthur Barnard, David Clare.

Minstrel Show—held on Saturday night, August 24th—committee headed by Director Clyde G. Hess and assisted by Prescott Coan, Everett Bauman, William McLellan, Steven Randall, Arthur Barnard, Warren Kelly, Gardner Hess, Richard Hess, Robert Myers and Lew McKinney. Tennis Tournament Committee—Lew McKinney, chairman; David Clare, William McLellan, Richard Karb.

Evening Programs Prove Interesting
On last Saturday night the presentation by the Camp Dramatic Club was regarded by the campers and guests as the outstanding presentation of the year. The campers opened the evening's program with a presentation named, "When the Cat's Away." Mirth-provoking situations in the play resulted when an English noble returns unexpectedly from a vacation trip, and finds his servants having a house party. Leading roles in the play were taken by the following boys: Jack Callahan, Carl Needy, and Albert Feldman. They were aided in supporting roles by Don Cashion, Ted Drisko, Tony Glaser and Bob Seaward.

A musical interlude preceded the offering of the counselors which was labeled "The Haunted Inn." Stolen jewels, oriental assassins, and hideous monster all combined to create a half hour of eeriness that sent icy shivers up and down the spines of the onlookers. Ed Frye, Bill McLellan, Everett Bauman, Steven Randall, Don Weeks, Robert Myers, Ben Alexander and Robert Hayton made up the third, that they averaged cast.

Last Saturday witnessed the third swim meet of the season at the Camp waterfront under the direction of the Waterfront Committee. The final swim meet for which ribbons are awarded to the winners at the Final Banquet will be held on Saturday, August 24th. The Tigers were returned the victors over the Indians and Red Sox in that order in the Senior Camp, while the Giants overwhelmed the Reds and the Dodgers in the Junior Camp. Cornell defeated the Dartmouth team in the Midget Camp to provide an upset.

Individual honors in the Senior Camp were divided between Jack Callahan of the Indians and Gil Tibolt of the Tigers. The former won the 25 yard dash and the 50 yard dash while the latter broke the Camp record in winning the Underwater Swim and the Backstroke. A like tie existed in the Junior Camp where Jack Clark with a first in the 25 yard dash and in the Backstroke was equaled by Don Cashion's firsts in the Distance and Breaststroke events. Mortimer Morse captured honors in the Midget Camp with a first in the 25 yard dash and in the Dives.

Summary:
Senior Camp—25 yard freestyle: 1, Callahan; 2, Humphrey; 3, M. Morse.
50 yard freestyle: 1, Callahan; 2, Humphrey; 3, Axelrod.
Breaststroke: 1, Cortell; 2, Bixby; 3, R. Morse.
Backstroke: 1, G. Tibolt; 2, Malton; 3, Johnson.
Underwater Swim: 1, G. Tibolt; 2, Bixby; 3, Seaward.
Distance Swim: 1, M. Morse; 2, Cortell; 3, Hansen.
Relay Race: 1, Indians; 2, Tigers; 3, Red Sox.

Junior Camp—
25 yard freestyle: 1, Clark; 2, Walton; 3, Fuller.
Breaststroke: 1, D. Cashion; 2, G. Gifford; 3, Simons.
Backstroke: 1, Clark; 2, Knight; 3, Walton.
Underwater Swim: 1, Harvey; 2, Fuller; 3, Cummings.
Distance Swim: 1, D. Cashion; 2, Harvey; 3, G. Gifford.
Dives: 1, R. Cashion; 2, D. Cashion; 3, Chandler.

Relay Race: 1, Giants; 2, Reds; 3, Dodgers.

Midget Camp—
25 yard freestyle: 1, Morse; 2, Nichols; 3, N. Gifford.

Plunge: 1, N. Gifford; 2, Nichols; 3, Seaver.

Beginners' Race: 1, Beevers; 2, Simpson; 3, Gardard.
Dives: 1, Morse; 2, Keohane; 3, Seaver.

Monday night was known as "Surprise Night" to the Campers, for Chief Hess had set the stage by an announcement on the Sunday night previously. All boys were on tiptoes with excitement when the evening meal came around. The Chief created even more intense feeling by stating that all boys would meet on the ball field at Assembly, eight o'clock in the evening, but he warned them not to try and touch the animals that were there. Nothing could be seen by the boys when they went to the field, but their guesses as to the evening fun ranged from a snipe hunt to a greased pig race.

At exactly eight o'clock the Chief and the Assistant Directors went to the ball field, and told the boys that the event would start in a few minutes. In the meantime the Rangers were busy setting up the Assembly Hall for an unexpected movie show. When they were called by the notes of the bugle to the Hall, and there saw all set for a show. Perhaps the best movie of the year was the night's entertainment, furnished through the kindness of Mr. Huden, father of Ray Huden of Tent 23. The thanks of the Camp go out to him for this grand treat.

On Thursday night the Brookfield Town Team came again to Camp and engaged in a closely contested basketball game with Counselors' team. Much spirit was shown by the boys in cheering their leaders on to victory.

A "bag supper" preceded the game and after it was over the boys enjoyed ice cream cones served by the Directors and the Chef, Nils Johnson.

Life-saving class for the final period is the best attended of the past five years, a tribute to the earnest work of the instructors, George Alcott and Robert Hayton. Twenty boys meet once each day and there pursue a course outlined by the American Red Cross. Examinations will be conducted on Friday and Saturday of next week, and if a majority of the class pass the tests the successful number for this year will be greater than for many years.

Delay In Pipe Delivery Holds Up Water Main Job

A delay in the receipt of 16 inch pipe for the water main at Newton Highlands is holding up the completion of the section from the pumping station to the intersection of Winchester and Wallace sts. The length of the main is 3350 feet and of this about 2800 feet has been laid. It is expected that the pipe needed will be delivered in about a week.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by William A. Connolly and Rebecca H. Connolly, husband and wife, as tenants in the entirety and not as tenants in common, to Auburndale Co-operative Bank, dated February 17, 1932, recorded with Middlesex County (South District) Deeds, Book 6186, Page 618, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at ten o'clock A. M. (United States Time) on the twenty-seventh day of August, A. D. 1940, on the premises in Newton, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, to wit:

"A certain parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in said Newton and being shown as Lot 3 (three) on plan entitled, 'Land in Newton of Geo. P. Ridgway', drawn by E. S. Smiley, Surveyor, dated December 28, 1891, and recorded with Middlesex County (South District) Deeds at the end of Book 2119, and bounded and described as follows:

"SOUTHEASTERLY by Grasmere Street, sixty (60) feet;
 "SOUTHWESTERLY by the lot numbered 12, as shown on said plan, one hundred nineteen and ninety-five hundredths (129.95) feet;
 "NORTHEASTERLY by land now or formerly of Hardon and land now or formerly of Macomber, sixty (60) feet; and

"NORTHEASTERLY by the lot numbered 4 on said plan, being land now or formerly of Molheue, one hundred nineteen and ninety-five hundredths (119.95) feet;
 "Containing about seven thousand one hundred and ninety-seven (7197) square feet of land."

"The said premises conveyed to us by deed of Victor H. Vaughan, Trustee, dated February 4, 1938, to be recorded herewith."

"This conveyance is made subject to the restrictions of record, so far as the same are now in force and applicable."

"The undersigned is the present holder of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at ten o'clock A. M. on Wednesday, the twenty-seventh day of August, A. D. 1940, on the premises hereinafter described in said mortgage, to wit:

July Report of Safety Council

The July report issued by the Massachusetts Safety Council comments that there has been a large increase in the number of automobiles registered in Massachusetts and also heavier volume of tourist travel by motorists from other States. The first half of this year showed an appreciable increase in fatalities until the month of June came. In that month, however, there were 45 deaths caused by automobiles, which brought the number of fatalities for the first six months of 1940 to 244 as compared with 235 for the corresponding period in 1939. Sixteen of the fatalities were children, eight of them under 8 years of age. Three fatal accidents to children in June were the result of stealing rides on motor vehicles.

Newton rated fourth in cities between 50,000 and 100,000 population during the first 6 months. There were 238 accidents involving automobiles here during that period; 3 fatalities and 351 persons claimed to have received injuries.

Newton Man Dies After Auto Crash

Malvin K. Moody, 23, of 269 Park st., Newton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moody died on August 13 at the Tobey Memorial Hospital in Wareham. The young man was a passenger in an automobile driven by Paul Burke of Wapping Falls, New York, which went out of control on a curve at Falmouth last Saturday. The car left the highway, overturned and pinned Moody underneath. The youth was a member of the class of 1940 at Tufts College. He is survived by his parents and a sister, Ammaline Moody. His funeral was held yesterday.

Never Missed

Col. Matt J. Winn of Kentucky Derby fame has never missed a running of that famous race. He saw the first one ever run, in 1875, when he was 13.

Gopher Snake Protected

The gopher snake, so called because it preys on gophers and thus protects crops, is protected by many western farmers.

Forbid Bathing In Charles River

Bathing at the beach at Allison Park playground, Nonantum, has again been prohibited because tests recently made by Inspector Robertson of the Newton Health Department showed pollution in the Charles River there. A small bathhouse recently constructed at the place was dismantled and an employee of the Recreation Department stationed there to stop any children from bathing. In recent years, including last year, bathing was also forbidden at this part of the river because of pollution in the water.

A few hundred yards down the river from Allison Park, on the Watertown side of the Charles, is the costly bathing beach and large bathhouse erected a few years ago at a cost of over $65,000 by the Metropolitan District Commission, after persistent efforts by two Watertown members of the Legislature, who ought to have known of the polluted condition which had been evident in this section of the river for many years. Newton paid a considerable share toward the cost of this bathing place for Watertown. This M. D. C. beach was continued in use for some weeks last year after tests had shown there was pollution in the river immediately above it, and the Newton Recreation Department had closed Allison beach. The Watertown beach is still in use.

Newton K. of C. To Hold Outing

Newton Council, Knights of Columbus, will hold a joint outing with Waltham and Watertown Councils on Sunday, August 25, at Nabbassett Lake Country Club. Those who will participate in the outing will meet in front of Engine 1 house on Washington st. at 11:30 a. m. on that day and proceed in automobiles to the location of the outing. The committee in charge of the affair includes Austin Morgan, Percy Keating, Raymond Keegan and Louis Farmer of Newton Council.

Police Get Nickels

A new item has been added to equipment of St. Louis policemen who ride in scout cars—a supply of nickels. They are for use in public telephones to report descriptions of criminals or other emergency information to the radio dispatcher.

Red Cross Warns Of Hazard of "Dry Ice"

A timely word of warning is issued by the American Red Cross during these warm summer days, when the increasing use of "dry ice" commercially has made this mysterious substance a hazard to be reckoned with in the home. Children especially are the victims of experiments with this solidified gas, which is enormously colder than ice, but will "burn" the hands of anyone who holds it. Because they have heard that it is dangerous, and are intrigued by its appearance, children may be all the more likely to play with chunks of it which they may get hold of in the home, or, more pathetic still, elsewhere, perhaps where it has been dropped at a store or discarded in the street. They should be warned of the terrible danger of this bit of substance. Unfortunately, it may not be distinguishable even to adults in appearance from frozen water, and many are injured who handle it under this mistaken impression. The only safe rule is not to handle any bit of ice or frozen water one does not know where it came from.

One of the favorite, and most dangerous stunts, for children is to place a bit of it in a bottle and screw the top in place. As this changes to a state of gas, with a pressure of 215 pounds to the square inch, it may be realized how terrific may be the explosion, with attendant cuts from flying broken glass.

"Dry ice" is solid carbon dioxide, compressed by means of pressure, in contact with the human body, it feels hot and will cause burns, similar to those resulting from frostbite. A mistake in using it in drinking water could result decidedly painfully. If one has to handle it—or metal objects with which it has come in contact, and this is another warning to be observed—gloves should be worn.

Above all, it should be kept away from the children, and the children away from it, for it is no proper plaything.

The service which the American Red Cross is giving to humanity is especially called to attention during the summer months, when swimming and life-saving courses are going forward wherever there are lakes and ponds; not to mention the ocean; and when hints upon how to prevent and care for accidents in home, or industry, or on farm, and on vacations to camp or country, are being broadcast every Sunday over the NBC Blue Network (Station WBZ) at one o'clock, daylight saving time, through Sept. 1st.

No one may ever know how many lives have been saved through these services during the year since they inaugurated not only these teachings but the opening of Red Cross Emergency Stations. But thousands of homes have been spared tragedy and sorrow through this humanitarian work, and it will be well for all to heed the advice and help they offer—in the words they have given so aptly as the title of the broadcast series, "Listen and Live."

Odd Alimony

Rather than enter a legal row with her divorced husband over alimony, Mrs. Bertha Ross told an Omaha, Neb., court that they had reached a settlement. Every time she happens to meet him downtown, he will pay her whatever money he has in his pockets.

Speeders Fined In Newton Court

In the Newton court last Friday Judge Creehan fined Roy Tomasetti of Framingham $25 for driving by a street intersection at a speed of 35 miles an hour. Patrolman Dowling testified that the defendant passed Highland and Chestnut streets at this speed. A similar fine was imposed on Walter Peterson of Roxbury for driving on Lexington st. at a speed of 45 miles an hour; it having been Peterson's second conviction. But, he didn't have to pay the fine as it was suspended. Joseph Caruso of East Boston was fined $5 for speeding, and another $5 for driving by a red light showing in the traffic signal at Commonwealth ave. and Lexington st.

Joseph Callahan of 110 Cedar st., Newton Centre, was found guilty of speeding, and Sylvia Knight of Allen rd., Waban, was found guilty of not slowing down at a street intersection. As it was their first conviction, their cases were placed on file.

A number of speeders were fined $5 each by Judge Nagle in the Newton court on Friday. Included among them were Marion Snow, 425 Newtonville, Newtonville; Police Officer, 115 Jovett st., Newton; Warren Eaton, Alder st., Waltham; Emil Threbeau, Adams st., Waltham; Robert Rudy, Beacon st., Brookline.

For not stopping before driving a car onto a through street, John Jucola of Revere was fined $5 and William Lucas of Lynn, $3. Alfred Camorali of South Boston was fined $5 for disregarding a red light in a traffic signal.

Auto Kills Man On Pike at Newton Ctr.

John Rosa, 50, of 57 Jackson st., Newton Centre, was fatally injured about 8:30 Sunday evening as he was crossing the Worcester turnpike at Langley rd., Thompsonville by an automobile driven by Max Sagansky of 10 Vista rd., Dorchester. Rosa had reached a spot about 10 feet from the north curb when he was hit. According to witnesses the impact hurled him high into the air and Sagansky's car proceeded about 75 feet before stopping. The victim was taken to Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. He died five hours later of a fractured skull and other injuries, which included internal, a fractured right arm and a compound fracture of the right leg. Rosa was employed as a gardener and is survived by his widow and three children, who live in Italy. His funeral services were held on Wednesday at Leominster, where his sister resides, and burial was in that town.

Inspector Hamill and Traffic Officer Dowling of the Newton police, after investigating the accident, obtained a warrant for Sagansky's arrest on the charge of driving so as to endanger. Sagansky arrived at police headquarters on Monday afternoon with his attorney and was released on bail after having been booked. He was arraigned in court on Tuesday and the case was continued until August 27. According to Sagansky he was proceeding at a speed of only 15 miles when he hit Rosa.

Rosa's death was the fourth automobile fatality in Newton this year, and of these three were pedestrians. On March 28 the driver of a car was fatally injured when the automobile he was driving hit a ridge of icy snow on Washington st. near the Woodland Golf Club, and the car was wrecked. On the night of June 1 Henry Simcock, 76, of Parker ave., Newton Centre was hit while crossing the turnpike at Walnut st. by a car driven by John Oldfield of Holliston, and fatally injured. An inquest was held before Judge Delay and he found that the evidence showed apparent negligence on the part of the driver. Oldfield was tried in the Newton court on July 23 before Judge Nagle and found not guilty of driving to endanger.

On June 12 opposite 15 Prospect st., West Newton, Harry Walsh, 4, was fatally injured when an ice truck backed over him. An inquest was held before Judge Delay and the driver of the truck, Walter Townsend of Natick, was found not to have been at fault.

Tractor Runs Over 3-Year-Old Boy at Newton

Paul Quinlan, 3, son of James Quinlan, employed on the Henry I. Harriman estate at 825 Centre st., Newton, was injured about the head and body about 9:30 a. m. last Saturday when a tractor, which was being operated on that estate, hit him. Lawrence Griffin of Dorchester, operator of the tractor, reported to the police that the boy ran in front of the tractor. Griffin swore the tractor in an effort to avoid hitting the child, and the machine went into a small pond nearby. The boy was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance.

Bicycles and Cars In Collisions

Two children riding bicycles were in collisions with automobiles in this city on Wednesday afternoon. About 3 o'clock Carol Jepsen, 9, of 25 Wesley st., Newton, was riding her bicycle on Centre st. near Clinton place, when it was in collision with a beach wagon driven by Margaret Hendricks of 329 Longwood ave., Boston. The Jepsen girl received slight injuries.

At 5:15 p. m. Wednesday a car driven by Edith Chambers of Pine Grove st., Needham, was in collision opposite 197 Grove st., Auburndale, with a bicycle ridden by Richard Owens, 14, of that address. The boy rode out of his driveway and fell from the bicycle before the automobile hit it.

Arrested After Auto Accident

Carl Hegelson, 35, of Plympton st., Waltham, was placed under arrest by Newton police last Friday night on charges of driving so as to endanger, and leaving the scene of an accident without revealing his identity. The preceding night a car driven by Elinor Brothers of 1581 Washington st., West Newton, who was accompanied by Hegelson and driving on his license, hit a car driven by Joseph Muise of Bacon st., Waltham, at the intersection of Chestnut and Fuller sts., Waban, tipping it over. Muise reported to the police that he crawled out of his car and started to walk toward Hegelson's car, when a bystander called his attention to the fact that the motor in his car was running. Muise went back and shut off the motor, and when he returned to where Hegelson's car had been stopped, it had gone. Hegelson reported later to police headquarters. Muise claimed he had received injuries. Hegelson was arraigned in the Newton court and his case was continued until Sept. 26.

Rowe Will Give Radio Talks

Edward M. Rowe, Republican candidate for Congress, will begin a series of radio talks Monday evening entitled "Congress and You" in which he will discuss the issues of the campaign. These talks, according to Rowe will be entirely different than the usual political radio speeches. Instead of the candidate dominating the program the people of the district are urged to participate in it by sending in questions. Rowe will answer all questions pertaining to the campaign, his opponents himself or the issues. The programs will begin with a theme song and each evening a prominent guest speaker will introduce Rowe, after a brief talk the remainder of the time will be spent answering the questions sent in. The programs will run every Monday, Wednesday and Friday over WCOP at 6:15 p. m.

On Thursday evening Rowe addressed a large radio audience over WEEL in the interests of the American Red Cross. Rowe announced the appointment of Milton W. Heath as the chairman of his Newton campaign. Mr. Heath will have the assistance of Wm. Albert Gallup, F. J. Leigh Moore, Roy S. Edwards and Frederic B. Eastman all prominent Newton citizens.

Prize Fish Story

Abner Roe, a prominent Isaac Walton of Washington, D. C., has verification for the prize fish story of the year. Bass casting on the Potomac river, Roe was frequently annoyed because his line was snubbing on subsurface roots and other obstructions. One especially vigorous cast placed the plug close to shore. As Roe attempted to reel in, the line grew taut. He had hooked a redhead duck through the fleshy part of the wing. The bird had been crippled and was unable to fly. Next season, Roe says he's going to take his rod and reel with him when he goes duck hunting. "If I can't shoot 'em, I can hook 'em," he believes.

Refer Hutchinson Claim To Auditor

Elliot T. Hutchinson of Indiana et al., Newton Upper Falls, formerly a member of Engine 6 of the Newton Fire Department, has asked that he be retired on a pension because of permanent disability, and that the pension be retroactive to January 1, 1940. Because Hutchinson's application was not received early enough to conform with the requirements for such retroactive payment, the matter has been referred to the actuary of the Newton retirement Pension system for a ruling. Hutchinson states that he delayed making this request because he first applied for a pension under the retirement act applicable to disabled veterans. That application was rejected, and then he made the other application. Hutchinson was appointed a member of the fire department eleven years ago. Early in 1939 he fell over a hose while working at a fire in West Newton and injured his spine. He worked only for a period of a few days sometime after that. He applied last year for extension of sick leave pay, and the matter was under discussion before the Board of Aldermen over a considerable period.

Badger Makes Comeback

The badger is coming back as a commercially important fur-bearing animal if the reports of western Michigan trappers may be taken as a reliable indication.

A native Michigan animal, the badger has been relatively scarce in the state for the last few years, says the Detroit News. In counties bordering Lake Michigan where extensive trapping is carried on, the catch of badger has been light for at least the last 10 years. But fur buyers covering the western part of the state in 1940 found prime pelts frequent and seconds and small pelts much more numerous than on preceding trips.

Prices varied widely, depending on the size and condition of the pelt. One fur buyer established a scale ranging from 50 cents for inferior specimens to as much as $5.50 for prime large pelts.

Politicallight

By THE EDITOR

Number 3

Our third article in the pre-primary series presented for the information of our readers as to the political situation in Massachusetts deals with the contest for the nominations as Republican and Democratic candidates for Congress from the Ninth district, and also candidates for the nominations for Governor's Councilor from the Third district.

G. O. P. Congress

In the Republican field are five candidates each of whom is making his individual campaign although the actual question involved is whether or not the veteran Congressman Robert Luce of Waltham will be renominated or defeated. At the present writing it would seem that the anti-Luce sentiment, which has been in existence for some years, will be so divided that Mr. Luce may again carry the G. O. P. banner in November.

It will be remembered by those interested in politics that Mr. Luce was the Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts in 1912 and 1913 during one of the Governor Foss administrations. Subsequently Mr. Luce became a congressional candidate, defeating the then Mayor Edwin O. Childs of Newton for the Republican nomination by about two hundred votes. The present congressman was elected in 1916 to the 33rd Congress. He served consecutive two-year terms until 1937 when he was defeated by the Democratic candidate, Richard M. Russell, former Mayor of Cambridge. This defeat of Luce came in the Democratic landslide which resounded throughout the country and which resulted in the election of Governor Curley, and all other state-wide Democratic officials except that of Secretary of State in Massachusetts.

Two years ago Luce made a comeback. In the primaries he defeated Edward M. Rowe of Cambridge for the second time and then went on to defeat the New Deal candidate Thomas Eliot, co-writer of the Social Security Act, by a comparatively small plurality. Although having lost some of his seniority rights because of the two-year interruption of service Congressman Luce has important committee assignments and is active in support of Republican principals.

Mr. Luce recently issued a statement from Washington that the importance of his duties as a congressman necessitate his presence in Washington and that he must therefore forego an active campaign. However, the congressman has many friends and supporters who have been working in his behalf.

In candor we must admit that there is considerable anti-Luce sentiment among those who have disagreed with the congressman's views on issues long since decided or minimized by the critical needs of the times. There are also those who feel that the times require a younger, more agile and vigorous congressman. Incidentally a few months ago Mr. Luce contradicted rumors that had begun to circulate regarding his health stating he was still able to shout "No" as forcefully as ever to unwarranted New Deal demands. Luce supporters further contend that Mr. Luce's experience and his value as a veteran legislator are of value greater than the inexperience of a "freshman" incumbent. Within ten days Mr. Luce's office has released a statement quoting Republican leader Joseph W. Martin appreciating Mr. Luce's support and expressing the hope for his reelection.

The four candidates seeking to obtain the nomination from Mr. Luce provide an interesting study. Since the time of the contest that Edward M. Rowe has been a candidate two previous primary campaigns we will discuss his candidacy first. Mr. Rowe is considerably and favorably well-known in Newton, having taught a class in public speaking for some years. He is a teacher of history and economics at Harvard. In two previous efforts to obtain the Republican Congressional nomination he has met with little success. With the presence of others in the field this year there is considerable doubt whether or not he will do as well. Rowe's greatest handicap seems to have been that he has been aiming too high for his first political opportunity.

George F. Foster has resided in Newton for some years. He is comparatively little known and would seem to have no chance whatever in this contest. He is a young man with sound and sincere convictions as to the needs of the district and the duties of a Congressman and apparently has a close friendship with several other Massachusetts officials in Washington. Perhaps more will be heard from him in the future than in the coming campaign. Like Rowe he is aiming high for his first political venture.

The effect of the candidacy of Richard M. Russell in a Republican field is problematical. The ex-Mayor of Cambridge and Congressman in 1937 and 1938 represented the Democratic party at that time. Unquestionably he received several thousand independent or Republican votes in order to defeat Luce four years ago. His presence in the Republican field may well be an effort to hold some of these Republican votes, prevent them from going to others, and thereby help to renominate Mr. Luce, all of which would result in furthering his chances of defeating Luce in the November election.

Representative Philip G. Bowker of Brookline has been campaigning for the Republican G. O. P. nomination for months. He has built up considerable of an organization, obtained something more than 16,000 signatures to his nomination papers, of which he filed around 4,000. A large force of workers have been concentrating their efforts in his behalf and although several other candidates from Brookline were also in the field, one by one they have dropped by the wayside.

Among these were former State Senator Sybil Holmes, the only woman to ever sit in the Massachusetts upper legislative branch. Miss Holmes recently accepted an appointment to work for the election of Wendell Willkie and consequently withdrew.

Representative Bowker has figured prominently in G. O. P. politics for the past eight years. He is aggressive and fearless. Throughout the efforts of the Republican party in opposing Governor Curley and his efforts to control state affairs Bowker was consistently on the firing line. He brought into the open numerous matters which the Democratic leaders were more desirous of having unnoticed. In the past two years as a member of the special commission of the Legislature which has been investigating the pardon and parole system and whose report was filed recently Bowker has worked conscientiously to uncover truths which have helped to reveal the situation.

Were the contest for the Congressional nomination a two-man affair between Luce and the Brookline Representative the latter's chances would be immeasurably increased. Unquestionably Bowker will run well in Brookline and in some other parts of the district. His ultimate chances, however, will depend largely upon his success in cutting into the heavy vote always cast for Mr. Luce in Newton and Waltham. All in all it should be one of the most interesting of the contests from Newton's standpoint.

Russell vs. Eliot

Although there are two other candidates for the Democratic nomination beside ex-Mayor-Congressman Russell and Thomas Eliot the real battle lies between these two. Both (Continued on page 8)

Newton Man At Elwood Impressed By Willkie Speech

(Editor's Note—The following letter was received early this week from Elwood, Indiana, where Milton W. Heath of Waban attended the Willkie acceptance speech ceremonies last Saturday. Mr. Heath has taken an active interest in national political affairs. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan where he was an intimate classmate of Thomas Dewey, one of the leading pre-convention presidential aspirants who was swept aside by the enthusiastic response to the Willkie candidacy. We are pleased to give our readers the first-hand impressions presented by Mr. Heath.)

Elwood, Indiana.

"I thought you might like to have a report from your 'reporter' at the front. I have just listened to the grandest talk by a man that can put America back on its feet. Wendell Willkie did no 'beating around the bush' he came out with the facts and stated them in back to earth language. The most important thing to me, however, was the make up of the thousands attending the meeting. They were a real cross section of the people who made America great. The men and women that believe it necessary make your own security by hard work and constructive production.

I sat in the reserved section next to a lady and her husband from Indianapolis they had been personal friends of the Willkies for twenty-five years. The lady had pressed Mrs. Willkie's white beret (her lucky hat) (worn at Philadelphia) the day before this meeting and her husband had listened to and criticized the Willkie speech during the ironing. On the other side sat a drummer close to ninety—a member of the oldest life and drum corps in Indiana. The crowd was composed of people who came because they wanted to and not from being herded by 'Kelly-Nash', 'Flynn-Schultz', 'Hague-Cromwell' or even 'Haig and Haig' machine politicians.

It was the 'voice of the people' that cheered and the 'you tell them Wendell', the chuckles and loud cheers were spontaneous, not planned or furnished by 'basement radios' with hired gangsters making the noise. Wendell Willkie is a living example of what made this country great. 'The poor boy can be president' idea our forefathers had. Based on the theory that if you work harder—give some—fulfill your citizenship obligations—you have a real opportunity to succeed. Let's have no more leaders believing in scarcity and last frontiers but elect those that believe we have more opportunity ahead than ever before. That we must be FREE—to be free we must PRODUCE.

Here's to a man that makes no wild promises but believes in the fundamentals of democracy and will put the theories to work if we elect him and WE'LL ELECT HIM—WENDELL WILLKIE."

Sincerely,
MILTON W. HEATH.

Newton Second In Home Building

Newton ranked second in this State in July in the value of permits issued for new residences. The estimated cost of residences to be erected under permits issued in Newton last month was $285,700. In fact, were it not that $724,500 of the $780,000 total in permits issued at Fall River are for residences included in a Federal Housing Project, Newton would easily have ranked first. Brookline with a total of $193,500 was third; Boston with $190,700 was fourth; Worcester with $182,050 was fifth.

A large percentage of the residences being erected in Newton are small single dwellings and are being built by workmen who are not Newton residents. The plan to place a minimum size on building lots in this city, which was given hearings several months ago by the Claims and Rules Committee of the Aldermen, and the Newton Planning Board, has not been enacted, and some of those developing real estate in this city are taking advantage of the delay by building residences on small lots.

Women's League Urges Registration Of Voters

The Newton League of Women Voters, a non-partisan organization interested in the promotion of good government, urges all persons who are eligible and who have not registered as voters to do so prior to Wednesday, Aug. 28th that they may vote in the primary election on Sept. 17th. During the week of Sept. 8th the League will conduct a "Voter's Service." It is planned to open information booths in various parts of the city where voters may obtain election and political information. As in former years the League also will conduct a questionnaire of the candidates as to their position on important issues.

Janse Explains His Higher Bid for Garbage Contract

John Janse of Newton Centre, who has had the contracts for collecting garbage in the Newtons for the past 13 years, explains why he increased his bid for this service during the 5 years starting next October by about 5 per cent over the amount he has been receiving the past 5 years. His present contract is at the rate of $42,775 annually. His new bid was $45,000 annually. Mr. Janse says that during the past 5 years 1498 new houses have been erected in this city, and the cost to him of Social Security and Unemployment Compensation Insurance is $1500 yearly.

Janse states that he employs 25 men, all but 2 of whom are married, and he pays them $5 a day wages; some receiving more. All of his employees reside in this city, and none of them has been under the influence of liquor during working hours. He also calls attention to the fact that no complaints have been received of any article having been stolen by his employees, although they have had many opportunities while entering persons' yards.

Mr. Janse says that he is a member of the Massachusetts Society Council, that his employees operate his trucks carefully, and only one minor injury has been caused by them; that of a child who got hit by a rear fender while chasing a ball. His trucks have been driven 100,000 miles without causing a personal injury or property damage, and during 13 years only one driver of his trucks had his license suspended, and that for 5 days. He calls attention to the fact that in Newton there are about 300 miles of streets and a population of 70,000. He says that the Town of Brookline, which collects its own garbage, has a population of 50,000, only 105 miles of streets, and the yearly cost of this service in that town is $42,000. Janse says that he has never sublet the work of collecting the garbage, that he always has an extra truck ready in case of emergency, and that he has performed this important civic task efficiently.

Registration At Newton High School

Notice has been issued by the school authorities for the registration before the opening day on September 9 of all pupils who will enter the Newton High School from private schools or schools outside of Newton.

Placement tests will be given at 8:30 a. m. on Friday, September 6, for candidates who wish to enter the Newton high school. Examinations for college preparatory pupils will be given in English, Mathematics, French, and Latin. Pupils who wish to enter the business course will be examined in English and Arithmetic.

Registration for these tests should be made on Thursday, September 5, in Room 314 at the High School. Pupils should bring their ninth grade school records with them. Pupils wishing conferences before they register may make appointments with Miss Riley in Room 314 at the High School on Tuesday, September 3, and Wednesday, September 4. The telephone number is Newton North 6267. All pupils from fully accredited high schools outside of Newton should register for admission to Grade X, XI, and XII on Wednesday, September 4, on Thursday, September 5 in Room 314.

Burglaries In The Newtons

An attempted break at the home of James Chirug, 82 Elgin st., Newton Centre, was discovered on Tuesday afternoon by Patrolman McCormick. The panel of a door had been broken by someone in his effort to gain entrance to the house. Chirug is on a trip to California. Another attempted burglary was at the home of Raymond Stowell, 5 Briar lane, Newtonville, where a pane of glass in a rear door was found broken. The home of Mrs. Margaret Shanahan at 1561 Washington st., West Newton, was entered over the weekend, but apparently nothing was stolen.

Playground Field Days Draw Crowds

Climaxing the activities of the season, Victory and Boyd Playgrounds joined together in a very successful program on Tuesday afternoon. The program began with a picturesque parade called "Who Am I?" Prize winners were as follows:

1. Susan Terrio as Social Butterfly.
2. Anna Costigan as Victorian Lady.
3. Russell Cadman as Tramp.
4. Catherine Hough as Witch.

The judges of this parade were: Mr. William Jassett, Mr. Edward Norton, Mrs. L. Pierce and Miss Ruth Pierce.

Other participants were: John McQueenie, Soldier; Gerald Murphy, American Officer; Joan Campbell, American Sailor; Abraham McDonald, Dr. Wiskey; Edward Bashian, Aunt Minnie; Margaret Burns, Jockey; Ruth Burns, Jockey; Catherine Howe, Society Girl; Francis Murphy, Baseball Player; Charles Gilly, Policeman; Buddy McQueenie, Huckleberry Finn; Theodore Lauke, Lone Ranger; Richard Mulligan, Cowboy; Donald Cadman, Fortune Teller; Russell Cadman, Tramp; Janet Blouin, Sleepyhead; George Blouin, House Wife; Theresa Blouin, Grandmother; Michael Doyle, Mother; Theresa Drew, House Keeper; Mary Moonie, Gypsy; Jean Morrill, Father; Jean Moran, Wife; Irene Pousseau, Baby; Margaret Copan, Beggar; Elmer Knudsen, Old Woman; Ruth Ryan, Miss Fashion; Vella Volante, Mother; Dorothy Gledhill, Mother Goose; Catherine Macherie, Dancer; Joan Alaman, Dancer; Nancy Morrill, Football Player.

The second number on the program was a group of tap dancers from Boyd Playground including Alice Lensed, Jean Bordinan and Marie Deagle. This number was followed by the Burr sisters from Victory Playground in a Jockey Tap Dance.

The highlight of the afternoon was a Professor Quiz Radio Contest. A group of young people from Boyd Playground against a group from Victory Playground.

Newton Red Cross Offers Prizes In Swimming Meet

An interesting affair is offered for Wednesday August 28th, at Crystal Lake, in a Swimming Meet, which will begin at 10 a. m., arranged jointly by the Newton Playground Department, of which Mr. F. E. Wilson is director, and the Newton Red Cross, with its Chapter of Red Cross, with its Chapter of Red Cross, in charge of certain Special Events, for which prizes will be awarded. These Red Cross features will consist especially of Life-Saving and Rescuing Feats.

Those who would like to compete in these events may do so by obtaining authorization from Mr. Wilson and Mr. Westgate.

Recreation Dept. Presents "Mikado"

The performance of "The Mikado" at Dickinson Stadium on Tuesday night under the auspices of the Newton Recreation Department was attended by an audience of about 2000. The purpose of the performance was to raise money for the benefit of the Newton Chapter of the Red Cross.

The performance was directed by Mrs. Florence Wood Russell of Newton Centre, and the cast included members of the Beacon Light Opera Company and the Highland Glee Club. Ethel Watson took the part of "Yum Yum," Florence Holt was "Pitti Sing," Lucia Goulart, "Peep Bo," Sylvia Hall, "Katisha," Fifi Reagan, was the attendant; Sidney Barker the Mikado; Howard Davee, "Pooh Bah"; Eddie O'Neil, "Koko"; Francis Sefton, "Pish Tush"; Edwin Hansen, "Nanki Poo."

F. E. Wilson was chairman of the committee in charge and was assisted by John Leary, Mrs. Russell, J. Frederick Sweeney and Edward Lerner.

Arrested After Long Pursuit

Joseph C. Headley, 37, of 36 Beverly rd., Newton Highlands, was arrested about midnight on Monday by State Trooper Ernest Thorsell after the policeman had pursued Headley for miles from Framingham into Newton. In the Newton court on Tuesday Thorsell testified that he had observed Headley speeding on the turnpike at Framingham and had to chase him until Newton was reached before he could place him under arrest. He preferred charges of speeding and driving without his license being in his possession. On Headley's request the case was continued.

In the Newton court yesterday Judge Mayberry fined Headley $10 for speeding and $5 for driving without having his license in his possession. Headley remarked that his normal driving speed on trunk line highways is 55 to 65 miles an hour. Judge Mayberry commented that—"Not here it isn't."

Reunion at Burr Park Playground

Recreation Commissioner F. E. Wilson is endeavoring to make the annual field day at Burr Park Playground in Newton next Thursday afternoon also a reunion for grown-ups who have attended this outstanding playground in past years. He has been endeavoring to obtain the names and addresses of those, who as children, participated in the first field day at Burr Park 20 years ago, and has sent them invitations to attend this field day. To those whose addresses were not learned, a general invitation is issued.

Invitations have been sent to members of the Burr family to attend. The Burr Playground was the site of the home of Isaac Tucker Burr, a prominent citizen of Newton a half century and more ago. One of his sons, Heman Burr, was Mayor of Newton in 1889. Another son, Allston Burr, was a prominent member of the Newton Board of Aldermen. The Burr family not only donated the estate to the city as a playground, but spent a large sum of money equipping it and erecting a building there. It was one of the first playgrounds in this city and ranks with the best.

Wants To Swap Land With City

A proposal has been received from Arklay Richards of 26 Parker st. to exchange a lot of land he owns on Winchester st., Newton Highlands, for an adjoining lot of land owned by the city. The land abuts the Newton Highlands playground and is between two lots owned by the city. Recently Richards offered the city $1500 for the lot of land he wants, and on which he proposes to erect a building to be used for light manufacturing, and as a warehouse. The offer was refused. Then, Richards purchased the lot which is between the city-owned lots and proposes the swap.

The Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen recommended against the exchange. The committee report was not acted upon at the request of Alderman Temperley of Ward 5, who asked that possible advantages which may result from the swap be given consideration. It is argued that the consolidation of the two lots would permit their use as an enlargement of the playground.

Francis W. Paine Killed In Subway

Francis W. Paine, 52, of 300 Hammond st., Chestnut Hill, was killed about noon on Thursday when he was run over by a train at South Station Under in the Boston subway. He recently underwent an operation in an effort to save the sight of one eye. Service in the subway was delayed for 15 minutes while the car was jacked up to enable his body to be removed.

Mr. Paine was born in Boston 52 years ago, graduated from Yale in 1910 and received a degree of A.M. from Wisconsin University in 1911. For several years he served as professor of mining geology at Michigan College of Mines and then he returned to Boston and became a partner in the brokerage firm of Paine, Webber & Company, which his father had founded. He became a director in several large corporations and served as president of the Free Hospital for Women. He was a member of the Country, Tedesco, Algonquin, University and Exchange Clubs.

Mr. Paine is survived by his widow, Mrs. Frances Joyce Hatch Paine; two daughters and three sons; a brother, Stephen Paine of Chestnut Hill; and three sisters, Mrs. John H. Blodgett, Mrs. Morris LaCroix and Mrs. David Brayton. His funeral service will be held on Saturday afternoon at his summer home in Beach Bluff.

Police Had Charged They Violate Transient Vendor Law

An attempt by city officials to eliminate several outdoor markets which have been started the past year along Washington st. at Newtonville and West Newton, failed in the Newton court on Tuesday when Judge Crehan of Jamaica Plain, who was sitting, found the proprietors of the three markets not guilty of a charge of doing business without being properly licensed. The three defendants were Herbert Barbour, 46, doing business at 1081 Washington st., West Newton; Joseph Mercadante, 21, of 19 Endicott st., Boston, doing business at 719 Washington st., Newtonville; and Michele Milano, 54, of 77 Hooker ave., Somerville, doing business at 1105 Washington st., West Newton.

In September of last year, Barbour, who had been residing at the 1081 Washington street address, started the outdoor market in the yard in front of his home. The property is owned by Patrick McMahon of Belmont and is in a business zone. When the cold weather set in last October, Barbour closed his market and opened it again in April of this year. He informed the court that he will not keep the market open after the cold weather sets in, because of the perishable nature of the fruit and vegetables he sells. Judge Crehan found Barbour not guilty and stated the defendant could not be classified as a transient vendor because he is a resident and voter in this city.

The success of Barbour at his market, resulted in a competing market being started a few months ago a short distance away at 1105 Washington street in front of the house owned by Frank Vincenzo of 280 Adams st., Newton. This is the locus where Vincenzo has repeatedly tried to obtain a license for a gasoline filling station. It is also in a business zone. Milano told the court that his son had purchased the market on June 1 from a man who had established the market there. He said that the seller informed his son that everything was all right at Newton City Hall, insofar as the market was concerned.

Mercadante stated that he had purchased the market business three weeks ago from some Jewish man whom he did not know, and had paid $100 for it. He said he intends to keep open for about 5 months, and next year might erect a structure on the property, which is owned by John T. Burns. Judge Crehan found both Milano and Mercadante not guilty. He commented that they do not come under the provisions of the law under which they were prosecuted, had not been in business for 12 months, and had testified they might purchase the properties.

Since the open air markets were started along Washington st., many complaints have been made, both by business men who have been injured by the competition, and by citizens who dislike to see Washington st. used for such open-air markets. The business men contend that they have to pay high rents for stores, and also are taxpayers here, and that the open air markets, with low overhead, and operating only part of the year, have an unfair advantage.

After receiving complaints City Solicitor Bartlett asked Newton police to investigate the markets. He and the police believed that the markets are being conducted illegally because of the amendment to Chapter 218 of the State laws. This was amended in 1936 to read that a temporary or transient business shall include any which is not open for 12 consecutive months during the usual business hours.

Mayor on Vacation, Floyd Substituting

Mayor Paul M. Goddard is absent from his duties as chief executive of the City of Newton for a period of three weeks. He is spending his annual vacation at Dennisport, Cape Cod. While the Mayor is on his vacation, Charles B. Floyd, president of the Board of Aldermen, is acting mayor.

THE HARD ROAD

In his speech of acceptance last Saturday the Republican nominee for President of the United States exemplified convictions of life which have been all but forgotten by too many persons in recent years. Wendell Willkie does not promise the people of this country a life of ease, luxury, and prosperity for nothing. He assured the audience, estimated as the largest gathering ever to attend such a function, before him, as well as millions of others who listened by radio, that the road he would lead the American people upon would be one of sacrifice and service. Yet it would be the road to security, liberty and the restoration of democracy.

Life teaches lessons. It also offers temptations. The Willkie challenge will make people think. His convictions are strong and his faith and ideals high. And history has recorded instance after instance where in the midst of adversity and hardship a leader has come with the inspiration and strength to guide nations to greater heights. Is this the spark which Wendell Willkie brings to America?

COMMUNITY INTEREST

In the past few months several outdoor markets have been established upon one of Newton's principal thoroughfares. Unquestionably these businesses are being conducted in zones which have been legally set aside for business. Unfortunately, however, they are a detriment to the community. Not only are they unsightly, but they create traffic hazards. In addition there is the question of public health which is always involved in matters of this nature. The State law is specific in stating that a transient business is one which is not conducted for twelve consecutive months, or in other words, throughout the year. In the Newton court it was ruled by the presiding justice that this law did not apply to the case involved. We trust that further steps will be taken to determine this important question that the interests of the community may be best served.

Secretarial School Will Move To Newton Corner

On August 1 the Newton Secretarial School entered into its second year. The support given to it in its first year by residents of Newton and the surrounding cities and towns has demonstrated the need for this high-grade secretarial school in Newton. Esther C. Blackburn, the director, is happy to announce that the school will open its fall session on September 16 in the Newton National Bank Building, 332 Centre st., Newton, in quarters, which are in the process of being thoroughly renovated for school purposes. Much new, modern equipment is being added to the present excellent equipment used by the school.

The director is highly pleased with the number of calls for trained employees which the school has been receiving during the past year. Placement of all students who satisfactorily meet the standards for placement set by the school is a definite aim of the Newton Secretarial School.

Mrs. Anna G. Norman Wahlman, former dean of the Fay Secretarial School of Boston, who has joined the teaching staff of the Newton Secretarial School, is well qualified by training and experience to carry out the ideas and aims of the school.

Local Marine Wins Praise of General

Praise for his ability as a student was recently given to Private 1st Class Timothy D. Sullivan, formerly of Newton, who completed a difficult course of instruction at the Marine Corps Institute at Washington, D. C. Accompanying the diploma was a letter of commendation from Major-General T. Holcomb, Commandant of the Corps. General Holcomb's letter to Sullivan ran in part: "The Major-General Commandant congratulates you upon your excellent work in completing this course."

Sullivan is now stationed at Marine Barracks, Quantico, Virginia, and despite his various military duties, found the necessary time to study for and successfully pass all examinations.

Private 1st Class Sullivan is the nephew of Mrs. G. T. Maloney, of 1071 Beacon st., Newton Centre, and prior to his entering the Marine Corps on Oct. 13, 1938, made his home there.

REAL ESTATE

Howe Associates report that many more sales are being made in the Newton area than is usual at this time of the year. Among the recent sales reported by them is an attractive Georgian frame colonial located at 81 Oxford rd., in Newton Centre. It is heated by an air-conditioning unit fired by gas fuel. There is a spacious lot containing about 10,000 square feet and the assessment is $2800, of which $1900 is on the land. Title was conveyed by William R. Stevenson to Mr. and Mrs. George J. Pfannenstiel, who have been occupying the property as tenants for the past year.

Another recent sale is that of the property at 18-20 Atholstone rd. in Newton Centre, for the Prudential Life Insurance Company of America. This property consists of a frame two-family house of six rooms and a bath on each floor and a two-car detached garage. The land area is about 7600 square feet. The total assessment on this property is $9900, of which $1500 is on the land.

Both of the above sales were negotiated by Howe Associates, who represented all parties.

Powers' Paragraphs

There is a happy contrast between Newton children who have been enjoying supervised recreation in playgrounds this summer, and who are climaxed their fun by holding field days at the playgrounds, and the children of Poland, Finland, Holland, Belgium, France and Britain, whose homes have been destroyed, whose relatives have been killed, who have been separated from their parents, and who face starvation the coming winter. A large percentage of the American children do not realize, or appreciate how fortunate they are.

The uncertainty over who will be awarded the contract for collecting garbage in Newton the coming five years calls attention to the fact that the Town of Brookline does this work through its own employees, instead of by contract. In 1921 Brookline voted to organize its own Sanitation Department for the collection of garbage. This department was organized by Daniel Lacy, then Superintendent of Forestry of Brookline, and now its Superintendent of Streets. He has since been in charge of this work. Brookline could have this service done at less expense by contract, but it created the municipal service because of frequent complaints of unsanitary wagons and irregular collections. It subordinated the matter of dollars and cents to that of health. Instead of one collection of garbage each week in residential sections that was made prior to 1922, Brookline has had three collections each week since this work has been done by town employees and equipment. This improves health conditions in the town, because it minimizes fly and other disease breeding nuisances, and garbage does not reach the stage of decomposition and offensive odors that it does in cities and towns where collections are less frequent.

Brookline sells its garbage to a privately owned hog farm. From this sale in 1930 the town received $7758. In 1938 it received $3905. Last year the town appropriated $46,911 for the collection of garbage, and the receipts of the sales were deducted from this amount.

Although the collection of garbage in Newton by a contractor during the past 13 years has been efficiently done, many citizens believe that Newton, like Brookline, should have garbage collected three times weekly in residence zones, at least during the three summer months. When four days elapse between collections during hot or humid weather, garbage decomposes until it spreads offensive odors in neighborhoods, and millions of flies breed in garbage containers in this city. Even in garbage pails that are thoroughly washed after each collection, these pests breed, and containers that are not washed (and they number thousands) spread smells over neighboring yards and into nearby homes.

Like Brookline, Newton should consider health in the collection of garbage, instead of awarding a contract on the basis of a lowest bid.

Mr. Willkie had expressed the hope that the campaign for the presidency would be clean and free from mudslinging. But, the attack on the Republican nominee by the cabinet member with the hiccup name, and the retaliation by the New Hampshire Senator indicates that there will be some slime slung before November.

We had an idea that there are laws in this country which makes inciting to riot a crime. If this is so, why don't Federal or State officials arrest any agitator or mountebank who makes large profits by preying on the ignorance and bigotry of persons of limited intelligence, instead of arresting and prosecuting his dupes. The orator, author, and radio-broadcaster who is responsible for riots in Maine and other parts of this country, and who is also responsible for hundreds of little children being expelled from public schools—should be stopped from further dissemination of his profitable and trouble-making propaganda.

Most citizens of the U. S. A. realize the need of naval and airplane bases for our army and our navy in the West Indies and the need of some definite agreement between the U. S. A. and Canada for the defence of this continent. So, despite the ticklish situation created by the action of the president in making an agreement with the Prime Minister of Canada, which is at war with Germany, it is probable that a majority of our citizens approve of this pact.

Leaders of the British government, however, are not making the situation any easier. One day after the meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister McKenzie King, Britain's former war secretary, Hore-Belisha advocated in the House Commons common citizenship of Britain and the United States. Apparently, Hore-Belisha and other Englishmen who advocate this union of Great Britain and the U. S. A., fail to realize that one nation is a monarchy, the other nation a democracy; that one is an empire holding millions of foreign peoples in subjection, and the other freed itself from the rule of that empire over a century and a half ago because the inhabitants of the British colonies here desired liberty from domination overseas, from monarchs and aristocrats, from caste and class. All citizens of this country are supposed to have read the Declaration of Independence, and to have some idea of the principles enunciated therein.

Most citizens of this country still believe in the doctrines affirmed in the Declaration of Independence, and while their sympathies are with Britain rather than Germany, they are not ready to become citizens of a union of two nations, one of which is founded on the principles of democracy, of equality for all men, and the other which continues a monarchy, and an aristocracy where "commoners" are supposed to curtsy to royalty and to be obsequious to nobility. If Hore-Belisha and his kind want all possible aid from the United States, they should use common-sense and not be fatuous.

It is planned to have Britain cede or give long leases of islands in the West Indies to this country. The other day a Boston newspaper stated that we can afford to pay a high price for such ownership or lease of these islands. On Tuesday Prime Minister Churchill stated that Britain is prepared to offer 99 year leases of sites in Newfoundland and the West Indies to the U. S. A. without asking any advantage in return. Unlike the Boston newspaper, Mr. Churchill seems to realize that this country is the only nation on which Britain can rely for desperately needed assistance, and that Britain still owes this country billions of dollars. Rotary Club

At the regular meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on August 19th at the Brae Burn Country Club, Charlie Meeker, introduced the President of the Inventors of America, Albert G. Burns, of Alameda, California, who spoke about inventions and inventors.

He told how 94 per cent of all new ideas come from the untrained minds of "screwballs" and "nuts." They produce the ideas because they don't know that they won't work. Therefore, they carry through the idea often successfully. Mr. Burns urged that these creative minds be given encouragement rather than discouragement so that through them and their thinking new wonders may come both to serve and to save America.

His talk ended with a brief description of the Death Ray which he watched kill large animals at a distance of several hundred yards. The machine which he saw was no larger than a console radio. Yet it brought immediate destruction to living things within its range by turning the red blood corpuscles white.

CAMP WAMPATUCK NEWS

The seventh week of camp started off beautifully. Mr. Nettle, the father of one of the campers entertained with the blending of his beautiful violin and the recordings of the great masters.

Sunday the whole camp attended the Bryn Mawr Methodist Church. In the evening at the weekly campfire Mother Wampatuck told campers that the theme of the week was, "The Spirit of Goodwill." Members of the E. T. H. group gave an account of their sailboat trip on the previous Tuesday. Helene Crofts told a story. Monday morning the counselors dressed appropriately, and sang German folk songs, instead of the usual reville. After chapel the whole camp joined in folk dancing.

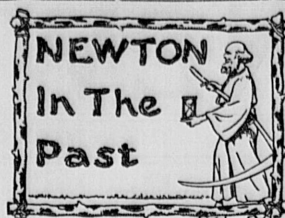

Tuesday was a grand trip day when the whole camp spent the day at Falmouth Beach.

Wednesday fifteen girls were guests from Camp Saugatucket, the King's Daughters camp in Rhode Island. In the evening the annual tree dedication service was held in Friendship Forest. The tree this year was dedicated to the refugees who have found shelter and freedom in America. A group of the younger girls gave the play "Hansel and Gretel." The weekly Circle Meeting was under the leadership of Charline Bailey. Mrs. Smard showed movies taken at camp this year.

Thursday evening all enjoyed the Ceremonial. Those who received honor or awards are as follows: Honorable Mention—Annette Littlefield; Jr. Spirit Badges—Beatrice Boyle, Irene Cahoon, and Betty Ann Reed; Jr. Spirit Stripe One—Marguerite Littlefield; Junior Spirit Badge Stripe Two—Jeanne Reed; Sr. Spirit Badges—Constance MacMillan, Janet Howland, and Dorothy Bontlinger; Sr. Spirit Badge Stripe One—Cynthia Royster, and Eleanor Hunt. Virginia Hamilton received her Third Stripe on her Sr. Spirit Badge and was recommended to the E. T. H. Leadership Group. Those accepted into the E. T. H. Leadership Group were: Marion MacCauley, Muriel Wyson, and Genevieve Eastman. The Thelma Estabrook; E. T. H. Stripe One—Eunice Hastings and Eleanor Fletcher, Nancy Ann Richmond, and Cynthia Terry. E. T. H. Stripe Two—Ilse Schott. Ruth Clark received her Junior Councilorship.

Addition to Temple Emanuel Building

A building permit was issued last week for an addition to Temple Emanuel at 355 Ward st., Newton Centre. The addition will be at the rear of the present building; will be 75 by 50 feet in dimensions, and will cost $32,000. Carney Goldberg is the architect and the Federal Construction Company the builders.

Newton assessors announce that the total valuation of Newton is $29,019,327, an increase of $1,203,766 over last year. The rate per thousand is $14, a reduction of 40 cents from last year. The State tax is only $24,135 this year, and the county tax $18,302.55. (This year the State tax is $37,360. County tax, $208,082; Metropolitan District tax, $215,435.—Ed.)

Good progress is being made on the new Baptist church edifice on Church st., Newton. The slating of the tower is half completed.

Edward P. Burnham and William Huntley, both of this city, took first and second prizes in the annual tri-cycle race of the Boston Bicycle Club last Monday. The race started at South Natick and the route was via Wellesley, Grantville, Lower Falls, Newton Centre, Reservoir, Winship and Cambridge sts. to Brighton ave. and Beacon sts. to Boston. Burnham's time was 1 hour, 15 minutes, 4 seconds. Huntley finished 32 seconds later. The first prize was a gold medal; the second prize, a silver medal. (These tricycles weighed 100 and more pounds. The roads were of gravel and in many places badly rutted. Those were the days of real sport.—Ed.)

The street cars between Newton and West Newton did not run this morning as the new boilers are being connected at the power station.

Wednesday evening several people in this city saw a brilliant meteor flash across the sky and telegraph reports said it had fallen in Keene, New Hampshire.

George Linder, Jr. of Cotton st. is home from his ranch in the new State of Washington for a brief visit. He is enthusiastic over the resources of that country, which contains some of the finest timber in the world, and has a model climate.

One of the busiest places in town, even through this hot weather, is Murray & Farrell's carriage factory and blacksmith shop.

A balky horse attached to the horse car that was due to leave the Waltham watch factory at 4:18 on Friday afternoon for West Newton, detained the car until 4:45. They arrived back at the factory on schedule, at 5:07, having made the trip in 22 minutes, so considering the distance and hill, the horse didn't get much time to balk either way.

The Newton assessors on Tuesday announced the tax rate at $14.60, as against $14.80 in 1939. The total valuation is $36,123,225, an increase of $1,468,553 over last year.

There has been a good deal of curiosity whether a street railway in Newton would pay expenses and the following figures of one motor car running hourly between Newton and West Newton for the week ending August 2 will throw some light on this question. Total passengers carried—2651; cash fares, $126.90; tickets, $1.50; passes, 83. The power is obtained from one small engine between 6:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m., and evening business, which would probably equal the day business, has been lost. When the large engine is ready and the cars can run to Waltham, the showing will be much better.

There is a project on foot to form a company in Newton to manufacture ice and it is claimed that ice of the finest quality can be made for $1 the ton. The cost of natural ice to consumers in Newton this summer is a dozen times that. The plan is to form a company and issue stock at $10 a share so it can be widely distributed among Newton people. Stockholders will get their ice at wholesale rates.

What's the matter with the section of the street railway opposite Mr. Hunting's house at Newtonville? Several horses while crossing the rails at that place have received a shock, and recently Dr. O'Donnell's dog gave an unmistakable howl of pain while crossing there. After witnessing the dog's experience, Dr. O'Donnell drove his horse over the tracks, and the animal kicked right and left for a few minutes.

S. F. Cate's four-horse barge will be handsomely decorated with flags and bunting next Tuesday when it will be used as a conveyance for the disabled G. A. R. veterans of this city in the big parade in Boston.

The GRAPHIC suggests that policemen be armed with policemen's nippers provided with rubber handles. In cases of electric wires falling in a storm, they could then cut off or pull the dangerous wires out of the way of teams and pedestrians.

Cornelius Buckley was at work in one of the manholes on Beacon st., Newton Centre on Wednesday afternoon when a sudden heavy shower came up, and he decided to stay in the manhole while his assistant took shelter elsewhere. A short time after the rain had commenced, considerable commotion was observed in the direction of the manhole, boots and numerous other things being hastily thrown out. B. B. Buck and his clerk, Will Hahn, rushed to the place and found Buckley standing in water nearly to his waist. They quickly hauled him out.

While Nathaniel Potter of Concord was driving a carryall on Margin st., West Newton, last Friday afternoon his horse became frightened by passing railroad cars and bolted. The horse turned suddenly into Lander st., twisting the wheels off one side of the carriage. All the members of Mr. Potter's family who were riding in the carryall were thrown out and escaped serious injury. But he was pinned between the step and the ground and dragged a distance of 200 feet before he could release himself. He was picked up by Robert Bennett and James Monaghan, placed in one of Cate's hacks and taken to the residence of C. F. Tuttle on Hunter st. Dr. Thayer was called and attended the injured man who had received a bad cut over one eye, another on the back of his head, besides being severely bruised. Fortunately he escaped internal injury and is now reported as comfortable.

10 Days Suspended Sentence For Assault

John Melver of 272 Nevada st., Newtonville, was given a suspended sentence of 10 days by Judge Weston in the Newton court last Friday. He was found guilty of assault on his brother-in-law, Harry Wellman. A charge of using profanity was placed on file. Melver testified that while he and Wellman were struggling on the stairs at his home, Mrs. Melver poured hot water upon them. Patrolman Concanon, who arrested Melver, testified that the defendant was so riled up that he used profanity in front of him.

VILLAGE HALL PLAYHOUSE

Saturday next, August 31 brings the 1940 season of summer stock productions to a close at the Village Hall Playhouse in Framingham Centre. The season has been marked by the excellent choice of plays, the greatly increased attendance, and the fine performances of the young men and women who make up the cast of this popular summer theatre.

The play that has been selected to close the season is the witty and satirical comedy from the pen of George Kaufman and his collaborator, Catherine Dayton, named "First Lady." No more appropriate production could possibly have been chosen than this for with the newspapers and radios drumming the barrage of political warfare into our ears, Mr. Kaufman takes us behind the scenes of social and political intrigue that infest our nation's capital and gives us a close-up view of the whys and wherefores of selecting presidential candidates—at least as he sees it.

The story of the play is the determination of the wife of the Secretary of State to put her husband in the White House and to win for herself the title of "First Lady." With this theme the authors have developed a drama that hits with both fists at the silly social warfare that makes a farce of Washington society.

Local theatregoers will have their last chance to see Harriet Bruce, Barbara Winslow, Ruth Gilman and Alan Downer in leading roles this season. The full company will be enlarged further for the closing week as "First Lady" is a play of such proportions that it is seldom attempted by summer companies.

Reservations for the closing week may be made by calling Framingham 5195 after 3 p. m.

Sunbeam Chats

Heard somebody say "It's been hot enuf to fry an egg on the sidewalk." Can't imagine anyone wanting to fry an egg on the sidewalk or to eat it either. Made me think of eggs and how I like 'em most. Awful hard to decide whether an egg is best scrambled, boiled or dropped on crunchy toast or hard cooked or creamed or in fruit and milk drinks or in a nice custard pudding—too hot to decide—just glad I get one some way every day.

(Sunbeam Chats are sponsored by the Newton District Nursing Association.)

Newton Dogs Bite More Persons

Newton continues to have the honor of being one of the leading communities in this State insofar as the number of persons bitten by dogs is concerned. And the number of dogs running loose in this city without wearing collars with a license tag attached continues to be large. Last Saturday three dogs, which had bitten persons, were ordered restrained. One dog was owned by John Foran of 25 Shirley St. A dog owned by Charles May of 72 Pearl st., Newton, was ordered restrained after it had bitten Frank Berry of Boston. A dog owned by Mrs. Max Tankle of 291 Lexington st., Auburndale, was also ordered restrained. When Patrolman Harold Elliot went to the Tankle house to order this canine kept from running loose, the pet took a nip at the policeman.

Recent WeddingsWOOD—SNOW

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Jordan Snow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jordan Snow, formerly of Waban, to Mr. Frederick Russell Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Wood of Methuen took place on Monday evening in the Union Church in Waban.

The 8:30 candle-light ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ernest A. Miller, pastor of the Central Methodist Church in Lawrence.

The church was decorated with Easter lilies, white gladioli, white delphinium and woodwardia ferns; the wedding music was played by Mr. Harold Schwab.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin, princess style and a veil of tulle, caught in a tiara of valley lilies and tiny roses. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, valley lilies and stephanotis. The groom's sister, who was maid of honor, Miss Beatrice F. Wood, wore an aquamarine faille taffeta gown with a hoop skirt and carried token roses, delphinium and rubrum lilies. The four bridesmaids were gowned alike in ophelia rose faille taffeta with hoop skirts, and carried token roses, delphinium and rubrum lilies. They were Mrs. Thomas J. Murphy, Jr., of Needham, Mrs. Raleigh Glynn, Jr., of Cambridge, Miss Lois Dales of West Newton and Mrs. J. Wendell Gerrard of Melrose. The bride's mother wore a gown of dusty rose chiffon over taffeta and the mother of the groom wore illusion blue chiffon over taffeta. Their corsages were rubrum lilies, stephanotis, delphinium and sweetheart roses.

Mr. Charles E. Northam of Stratford, Ct., was best man for Mr. Wood and the ushers were Squire W. Bate-man of Reading, Thomas J. Murphy, Jr., of Needham, Raleigh Glynn, Jr., of Cambridge, Harrison Gordon of Braintree and Richard Allen of Braintree.

A reception following the ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, 32 Cochituate rd., Newton Highlands. The house was decorated in pastel mixed flowers and ferns, carrying out the colors worn by the attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood will be at home after Oct. 1st at 198 Summer st., Newton Centre, after their return from an extensive wedding trip. Mr. Wood attended the Bentley School of Accounting and the Bryant & Stratton School. He is associated with the Home Savings Bank in Boston.

MOODY—BELLEFLEUR

At Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church on Saturday morning at a nuptial mass Miss Agnes Bellefleur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armand J. Bellefleur of 73 Rockland pl., Newton Upper Falls, was given in marriage by her father and became the bride of George Fallows Moody, Jr. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. George F. Moody of 3 Sheridan rd., Swampscott.

Rev. Father Dwyer read the single ring service. Nuptial music was played by Mrs. Margaret Flood who accompanied Miss Catherine Brennan, violinist, and Mrs. Maloney, violoncellist. Elmer J. Perry was the best man, Miss Cecilia D. Bellefleur, maid of honor, and Miss Loretta M. Bellefleur and Miss Mary Plutakus were bridesmaids. The ushers were David A. Bellefleur, brother of the bride, and George Dwyer.

The bride wore a white organza gown, princess style, and white tulle finger-tip veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby's breath. The maid of honor wore aqua net with hat of flowers and veiling of aqua, and carried Queen Mary roses. The bridesmaids wore peach net with hat of flowers and veiling of peach, and carried Talisman roses. The bride's mother wore pale blue chiffon and a corsage of tea roses.

A family reception followed at Seller's 1812 House in Framingham Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. Moody, Jr. will be at home after September 1st at Newton Highlands, after returning from a motor trip.

The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School and the groom is a graduate of Northeastern University.

BRIMM—TARR

Miss Elizabeth Virginia Tarr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Winslow Tarr of 78 Greylock rd., Newtonville, was married to Dr. Eugene Brimm, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Brimm of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, at one o'clock on Saturday August 17, at the home of her parents. Rev. J. Franklin Knotts performed the ceremony.

The bride wore an afternoon dress of chiffon and carried sweetheart roses and delphinium. She was attended by her sister, Miss Anna Tarr, who was gowned in blue and white and carried yellow sweetheart roses. John Lohman of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, was the best man.

Dr. and Mrs. Brimm will make their home in Buffalo, New York.

The bride was graduated from the University of Illinois. The groom was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1936 and in 1940 received his Ph.D. in Chemistry from the University of Illinois.

Submarine Disaster

While en route to Baltimore from Boston on a 72-hour endurance run the U. S. submarine S-5 sank while making a crash dive off the Delaware capes on September 1, 1920. The submarine responded to its diving rudders, but failed to straighten out after submergence and dived until her bow was embedded in the sea bottom. By blowing the main and after tanks the stern was lifted above water. The crew then drilled a small hole in the stern through which they passed rod flying an article of clothing by means of which they managed to attract the attention of a passing steamer, the Atlantis. The crews of the Atlantis and General Goethals, another steamer, cut a large hole in the stern of the submarine, releasing its crew after 37 hours of submergence. The S-5 subsequently sank and efforts to salvage were abandoned.

Want to Rent a Duck?

A group of Austin, Texas, boys invented a new wrinkle in profiting from birds, according to the National Wildlife federation. These lads among them owned a number of tame ducks. The housewives of the neighborhood were having insect trouble in their gardens, so the boys rented the ducks at 50 cents apiece per day for the purpose of destroying the insects. The birds did a good job and everybody was satisfied.

Bathers Ride the WavesOn New Bags of Wind

Almost every year something new in the way of gadgets to make bathing more enjoyable pops up at the beaches that skirt the coast of California. The visitor to these sunny watering places will see, and ride on, bags of wind that probably were inspired by the familiar "water wings."

The light-weight sacks are made of material which is practically water-tight when it is wet, and are big enough to support a husky 200-pound swimmer. They can be filled with a pump, or by just blowing wind into them.

Some of the users of the new contraption to add to the fun of playing in the surf and the sunshine worked out a trick which makes a pump unnecessary and which calls for only a little lung work. They open the mouth of the bag, hold it shoulder-high and run with it. The breeze fills the balloon-like device which can be blown up tight with the addition of a little human breath.

The bags of wind are popular not only with youngsters, but with grown-ups, too. It is easy to push one of the things out beyond the surf line and ride in on the crests of restless waves. If the surf is strong the rider hits a snappy pace and bobs about like a cork stopper in a mill-race. In lively water it is something of a trick to stay on one of these overgrown pillows.

The bags are popular with vacationists who are not crack swimmers but who like to spend a lot of time in the water. With the co-operation of the sausage-like playthings, it is possible to float comfortably around for hours, basking in the well-known California sunshine.

Devotees of the sleek surf-board sometimes ride the new gadgets just for the fun of it, but they prefer the wooden slivers that this country adopted from Hawaii. A crack rider of the surf-board can slide along at 30 miles an hour when the surf is right and, of course, no such speed is possible on a blimp-like contraption fashioned of cloth.

Rare 'Streamlined' FishCaught Near California

The American Museum of Natural History has acquired a rare streamlined fish, called Acrotus Willoughbyi, which has neither scales nor ventral nor balancing fins, and is believed to be an aquatic speed champion, Dr. John T. Nichols, curator of fishes, has reported. The fish of its kind known to have been caught, the fish was taken by L. A. Yecny of Salinas, Calif., at Monterey, Calif.

The fish is of great interest to science, Dr. Nichols said. It has no known near relatives, but the shape of its tail suggests a relationship to the mackerel. It was purchased with the object of making a study to determine where it belongs in the scale of fish evolution. A cast will be placed on exhibition.

The specimen measures 5 feet 4 inches in length and weighs 70 pounds. The lack of ventral fins accounts for the name Acrotus, which is derived from the Greek and means "without oars." The latter part of the name comes from Charles A. Willoughby, an Indian agent who caught the first specimen in 1887 on the Pacific coast.

Aids Lumbering

Development of dry kilns with automatic control of temperature, humidity and air circulation has radically changed lumber seasoning practices, according to the forest products laboratories of the department of mines and resources, Ottawa.

Certain species of wood can now be dried in kilns and put to exacting uses a few days after being sawed, while other species, more difficult to dry, may be made ready for fabrication in a matter of weeks. Formerly timber was piled in a yard for several months and sometimes for years. If it was required for exacting uses such as for furniture it was held in a building for a further long period before being finally used.

The use of these highly efficient dry kilns also eliminates to a large extent losses through checking, cupping, staining and other seasoning defects which formerly were sometimes responsible for reducing the value of wood by as much as 25 per cent.

Diet Hinders Conservation

Netherlands authorities in Java, trying to carry out an admirably planned conservation program, have their troubles because of many native beliefs and habits.

The Malays believe that children can acquire the characteristics of birds by eating them. So they feed kingcrows and shrikes to infants, to make them lively and communicative. Dull, lazy children are compelled to eat fantailed flycatchers, which are very active, industrious birds.

A great deal of destruction of bird life is wrought through the Malay fondness for pets. Children are given young storks, bulbuls, pigeons and starlings to play with—naturally, with ultimately fatal results to the birds.

Some birds are not given even nominal protection simply because enforcement of regulations would be impossible. Fish owls, which really are valuable birds, are killed for food even by native policemen.

Brockton Fair Starts Sept. 8

Two automobile racing programs, sanctioned by the International Motor Contest Association, have been listed for grandstand entertainment thrills at Brockton Fair, September 8 to 14, the professional speed chauffeurs, including a score of the country's best dirt track aces, appearing on Friday and Saturday, September 13 and 14.

Calling upon the resources of Racing Corporation of America with its national circuit activities to round up intersection talent, the two-day Brockton Fair speed cars will attract one of the classiest arrays of driving stars ever assembled on a New England oval.

Anticipating higher speed performances than heretofore through improvement in motors, Brockton Fair officials will prepare the course with a view to meeting these demands of higher speed. Safety zones will be established around the oval and prior to the first race day the surface of the track will be saturated with chemicals to reduce dust hazards.

Generous cash prizes, exceptional sweepstakes for trios of poultry and bantams, court of honor championships and liberal classification will make the Brockton Fair poultry show one of the fair's outstanding divisions.

Poultry competition at Brockton will be open to the world with entries closing Saturday, Aug. 24. Classification will include all varieties of land and water fowl recognized by the American Poultry Association in its standard of perfection, with classes for single birds and trios.

Judges are recognized experts and include Maurice F. Delano of Dedham, Harold Tompkins of Concord, Frank Cook of Waltham, John A. Kingman of Hanover and Walter G. Bruce of Danielson, Conn. Joseph T. Latham of Brockton will serve as superintendent and Fred Sanders of Hanover is chairman of the advisory committee. All poultry will be judged Tuesday, September 10.

Championship ribbons for the best male and female will be awarded in each class in poultry, bantams, ducks and geese, and turkeys, this award entitling the winner to representation in the court of honor. Trio sweepstake prizes range from $25 to $5 in poultry with all classes competing and from $15 to $3 for bantams.

American Poultry Association specials will be given for the champion bird in each breed; champion birds in American, Mediterranean, English and in the group comprising all other classes; champion bantam; champion turkey and champion water fowl.

American Bantam Association specials have been set up for champion game bantam with all varieties of modern and Old English competing; the best ornamental bantam with all varieties of clean legged and feathered legged ornamentals competing, and silk ribbons to the best game and ornamental individual specimens.

Baltimore to Alaska

A Pennsylvania hunter stubbed his toe on a curious-looking case near Wrangell, Alaska. On opening it he learned it was a weather observation box sent aloft at Baltimore, Md. The balloon carrying the case apparently had burst after drifting thousands of miles.

Newton Boy Falls From Tree And Is Impaled on Picket

Carl Aiello, Jr., 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Aiello of Oakland st., Newton, was critically injured about 4:30 Tuesday afternoon when he fell from a tree in a neighbor's yard and was impaled on a picket of a fence underneath. The boy was climbing the tree when a limb broke. The picket went through his chest and punctured his lung. His parents took him to the office of Dr. Hyman Shrier on Pearl st. Dr. Shrier gave the boy first aid and summoned the police ambulance which took the child to the Newton Hospital.

Newton Lawyer In Conspiracy

Leon Benjamin of Newton was found guilty by a jury in a Federal court at New York last Friday on a charge of having been involved in a conspiracy to extort money from Charles V. Bob, a mining engineer, who is serving a seven-year prison sentence for using the mails to defraud. Benjamin's brother, Jacob, of Houston, Texas, was tried with him and pleaded guilty. They were accused of conspiring to extort money from Bob by threatening to expose an attempt to "fix" a juror by the latter.

Hits Man on Head With Milk Bottle

William DeCoursey, 34, of 1359 Centre st., Newton Centre, was severely injured Tuesday night when he was hit on his left temple by a milk bottle. An artery was severed and DeCoursey was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. He had lost much blood and was suffering from shock. His name was placed on the danger list.

Francis J. Curry, 61, who gave his address as 698 Brookline ave., Boston, was arrested charged with having assaulted DeCoursey with the milk bottle. When police headquarters were notified of a fracas at 33 John st. in the Thompsonville district, Sergeant Sheridan and Patrolmen Brayton and Murphy went to that address and talked with Curry, whom they found there. The police then started to hunt for DeCoursey and found him at Newton Centre square a mile distant. He was taken to the hospital in the police ambulance. A warrant was obtained for Curry's arrest, and he was taken into custody a few hours later. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday on charges of drunkenness and assault and battery. The case was continued until September 4 because of DeCoursey's condition.

Milk Truck Driver Badly Injured

John R. McDonald, 22, of 316 Wellesley st., Weston, received probable fractures of the back and right shoulder when a milk truck he was driving hit a pole opposite 236 Auburn st., Auburndale, at 5 o'clock Thursday morning. The pole was broken off at its base. McDonald was taken to Newton Hospital by a passing motorist. The truck he was driving was owned by Wellesley Farms Dairy of Weston. According to police records another truck driven by McDonald hit a pole opposite 155 Temple st., West Newton, on May 21, breaking the pole and damaging the truck.

Arrested For Drunken Driving

Liston Dillard, 52, of 109 Langdon ave., Watertown, was in the Newton court last Friday charged with drunkenness and driving a car while under the influence of liquor. His case was continued until August 22. Traffic Officer FitzSimmons testified that he chased Dillard from Centre st. near Franklin st., Newton to Oak sq., Brighton, before he arrested him. Several times in that pursuit, Dillard stopped his car, but when FitzSimmons alighted from his motorcycle, the Watertown man drove away.

Car Minus Plate, Judge Files Case

Henry Chevette of 125 Morse st., Watertown, was in the Newton court on Monday charged with driving an automobile without a front number plate. Chevette told the judge that he did not know the number plate was missing, but Traffic Officer Dowling testified that obviously the plate must have been off the car for some time as there was rust where it had been attached. Number plates are important in connection with the operation of cars. They are evidence of a car having been insured and registered, and enable citizens or police to identify automobiles involved in accidents. So Dowling obtained a complaint against Chevette when he observed him driving the car with the missing plate. Judge Nagle of South Boston, who sits frequently in the Newton court, placed the case on file.

Arrest Three For Assaulting Man

Three men, accused of ganging up and assaulting Pasquale Penecale of Nonantum, were arraigned in the Newton court last Saturday on a charge of assault and battery. The alleged assault occurred on Adams st. last Friday. Penecale obtained complaints against the trio and that night Patrolmen Concannon and Springer arrested Russi DelGrosso of 233 Adams st. and Michele Esposito of 194 Adams st. The third alleged assailant, Rocco DelGrosso of Harvey st., East Boston, surrendered in court on Saturday morning. Their cases were continued until August 26. Penecale then wanted to withdraw the complaints, but Judge Weston continued the cases until next week.

Indianapolis Suburb Uses Old Law to Curb Taverns

One suburb of Indianapolis, Irvington, will soon be as free of establishments selling intoxicating beverages as in prohibition days. The change has come about because the residents insisted on full compliance with restrictions against the sale of intoxicating liquors written in the original deeds for the property many years ago, when the community was a small settlement several miles from the Indianapolis city limits.

A test case brought against an Irvington tavern sought to determine whether provisions included in the original deeds of the old town site remain in force. These deeds prohibited numerous activities and the purchaser accepted the restrictions. One stipulation was that no intoxicants should be sold. The group of citizens who filed the complaint objecting to the sale of beer contended that the condition set forth when the original town was platted are still binding.

This theory has been recently sustained by Judge Stewart of the Boone circuit court. The decision, if affirmed on appeal, will establish a fundamental applicable to all sales of real estate for definite purposes. The effect of the decision is to assure purchasers that they need not fear adverse changes if their deeds forbid certain things, such as low-cost dwellings, business activities or types of structures, as well as the operation of business places selling intoxicants.

Warsaw's Royal Castle Linked With Ben Franklin

The historic Castle of Warsaw, mutilated in Germany's September invasion of Poland and later unsuccessfully patched up by the conquerors, is now reported to be in line for complete demolition. "This once royal palace," points out the National Geographic society, "is of special interest to Americans, since in one of its 275 rooms a bust of Benjamin Franklin was long given a place of honor. The selection made soon after the establishment of American independence, along with other significant and decorative purchases acquired for the castle at the time—was the result of Franklin's current popularity as the new republic's ambassador to France. Also linked with early United States history, another exhibit which reposed in a small casket in Warsaw castle, was the heart of the Polish patriot Kosciuszko, who gave valuable service as an officer in the American Revolutionary army. Partly a museum and partly the residence of the Polish president at the time of the recent German blitzkrieg, the old palace was the home of Polish kings from the sixteenth century. Later, when Poland came under the rule of Tsarist Russia, the building was used as headquarters of the Russian governor."

Russians Have Cook's Cloak
Captain Cook's orange-colored cloak and helmet are among the outstanding exhibits of the Leningrad Ethnographic museum. How it went to the Leningrad museum is an interesting story. En route to the Bering strait in 1776, Captain Cook, the famous English explorer, discovered what are now called the Hawaiian islands. Cook named these the Sandwich islands, in honor of Lord Sandwich, then first lord of the admiralty. Believing Cook to be the divine King Lona, a hero of their folk tales, the Hawaiian natives received the explorer as a god, says the Rocky Mountain Herald. Kamehameha I, chief of the Hawaiians, presented to Cook a helmet and cloak made of the plumes of a small bird now extinct. Each bird had only four plumes. Proceeding on his voyage, Captain Cook arrived at Kamchatka, one of the northernmost points of Russia in Asia.

New Airplane Motor Cooler
A new insulated motor piston that may give America undisputed mastery in the air with the fastest and most powerful planes, has recently been developed using ordinary house insulation to "cool" the piston.

It is the invention of John F. Morgal, 71-year-old Springfield, Ohio, inventor, who believes that the use of this radically different piston will enable airplane motors to use the tremendous power they are now capable of developing without overheating or developing out-of-round cylinder walls.

Mr. Morgal cools the piston by inserting a wad of mineral wool insulation, which is widely used for insulating houses, into its hollow head. The insulation induces cooling by slowing down the transmission of heat created by the firing of the motor. Thus, the cooler the motor is, the less binding of moving parts results, with a resultant increase in power.

Once an Ice Man
Want to be a big league catcher, son? Get a job hauling ice. That's how Harry Danning, the great catcher of the New York Giants, developed those back muscles that made him a power-hitter and, according to his manager, Bill Terry, "the best low-ball catcher since Frank Snyder." At the age of 13 Harry got a job on an ice wagon and for several years after school hours his work consisted of tugging 50 pound lumps of frozen water into Los Angeles iceboxes.

Students Taught Jewel Value With Real Gems

A veritable "treasure house" of precious and semi-precious gems has been assembled by the school of mineral industries of the Pennsylvania State college for use in teaching students how to evaluate and identify precious jewels—and to guard against misrepresentation.

Diamonds, sapphires, emeralds and rubies are among the best-known precious jewels in the collection, which includes both cut and uncut materials representing about 75 different species and varieties of gems. Semi-precious exhibits include opals, peridot, tourmalines, spinels, and various silica minerals. There are also glass replicas of the famous diamonds of the world.

Used in a new cultural course, the gems are examined from both an ornamental and an industrial viewpoint, and are compared in historical importance and relative value. Colors, cutting designs, and other features are demonstrated in the laboratory.

So that students may guard against deception in purchasing gems, they are required to perform tests on various gems to establish their true identity and value. Professors Arthur P. Honess and William M. Myers, who are in charge of the course, feel that students will be better able to judge the superficial appearance of stones if they know their physical background.

Men students have enrolled in the course in greater number than women students, but a growing enrollment of coeds is expected in view of the inherent feminine interest in jewelry.

Whistle on Engine Fixed Width of Train Tracks

Railroad tracks, at one time, were of different widths, and not like today all of the exact width. Many small railroads were narrow gauge while others were broad gauge. The broad gauge was adopted from the English railroads. A lot of trouble was caused in the early days of American railroading by the variations in the gauges. In some cases these rails being laid on the ties, these rails being so placed that cars of two gauges could run on the same line at the same time.

When railroads were first being constructed in Ohio, a locomotive was built in New York and this engine was made with the wheels set four feet ten inches apart. This engine was equipped with a whistle which was to be blown whenever cattle or people got on the track.

A member of the Ohio legislature happened to hear this whistle and he was so impressed by it that he introduced a bill which provided that all railroads of the state should be built of the same gauge as the engine with the whistle. It was in this way that that width came to be adopted as "standard gauge."

Century Plant
The Agave Americana is commonly called the Century plant, in the erroneous belief that it blooms only when 100 years old. As a matter of fact, it does not bloom until it is 10 or more years old, according to authorities. After blooming, it dies, but new plants develop from suckers at the base, Otto Lang, nurseryman, says.

The century plant has leaves sometimes six feet long and a flower stalk up to 40 feet high. The flowers are about 2½ inches across. These are white or greenish and they are borne on many horizontal branches at the top of the stalk.

These plants are often used as potted plants in the North, and there are many which grow in yards here which refute the popular belief that they are rare. They require little care since they are of the cactus family; however, severe winters will kill them. Many gardeners here store their plants during the winter in local greenhouses to keep from running the risk of losing them during the cold weather.

Novel Plane
A company to build a new type fighting plane, having two controlled wings, located at different ends of the plane, moved by steel tubing, and front and back propellers, operated by an engine in front and an engine behind, is being formed in Ketchikan.

C. E. Sparhawk is the inventor of the plane which is still in the model stage.

"Use of adjustable wings will give it maneuverability so that it can out-maneuver any fighting plane so far built," he claims.

"If you tip the front wings up and the back wing down, it will loop the loop in half the distance of any present plane," he said.

Bulls Don't See Red
Another popular superstition has been knocked down by science. Bulls do not get any madder at red than they do at any other color, reports the Better Vision Institute, adding that experiments have demonstrated that bulls, like many other animals, are color-blind. Instead of seeing colors in the same way as do human beings, the objects in their visual world appear as shades of gray. Any moving object attracts a bull's attention, and it is just as effective to wave a blue cloth as a red cloth. But science notwithstanding, the matadors probably will stick to red. The crowds like the color, anyway.

Firemen Spend Hours At Dump

A fire which started in the dump on Warren st., Newton Centre, last Friday spread to nearby woodland and caused two Newton fire engines to work at the place for 5 1/2 hours. Much smoke from this fire annoyed the residents of this neighborhood for hours. In 1934 the City of Newton erected an incinerator at Newton Highlands at a cost of $175,000. Newton taxpayers were told at that time that all combustible waste collected by the street department would be burned in this incinerator, that no combustible waste would be allowed to be deposited in public dumps. It was also emphasized then that by eliminating dump fires, the city would be saving the large sum of money annually which water used at dump fires cost.

More Speeders In Newton Court

Harry Boucher of 36 Turner st., Waltham, was fined $25 in the Newton court on Monday for speeding. It was his second conviction within a year. Traffic Officer Dowling stated that a truck driven by Boucher was being operated down a hill at 50 miles an hour. Judge Delay suspended the fine.

Anthony Gatti of Sterling rd., Waltham, was fined $5 for speeding. The offense was committed a year ago, but Traffic Officer Dowling was unsuccessful in locating Gatti to serve a summons on him until last Sunday.

Stephen Hopkins of 877 Chestnut st., Waban, was fined $5 in the Newton court last Saturday for speeding.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, August 25. The Golden Text is: "Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wisdom and might are his: . . . which was also in Christ Jesus" (Philippians 2:3-5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When the divine precepts are understood, they unfold the foundation of fellowship, in which one mind is not at war with another, but all have one Spirit, God, one intelligent source, in accordance with the Scriptural command: 'Let this Mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus' (p. 276).

Thomas Harland's Fame As Clockmaker Grows

A roll of the distinguished early clockmakers of this country, arranged in the order of the greatness of its members, would find the name of Thomas Harland (1735-1808) of Norwich, Conn., an immigrant from England in 1773, high upon the list, writes George P. Anderson in the Boston Transcript. Although heretofore his fame has not been widespread, recently it has been advanced by his inclusion in the now completed and highly authoritative work, the "Dictionary of American Biography" (Vol. VIII, page 275). To attempt to fix for him an exact place in a clockmakers' hall of fame would be to challenge controversy needlessly, but the consensus seems to be that he should be given a prominent position among early American clockmakers, probably among the first four or five.

He was a modest man and apparently never had his portrait painted. He did not seek inordinate wealth, but did everything in the day's work as well as he could and was helpful and kind to others. He was a sturdy Englishman transformed into a resourceful Connecticut Yankee. Whether we take as the yardstick his skill, his character or the artistic merit of his work he stands in the forefront. Regrettably he hid his light under a bushel, and search for his rays long after he passed from the scene of his activities presents many puzzling problems.

Although much of the life story of this pioneer is shrouded in mystery, there is information which demonstrates that Harland possessed unusual mechanical skill, was industrious, well read, a good citizen and modest as to his gifts and achievements. It is probable that he was born in Norwich, England, this information being conveyed in 1923 when Mrs. Irene Harland, wife of Thomas Harland, great-grandson of the original Thomas Harland, gave the clock which had long been in their family to the Wadsworth Atheneum, of Hartford, Conn.

Long Years of Schooling Not Necessary for Child

"Keep the child in school," is a slogan that has been increasingly popular in America for many years, and an immense amount of personal influence and school propaganda has been used to justify longer schooling, but according to Frank M. Rich, principal of a public school in Paterson, N. J., common sense would evidence that there is no necessity for it.

"Not preparation for life, but participation in life is the best part of education," the professor says. "Books are a wonderful source of information and inspiration when taken along with some of the concrete life experiences which they help to explain, but the notion that children and youth need unlimited abstract book learning to the exclusion of practically all world contacts is one of the saddest of education fallacies."

Professor Rich advocates pre-vocational contacts with the business world through part-time apprenticeship, quasi-vocational activities in the kitchen, workshop and garden at home, and alternation of a season of employment with a season of school attendance.

Busy Beavers Tricked

When beavers began cutting down valuable timber from a stand south of Allen's mills near Farmington, Maine, forest rangers found they had a fight on their hands. The busy little creatures had a dam nearly completed when the felled trees were found. The chief ranger called all hands and dynamited several places in the dam. The beavers filled them up over night.

Next a six-inch iron pipe was placed in the dam to drain it. This puzzled the beavers for a couple of days when they found and plugged both ends of the pipe. The water rose again.

Next a siphon of fire hose was tried. The beavers gnawed it through in short order. Finally, the dam was almost entirely removed and the material hauled away. Then the rangers rigged up a "terribly looking scarecrow" hoping to frighten the destructive little creatures away. Did it? Not a bit. They cut down the scarecrow, divided him into convenient pieces and used him for building a new dam. After that the beavers were trapped out. It was the only way to make them quit their building.

More babies should be breast-fed, and the only way to convince the mother of this need and prepare her for it physically and psychologically is for the obstetrician and pediatrician to co-operate, he said.

Pointing out that 85 per cent of all babies are now delivered in hospitals, Dr. Hess said that most hospitals were ill-equipped for the task, and especially ill-equipped to take care of mother and baby after the birth.

Baby Care in Hospitals

Too many mothers leave the hospital with their first baby without knowing how to take care of them, Dr. Julius H. Hess of Chicago asserts. Hospitals should be teaching centers, he said, where the mother can learn what her baby needs. To accomplish this aim he recommended a joint service of obstetrician and baby specialist in every hospital to prepare the mother for her task.

Thousand Jets Poison Gas Contained in Smoke

Here is a little primer of facts about smoke:

Wood smoke—That's the kind the person who has read this far is probably thinking about right now. It's the friendly smoke of fireplaces and of burning brush on brittle autumn days. Yet this smoke contains carbon monoxide and acetic acid, as well as other gases. Remember how it makes your eyes sting? That's the acetic acid in it, and in a closed place this smoke is highly poisonous.

Coal smoke—Sooty but relatively innocuous, most people would estimate. Men who've fought fires in mines know differently. When a grimy fighter is carried out, dead or unconscious, they say he's been "sulphured." He inhaled a lungful of sulphur dioxide, the gas in this smoke which is something like sulphuric acid. (That's the gas that smelled so badly of rotten eggs when you were studying high school chemistry.)

House or building smoke—This is real smoke. A man doesn't think much about smoke until he's groped through this pitchy but formless nothingness, a black bitter taste on his tongue, his mouth agape while he gasps for oxygen that can't enter because his throat or his lungs are locked tight.

This smoke is a conglomerate of gases from furniture, clothing, leather, paint, and all the other innumerable materials that might be contained in a house or factory. Imagine a thousand jets of poison gas, blown into a fine spray, that you must breathe continuously, every time your lungs open for air. That is what this smoke is like.

Some of the gases in this smoke—the hydrocarbons—are fatal in themselves. They act like an anesthetic, making a person groggy so that he just curls up asleep in a corner, until the flames roar over him and burn him alive.

But there are other gases that actually suffocate their victims, and each has its own diabolic technique.

Ancient Directions for Grinding Oil Colors

Quaint directions for grinding oil colors prepared in England two centuries ago are given in an interesting old book the title of which has become lost. "Take about two spoonfuls of the Colour you intend to Grind and put to it a little Linseed Oil, (but see you put not too much) mix them together, and grind them well upon your stone with a Muller: add Oil by degrees, till it comes to the thickness of an Ointment, for so it grinds much better than when it is so thin as to run about the stone: oftentimes as you grind, bring the matter together with a piece of Lanthorn horn, and as much as may keep it together in the middle of the stone, till it is ground fine enough, then take it off, and put more colour upon the stone, grinding as before, which work continue till you have Colour enough to serve your occasion. This done, cleanse the stone first by grinding cleanses the stone first by grinding Sand and Water upon it, then washing it, and drying it."

Game Hunter for Government

Henry J. Helgeson of Montana comes by his picturesque nickname, "Buffalo Hank," through 14 years of buffalo and other game hunting for the government—a job of thinning out old and decrepit animals from the herds at Yellowstone National park and on the Moiese National Bison reserve in Montana.

During that period, "Buffalo Hank" claims 1,487 buffalo, in addition to 453 elk, 178 deer and 16 bears, have fallen before his trusty high-powered rifle, making him an ace buffalo hunter of modern times.

Helgeson has had many narrow escapes as a professional buffalo hunter, with his closest call, he said, being when an enraged animal gored him. Only his clear thinking and quick action in cutting onto one of the horns saved him from death.

Helgeson is a buffalo hunter for the government in the winter, and a butcher during the summer at Missoula, where he has been a resident 32 years.

Examine Eyes Periodically

Greater safety on the highways would result if the eyes of automobile drivers were examined periodically, according to the Better Vision Institute.

Laws of many states now provide for periodic checks on brakes, lights and other equipment on the car in the interest of greater safety, all of which is discounted greatly in value if the driver does not see well, says the Institute, which believes that the number of persons who would be forced to give up driving would be negligible. Only a very small percentage of visual defects cannot be corrected by optical science, says the Institute, adding that one of the important results of such checks would be to call attention of many drivers to unsuspected visual shortcomings.

Bump Detector

A car which detects and records all discomforts known to rail travelers has been invented by an Indian railway official in Bombay. The coach, which is designed to run on railway lines, registers any bumps or jolts by electricity.

More Burglaries By Brighton Boys

The arrests of four Brighton boys last Friday was followed by their admissions that they had broken into three Newton homes recently. They were also charged with having committed two burglaries in Brighton. On August 7 the home of William Ellison at 15 Vernon st., Newton, was entered, and the loot taken from that house consisted of cigarettes and playing cards. On the same day the home of George Sampson at 83 Pembroke st. was broken into and a collection of old coins and a headlight stolen. On August 13 the home of William Simon at 82 Arlington st. was entered and some watches and a ring stolen.

A neighbor of Mr. Ellison's informed Newton police that he had seen several boys around that house on the day of the robbery and he gave a description of them. One of the juvenile burglars was described as wearing a pair of eyeglasses with a broken frame which was held together by adhesive tape. Brighton police were informed and they questioned a boy whose eyeglasses were thus mended. He admitted the burglaries and also involved his three companions who likewise confessed. The four boys were taken into custody by Inspectors Crowley, King, Bannon and Lyons of the Newton police and admitted having broken into the three houses specified, but they denied having entered other homes they were shown. One of the quartet also confessed that he had gone into Moore & Moore's hardware store at Newton and taken some watches from a showcase.

The boys are from the Oak Square section of Brighton. One is 14 years old, two are 13 and the other is 12. Two reside on Montfern ave., one on Faneuil st. and the other on Herick st. Many boys and youths from this district have been in the Newton court in recent years and found guilty of breaking into Newton homes and stealing automobiles in this city. Their activities have been mostly in that part of Ward 7 near the Brighton line, and at Chestnut Hill.

Woman Claimed Tenant Threatened Her

William McAfee of 29 Fayette st., Newton, was found guilty of threatening Mrs. Theresa Borghetti, his landlady, also of that address by Judge Weston in the Newton court last Friday. The case was placed on file. Mrs. Borghetti testified that on July 30 McAfee came to her apartment, called her names, and banged doors, after she had given him two weeks notice to vacate his tenement. McAfee denied having made any threat, but said he protested against having been ordered to vacate in two weeks.

D. 1940, at four o'clock p. m. on said premises, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage and described in said mortgage deed as follows:

"A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated on the Easterly side of a being named the same, bounded by the corner of Barnstable Road and Howland Road at the corner of Howland Road in that part of said Newton called West Newton, shown on lot No. 25 on a plan of said Newton, dated February 1, 1916, Ernest W. Branch, C. E., recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds in Book of Plans 247, Plan 15, bounded and described as follows:

Westerly by said Barnstable Road, one hundred thirty-five and 26/100 (135.26) feet;

Southerly by the curve forming the corner of Barnstable Road and Howland Road, twenty-three and 90/100 (23.90) feet;

Easterly by said Howland Road, one hundred five and 37/100 (105.37) feet;

Easterly by land shown as lot No. 24 on said plan, one hundred sixteen and 98/100 (116.98) feet;

Northerly by the Valentine Estate, one hundred twenty-three and 65/100 (123.65) feet; containing, according to said plan, 16,266 square feet, be the same more or less, and

Being the same premises conveyed by Blanche W. Mason to said Maybelle G. McBeath by deed dated August 30th, 1936, to said premises are hereby conveyed subject to restrictions of record in so far as the same may now be in force and applicable."

Said premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes, liens and municipal liens and assessments, if any there be. $500.00 will be required to be paid in cash or by certified check by the purchaser at the time and place of sale. Other terms and conditions of sale will be announced at the sale.

West Newton Man Hit By Auto and Badly Injured

Closely following on the fatal injury of one pedestrian in this city on August 11, another elderly pedestrian was hit and severely injured by an automobile on Thursday night, August 15. Joseph Paquette, 68, of 47 Auburn st., West Newton, while crossing Lowell ave. near Crafts st., Newtonville, was hit by a taxi-cab driven by Edward R. Kelly of 657 Washington st., Newtonville. The accident occurred at 11:34 o'clock. Paquette received a dislocated hip, internal injuries, and injuries to his spine and pelvis. He was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance and his name placed on the danger list. Miss Celia Skelton of 124 Boylston st., Newton Upper Falls, a passenger in the taxi, was hurled forward and received a head injury, when Kelly stopped the automobile suddenly in an effort to avoid hitting Paquette.

A complaint was issued against Kelly, charging him with driving to endanger. He will be tried in the Newton court on August 23.

Ignored Signals From Policemen

In the Newton court last Friday Judge Weston found one autoist not guilty of refusing to stop when signalled to do so by a policeman, and filed the case of another driver charged with a similar offence. Traffic Officer Cummings testified that Lawrence Foss, Jr., of Wakefield would not stop when the officer signalled him to do so. Foss stated he did not see the officer's signal. Judge Weston, however, fined Foss $10 for speeding. Mrs. Arax Toroyan of Warren st., Waltham was charged by Patrolman Maguire with failing to stop when signalled to do so. She pleaded "nolo" and claimed she did not notice the officer's signal. She was fined $5 for speeding.

Jesse Turman of Worcester was fined $25 for speeding on his second conviction within a year. Fines of $10 were imposed on Samuel Mooskian of Grafton and Edmund Dosey of Brookline. Among those fined $5 for speeding was Roland LaMontagne of Waltham. James Manekas of Lowell was fined $3 for illegal parking.

Modern Bandit Is 'Sissy' To 'Wild West' Sheriffs

To a pair of chip-jawed sheriffs of the day of the "hoss-hair-trigger" today's gangsters and bad men wouldn't rate a second glance.

"Bad Bills" Humph, they're Sweet Williams," say these two men in whose day the usual historian of a gun duel between the law and the outlaw was the man who was fastest with the gun.

Both former Sheriff George Tindall and his successor Fred Thorp of Concomully, Wash., rate as such historians.

Tindall, a native of Oregon, began his career as an officer in 1887 when he was a deputy sheriff and United States marshal. In 1902, he became sheriff and that year was the beginning of the end of horse thieves and cattle rustlers in the Concomully territory.

Thorp, his successor, known all over the Northwest as the sheriff that always brought in his man, dead or alive.

When Tindall assumed office, the average population of his region was one person to each square mile—a situation that made cattle rustling a profitable affair.

A conviction on a charge of cattle thievery was hard to obtain, some old pioneers even alleging that many juries had members that were mixed up in the rustlings.

But 10 months after election, Tindall had changed the situation somewhat. Teaming up with a fighting prosecutor, Tindall brought about conviction and prison terms for 22 men in that time—a record never equaled.

Probably the high point of the sheriff's career was the war between the cattlemen and sheepmen. It began when Tindall aided in the arrest of one "Wild Bill" Hughes, a reported murderer.

A deputy sheriff was shot the next night, supposedly by a friend of Hughes—and the war was on.

A verdict of suicide was returned by a coroner's jury since no one could be found to testify. The westerners suddenly were cursed with bad memories.

And events similar to the night riders of the tobacco states began. Bands of men rode the hills at night, armed with guns, knives and clubs. Grazing sheep were slaughtered and sheepmen would receive matches in the mail.

The next night after the match had been delivered, hay and feed would go up in flames. It was the end of sheep raising in the region until comparatively recent times.

'Pill' Used for Testing Metal's Temperature

Metallurgists now can take a metal's temperature by giving it a pill.

The new pill method was developed recently by Harry Blumberg, of Jersey City, to extend the range of existing temperature-finding methods to lower temperatures.

The problem which the pills solve is that of indicating the temperature of metals which are to be shaped or welded at less than 900 degrees Fahrenheit. Metal heated to 400 degrees, for example, is too cool to show a distinctive color by which higher temperatures can be determined.

Blumberg devised pills made of various compounds which melt at definite temperatures. After much experimentation, he developed a complete set of chemical pellets having sharply defined melting points from 200 to 900 degrees.

Now, when a plant operation is specified for a temperature of 400 degrees, the metal can be heated and a 400-degree pill, colored for identification, dropped on its surface.

San Quentin 'Rejuvenations'

Unknown to the outside world, except in limited medical circles, San Quentin prison in California for the past 22 years has been the world's greatest clinic for rejuvenation experiments, a final report by Dr. Leo L. Stanley, chief prison surgeon, reveals. All of the operations of Vononoff of Paris, Steiner of Vienna, and of other great surgeons and specialists in rejuvenation and the fighting of senility have been duplicated thousands of times as well as entirely new methods worked out by Dr. Stanley himself. In the 22 years, during which Dr. Stanley introduced and applied this system of treatment in the penitentiary, 10,000 such operations have been performed.

'Bluegrass State' Title

Minnesota has laid claim to the title of the "Bluegrass State"—in defiance of Kentucky and all her colonels. Minnesota has the support of A. L. Brandon, of St. Charles, Ill., president of the Golf Course Superintendents' association. After visiting several Minnesota golf courses Brandon said: "Fairway grass is bluegrass, and there is more of it in Minnesota than Kentucky. What is more, Minnesota's bluegrass is a better and sturdier specimen."

Melon-Tasting Device

When it comes to sample-tasting muskmelons, the tongue takes a back seat to a mechanical "taster" devised by two University of Minnesota horticulturists. The process is simple. A drop of melon juice is placed on a small plate and light passing through it reflects to show the exact sugar content or sweetness of the melon. The "refractometer" is twice as rapid as the old method of personal tasting, the horticulturists said.

Three Arrested After Woman Falls From Newton House

After an Allston woman was discovered lying badly injured in front of a house early Thursday morning, police went to 75 Elmhurst rd., Newton about 6 o'clock yesterday and took the injured woman in the police ambulance to Newton Hospital. She was Mrs. Lucy Ruttman, 38, of 16 Royce rd., Allston. She had received a fractured arm, injuries to her spine and internal injuries. According to the police, she had fallen from a second story window.

Sergeant Sullivan with Patrolmen Springer and White, then went into the house and placed under arrest Walter Hertig, 55, who resides at that address; Leon Hines, 31, of 43 Nonantum st., Brighton; and Mary Keating, 37, of 61 Brighton ave., Allston. They were later arraigned in the Newton court on charges of drunkenness and lewdness, and their cases continued until Sept. 5. A charge of drunkenness was also made against the Ruttman woman.

being former Democratic candidates they have an equal chance. In his two years in Washington Mr. Russell was not too enthusiastic a supporter of the New Deal and thus two years ago Mr. Elliot, who has been more or less on the inside of Washington affairs and who resigned his Federal position as regional director of the wage and hour division in order to legally campaign under the Hatch act, carried the fight unsuccessfully to prevent Luce's re-election.

Should the trend among Democrats in the Ninth District be against the New Deal the nomination will probably go to Mr. Russell. If the sentiment is pro-New Deal it is almost certain that Mr. Elliot will be the nominee.

Governor's Council

The redistricting of the State at the last session of the Legislature resulted in considerable of a change in the make-up of the Third Governor's Council district of which Newton is a part. The new district takes in a part of four counties, Middlesex, Suffolk, Worcester and Norfolk. It runs from the New Hampshire line to the Connecticut R. I. line with the larger cities of Newton, Waltham, and Lowell a major part.

Present Councilor Frank Brooks of Concord is a candidate for a fourth term. One of the unusual features of the political situation as regards this position is that there is no Democratic nominee. There are three candidates in addition to Mr. Brooks. They are Henry I. Morrison of Newton, William M. Foster and Victor L. Picard, both of Lowell.

Mr. Morrison has been an unsuccessful candidate for alderman in Newton in past campaigns, and has been a resident here for more than ten years. Some years prior to moving to Newton he was a member of the City Council of Malden where he was active in political affairs. There seems to be little doubt of the renomination of Mr. Brooks.

A Correction

In last week's article in regard to the contest for the Republican nomination for the office of Attorney General we stated that the "third name on the ballot will be that of William C. Crossley of Weymouth, present District Attorney of Norfolk-Plymouth counties."

This was followed by observations upon the career of Edmund G. Dewing. In the succeeding paragraph we stated "next on the ballot comes the name of William C. Crossley of Fall River, who like Dewing, has served several terms as District Attorney of the southern district. To many of our readers the intent was obvious but through some inexplicable combination of errors of typing, typesetting, proofreading, the result was rather complex. The third name on the ballot will be that of William C. Crossley of Fall River, D. A. of the southern district. The fourth name will be that of Edmund G. Dewing of Weymouth, D. A. of the Norfolk-Plymouth, or southeastern district.

Incidentally in connection with this error we have received a letter from Mr. Dewing expressing his appreciation for the fair presentation of the political facts of the article.

We have referred in this column recently to the "surveyitis" complex which has afflicted the Board of Aldermen of this city. Last year a survey of the Newton Street Department was made by experts. Among suggestions made to effect economies in the conduct of this department was one relative to the collection of rubbish. Among the changes made in the collection of rubbish since last year has been the consolidation of this work in Wards 1 and 7 into one day, instead of on separate days as in years past. The results have been far from satisfactory. Prior to this doubling up on rubbish and ashes collecting, Street Department trucks collected in our part of Ward 1 early Saturday mornings. Since the two wards have had the collection the same day (Thursdays) frequently it has been late in the afternoon when it was made, and more than once, it has been the following day before the trucks completed their collections in our neighborhood.

This summer another step toward economy was innovated when rubbish collections were made only once in two weeks. Wednesday evening rubbish was placed on sidewalks in our section for collection yesterday. This rubbish was still on the sidewalks this morning, two days after it has been put there, and over two weeks after the last collection had been made. We believe in reasonable economy, but we don't believe in economy that results in such a deterioration of public service to citizens of Newton. This city is not bankrupt. It has not been accustomed to this sort of thing in the past. The Mayor and Aldermen should act to prevent repetition of this retrogressive trend.

Gooch Blackmail Trial Continues

In New York City on Monday at the trial of Jen Kung Li and Ann Chirito, alias Gooch, charged with blackmail and extortion against William Gooch of 113 Hancock st., Auburndale, counsel for the Chirito woman alleged that Gooch had married her a year ago, and had paid her $4000 voluntarily over a period of several years for the support of her child. He said that Li, a Chinese student at Columbia University, had only acted as intermediary for the woman.

The attorney, Marc Hemelin, told the court that Gooch met Miss Chirito while they were studying at Columbia University in 1928 and that in 1932 he promised her he would obtain a Mexican divorce from his first wife and marry her. According to the attorney, Gooch did obtain the divorce, but instead of marrying Miss Chirito, married a Miss Betty Torrent. Gooch is a professor of personal guidance at Boston University.

George Kander, 9, of 200 Watertown st., at the Newton-Watertown line, was hit about 9 o'clock yesterday morning by a tire and rim which became loose from the wheel of a passing automobile, rolled 50 feet and struck the boy as he was walking along the sidewalk near Lyons court. The child was unconscious when taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. He received a brain concussion and possible skull fracture. The car from which the tire flew was driven by Homer Green of Worcester.

The State Legislature and the candidates for the nominations as Representatives from the 4th and 5th Middlesex Representative District and the Middlesex-Suffolk Senatorial district is the subject of the fourth in the series of pre-primary articles on the political situation in which Newton voters have an interest.

In the fourth Middlesex district which comprises Wards 1, 2, 3 and 7 or Newton, Newtonville and West Newton, the two seats now held by Representatives William B. Baker and Warren K. Brimblecom are being vacated. Representative Baker is retiring after twelve years of outstanding service as a member of the important Ways and Means Committee, and Rep. Brimblecom, who has served eight years, is seeking election to the Senate.

The first candidate to enter the field was Loomis Patrick of West Newton. He was born in Newton 32 years ago, attended Newton schools, Amherst and Harvard Law School. For the past ten years he has practiced law in Boston. In recent years he has taken an active interest in politics becoming a member of the Republican City Committee and now serving as its treasurer.

Alderman Clarence C. Colby announced his candidacy a few weeks following the Patrick announcement, although the organizing of a proposed campaign had been started early in the year. Because of the fact that his name is familiar to Newton voters as a candidate for alderman and also for Mayor in 1937 the Ward 7 candidate is perhaps best known of the quartet. He has been a resident of Newton more than thirty years, a graduate of Harvard and Harvard Law School, a former secretary of the Republican City Committee and seven years as an alderman.

During the past several months Colby has been perfecting a campaign organization which should function effectively in his behalf on September 17.

The third candidate to announce his intention of seeking a seat in the legislature was Harold D. Ames of Newtonville. Mr. Ames is the son of an old Newton family and has resided in Newtonville for twenty years. He has been associated with an investment banking firm, is a naval veteran, a Past Commander of the Newton Post, American Legion, Past Vice Commander of Middlesex County, and is chairman of the Newton Veterans Council. He was personally known to Mr. Ames was urged to become a candidate some years ago but in consideration of the then existing representation, declined.

Philip W. Carter of West Newton became a fourth candidate to seek one of the two seats. Mr. Carter is well-known locally as a political writer. He has resided in Newton fifty-two years, is a veteran, and has long been associated with community activities. He has been a member of the Republican City Committee for ten years and has taken a leading part in countless city and state campaigns. Mr. Carter, like Mr. Ames, has deferred previous aspirations to seek a legislative seat until a vacancy existed.

Thus we have a contest between four long-time Newton residents, each of whom has taken an active part in community affairs in his own way, each of whom have various abilities to serve as competent legislators. Unquestionably because of his conscientious service as an alderman and with the general interest in his candidacy Mr. Colby should have little difficulty in leading the field.

As to the voters' choice among the other three candidates for the other seat, one person's guess is as good as another. The outcome will depend largely upon the support given each by their friends and acquaintances in going to the polls. The absence of an important contest at the head of the ticket will mean a falling off in the percentage of the vote cast unless interest taken in the Representative contest offsets it. It is a political axiom that a close and interesting contest for Representative means a large vote.

5th Middlesex District
From the 5th Middlesex Representative district Representative Douglass B. Francis will become the senior member of the House delegation on Beacon Hill. He is seeking his third term, succeeding to the position represented by Leverett Saltonstall, for fourteen years, eight as Speaker. The election of Representative Paul M. Goddard as Mayor of Newton last November resulted in a vacancy for the second seat. There are two candidates, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., and Hans W. Lundstrom, both of Newton Centre.

Margaret Spear has long been outstanding in community activities throughout the Newtons. She has also taken a keen interest in politics, serving as a member and secretary of the Republican City Committee for the past ten years. During thirty years of residence in Newton she has been entrusted with officership in practically every organization and activity with which she has been connected, including five years as president of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, President of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, President of the Central Council, and Vice-President of the League of Women Voters, and serving as a director in such organizations as the Family Welfare Bureau, Mothers' Rest Association, and the All-Newton Music School, and a member of numerous committees.

There can be no denial of the fact that Mrs. Spear's friendship and acquaintance is sufficiently widespread to enable her to receive sufficient support to defeat many well-known male candidates. Thus Newton will undoubtedly send to Beacon Hill its first woman representative. Occasionally other districts have sent women representatives and for some years there have been at least two of that sex sitting in the House. The largest number at any one time has been five. Hans W. Lundstrom, the third candidate, has been active in Newton for the past few years. In the city election last fall he was a candidate for school committee from Ward 6, running third with a comparatively small vote.

The Senatorial Contest
There are three candidates for the Republican nomination for Senator from the new Middlesex-Suffolk district which comprises the city of Newton, Ward 22 of Boston and Ward 5 of Cambridge. Senator Arthur W. Hollis of Newton, of the present First Middlesex Senatorial district, is opposed by Representative Warren K. Brimblecom and Thomas E. Morahan.

Following several years of service as an alderman and as president of the Board, Mr. Hollis was elected to the legislature as a Representative. He served a term of two years and was advanced to the Senate where he has consecutively sought re-election. He has served in the higher branch of the State Legislature for a period of fourteen years. During this time he never faced serious opposition to his re-election although on numerous occasions indications of a desire for a

Registration of New Voters Seen As Heaviest In Years

The heaviest registration of new voters in years was reported by City Clerk Frank M. Grant this week at the close of the daily pre-primary sessions on Wednesday night. Since June 2522 additions to the voting lists have been made, the largest increase since the enfranchisement of women voters 20 years ago. The new additions make a total of 36,162 which is approximately a 1000 fewer voters than the peak of 37,128 prior to the national election of 1936. It is expected that prior to the election this November that the 1936 mark will be considerably surpassed.

On Wednesday about 700 voters were registered with the biggest rush of 450 during the evening, taxing the abilities of the 11 clerks. It was noticeable that many older people were among those getting registered with an estimated number of 40 persons of over 80 years of age. Organized activity upon the part of the Republican City Committee is deemed largely responsible for the heavy registration.

Following the September 17th primaries the Board of Registrars of Voters will hold registration sessions for the November election from Sept. 19 through Oct. 15.

Links Airplane On Golf Links When Fuel Is Low

Uncertain of his bearings and with his fuel supply getting low Harold E. Weatherly, Jr., licensed student pilot, of Natick, landed his plane on the 11th fairway of the Albemarle Golf links about 6:30 Wednesday evening. Circling low over the course he warned golfers away and came to a perfect landing without disrupting the turf. Newton police were advised of the incident, set the aviator right on his course, assisted in getting more gasoline, and Weatherly took off shortly afterwards for the Framingham Airport.

Election Officers Are Confirmed By Aldermen

Mayor Submits Long List Of Officials

Under suspension of the rules at the meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night, appointments of election officers submitted by Mayor Goddard were confirmed. Several vacancies remain in the "not enrolled" designation in a few precincts. The Board accepted the suggestion of City Clerk Grant to omit all those named under no party classification when three appeared in any one precinct as a method of retaining the party balance.

Legion Drill Team Wins Second State Championship

The Newton Legion Guards, drill team of the Newton Post, American Legion, captured first prize at the State Convention in Salisbury last Saturday to set a record unsurpassed by any Legion drill team in the United States. The Guards, led by Captain J. Joseph Ward, have now won three national and two state championships. The team had the post of honor in the parade and was enthusiastically applauded along the entire route. In winning the state honors the Guards defeated last year's state champions the East Lynn Post.

Next month the Greater Boston Legion Posts are hosts to the national convention, a result of which is that the Newton Guards will not compete in the national championships. The team is preparing for an exhibition drill to be staged at Harvard stadium.

Chester H. Grant, new department commander, endorsed by the Newton Post appointed Past Commander John B. Foley of Newton as his sergeant-at-arms during the parade at Salisbury and named Commander Arthur Hunt to serve on the resolutions committee. Edward F. Dalton of the Newton Post was elected alternate to the National Convention.

The officers of the championship Newton Guards which won the national titles consecutively since 1937 and the state title in 1938 and 1940 are: J. Joseph Ward, Captain; George Paquin, 1st Lieut.; O. J. McQuinn, 2nd Lieut.; C. P. Peterson, adjutant; Francis J. Frazier, treas.; Wm. J. Maloney, business manager, and Frederick J. Young, Armorer.

Alien Listing May Reach 7000

With the opening day of the Federal registration of alien citizens rather quiet, when only 49 non-citizens appeared, the listing speeded up on Wednesday. An estimated total of 7000 aliens reside in the district which includes the Newtons, Wellesley and Needham. The listing is being done in the gymnasium of the Our Lady High School on Washington st., Newton.

John L. Sullivan and Joseph Waters, regular postal clerks, are the supervisors of the crew of 70 which is doing the listing work. The group includes 45 typists, 12 finger printers, 8 interviewers, 2 interpreters and a timekeeper. Thomas Cahill and Harold Rutledge are in charge of the fingerprinting. Francis Garruna and Sylvan Chiodian are interpreters and Joseph A. Proitt is timekeeper. All aliens over 14 years of age must register.

Taxpayers' Ass'n. Issues Statement On Garbage Bids

Taking an active, emphatic stand in the interest of the taxpayers of the city the Newton Taxpayers Association has issued a statement relative to the proposed contract for the collection of garbage, bids for which were recently opened. The statement urges careful consideration of the question and the award of the contract to the lowest qualified bidder.

The statement which was issued yesterday is as follows:
"The Newton Taxpayers' Association, Inc., has been reliably informed that pressure through correspondence is being exerted on Mayor Goddard by individuals in Newton to let a contract for a period of five years for the collection of garbage to the fifth highest bidder. This association realizes that the City of Newton demands its services well rendered. Insofar as we know, this service during the past has been well done, but we realize the question of the desirability of letting a contract for five years to the fifth highest bidder in the event that any lower bidder is qualified to do an equal job at a lower price. Certainly, pressure should not be brought to bear on Mayor Goddard by citizens of Newton in order that a contract might be let that would increase the cost of city government.

"This association demands that careful consideration be given to the letting of this contract by those in authority. The easiest way for the city executives is not always the most economical way, and Mayor Goddard should not recognize pressure to let this contract at any higher price than the lowest bidder unless the lowest bidder is unqualified to do the work in a manner satisfactory to the citizens of Newton."

WPA CONCERTS

The Newton WPA Orchestra under the direction of Murray Hochberg will present the following concerts during the coming week:
Tuesday, 1:45 P.M., Waltham City Infirmary; 6:45 P.M., Stone Institute, Upper Falls.

Wednesday, 1:45 P.M., Waltham City Hall Common; 6:30 P.M., Waltham City Hall Common.

Thursday, 9:45 A.M., Peabody Home, Centre; 1:45 P.M., Newton Hospital, West Newton.

Friday, 1:45 P.M., Waltham City Hall Common; 8:30 P.M., Waltham City Hall Common.

Aldermen Seek Removal Of Waverley Ave. House As Dangerous Structure

Will Notify Heirs Of Estate In Waban That Similar Steps May Be Taken

Following hearings before the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night action was taken by that body ordering the removal of a building on Waverley avenue, branded dangerous by the city building and fire departments. Action on a similar structure at 1267 Beacon st., Waban, was deferred until another hearing on September 9th, after absent heirs to the property will have been officially notified.

No person appeared to oppose the order before the Board calling upon owners of the Waverley ave. property to show cause why the Aldermen should not make an order adjudging the building to be dangerous and prescribing its disposition, alteration or regulation. Several residents of the vicinity appeared in favor of adoption of such an order. Joseph F. Wogan of 394 Kenrick st., a next door neighbor to the property at 275 Waverley avenue, for the past 13 years, said the former residence had long been without care, was a hangout for wandering gangs of boys with the result that the house is in a deplorable condition. The roof is open, some of the windows are broken and cans and bottles litter the grounds. He told also of the overgrowth of weeds and of the times he had gone there to try to clear the grounds.

Alderman Clarence C. Colby of Ward 7 spoke of the fine properties nearby. He also stated that the cellar of the unoccupied residence was filled with combustible materials and that the interior had been stripped of everything of value. He added "it really is a risk and a nuisance."

Alderman Hoffman interpolated that steps should be taken to effect a clean-up of the fire-swept ruins of the Crystal Lake Ice House and the stable at Newton Centre. Alderman Rawson, Chairman of the Claims and Rules Committee which recommended the order requiring the removal or repair of the Waverley avenue structure stated that nothing was before the Board on the ice house matter and that the locations had not been condemned as hazardous or unsafe by the fire and building departments as prescribed under the General Laws, on which aldermanic action was based in such instances.

A similar type of order was read to open the hearing on the property at 1267 Beacon st. No defense of the location was offered. Edmund F.

Kneeland, attorney, of 70 Bowen st., Newton Centre, appeared in behalf of his father, Frank Kneeland, one of the heirs to the property. The former stated that his father had applied for a permit to demolish the house, but inasmuch as the executor of the estate was dead, asked that the Newton Board of Aldermen supply an official notification to other heirs of the proposed order.

Hearings were held on the laying out of several streets under the betterment act, and later action by the board was favorable. At the hearing on the laying out of Gardner st., from Fayette to Jewett sts., Newton, several abutters spoke in favor. Joseph J. Nolan, one of the sponsors, stated that all but two abutters had signed the petition. Also favoring were Michael J. Leonard and John J. Durkin. Mrs. Hannah J. Mulcahy of 52 Gardner st. favored the petition, but asked for assurance that blasting would not damage her house as it did a year ago.

City Engineer Ernest H. Harvey was asked about the blasting to which he replied there would have to be some but that it would not be severe. He also was asked to provide assurance for Mrs. Bessie MacDonald of 62 Gardner st., that her improved portion of sidewalk would be retained if it conformed to grade and street lines. Residents were told that if they wished sidewalks better than the graded ways planned that they could petition for them, paying half the cost at the rate of $4.50 per frontage foot, payments being made on a 10-year basis.

On the laying out, grading and acceptance of Philmore rd., Newton from Ivanhoe st. to the end, the petitioner, Philip Ditch, replied to inquiries proposed by Alderman Rawson and Joseph B. Jamieson.

Albert G. Denzer reported of drainage water and flooded cellars as necessitating the laying out and acceptance of Olde Field rd., Newton Centre from Hagen rd. to Haynes rd. Joseph F. Nolan of 12 Marshfield rd. represented seven of ten abutters petitioning for the laying out and improvement of that roadway.

Other layouts, gradings and acceptances voted by the Board were Glendale rd. from near West Boulevard rd. to Burrage rd., Ward 6; and Bemis rd. from California st. to Parkway rd., Ward 2.

Considerable routine business was also transacted at the meeting which adjourned at 12:25. Prior to adjournment Alderman Clarence C. Colby earnestly inquired as to when the city was going to mow the grass borders along Newton streets. He led up to the subject saying with comments of boyhood days on the farm: "In those days we harvested the crop in July. When are we going to harvest the hay on the sidewalk edges of Newton. In my 30 years here I've never seen so many streets with weeds on them. It's time we made the Garden City look more like a garden." He inferred that it was the city's responsibility to which Vice-President Clifford H. Walker, presiding at the meeting, replied that the matter would be transmitted to the street department. Alderman Temperley observed that paper is made from hay in some instances and suggested the possibility that there might be some way of bringing the new paper-baler into use—possibly as a hay baler.

Alderman George E. Rawson speaking of folks who were lieutenant governors in their homes told of mowing the grass strip in front of his home at the request of Mrs. Rawson—an example he felt might well be followed by others.

Alderman Henderson Inches of Ward 6, who previously had heard in admonition from the chair that the hour was getting late, remarked that the city should raise sheep and since all follow when one sheep jumps announced his intention of going home then. And with forthwith adjournment the Board acted.

Growth Seen On Bullough's Pond Is Not Harmful

Residents and motorists passing by Bullough's Pond, Newtonville need have no concern over the green scum-like matter which is present there according to announcement by Recreation Commissioner F. Ewing Wilson. The matter is a plant growth, scientifically known as "lenna" and commonly known as "duckweed." The growth is not a health menace, is perfectly clean, odorless and without bacteria. Commissioner Wilson adds that the growth did not originate in Bullough's Pond but apparently has floated in from somewhere and while it is still coming down and because of its rapid growth it is futile to attempt to remove it. If necessary, however, the level of the pond will be lowered and the growth removed.

AGAIN THE DRILL TEAM LEADS

The Legion Guards, drill team of the Newton Post of the American Legion, has again brought honors to the city in winning its second state championship in competition with the best that the state can offer. Without fear of contradiction, we can be assured that the Legion Guards would annex their fourth straight national title were it possible for them to compete at the national convention next month. Inasmuch as that convention will be held in Boston and the Greater Boston Legion Posts are hosts, the local unit cannot participate in the competition. Newton is proud of its Legion Guards and congratulates it upon its state championship. May another year see a return to the local drill team at the top of the national competition.

TWENTY YEARS OF VOTING

To those who recall the campaign waged for many years culminating in the granting of the right of woman's suffrage the current observance of the twentieth anniversary of that right is of noteworthy attention. Opponents of woman's suffrage were particularly emphatic in their views that women would not know what to do with their votes and that they were not capable of passing on governmental issues. Experience has disproved these contentions. Women have exercised their judgment as to problems of the electorate equally as well as male voters formerly did. In fact, many women today are more keenly aware of the true value of the privilege of voting than many men. It was a happy day for these United States when women were given the right to vote—may they continue to crusade in an effort to maintain the traditions upon which America is founded.

A LATE THANKSGIVING

Governor Saltonstall has indicated that in Massachusetts we will observe Thanksgiving Day on the customary date of the last Thursday in November. This observance will be held despite whatever announcement may or may not be forthcoming from Washington that an earlier date will be set aside. Although the federal government in late years has been telling the states what they can and cannot do in regard to some things, this is one instance where the state rules supreme. We trust that Washington will not attempt to set aside another observance of our Thanksgiving this year as took place a year ago, for that observance is one of which the grand old Bay State holds particularly as her own.

Annual Swimming Meet At Crystal Lake

The annual swimming meet conducted by the Newton Chapter Red Cross and the Newton Recreation Department was held Wednesday morning at Crystal Lake, Newton Highlands. Mr. F. Ewing Wilson, Director of the Newton Recreation Department, and Mr. Edward H. Larnard, Vice-Chairman of the Newton Chapter Red Cross, presented the prizes to the winners.

The meet was planned by Mr. Gilbert Champagne and Miss Claire McCarthy of the Recreation Department and Mr. E. M. Westgate, Swimming and Life-Saving Instructor for the Newton Chapter Red Cross.

An exhibition of fancy diving was given by Miss Miriam Boynton and Miss Eleanor Leahy. The results of the swimming races were as follows:

Seattle is second only to New York as a fur market, the Seattle Fur Exchange reports. Last year the auction house sold 750,000 raw pelts to bidders from all over the world.

EDWARD H.

Powers' Paragraphs

For many months Secretary of State Hull has been making perfunctory protests against the seizure and censoring of mail from U. S. ships and airplanes at Bermuda. Because of the tightening of the British blockade, all mail from Europe to this country now comes on boats of one steamship line, and we are informed that as a condition of permitting these ships to pass the blockade, they must call at Bermuda so British officials can censor the mail. In addition, planes of the Pan-American Airways, en route from Europe to America, also stop at Bermuda, so the mail carried on them may also be censored. The British navy can't blockade these airplanes, so the stop at Bermuda seems obviously co-operative. And Secretary Hull continues to make his phoney protests.

Driving down Common st. hill toward Watertown the other day we enjoyed the excellent panorama of Newton and Newtonville afforded by that elevation. The profusion of trees in this city give it the aspect of being largely a forest. Newton's thousands of trees, along its streets and in yards, have for the past century been one of the chief attractions of our home town. Unfortunately, in recent years there has been too much a tendency on the part of Boards of Aldermen to cut down appropriations for new trees and the care of trees. This is poor economy and it will result quite adversely to Newton in years to come if it will be continued. The beautiful, old elms have been severely damaged this summer by the beetles, and an extra appropriation for special spraying would have been wise.

Several years ago WPA workers dug thousands of holes along the borders of sidewalks in the Newtons and placed loam in these holes. Young trees were to have been planted in these places. This program was not completed. If Newton is to retain the beauty created by a plenitude of trees, more money must be appropriated for their care, for replacements on old streets, and planting of trees on new streets.

This country is a democracy; a government of the people, by the people and for the people. But, one man, the President, can secretly make commitments with foreign nations which may easily plunge us into war. This is a very weak point in our fabric of democracy. Measures should be taken to eliminate this defect.

The great maneuvers of the First Army in northern New York are over. About the only real good they produced is to show more vividly the almost utter lack of preparedness for defense which exists in the U. S. A. Our national guard meagerly trained, attempting to learn about modern warfare with little or no equipment, makes all this ballyhoo about national defense somewhat ridiculous.

Last week General Marshall, chief of staff of the Army, told a Senate committee that to properly defend this hemisphere we need a well trained army of 4,000,000 men, and that an army of 1,200,000 is needed to defend this continent. He said that for some time to come we cannot produce sufficient equipment even for this smaller army.

Some months ago the President gave us a reassuring talk on the amount of war equipment we had, or which was on order. Last week some actual figures were published. Money has been appropriated for 8000 airplanes for the army, which now has 3000 serviceable planes. Of these 8000 planes, 800 are expected to be delivered this year. The scarcity of artillery, including anti-aircraft guns, of tanks and other equipment, is even greater. And these figures are based on the requirements of an army of 750,000. In addition to the delay in producing equipment, our Senators have been dallying in the matter of compulsory military training. By such inaction and inertia the probability of this country becoming involved in war is being increased.

The Board of Aldermen appropriated $3400 to buy a machine to bale waste paper at the incinerator at Newton Highlands, after they had been informed that the sale of certain types of paper may bring a yearly profit of $30,000 to the city at the prevailing high prices. One thing, however, may tend to interfere with this anticipated profitable sale of salvaged paper. Corrugated paper, which is expected to be one of the principal sources of income in the sale of waste paper by the Street Department, is being collected from stores by private parties, some of whom even pay a small sum for this waste. This competition will reduce the amount of the salable waste paper which the city trucks will gather. Perhaps the city can prohibit the collection of waste paper by persons other than licensed junk dealers. Or can waste paper be classified as junk?

The Senate finally passed the amended Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill, and the House of Representatives will probably vote favorably on this bill, with some changes, next week. In conformity with the principles of democracy, all able-bodied men in this country, within the age range to be specified, will be liable to the draft. The suggestion recently made by a nationally known writer—that youths and young men in the CCC and NYA be taken as possible cannon fodder, properly did not receive consideration from Congress. We regret that such a suggestion, which would conscript poor young men, and exempt those whose families are prosperous or wealthy, came from a man whose ancestors immigrated to this country a generation or two ago to enjoy the blessings of equal rights, and from a member of the Celtic race which for centuries fought for freedom.

Yesterday we travelled to Fitchburg to pay a last tribute to Major General Benjamin A. Poore, who died on Aug. 27. He was a gallant soldier and a real gentleman. General Poore was born in Alabama, moved to Fitchburg when a boy, graduated from West Point in 1886 and served in the Spanish-American War, the Philippines, China and in the World War. He was commander of the 7th Brigade of the Fourth Division in the A. E. F., and for his bravery in action in France, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, the Distinguished Service Cross and the Croix de Guerre. As evidence of his cultural attainments, he spoke several languages at West Point from 1893 until 1895. Dignified, yet democratic, he combined efficiency with consideration for his men. He well deserves the honor of burial in the National Cemetery at Arlington.

With the hell raging overseas, with millions in peril in London and the remainder of Britain, and to a lesser degree in Berlin and other German cities, with thousands of young men sacrificing their lives fighting for their countries, the belief that their country is in the right, let us hope that at sometime in the future a sufficient percentage of men all over the world will practice as well as profess unselfishness and consideration for their fellow men, so that greed, stupidity and bigotry will be eliminated to such a degree, that wars will not be tolerated in an allegedly civilized world.

The revelations of Ambassador Bullitt of corruption among the so-called leaders of the French nation, should cause us to think seriously of the prevalence of venality among men in public life in this country, and of the tendency toward materialism rather than idealism among so large a percentage of our people. Patriotism doesn't consist of bombastic oratory, or the display of an imitation banner inscribed—"I Love America."

We don't believe in Communism, but we wonder if it is in conformity with the Constitution of the U. S. A. to discharge men from the WPA because they registered as members of the Communist party in 1936, when it was legal to do so. And when Communists are being penalized, why are members of Fascist and Nazi organizations in this country exculpated, as they were in New York recently?

Wants School Budget Earlier

The Board of Aldermen, on Monday night, adopted a resolution offered by Alderman Edward A. Fahy of Ward 1. Hoffman called, calling upon the School Committee to submit its budget for review by the Aldermen before the school year was well under way. Alderman Hoffman pointed out that usually the school budget is not available for review until "nothing can be done about it."

The Hoffman motion was seconded by Alderman Edward A. Fahy of Ward 1. Hoffman cited a rule that all departments shall submit budgetary estimates by Oct. 1st to the mayor and that he in turn submit the figures to the Aldermen by Nov. 1st. This rule has since been superseded by the state municipal finance law. Hoffman believed that the rule should be observed.

Lynch Wins Tri-City Tennis Tournament

Jack Lynch of Newton defeated William Powers of Newton in a brilliant played tennis match at the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday morning to win the first annual tri-city junior singles title. Lynch's margin of victory was 6-1, 6-4, 6-2.

An upset was provided in the semi-finals on Tuesday when Richard Daly of Newton defeated Don Skale of Waltham, seeded No. 2, by a score of 6-0, 6-3. Lynch was seeded first and Powers four. Ralph Holmes, of Waltham, seeded three, was the victim of an upset in the second round when defeated by Russ Gordon of Waltham.

On his march to the title, Lynch defeated H. Bazarand of Waltham in the second round, Bob Bollo of Waltham in the quarter finals, and Bob Olivigni of Newton in the semi-finals. Powers defeated Forte in the second round, William Burns of Newton in the quarter-finals and Daly in the semi-finals.

One of the early round features was the victory of 12-year-old Bobby Scanlon of Newtonville, younger brother of Phil Scanlon, Newton high star of the past three years, over H. Whalen of Waltham in a three-set match, 8-6, 5-7, 7-5.

Football Managers To Meet At Playground

The first meeting of managers of the Newton City Football League will be held next Tuesday evening, Sept. 3, at 8 p. m., in the playground building at Newton Centre. Plans for the coming season will be discussed under the direction of John J. Leary of the Recreation Department.

On Saturday, August 15 at 2 o'clock the Boston Cricket Club will play a match with the Internationals of Lowell on the Magnolia grounds at Newtonville. As this will be the first of a number of matches that will be played on these grounds, it is hoped that residents of this city will attend.

Two boys were in court on Saturday and were fined $2 each for bathing in the Charles River.

Three young Nonantum boys who were to have been in court last Saturday for bathing in the Charles River and trespassing, slyly skipped off. They will receive a much heavier fine when caught.

There were six arrests for drunkenness on Saturday and six on Monday. The usual fines were imposed.

The habit of closing up streets for repairs which the highway department has adopted, is a very poor plan, in most cases needless, and should be discontinued. For three weeks Walnut street, between Mill and Honer streets, has been closed, causing much inconvenience, especially as the detour streets, Murray and Morton, are in miserable shape and unfit for travel. The city should give us proper highways.

Goodnow's Hotel at Franconia, New Hampshire seems to be a favorite place for Newton people as there are 25 there now.

The next open air gospel meeting on the grounds of Henry Beck at North street, Newtonville, will be held next Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

The Newton Gas Company has sold a lot of gas stoves the past week on account of the hot weather.

Over 1000 single tickets for Boston were sold at the Newton depot on Tuesday and probably an equal number used their ticket books. There was the same great crowd on the trains from every station in Newton. Coming back from Boston passengers were standing in the aisles and on the platforms and there was much grumbling.

Newton may well be proud of the great showing made by Charles Ward Post in the big G. A. R. parade at Boston on Tuesday. There were 125 members of the post in line and the marching and deportment of the men was excellent.

J. R. Robertson of Auburndale is attending the American Canoe Association's annual meet at Sag Harbor, L. I. this week. He has entered in the races and took with him two canoes, one of which he built for his own use.

Newtonville citizens feel badly because the Stars and Stripes were not floated from the flagstaff at Newtonville square on Tuesday, the day of the G. A. R. parade. The upper part of the flagstaff had been taken down because it was decayed. Funds for the staff were contributed by citizens who feel that the citizens should now place a new flagstaff at the square.

Newton Cottage Hospital again places Mrs. Elizabeth Eldredge on its list of benefactors. This time Mrs. Eldredge has given the best ambulance obtainable. Every contrivance for the comfort of sick and wounded is included. One of Mrs. Eldredge's recent gifts to this institution was a check for $10,000.

An informal meeting of the Overseers of the Poor was held last Tuesday afternoon at the site of the new almshouse on Winchester street, Newton Highlands. It was decided to construct the barn at least 150 feet from the main building for safety in case of fire.

Employees of the Newton & Watertown Gas Company have laid over 3 miles of pipes in the Waban section recently. Highway employees are grading the square around the Waban railway station.

Several Newton Center G. A. R. members who missed the last train on Tuesday night, arrived home from Boston on Wednesday morning by herdic.

Officials of the Newton Board of Health have been making a careful investigation of the milk supply of Newton, and have visited many dairies in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Newton police were given a scare Wednesday night for a few minutes when Solon Erskell, a colored chauffeur told Patrolman Carrigan that he had been held up and robbed of a gold watch and $37 on Centre street near Mount Ida street, shortly after midnight. Later, Patrolman Tainter, who doubted the story of the young man, obtained an admission from him that he had been in a poker game and had lost his watch and money that way. Erskell told the patrolman that the

Dear me! Nearly time for school to open again and brother will be gone almost all day. I'll miss him awfully. He knows just how to play with me. Yesterday I heard Mother say she was going to send me to Nursery School as soon as I was old enuf. That's some place where a lot of little children play together with a teacher. Mother says it helps develop children the right way. What ever that means!

Placement Tests At F. A. Day Junior High School

The F. A. Day Junior High School will give placement tests here on Friday, September 6, 1940 at 9:00 a. m. This is for all new pupils not yet registered, but does not apply to the seventh graders coming from our elementary schools.

It would be helpful to all concerned if arrangements concerning these tests could be made before the above date. The school office will be open beginning Tuesday, September 3 from 8:30 to 12:00 a. m.

Pupils should bring transfer and report cards with them. Parents are urged to accompany children if possible.

Speeders Fined In Newton Court

In court on Monday fines of $5 each were levied against James H. McLaughlin of Boston and Willard Hansen of 112 Warren st., Newton Centre, on charges of speeding. Complaints were brought by Inspector Hamill and Patrolman John F. Fitzsimmons. A similar charge against John W. Farley of Boston with Patrolman Joseph A. Charlton as complainant was filed.

Scottish Clan Games At Brookline On Monday

Keen competition is expected in the women's Highland dancing at the 51st annual Scottish Picnic and Highland games, to be sponsored by the Scottish Clans of Boston and vicinity, O. S. C. at their new location Brookline Field, Brookline. Entries have been received from several states and Canada by the committee in charge of the games.

New York will be represented by Isabel Taylor, who has done well in various games already held throughout the east this summer. Anna Cooper of Pawtucket, R. I., a regular performer at the games will again be present. Entries from Massachusetts include Louise Campbell and Gertrude Graham of Roslindale, Mae Macphee of Needham and Henrietta McKenzie of Somerville.

Among the juvenile dancers entered are Jean Gormason, Margaret Ogilvie, Nancy Eddleston, "Sunshine" Maclellan and many others from the Pawtucket and Providence district, while from the Boston district entries include Jeanette Dutton, Margaret Denning and Barbara Workman.

Among the entries in the women's bagpipe event are Louise Campbell, Anna Cooper, Margie Adamson, Nancy Eddleston and Florence Fraser.

The Bagpipe bands in the parade include the Boston Scottish Highlanders Pipe Band, champions of New England, Kevin Barre Irish Bagpipe Band and Girls' Bagpipe Band of Boston. Selections will also be given by the William P. McCracken Memorial Fife and Drum Corps.

Sports confined to sons and daughters of members of the O. S. C. will include races for boys from 8 to 12, and 12 to 16, and a race for girls from 8 to 12 years of age. Amateur athletic events, open to the world, include the famed Walter Scott Mile Run, $80 Yard New England A. A. U. Junior Championship, and races over dash and middle distance for men and dash and relay races for women.

The New Essex Soccer club, winners of the soccer competition at Worcester last week, will be one of the teams in the six-a-side soccer competition along with Boston Celtics, Swedish-Americans of Worcester and Fall River Soccer Club.

The games will start at 10 a.m. with games confined to Brookline, and include a tug-of-war between two well-known teams of the town; a softball game between Moore's and Hinds for a special trophy and bicycle races, the final of which will be run off in the afternoon. The Highland events will start at 12 noon and the amateur athletic events at 1 p.m.

Pipe Major George B. Smith, past chief of Clan Mackenzie of Boston, will again be ringmaster. T. M. "Sandy" Macfarlane, past chief of Clan Farquharson of South Boston, will be chairman of reception committee and James Hogg, past chief of Clan Sutherland of Brookline, general chairman, will be in charge of the games.

Placement Tests At Levi Warren Jr. High School

Placement examinations will be given at the Warren Junior High School to pupils new in the district and to pupils coming from private schools, who are to enter junior high schools, in grades (Grades 7-9) on Friday, September 6, 1940, beginning at 9:00 o'clock. Students are asked to report at 8:45 o'clock.

Make-up examinations for students getting incomplete recordings will also be given on Friday, September 6, beginning at 9:00 o'clock.

The new school year starts on Monday, September 9. In order that children may be ready to start on the first day without delay, it is advisable that they take these placement examinations.

New pupils should bring transfer and report cards with them when registering.

Ball Player Cuts Eye Chasing Fly To Fence

When John J. Janse, Jr., of 340 Lake ave., Newton Centre, ran into a fence chasing a fly ball in centerfield, he suffered a severe cut to the right eye. Janse was playing as a member of the Highland Boys' Club team in a game with the Vediccio Juniors at Allison playground Sunday afternoon. He was taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment in a Newton police car by Officers Charles Walker and Lawrence Dungan.

Of Course You Care

Of course you care what happens to your family when you are no longer here to take care of them. Perhaps you already have all the life insurance you need . . . but in too many cases the loss of a breadwinner means unnecessary hardship for his family.

It's foolish, of course, to buy more life insurance than you can afford. But it surely is worth while to get maximum family protection from the money you can afford to spend.

Before you decide how much life insurance you can afford, find out about Savings Bank Life Insurance—providing safe family protection at low cost for thrifty people who are willing to buy "over-the-counter" insurance at the savings bank.

Three Church Building Projects

Three church building projects, with an estimated total value of $135,000 in construction, are underway in Newton. All are due for completion this fall.

In Auburndale work has gotten underway on the superstructure of Corpus Christi Church on Commonwealth ave. at Ash st. For some time the parish has used the church basement but by mid-December it is expected that a $55,000 improvement will be ready for occupancy. An imposing 40 foot edifice with a tower rising 90 feet above the ground has been planned. Weymouth seam-faced granite and limestone will be combined in the exterior finish, and glass blocks will be used in framing the windows. Some twenty workmen will be employed.

St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Lower Falls has already started construction of a new parish hall and community center to replace the portion of the church premises destroyed by fire. The new structure, adjoining the church premises on Concord rd. will cost approximately $40,000. It will incorporate a large parish hall with stage, a supper room and kitchen, and other meeting and social rooms. The building will comprise basement and two stories and will be of fire-proof construction. Completion is expected by January 1st.

The third church project is an addition to Temple Immanuel in the rear of the present building on Ward st., Newton Centre. Expectations are that the $40,000 project will be partially ready for use at the beginning of the holiday season on Oct. 3rd.

Red Cross Exceeds Quota Of Garments

The Newton Chapter of Red Cross has shipped during July and August to Harborside Warehouse, Jersey City, N. J., for shipment overseas by the National Society of American Red Cross, garments and sweaters far in excess of the quota asked of them by the National Society. Through the generous contribution of time of 1100 women in the city of Newton, making up groups in ten sections, who are knitting for this cause; and of over 350 women who are sewing, this splendid achievement has been made possible, directed by the Production Department, of which Mrs. Carl H. Hanson is general chairman, and Mrs. David Galloway is chairman of the Knitting Groups.

On August 16th, Mrs. Hanson directed the shipping in 12 standard wooden cases, of 198 men's sweaters; 500 children's sweaters; 384 beanies; 94 pairs mittens; 40 crocheted black shawls; 2 pairs socks; 2 pairs wristlets; 50 women's dresses; 265 children's dresses; 55 layettes; 50 convalescent robes; 75 hospital bed shirts; and 16 boys' shirts.

These articles, added to those of the shipment of July 10th, makes a total of garments shipped, compared with the quota asked for by September first, as follows:

| Garment | No. Shipped | Quota |
|---------------------|-------------|-------|
| Men's Sweaters | 308 | 50 |
| Children's Sweaters | 870 | 100 |
| Women's Sweaters | 40 | 50 |
| Women's Shawls | 40 | 50 |
| Women's Dresses | 50 | 50 |
| Children's Dresses | 265 | 100 |
| Operating Gowns | 25 | 25 |
| Hospital Bed Shirts | 75 | 50 |
| Convalescent Robes | 50 | 50 |
| Layettees | 115 | 50 |
| Wristlets | 2 pairs | — |
| Socks | 7 pairs | — |
| Beanies | 424 | — |
| Boys' Shirts | 66 | — |

That there is great satisfaction to be felt in responding to the dire need of refugees and soldiers in the devastated countries of Europe, is proved by the words of Red Cross representatives in the war areas, who express such appreciation and gratitude for this assistance from the women of the United States.

In order to meet the quota of Surgical Dressings asked of Newton by the National Society, meetings have been held on extra days during this past week, in all sections of the city. A week ago 34,000 surgical dressings were ready for shipment; the quota asked being 55,000 by September first. Shipments of these greatly-needed dressings have been made by the American Red Cross immediately upon their arrival at the warehouse in New York, and to England only.

In several sections of the city the Sewing Groups are taking a holiday during the week of Labor Day: in West Newton, where meetings will resume September 11, in the Unitarian Church; in Newton, where a new meeting place, other than Pomroy Home, will be arranged; and in Waban, where the next meeting at Union Church will be on September 4th, and alternate Wednesdays thereafter, for Sewing Groups. The Surgical Groups, in Waban, however, will continue to meet each Wednesday at the Episcopal Church. At present, in Newton Centre and in Newtonville, groups will continue to meet on Wednesdays at the Women's Club Houses.

In Newton Highlands, meetings will continue on Wednesdays, from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m., at St. Paul's Parish House. In Auburndale, meetings will continue on Wednesdays, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., at the Methodist Parish House. In Newton Lower Falls, Sewing Groups will meet Mondays, and Surgical Dressings Groups, Wednesdays, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., at Early Hall.

A new Quota of garments, sweaters, and Surgical Dressings to be supplied to the National Society by the Newton Chapter is expected to be asked September first, when further production will be necessary following the brief vacation. There may be, too, changes in days of Group Meetings and in places of meetings, of which there will be newspaper announcements, or Group chairmen will supply information.

Police and Young G.O.P. Seek Softball Title

The softball championship of the city will be determined next week in a series of three out of five games between the Newton Police team and the Young Republican Club. The former, managed by James McHugh, won the final playoff series in the senior division by taking three straight from the Stowe-Woodward nine early this week. The Young Republicans defeated the Cosman Club in the playoff in the junior division, three games to two.

The first game between the two nines will be played at the Levi Warren playground on Tuesday, Sept. 3rd.

Both teams have been designated to compete in the Metropolitan softball tournament to be staged at Chelsea on the week-ends of Sept. 7-8 and Sept. 14-15. The Police will participate in Class A and the Young Republicans in Class B among sixty other teams in the event. John F. Donahue, director of the Newton league is a member of the Metropolitan Softball Commission.

Auburndale Man Leaves Estate and Stamp Collection

An estate valued at $40,000 and a valuable stamp collection were left by Sydney B. Paine of 38 Hancock street, Auburndale to his son, Sydney S. Paine of Greensboro, N. C., and daughter, Mrs. Mary L. Knowlton of Auburndale in the former's will which was filed for probate last week. Mr. Paine died on August 14th.

Aldermen Meet

At a regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday evening an unusual amount of mid-summer routine business was transacted.

Action was voted taking land for drains on Haynes rd., from Olde Field rd. easterly, Ward 5, and on private land from Haynes rd. to Paul Brook in Ward 5; land takings for construction of drains and sewers on Avondale rd. from Commonwealth ave. northerly, Ward 6; private land from Avondale rd. to Eastbourne rd., Ward 6, and Lawn ave. from California st. southerly about 200 feet, Ward 2; also construction of drains and sewers in the following public streets: Bound Brook rd., Ward 5, from present sewer extended easterly about 55 feet, and westerly to Danehill rd.; Walnut st., Ward 5, from Solon st. northerly about 100 feet to cover No. 1314 Walnut st.

Edison Company pole locations were granted on Washington st., Ward 4, approximately 300 feet north-east of Waban ave.; Highland st., Ward 3, 60 feet east of Valentine st., and Valentine st. at Highland st.

Hearings were assigned for the meeting Sept. 9 on the proposed land takings for drain and sewer construction on White Pine rd., Ward 5; Fordham and Hatfield rds. and Fuller st., Ward 3, and Traverse st., Ward 2.

The Aldermen adopted the finance committee recommendation of "no action necessary" on the offer of Arklay S. Richards, 26 Parker st., Newton Centre, to exchange lots with the city on Winchester st., Ward 5. Alderman-at-Large Donald D. McKay of that ward reported the city wished to get rid of its extra land rather than swap.

The Board voted to accept the small parcel of land at 272 Watertown st., Ward 1, given by Loreto Cellucci for the widening of the roadway. Alderman McKay said it was a generous offer to be accepted by the city with utmost thanks.

New Stop Streets

Passed after being given a second reading, and referred to the street traffic committee, were the Department of Public Works recommendations for the erection of "Stop" signs on Elm st., Ward 3, at River st., with traffic to stop on Elm st. going northerly, and on North st., Ward 2, at Crafts st., with traffic to stop on North st. going southerly and south-westerly.

Also approved by passage was the giving of a waiver to the estate of Peter W. Ryan of the setback line from Cloelia ter., allowing for a roof over the rear porch of a dwelling at 313 Cabot st., Ward 2.

Finance committee recommendations, adopted by the Board on roll call vote, included an executive department appropriation of $350 to pay the Utilities Audit Bureau for savings effected in the use of city telephones, excepting the School Department. Alderman McKay said the figure represented one-half of the first year's savings pointed out by the audit.

Also passed was the $23 appropriation for the police department, covering the cost of entry fees and targets for pistol team members in matches at Cranston, R. I., July 13 and 14.

Appropriations

Communications from the mayor, recommending appropriations, were recommended by the finance committee and passed by the board as follows: Law Department, $50 to settle claim of Madeline Kennek for personal injuries resulting from a fall due to sidewalk defect at 22 to 28 Auburn st., West Newton, Dec. 18; Assessing Department, $572.61, being the balance of salary Louis Becker, a retired clerk whose $1,550 post will be filled by a piece-work employee whose wage, averaging $600 a year, will be met from this balance.

Also: Water Department, eliminating dead ends at Wyman and Woodward sts., Ward 5, $1,545, and Westview terrace, Ward 3, $1,970; Police Department, Mrs. Mary E. Madigan, temporary matron, $11.55; Treasury Department, funded debt, street improvement bonds, $5,000; interest on same, $96.67; interest on funded debt, water bonds, $388.89; street departments; new sidewalks, one-half city cost, $1,250; Water Department, main extensions on James st. and other streets, $6,225.

From the comptroller of accounts the bond renewal covering members of the Newton Retirement Board were received and approved. Also approved were recommendations of the Horace Cousens Industrial Fund trustees for the sale of foreclosed property and a loan of $3,300 from the fund.

Hearings and Licenses

Hearings were set for the Sept. 9 meeting on applications of the Colonial Beacon Oil Co. for a two-car lubrication addition to an existing gasoline station at 1169 Washington st., Ward 3, and Harvey F. Arrington, Inc., for a 1,000 gallon gasoline tank underground at 241 Riverdale ave., Ward 4, private use only.

Licenses granted were to Hans W. Lundstrom, room 246, Walnut st., Ward 2, whose home address is on Sumner st., Ward 6, and to Paul Harris Drake, 25 Atherton place, Ward 4, as auctioneers; Mrs. F. S. McCarthy and Miss Mable Chesley, intelligence office at 474 Woodward st., Ward 5; Louis Barisano, junk license at rear of 78 Crafts st., Ward 2, instead of at rear of 24 Maguire court, originally granted; Louis Beckerman, Bacon st. corner of Washington st., Ward 7, 10 bowling alleys; Newton Corner Nash, transfer of license to deal in second-hand motor vehicles, from 407-409 Washington st., Ward 1, to 321 Washington st. and 26 Peabody st., Ward 7.

Deny "Open-Air" Garage

Leave to withdraw was voted on the petition of Clauson's Garage, 14 Sheafe st., Brookline, for a second-class license to deal in second-hand motor vehicles on an open-air lot at 360 Boylston st., Ward 5. Alderman Edward A. Fahey, Ward 1 said the Franchises and Licenses committee was not in favor of open-air garages on Boylston st., particularly when sought by out-of-town concerns.

Granted were petitions of John F. Neill, attorney for the Franklin Savings Bank, for an amendment to a permit granted June 24 for a gasoline station, covering a change in the location of the ramp at the corner of Commonwealth ave. and Lexington st., Ward 4, and for Boston Edison Co. pole locations on Brookline st., Ward 5, about 320 feet east of Pond Brook rd., two poles.

Continue Drive For Clean Food

Continuing the drive to clean up unsanitary conditions among food handlers in Newton two establishments dealing in bakery products were objects of court complaints by Inspector Irving W. House of the Newton Board of Health this week. In court on Monday Rosario Guzzi, 50, of 90 Webster st., West Newton, pleaded guilty to a charge of violating the health laws. A fine of $20 was imposed, suspended under probation until Jan. 11, 1941. A similar charge against a combination delicatessen and restaurant was continued for a Sept. 4th hearing.

The court action against Guzzi followed a letter of warning in April from Dr. Harold D. Choje, director of the Health Department, based upon findings in examinations made by Inspector House. Testifying before Judge David Nagle the health inspector stated that the walls and ceiling of the bakery were unsatisfactory as to cleanliness at the time of investigation; that cobwebs were in evidence, that containers for bread were unclean, the presence of a cat on the premises was in evidence, towels were lacking, and that bread and flour were improperly stored.

Two inspections of the defendant's truck revealed bread not properly wrapped. In a letter on April 24th from Dr. Choje to Guzzi it was stated that bread should be wrapped at the plant instead of at the time of delivery as the same hands grasping the bread also took hold of door knobs and other articles without available means of washing the hands between times. The letter also contained a recommendation that a partition be installed between the cab and the body of the truck.

Capture Burglar At Norumbega Park

Captured by police who surrounded the Norumbega Park restaurant in Auburndale about 2 o'clock yesterday morning John C. Mulligan, 26, was arraigned before Judge Donald E. Mayberry in Newton court and held in bonds of $2000 and $1000. Continuance until Tuesday was requested by Lieut. Daniel E. Crowley while police continue investigation in an effort to connect the prisoner with other breaks and thefts.

Since June Mulligan has been employed at the restaurant as a kitchen helper. He has been rooming on Charles st., Auburndale while his wife and two children have been living in Medford. Mulligan has a long prison record with Lyman School and Deer Island terms dating back to the time when he was 11 years old.

Special Officer Arthur Ferguson, who is employed at the park, discovered Mulligan's presence at the safe of the restaurant. The safe contained about $400 in cash. Ferguson quietly withdrew to a telephone to obtain assistance from Newton police who were on the scene within two minutes. Officers John E. Greene and Harold L. Elliot conferred and decided that additional help was needed to guard other exits and make certain of capture, not knowing how many men they were facing. From the police cruiser radio word was flashed back to headquarters and a few moments later two more cruisers arrived with Sgt. Daniel L. Cleary, Patrolmen Martin F. Greeley, William Bell, Francis M. Barry, Warren F. Springer, Thomas L. McEaney, and John Salemm. A cordon was thrown around the restaurant and Ferguson led Officers Elliot, Barry and Greeley into the building. Rushing the doorway police discovered Mulligan behind a range in the bakery. He had climbed on a table trying to reach a rear window.

Mulligan who was unarmed submitted to capture without a struggle when Officer Greeley covered him and Elliot fired a shot into the ceiling to emphasize the command to surrender. At headquarters Mulligan signed a statement confessing his act. Lieut. Crowley and Sgt. Bannon took charge of the case and looking into Mulligan's record found a long series of charges, sentences, parole and violations of parole. Mulligan was committed to the jail at Cambridge to await arraignment again on Tuesday.

PLEASANT BAY CAMP

Pleasant Bay Camp at South Orleans on Cape Cod, directed by Mrs. James Bartlett Melcher of Newton, finished the season with Play Day and Banquet on August 23. Miss Nancy Pennypacker of Newton Centre and Chatham, won the swimming medal. Out of a group of twenty-eight boys and girls, ranging in age from 5 to 12, fifteen passed their "boat test" and received daily instruction in sailing throughout the summer. Seven of these campers became "Master Sailors" and were allowed to sail alone in suitable weather. Bill King of West Newton and Robert Melcher were two of the "Master Sailors."

Campers too young for sailing enjoyed the swimming, rowing, hand-crafts, dramatics and the always popular "Story Hour" in the late afternoon. Pleasant Bay Camp won the cup for the season's races at the Quanset Yacht Club and several pennants at the Chatham Yacht Club.

"Hocus-Pocus"

is NOT the answer to OLD-AGE SECURITY

Many mystics, political and otherwise, claim to have found the panacea for all financial ailments of the aged. Most of these schemes are sheer nonsense, others are dangerous because of their misleading plausibility.

The truth is that if you want financial security in your later years, you must provide it yourself, by accumulating money in your productive years. That's logical, isn't it? Why don't you start setting something aside now, in an account at this bank?

"Mysterious Ingram" Show At Alpine Hotel

On Monday evening, August 26 a very fine magician show took place at the Alpine Hotel, No. Woodstock. The performance was by the "Mysterious Ingram, the Master Mysticifier," who was understudy of Houdini for 17 years. He was also recently unanimously elected vice-president of the Magician Societies in Ohio. Mr. Ingram was assisted by Mme. Murnie, who also read cards and palms after the show. Many very interesting numbers were performed and the audience was completely entranced. Professor Ingram caters to summer hotels, also schools, clubs and colleges during the winter.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, September 1, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.
The Golden Text is: "God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved" (John 3:17). Other Bible citations include: "When he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him. And behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed" (Matthew 8:1-3).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus taught the way of Life by demonstration, that we may understand how this divine Principle heals the sick, casts our error, and triumphs over death. Jesus presented the ideal of God better than could any man whose origin was less spiritual. By his obedience to God, he demonstrated more spiritually than all others the Principle of being" (p. 25).

RECENT DEATHS

RICHARD B. CAPSTICK

Richard B. Capstick of 21 Auburn Street, West Newton, died on August 22 at the Chelsea Naval Hospital after a long illness. Mr. Capstick was born in Auburn, Mass., on August 31, 1890, the son of William and Maria (Barton) Capstick. He had been employed for 18 years by John Hood & Co., of Boston. He was a charter member of the Newton Post American Legion and had served on the executive board and as finance officer. He is survived by his widow, a son Robert Capstick, and a sister, Miss Cora Capstick of West Newton. A military service conducted by Newton Post American Legion was held at 2:30 on Sunday afternoon at the Cape funeral home in West Newton. Rev. Richard P. McClintock of the Church of the Messiah officiated at the services and at the burial in the Soldier's lot in Newton Cemetery.

JAMES J. MITCHELL

James J. Mitchell, 69, a widower, residing at 26 Capital St., Newton, was found in the bathroom about 9 o'clock on Monday morning stricken with a heart attack. He died shortly afterwards. Dr. Thomas M. Gallagher, medical examiner, was called and ascribed the death cause.

Mitchell was a retired gardener and was formerly employed at the Jamaica Plain home of former Lieut. Governor Gaspar Bacon.

HARRY C. DUNN

Harry C. Dunn of 65 Manomet rd., Newton Centre, died at his home on Saturday, Aug. 24. Mr. Dunn, who was in his 67th year, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was formerly general manager of the Oldsmobile Company of Boston. In recent years he had conducted an automobile supply business. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Emma Randall Dunn. Funeral services were held on Monday at one o'clock at the Andover-Newton Chapel. Burial was in Pine Grove Cemetery, Westbury, R. I.

MARGARET GIBBS

Mrs. Margaret Gibbs of 22 Bowers st., Newtonville, widow of Frederick M. Gibbs, died on Friday, August 23. Mrs. Gibbs, who was in her 74th year was born in Aberdeen, Scotland and had lived in Newton for about 15 years. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Patterson of Newtonville. Funeral services were held at her late home on Sunday. Rev. Charles E. Page of Tremont Temple, Boston officiated. Burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

Automobile Accidents

Minor injuries to four persons were reported in two automobile accidents in Newton early this week. On the turnpike near Aberdeen st., Newton Highlands, on Monday at 2:30, Robert Joyce, 17, of 684 Commonwealth ave., escaped with a shaking up when thrown from his bicycle after being struck by a machine. The operator drove away after conversing with the youth. Police traced the registration to find the owner to be Harry Paul of Brighton. It was learned that another man was operating. Patrolman Sgt. Daniel J. Cleary, Patrolman Raymond W. Taft and Inspector Alfred W. Hammel conducted the investigation.

Tuesday morning at 8:25 a collision occurred between two cars at the corner of Harvard st. and Newtonville ave., Newtonville. The autos were operated by Harry G. Anderson of Mattapan and Mrs. Delia Herlihy of Falmouth rd., West Newton. Three persons in the Herlihy machine reported slight injuries to Sgt. Thomas J. Burke, Patrolman Charles E. Walker and Lawrence Dungan.

Newlyweds Seek Newton Residences

"At Home" after (a given date) at the new Brighton Brookline, Boston, Cambridge, etc. A frequent repetition of "at Home" cards arriving in the mail of Arnold Hartmann announcing a contemplated residence outside of Newton awakened Mr. Hartmann to the startling fact that this city's newlyweds were leaving their natal city as soon as they were married.

Why? Surely these young Newtonites who had enjoyed the educational and social advantages this community offers its residents must have some very logical reason for going elsewhere to live. Adroit questioning uncovered the facts.

For some, the reason was economic. Renting an apartment seemed to be the solution for a "young" budget and the death of a garden and home-seekers in their young married folks.

A little research confirmed the fact that homes in the more desirable districts of Newton were either too large or too expensive and the average small homes available lacked individuality or were huddled together on small lots.

A method of stopping this exodus of our younger generation then occurred to Mr. Hartmann and with their needs in mind he planned Fox Meadow, a subdivision of Oak Hill Village. East of Baldpate Hill at the junction of fashionable Dudley rd. and Brookline st. and reaching easterly toward the Brookline Town line only one quarter of a mile away he divided 20 acres into lots sufficiently large for privacy and a garden and he built streets and sidewalks through a virgin forest to create a truly country atmosphere for the homes he planned to build.

Under lofty trees and set far back from the grass bordered sidewalks edging streets 50 feet wide he has built small homes that are charming in design . . . homes with that "different" look . . . homes as easy to care for and as inexpensive to operate as an apartment in an environment equal to that to which the newlyweds were accustomed.

The yardstick of acceptance of this charming community may be gauged by these statistics. Of 12 homes completed in the last 10 months, ten have been sold to socially acceptable families. Three more are under construction and blueprints of future homes to be built in Fox Meadow are on file as suggestions for those who may wish to build a home around their own choice of possessions or for their individual needs.

Oddly enough Fox Meadow, which was conceived to meet the needs of the young generation of married folks has had an equal appeal to parents whose children have left the parental roof. With the vision of additional years they have recognized the advantage of simplifying living and are "playing house" again, reducing excessive overhead in these compact homes designed like snug apartments to eliminate the servant problem, yet retaining the complete freedom of action possible only in a single family dwelling. Oh yes! And a garden to putter in to complete the picture of contentment.

Numerous Petty Thefts Reported

Police are still active investigating reports of numerous burglaries and petty thefts in various parts of Newton. Patrolmen Robert B. Turner and John J. McArdle were called to the residence of Mrs. J. J. Collier at 55 Hincley road, Newton Centre on Monday night. Occupants of the house were in a basement playroom when footsteps were heard overhead. Going upstairs it was found that a rear door was open. A purse containing automobile papers and a few pennies was missing.

A thief entered the home of William F. Andres, attorney, at 34 Moreland ave., Newton Centre, through an unlocked front door, police were told Monday night. A black leather pocket book containing $2 in cash, keys, and charge account coins was stolen. Two fog lights, valued at $15 were taken from a machine in the used car lot of Harry Tighe at 45 Needham street, Newton Highlands some time during the past week police were informed.

Monday afternoon Warren Rogers, 7 Westchester road, Newton reported to the police that his bicycle had been stolen from the rear of a store on Walnut st., Newtonville.

The possible theft or loss of a carton containing a Winchester .22 rifle and an air rifle was reported to police when the carton was found to be missing from an American Express Co. truck in the vicinity of Chapin road, Newton Centre on Monday noon.

Last week Friday other breaks and thefts reported were that of a white leather handbag taken from the bedroom of the home of Mrs. Joseph Goldenberger at 21 Hamlet rd., Newton Centre. The pocketbook contained $27.50 in cash, house and auto keys, and charge account coins; entry forced into the Watertown Laundry service at 8 Midland ave., Newton through the side window during the night; entry of the home of Philip Dunker of 40 Puddingstone lane, Newton Centre by breaking glass in a cellar window near the fastener; and a missing copper "Press" sign from the automobile of Mrs. Esther Shain of 232 Derby st., West Newton.

Health Board Lifts Ban On Milk License

At a special meeting of the Board of Health last Friday night the ban against the license of the Fairview Dairy of Cambridge to sell milk in Newton was lifted. The petition of the dairy company represented that all requirements of the Board had been met. In June the health board, feeling that the concern's output did not conform to local standards, refused to renew its license. The action was sustained by the State Public Health Council in a hearing on August 6th. The State Council, however recommended that the license be granted since the milk firm had met all conditions.

The action of the Newton Health Board last week approved the application for license but held it in abeyance pending an examination and report from Milk Inspector Alexander Robertson. The license will be in final force upon the inspector's approval of the points at issue.

Two-League Baseball Ends With Banquet On Sept. 11th

The annual City Twilight Baseball league concluded this week with the Thompsonville Redskins winning the American division by beating the Cabot A. C. in a play-off series of three straight games.

The Vediccio Juniors topped the Highlands Boys Club in the National League division playoffs. The Juniors won three games, lost one and tied one.

The annual twilight league banquet will be combined with a banquet of the softball league on Sept. 11 at the city hall cafeteria. Amato Pescosolido, Jr., is chairman of the ticket committee, assisted by Del Ryan, Matt Peppard, Paul Grogan, Carmen Iagulli, John Roche and Carmen DeSimone. The general committee comprises Sonny Gath, chairman Pescosolido, Ryan, John Shughnessy, DeSimone, Paul Riley, Roche, James McHugh, Joe Cosman and Bill Kelly.

Title Clerk Resigns After Twenty Years' Service

The resignation of Mrs. Maude L. Irvine, 2007 Commonwealth avenue, after twenty years of service as title clerk in the Newton assessors' department became effective this week. Mrs. Irvine will reside in Bethel, Me., where she has purchased a home. She has been employed as title clerk with duties entirely at the Cambridge Court House Registry of Deeds.

Miss Mae G. Cahill of 789 Watertown st., West Newton, has been named to do the work. Miss Cahill will not be a salaried employee of the city as was Mrs. Irvine. She will be paid on a piece-work basis for the filling out of cards with information required by the assessors.

West Newton Man Ordered To Restrain Biting Dog

Frank Rosello, 634 Watertown st., West Newton was notified by Patrolman James S. Goddard last Friday evening to restrain his dog. The restraint order was issued on complaint of J. J. Farina of 17 Murphy court as the result of an alleged bite by the animal.

Youths In Court On Theft Charges

Numerous breaks and petty larcenies in the past two or three months were cleared from records of the Newton police last Friday of twelve boys charged with a dozen breaks and thefts and believed responsible for others. The case was broken ten days ago when Patrolmen George W. O'Neil, Thomas B. Concannon and Warren P. Springer put four of the youths into court for a break at the open-air market of Joseph Mercandante at 719 Washington st., Newtonville.

The officers continued their work with the aid and under the direction of Lieut. Daniel E. Crowley, Inspector Joseph B. Lyons and Sgt. Richard L. Bannan of the criminal investigation bureau. The remainder of the band was rounded up and considerable loot recovered, including half a dozen bicycles, cigarettes, cigars and other items with a total value of over $100. The identity of five of the bicycles had been concealed by the interchange of various parts.

In the juvenile session of the court last Friday circumstances of the situation were outlined to Judge Donald E. Mayberry. All cases were continued to Sept. 13, with Lieut. Crowley, Inspector Lyons and Sergeant Bannan to continue their investigation.

Three of the breaks charged against the youths, all of whom were under seventeen years of age, occurred at the Star Market in Newtonville, where a total of 300 redeemable bottles were stolen. During business hours the boys were alleged to have returned with them to obtain the refund.

At the open-air market two breaks netted about $30 worth of fruit and $4 in cash. One of the early breaks at the Albemarle Golf Club netted $44 cash, 250 golf balls and fifteen packages of cigarettes. On two occasions bicycles were stolen from the Brae Burn Country Club.

At the Carr Fastener Co. and the Ark-Les Switch Co. at 459 Watertown st., cigarettes and $1.28 in cash were taken. From the Nonantum Library the loot was listed as four Canadian pennies and a five-cent piece. A camera theft at the Y. M. C. A. and auto keys from John T. Burns of Hunnewell Circle were among the other larcenies.

None of the twelve boys were charged with complicity in all counts, but were charged with participating in one or more of the crimes. They were released in custody of their parents pending disposition of the cases.

Kiwanis Hosts To Crippled Children

The annual outing given by the Newton Kiwanis Club to the crippled children of the New England Peabody Home was held on Tuesday afternoon at Norumbega Park. Fourteen children out of the 60 in the school were able to attend. Lunch was donated by Mr. Hill, park manager. The children were entertained by songs by Archie Bellinger, with Rowland Barrette at the piano. After dinner amusements at the park were visited.

Ice cream was provided for the children unable to attend. Visitors from surrounding Kiwanis clubs were guests. President John A. Janse was in charge of the outing and was assisted by Robert Wilcox, Edward J. Bannan, Leo E. Noel and other club members.

Some months ago Senator Hollis was undecided as to whether or not he would seek re-election and informed the writer that his decision rested partly on personal reasons and partly on the determination of the court as to the validity of the new district. (At that time the question of the legality of the new district was before the courts on a petition of Attorney General Paul A. Dever and subsequently the court ruled that the legislature had acted within its powers in drawing the district lines.)

Senator Hollis subsequently filed nomination papers and stated that having taken part in "off-year" work of the Ways and Means Committee empowered to act in a supervisory capacity while the legislature was not in session under the biennial system he desired to continue.

Representative Brimblecom is seeking promotion to the Senate on the basis of his record of eight years in the House and on the belief that a change in Newton's representation in the higher branch of the State Legislature is desirable. As a candidate for Representative eight years ago he stated that it was his opinion that no person should hold office continuously unless exceptional ability and opportunity combined to make such continuation most desirable.

Thomas E. Morahan, a newer resident of Newton in the past few years, is a candidate for both the Republican and Democratic nominations. He has been an unsuccessful candidate for Governor's Councillor and also for Alderman-at-Large in the last city election. A former resident of Brighton he possibly will show considerable strength from that part of the district, but will poll a comparatively small vote in the city of Newton.

Truck Crashes On Turnpike At Langley Road

A 10-ton trailer truck practically demolished the block of stores on the Worcester turnpike near Langley rd., Newton Centre this morning, shortly after 2 a.m., when the driver, Michael Klimowitz, 29, of Plainfield, N. J., lost control of the heavy vehicle. The driver, unhurt, told police he felt a sudden blur across his vision and then remembered nothing until the crash. The vehicles, loaded with nearly 20 tons of loose battery lead, skidded across the highway, snapped off a traffic signal beacon, and plunged nose first into the one-story brick building at the corner. A hardware store in the centre took the brunt of the crash while a barber shop next door was ruined. The third store in the building was vacant.

Police Hunt For Handbag Snatcher

Reported handbag snatchings in Newton and Belmont on Sunday night set police of the two communities searching for a young boy of 13 or 14 and an accomplice who drives him around in an automobile. Shortly before 9 o'clock Sunday evening Mrs. Thomas Keene of 12 Winthrop ave., Newton, lost her purse to the youth. She was walking along Church st., near Maple st., when the boy jumped from an automobile, snatched her bag and jumped back into the car which had drawn alongside.

A half hour later Belmont police were informed of a similar incident to Mrs. Gertrude Whalen near her home on Holt st. In both cases descriptions of the youth were similar.

Another bagsnatcher, believed done by another culprit, took place in Newton about 1 a.m. on Sunday at Watertown and Faxon sts., Newton, where Mrs. Louis Lambert of Beach st., Newton, lost her purse. She was walking with Mrs. Ronald MacDonald of Faxon st., when approached by a man who grabbed her purse and ran behind the Stearns School.

Aldermen Turn Down Zone Change

The Newton Board of Aldermen refused to accept recommendations of the Newton Planning Board on Monday night on two requests for change of zones of Newton property. In one instance the Board voted 12 to 6 to accept a report of its Committee on Claims and Rules giving leave to withdraw on a petition of change of zone on River st. from business to private residence and voted 11 to 6 for a change from private residence to single residence on the east side of Langdon st. only.

The Planning Board had placed its approval on a petition of Mary E. Gannon and others that a business district on River st., West Newton, from the cemetery to Alden place and on the opposite side from Cherry st. to Ashburton be changed to private residence. The Claims and Rules Committee took a 4 to 2 stand on the matter with Chairman George E. Rawson and Alderman Henderson Inchoes of Ward 6 opposing the majority and favoring the restrictive change. Rawson pointed out that the change had been requested. Alderman Maxwell P. Gaddis of Ward 3 stated that 18 had signed the petition for the change and that as only a small business zone surrounded by residences was involved he believed the change would be beneficial.

Alderman Whidden of West Newton stated he could see no necessity for the change, that several signers of the petition were not interested, and that a change would impose a hardship on business properties now existing there. Alderman Walker contended that several owners of property felt their land would be more marketable if permitted to remain in the business zone.

In the Langdon st. case the petition of Donald L. Gibbs and others sought the change of zone to single residence on the east side of Langdon st. The Planning Board had voted to approve a change of zone on both sides if such a petition was offered. The Aldermen voted to confine the change to the easterly as sought in the petition and as endorsed by the unanimous report of the Committee on Claims and Rules.

Chairman Rawson reported that the petition as submitted would protect a high-grade residential district.

Leaves $100,000 For Charities

An estate of $250,000 was left by Francis Ward Paine of 300 Hammond st., Chestnut Hill, it was revealed when a will was filed in Middlesex Probate Court this week. The well-known financier was killed last week by a subway train at the South Station. Under the terms of the will the sum of $100,000 is left "for such charitable or related corporations or institutions as the executors shall select and in such amounts as they shall decide in their sole and uncontrolled discretion."

Mrs. Francis H. Paine, the widow; Stephen Paine of Brookline, a brother; and Albert P. Everts, a cousin, were named as executors and trustees. The remainder of the estate is divided in halves, the net income of one-half to be paid to Mrs. Paine during her life. At Mrs. Paine's death the principal is to be divided equally among the children. The other half of the estate is to be divided into equal shares for each child.

Paine is survived by his widow, two daughters, the Misses Isabella A. and Martha A., and three sons, Francis W., Jr., Lincoln D., and Michael J. Paine, all of Boston.

Dismiss Charges In Penecale Assault Case

In Newton court last Saturday morning the assault case brought by Patrick Penecale of Newton against three other men was dismissed when Judge Thomas D. Weston was informed of an acknowledgment of satisfaction upon the part of the complainant. The complaints against Russo DelGrosso of 233 Adams st., Newton, Michael J. Esposito of 194 Adams st. and Rocco DelGrosso of East Boston were the result of a reported fracas on Adams st. about two weeks ago, described by counsel as somewhat of a family matter.

Many New Thrills At Brockton Fair

More daring than he has been since he became the first man to deliberately wreck automobiles to thrill the public, Lucky Teter will present brand new stock car and motorcycle stunts at Brockton Fair from Sept. 8 to 14 inclusive.

After seven years of reckless automobile speed, Teter has taken his Hell Drivers "up in the air" for their 1940 version of high speed action. Beginning Sunday, Sept. 8, and continuing each afternoon through Thursday, Sept. 12, Teter and his men will appear at the Brockton Fair grandstand together with George White's Scandals of 1940. Friday and Saturday, Sept. 13 and 14, Teter will give way to speed kings of the dirt track in a two day auto race meet.

This year's Hell Driver theme began when the sensational Rocket-car leap over the top of a big transport truck, and later a standard motor coach, was worked out for the movies. Then other cars were sent hurtling through the air and even the motorcycle riders followed Teter's pace.

The Dynamite Drive, the aerial criss-cross of two motorcycles, the Cyclone and Hurricane Driving, are only a few of the other new thrillers never before seen here. Twenty-eight events will be offered daily during the Brockton Fair five-day Lucky Teter program.

Husband Too Sleepy So Wife Is Granted Divorce

Howard Deiley, marathon slumberer of Chicago, refused to continue with medicine prescribed by a doctor to prevent day sleeping—so he lost his wife, daughter and home. Reconciliation of Edna and Howard Deiley went on the rocks. Edna has gone back to mother and Howard has returned to Morpheus' comfortable bosom.

When she sought a divorce Mrs. Deiley had only one complaint about Howard, to-wit:

"He sleeps all the time."

The judge shrewdly suggested a medical examination. Sure enough a doctor found a glandular disturbance, prescribed some medicine, and presto! Howard stayed awake, and Edna called off the divorce.

The judge frequently pointed to the divorce reconciliation as one of his four-star achievements—until Edna came back in court with a tale of woe.

She planked down two bottles of medicine and said:

"Well, judge, it didn't work. As soon as I went back to Howard, taking our four-year-old daughter, Donna, he refused to take any more of this medicine."

"He didn't like the stuff, he said, and he did like sleep."

"Maybe you don't think day slumbering constitutes cruelty, your honor, but, believe me, it's mighty embarrassing."

"We'd have guests in and start a bridge game and Howard would doze off before we even played a full game. I'd prepare a wonderful dinner—and he'd go to sleep in his chair before the soup course was ended."

The court looked around for Howard. He wasn't there. Edna said he was probably sleeping in their $5,000 home. The judge threw up his hands, decreed Edna could have her divorce.

Babies Are Best Crop In Alaska Farm Colony

The federally established farm colony in the Matanuska valley in Alaska has found babies are its best crop, according to Harry De Land of Palmer, who was sent here to induce the territory to buy the colony's $150,000 schoolhouse for $1 cash.

Transfer of the structure, erected by the Rural Rehabilitation corporation, to the territory is desired by the colony now "on its own and determined to succeed."

De Land said 200 children have been born to the former midwest farm families since they first arrived in 1935, and that the colony's first native-born babies will start to school next year.

Recent federal census figures showed a valley population—colonists and others—totaling 1,444, of whom 244 live in Palmer, the colony "capital."

The census also revealed there were 207 farms in the district of at least three acres each, producing at least $250 in field crop or live stock products per farm last year.

De Land said the valley's most pressing legislative necessities are authorization of flood control for the town of Matanuska, and construction of the proposed short cut from Palmer to the Richardson highway to facilitate travel and to open a wider market.

Marks Hand to Remember

Many a witness has been known to have difficulty differentiating the right hand from the left under abrupt questioning of a cross-examining lawyer.

Petite Miss Mary Hicks took no chances on being confused in that regard when she prepared to testify on the witness stand before Superior Judge J. T. Ronald in Seattle.

Miss Hicks, 20, explained that she, like many persons, cannot always remember instantly which is her right and which is her left and that inkling the backs of her hands was simply a little precaution to prevent embarrassment on the witness stand.

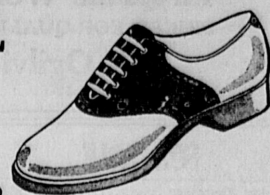

Titanium Extensive Product

Titanium, widely used in paint manufacture, was first discovered as an element by an English amateur chemist about the time Washington was elected President. Geologists estimate that a hundred million billion tons of titanium in the form of its compounds are scattered throughout the upper 10 miles of the earth's surface crust. It is even more common than coal, copper, lead and zinc, but instead of accumulating in occasional rich deposits, it is spread quite evenly through the ground, making the mining of it more difficult. The larger sources of titanium ore are: red crystalline rock—known as rutile—which occurs principally in Canada, Australia and Norway; ilmenite—a mineral type of sand washed up on the shores of India and found also in a massive rock deposit in Nelson county, Virginia.

May Continue Use Of Third Floor Dormitories

Acting upon a recommendation of the Claims and Rules Committee the Board of Aldermen on Monday night approved the order permitting Lasell Junior College to continue the use of its third floor sections in wooden dormitories. Alderman Rawson informed the Board that all safety restrictions must be complied with and that the permit for third floor use would not apply to other dormitory buildings in the future unless the structures were of brick or masonry.

The new building laws which went into effect earlier in the year provide that no dormitory buildings in Newton shall be used as such above the second floor unless of brick construction. Lasell, with six wooden dormitories, was exempted from this provision until July 1st and then petitioned for further consideration, offering to install fire escapes, sprinklers, or other safeguards deemed essential to permit continuance.

The action taken by the Board amends the general ordinance by replacing the restrictive clause with a paragraph permitting the continued use of dormitories when so used prior to July 1st, 1940.

Kidnap Victim Lands In Newton

Kidnapped in downtown Boston last Saturday afternoon Robert E. Carey, 40, of 927 Adams st., Dorchester, was bound hand and foot and pushed from his own automobile on Vine st. in the Oak Hill section of Newton. Carey freed himself from the tape which bound his ankles and was able to walk, with his hand still tied behind him, to the home of Mrs. Collins Vanderberg at 134 Vine st. where he told of being robbed of $43 in money and his automobile containing $450 worth of women's sample hats.

Boston and Newton police were notified and the latter assisted in the investigation directed by the Boston officers. The automobile was recovered late Saturday night on Cohasset st., Roxbury with its merchandise apparently untouched. Boston officers believed that Carey had been mistaken by his captors for a jewelry salesman or a more expensive line than the hats he carried.

He was loading his car with hats on Chaucey st. when three men, hiding their faces with handkerchiefs, approached him. At gunpoint they ordered him into his car, two of the men sitting in front and the third covering him with the gun in the rear seat, demanding the keys. On Centre st., in Roxbury, the machine struck an 11-year-old boy and continued on its way. The child, Guy Marengi, of 301 Highland st., fell to the street after the car spun him around. Taken to his home by another motorist he was found to have but minor injuries.

Fire In Divan At Newton Centre Residence

An early morning fire was discovered at 3:30 last Saturday in the home of Norman C. Edwards, 141 Clark st., Newton Centre, when smoke filled the residence. A divan was found to be burning. Damage was slight as occupants of the house had thrown the cushion outside before Engine 3 responded to a telephone call.

About nine o'clock Saturday morning firemen were called to the residence of Mrs. Rosina Tagliente at 4 Beecher place, Newton Centre, where there was a chimney fire.

Last Friday noon a clogged chimney filled the cellar of the home of Ebba Fredrikson of 16 Freeman st., Ashburton, with smoke and necessitated the assistance of the fire department.

Fatal Accident Case Continued To Tuesday

A further continuance, until Sept. 6 was ordered in Newton court on Tuesday in the case of Max Sagan, 507 of Dorchester, charged with driving to endanger a pedestrian. The case arose out of an accident on Aug. 11 on the turnpike at Langley rd., Newton Centre which resulted in the death of John Rosa, 50, of Jackson st., Newton Centre.
